DYING IN DESPAIR.

STARVATION DRIVES MANY TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

Weary of the Struggle Against Poverty They Seek Rest in the Grave—Victims of a Nation's Folly Sacrificed to the Rich Man.

Chicago special: No longer are want and suffering known in this broad and happy land. No longer are sin and crime the legacies left by poverty to the children of despair. The wild and baleful dream of free silver has faded from the brain of men. Protection and prosperity have come as Mark Hanna promised they would.

Gold has dethroned the monarch of the western world.

The trusts, the syndicates, the Wall street gamblers in watered stocks, the brokers in foods and the pawnbrokers who prey on the—they are bankers because they loan money on mortgages instead of on diamonds—these and all others who live in idleness by filching from the products of industry, have declared that with the coronation of gold would come confidence, the great courier of prosperity.

Mills were to be opened to American workmen. The old, familiar "hum of industry" was to be heard in factory and in workshop. "Confidence" would stoke the fires and send the smoke upward from every idle chimney. The "endless chain" of commerce would bring into every line of industry the money paid to labor. Prices would scrap, every toiler would be paid higher wages in a "sound money" and honest "honest money" would be preserved.

The story is an old one now. The American people permitted coercion, intimidation, purchase and falsehood to defeat the ideas of liberty, justice and humanity.

Herewith is given a very incomplete and partial list of people in Chicago who have committed suicide since Nov. 15, or nearly two weeks after the election ushered in the era of prosperity. The list is chiefly confined to those that hopeless poverty and despairing hunger have driven to bay at last. Millionaires and plutocrats may sneer but the awful fact remains that when despair and suffering and want to-day go unsuggested by any hope for to-morrow death may seem a boon beyond a way of escape.

No effort has been made to learn how many people in other cities, in towns and in villages have solved the great problem of life and death, because their poverty was beyond all help, neither is the list in this city a complete one. The world will never know how many men and women have died since Nov. 3, 1896, as sacrificial victims upon the altar of greed.

Men do not face the king of terrors in order to give the color of truth to a falsehood. These people killed themselves because they were starving.

Frank Sobieszczyk committed suicide Wednesday night, November 18, at his home, 636 Van Horn street, by drinking carbolic acid. Sobieszczyk was a stevedore, but had been unable to find employment.

The body of Joseph Gehler, a patient in the insane asylum at Dunning, was found in a pond on the grounds on the morning of November 19. It is thought he committed suicide. He was 50 years old. Gehler was a tinner, but lack of employment affected his mind.

Frank Marek, a laborer, was seen by several persons walking along the north bank of Mud Lake on the afternoon of November 19. When near Lowndale avenue he drew a revolver from his pocket and shot himself just below the chin, the ball lodging in the base of his head. The Brighton Park police took the unconscious man to the county hospital, where he died. Marek had been out of work for some time.

Charles Robey tried to commit suicide by jumping into the north pier November 17. He was rescued by Officer Larsen, after a hard struggle, as he was determined to drown himself. He was a cigarmaker with a family and had been out of work since the election.

Thomas Moran, 30 years old, committed suicide November 21 at his home, 236 North Franklin street, by drinking carbolic acid. He had been unable to find employment and was despondent.

Mrs. Margaret May, a widow, living at 259 Congress street, attempted to jump from the Adams street bridge November 23. She was seized by officers after she had climbed on the railing of the bridge. She was penniless and weary of the hopeless struggle of poverty.

While despondent M. Mahner of 23 Kroll street committed suicide November 24 by hanging himself to a rafter in his room. Mahner was 50 years old and for some time had been unable to obtain employment.

John Krieozco was found dead in the woods near Leegarden, Ohio, about November 22. Letters on his person showed that he came from Chicago and that he was unsuccessful in getting work. He hanged himself to the limb of a tree with a clothes line he had stolen from a yard for that purpose.

Frank Hurst a laborer, aged 32, living at 596 South Halsted street, awoke Thanksgiving morning only to think of his predicament and not to return thanks. He was penniless and out of employment. While in this melancholy contemplation he seized a revolver and fired a bullet into his heart. Death must have been instantaneous, but his body was not found until nearly noon.

John M. Faulhaber of 526 North Clark street, died Thanksgiving afternoon from blood poisoning. While despondent over the business outlook he attempted to end his life and his wounds eventually brought his desire.

After searching for weeks in a vain effort to find work and fearing that his little home would be sold under the auctioneer's hammer, Max Voigt, a carpenter, who lived at 301 Lee avenue, ended his life November 23 by swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid. Voigt left the house at 7 o'clok in the morning in search of employment. After tramping about the city all day he returned in the evening, but instead of going into the house went to the basement below and there took the poison that ended at once his life and his troubles.

Anthony T. Harris, aged 60 years, attempted to commit suicide November 25 by shooting. Harris lived at 8942 Dauphin avenue. The cause of the act is said to be despondency over his inability to make a living.

Peter J. Toones, an aged German, was found dying from starvation and exposure in his little room in the rear of 815 West Fifteenth place at noon November 20. When kind hands lifted him from the bare floor, where he had fallen face downward in his weakness, and sought to minister to his needs the spark of life fled. He had survived forty-eight hours of bitter cold in the unheated apartment and died as relief was at hand.

The report of the board of health shows that during the entire month of November twenty-eight people committed suicide in Chicago. Over half of these killed themselves because they preferred a quick death by drowning, by poison or by the pistol to a lingering one by starvation.

Wevler of the Mint.

Director of the Mint, Preston, threatens to make liars out of Blaine, Garfield, Grant and a host of others who have made public declarations that it was not generally known that the "crime of '73" was being committed by the passage of the coinage act that dropped the standard silver dollar. A recent dispatch from Washington says:

The official history of the change in the coinage law made in 1873 will be included in the annual report of the director of the mint for the fiscal year 1896. Director Preston has been searching the files of the treasury and of congress for every scrap of data bearing on the subject, and will make the most complete presentation of facts and documents which has ever been attempted.

He has found a copy of the original draft of the proposed coinage law, which was sent to congress by Mr. John Jay Knox, when comptroller of the currency, with changes interlined by Mr. Knox in his own handwriting. It was only after a long search that this draft of the bill was found in the assay office at New York, where it had been sent to obtain the views of the assayer. This original draft provided for reducing the silver dollar to a token coin of the same finish and proportion of silver as other subsidiary coins. The dollar was not in circulation, because the high price of silver then ruling made it more valuable than the gold dollar, even if the country had not been upon a paper basis. The committee of congress which dealt with the bill dropped out the dollar altogether, but retained the limitation of legal tender power to $5, which Mr. Knox had proposed for all the silver coins. The subsequent action of congress in adopting a trade dollar for use in China is well known.

Director Preston will present copies of the coinage law in its several stages and the correspondence which took place between the treasury officials and committee of congress, showing that the purpose of the bill was thoroughly understood at every stage of its consideration. Another feature which he proposes to embody in his annual report is a description of coinage, from the point where the metal is taken from the mine until it is paid over the counter in bright coins. Every stage of the process of smelting and refining the metal, making the dies, stamping the coins, milling the edges and handling them in the mint, will be fully set forth.

From the Boss Plutocratic Organ.

From the Globe-Democrat we make the following clipping:

"The work of improving the New York and Erie Canal will begin this winter, giving employment to 4,000 men. By a direct vote the people of New York authorized the expenditure of $9,000,000 on the canals of the state. The Erie Canal will be deepened to nine feet. This addition of two feet to the present depth will admit boats 16 feet longer, with freight capacity enlarged one-half. It is probable that the seven locks at Lockport will be replaced with an elevator lock, lifting boats 62 feet to the higher level. The necessary rock blasting and dredging can be done to advantage in the course of the winter."

The G.-D. is one of the best plutocratic papers in the realm, and we want to warn it right here that it is edging mighty near onto two of the rockbed principles of the crazy Populists, when it gives out such a piece of news without adverse comment. A direct vote of the people is Direct Legislation in its purity, and paying out $9,000,000 for improvement on the State's canals is paternalism of the worst sort. What are we coming to, anyway? If the Populists are not suppressed they will take this country!

Calling a Halt.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

What the People Are Thinking, Saying and Doing.

Anent the talk now going on in wealthy commercial centers with regard to the destruction of the greenbacks, it is well to see just what such action would lead to. It is said that we are now on a gold standard, and in one sense it is true. It is claimed that a dollar currency depends upon gold to sustain its value. It would be more appropriate to say that it depended more upon credit.

There is said to be in circulation outside from gold, about $1,112,000,000 in currency. It is claimed that this is kept at par with gold by the simple existence of the $123,000,000 of gold in the treasury. That is to say that every dollar of the $1,112,000,000 is exchangeable for gold. It is plain to see that the only honest basis for a paper currency, if it is to be based upon another kind of money, is dollar for dollar. This would leave nearly $1,000,000,000 of our currency without a base unless it was on the credit of the United States.

If this be true why have a specific redemption money at all? Why not base it upon all the property, make it a full legal tender, and receivable for taxes, and abolish forever the fetish idea that everything in the world depends upon a yellow metal which is of less real intrinsic value when it comes to use than iron and steel? It is folly to talk about redeeming nine or ten dollars with one. The business of this country is much greater than the volume of money, and if we make the basis of our money but one-tenth as wide as the structure, it is a small foundation for our business.

Ninety-five per cent of the business of this country is done on a credit. Why, then, pretend to base this credit on a small amount of gold, when as a matter of fact the real basis is other forms of property, and gold acts simply as a disturber of that credit? The reason is obvious. This credit, for the most part, passes through the banks, and is a source of revenue to them. They succeed in enlarging this by decreasing the volume of money and hence their contention for all money to be based upon the gold which they control. To the extent that the government goes out of the banking business the banks will go into the governing business, and threats have already been heard from Wall street that no congress dare refuse its demands.

It is said that the currency, which by decision of the secretary of the treasury (not by law) is exchangeable for gold is a constant menace to the treasury reserve and to the credit of the government. Would it be any better if it would be as well, if the banks take it in their hands to sustain a like amount of currency at par with gold? The people would have less confidence in the banks than they have in the government, and the demand for gold would be increased. No one wants gold for a greenback except a speculator or bullion broker. No business man ever makes any such demand for the simple reason that the greenback answers the same purpose and is much more convenient. And no sane man demands that the gold shall be kept in the treasury simply for a show.

"Move on! Move on." Those words have been ringing in the ears of poor Matilda Koch for five years. She has heard them in Fort Wayne, Ind., in Indianapolis, in Columbus, Ohio, in Pittsburg, in Philadelphia, and in New York.

"Move on," said Policeman Shelden to her as she stood at the foot of Desbrosses street on Thursday night. "Move on, and be quick about it."

Poor Matilda Koch obeyed, but her footsteps were faltering, her manner aimless. She had no home, no friends, nowhere to go, nothing to do but to "move on." The policeman arrested her as a vagrant, and she was arraigned in the Center Street Police Court yesterday.

"It's the same old story," she said weeping. "It's always 'move on,' and when I don't move enough or fast enough I am arrested. Why should I be dragged into a station house like a dangerous criminal and be locked up? Why am I driven from city to city from prison to prison? Is it a crime to be poor? Who is to blame for my poverty? Certainly not I. Society has ostracised me as though I were a leper—all because I am poor.

"Five years ago I came to America from Germany with my husband and settled in Fort Wayne. A year ago he died and all my money went for doctors' bills. It left me destitute. I tried to earn a living, but I was too weak. Then I was declared a 'poor person' and was driven out of town. They put me on a train and sent me to Indianapolis. They would not have me there and I was again bundled into a second class car and sent to Columbus. From Columbus I was moved to Canton, from Canton to Pittsburg, from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, and from Philadelphia to this city. It is always 'move on,' 'move on,' 'move on.'"

As the woman had not been begging she was discharged. She is still "moving on."—New York Journal.

Weighing Living Fish.

A visitor at the aquarium who had wondered how they managed to get the weight of a live fish accurately learned that that was really a very simple thing to do. The fish is put into a pail of water, which is weighed with the fish in it. Then the fish is taken out and pail and water weighed without it.—New York Sun.

DISPENSARY LAW.

Senator Moody's Proposed Liquor Measure.

FULL TEXT OF BILL

Introduced in the State Legislature by the Able Tuskaloosa Senator—A Muchly Discussed Measure—Fashioned on the Order of the South Carolina Law.

Montgomery, Ala.—The dispensary bill introduced into the late session of the State Legislature by Senator Moody is attracting intense interest throughout the State. The whiskey men of the State realize that they have a fight before them, and the promoters of the proposed law feel certain that the measure will go through. For the benefit of all interested the full text of the proposed measure is here given:

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, as follows, to-wit:

Section 1.—On the first Wednesday of August, 1897, an election shall be held in this State at which all persons shall be allowed to vote who would be qualified to vote if an election were held on that day for State officers. The Probate Judge of each county shall prepare for use of the electors of his county printed ballots on which the words, "For Dispensary," shall appear on a line, and the words, "Against Dispensary," on a line underneath. Voters wishing to vote for the dispensary system hereinafter provided for shall, in voting, make on their ballots a cross mark (X) in front of the words "For dispensary," on a line underneath. Voters wishing to vote for the dispensary system hereinafter provided for shall, in voting, make on their ballots a cross mark (X) in front of the words, "For dispensary," and voters wishing to vote against said system shall make, on their ballots, a cross mark in front of the words, "Against Dispensary." The notice of such election, the manner of conducting same, the method of canvassing and ascertaining the result thereof, and the manner of paying the costs and expenses of said election shall be the same, as far as practicable and consistent with the provisions of this act, as is required in this State in elections for State officers. In general, the laws of the State pertaining to the election of State officers, as far as the same are suitable and proper and not in conflict with the provisions of this act, shall be applicable to the election herein called. The Board of Supervisors of each county shall forward to the Secretary of State, at Montgomery, a certificate of the returns of their several counties on the third Wednesday in August, 1897, the Secretary of State shall deliver all returns to the Governor of the State, and he, in the presence of the Secretary of State, the Auditor and the Attorney General, and with their assistance, shall open and count the returns. The result of said election, the Governor shall make known to the people by proclamation published in two newspapers published in the State.

Sec. 2. If it appears from the Governor's proclamation that a majority of the votes have been cast "For Dispensary", then each incorporated town or city which is a county seat, and in which the sale of liquor is not now prohibited by law, shall have authority, and it shall be its duty, to carry on in its corporate name, in its corporate capacity, and through its law-making body, the business of buying and selling spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, subject to the conditions and restrictions hereinafter mentioned.

In each town or city having a population of ten thousand or less, there shall be only one place at which such business shall be carried on. In towns or cities having a population greater than ten thousand, and not exceeding twenty thousand, there may be two dispensaries. In general, there may be in each city a dispensary for every ten thousand of its population. Where the population is between multiples of ten thousand, the excess over the next lower multiple thereof shall not be taken into account, but each of said incorporated towns or cities shall have at least one dispensary. The population of towns and cities shall be determined by the last preceeding census. Those dispensaries shall be carried on only within the corporate limits of said towns and cities. Each of said municipalities shall invest in said business a sum of not less than three hundred dollars, nor more than two thousand dollars, for each dispensary it may carry on. The liquors bought and sold as herein provided, shall be of the purest and best quality.

Sec. 3. The office of "Public Dispenser" is hereby created for each county in which a dispensary may be established. His term of office shall begin on the first day of January succeeding his election, and shall continue two years. At the last regular meeting prior to the first day of January, 1898, of the Court of County Commissioners or Board of Public Revenue of each county at whose county seat the sale of liquor is not prohibited by law, and at the last regular meeting of said court or board prior to the first day of January every two years thereafter, said Court of County Commissioners or Board of Public Revenue, shall furnish the mayor or other chief executive of the town or city which is their county seat, the names of three men who are residents of their county, twenty-one years of age and esteemed as honest, temperate, law-abiding and competent to carry on a dispensary in their county.

From the names of these three men the law-making body of said town or city shall, before the first day of the following January, elect a "Public Dispenser" for their town or city. Said dispenser, under the direction and control of the town or city in which the dispensary is situated, shall buy and sell liquors and carry on the dispensary for the term of two years, and until his successor is elected and qualified. The first dispensers shall begin business on the first week-day of January 1898. Each town or city having a dispensary shall provide its dispenser with whatever money, within the aforesaid limits, that it was able to use in carrying on its business. Before entering upon the duties of his office, each dispenser shall make affidavit before an officer authorized to administer oaths, that he will obey all the laws of the State of Alabama and of the town or city of which he is a dispenser, and, for cause, to be judged of by said body, said dispenser may be removed from office. Whenever a vacancy occurs in said office from any cause whatever, the Mayor or other chief executive of such town or city shall certify the fact to the Judge of Probate in which said town or city is situated. Said judge shall immediately call a meeting of the Court of County Commissioners or Board of Public Revenue, and said court or board shall furnish the said Mayor or chief executive the names of three men having the qualifications for a dispenser and from these three names the law-making body, of said town or city shall elect a dispenser to fill the vacancy.

Sec. 4. The legislature or governing bodies of the towns or cities in which dispensaries may hereafter be carried on shall pay their several dispensers a salary which shall be fixed by said body before the dispensary is opened, and shall not be less than five hundred dollars, nor more than five thousand dollars per annum, and shall be payable quarterly. Said legislative body shall not make the amount of said salary to depend on the amount of sales made by said dispensers.

Sec. 5. Said dispensers shall not sell any liquor of any kind in any quantity less than one-half pint, and shall not make more than one sale to the same person in any one day. Nor shall he make any sale between the hours of 10 P. M. of any one day and 5 A. M. of the next day.

Sec. 6. Such dispenser shall buy and sell for cash only. He shall keep an accurate account of his purchases and of the amount of each day's sales. He shall make to the legislative body of the town in which he is conducting the dispensary a monthly report under such forms and directions as the said legislative body may require, giving full and accurate information as to the condition and status of the business. On the first day of February of each year the towns and cities doing business under this act shall pay into the treasury of the state, a license tax for the current year, the same amount of money that was paid into the state treasury during the year 1897 for all licenses issued during the said year for the sale of liquors in the counties in which the said towns or cities are severally situated. On the same day the said towns and cities shall pay in to the treasuries of the several counties in which they are situated as a county license tax for the current year, the same amount of money that was paid into the several county treasuries for all licenses issued during the year 1897 for the sale of liquors in the said counties. All the assets and profits connected with or growing out of the conduct of said dispensaries shall be the property of the several towns and cities carrying them on.

Sec. 7. Said dispenser shall not drink, consume or give away any liquor of any kind, or in any quantity, on the premises on which said business is carried on. But this shall not be construed to prohibit the dispenser or some employee designated by him from sampling liquors which he may contemplate purchasing. Said dispenser shall not permit or suffer any other person whomsoever to drink, consume or give away any liquor on said premises. Said dispenser shall report to the grand jury any one whom he believes to be guilty of violating the provisions of this section.

Sec. 8. Any person who drinks or consumes any liquor on said premises shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be fined not less than fifteen nor more than one hundred dollars.

Sec. 9. No spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors or intoxicating drinks shall be sold in this state except as hereinabove provided. Any person guilty of violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be fined not less than twenty five nor more than one hundred dollars.

Sec. 10. The city of Anniston shall carry on a dispensary just as if the said city were a county seat, and said city, at the times at which other towns and cities having dispensaries are required to pay license taxes, shall pay into the treasuries of the State of Alabama and County of Calhoun, as license taxes, the same amount of money that was paid into said treasuries for licenses to sell liquors in said city during the year 1897. The City of Jacksonville in said county, shall pay into said treasuries at the times aforesaid, as license taxes, the same amount of money that was paid into said treasuries for licenses to sell liquors in said city during the year 1897. Each county whose county seat is not an incorporated town or city shall conduct at its county seat and through its Court of County Commissioners or Board of Public Revenue, one dispensary subject to the terms, conditions, privileges and license taxes herein given to and required of incorporated towns and cities carrying on a dispensary.

Sec. 11. On the election day referred to in Section one of this act and prior to the close of the polls on that day, and on the two days preceding, it shall be unlawful for any person in this State to sell any spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors or intoxicating bitters of any kind. Any person who violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished for each offense by a fine not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars.

Sec. 12. It is not intended to be construed to repeal any law local or general that tends to prohibit the sale of spirituous or intoxicating liquors in any subdivision of this state, or to prohibit the sale of malt liquors or intoxicating drinks of any kind.

Sec. 13. All laws and parts of laws that conflict with the provisions of this act, except those referred to in the 12th Section of this act, are hereby repealed.

NINTH ALABAMA DISTRICT

The Congressional Election to Be Contested By G. B. Crowe.

Birmingham, Ala.—Dr. G. B. Crowe, Populist, will contest the seat of Hon. O. W. Underwood, Democrat, as Representative to the next session of the United States Congress from the Ninth Alabama District. Dr. Crowe claims that Mr. Underwood was not rightfully elected to the place, that there were gross frauds, intimidation of voters, etc., etc.

The contestant has written a long letter to Mr. Underwood, and the latter has made reply thereto, making a complete detail of the charges. Mr. Underwood will defend his rights.

Dr. Crowe was seen and questioned about the matter. "Yes, I intend to contest the election. I wrote Mr. Underwood on the 14th of December and received a reply seven days later. My letter, of course, charges fraud, intimidation, etc., while Mr. Underwood denies them all. Next week I will begin taking evidence to sustain my charges and I will be ably assisted."

It is understood that there will be charges made as to the count in every county composing the Ninth District. Specific cases are to be set out, and the evidence promises to be voluminous. The city of Birmingham is to be included in the evidence, and it is said the box at the City Hall is to play a very prominent part.

3,000 LOYAL SPANIARDS KILLED.

Spanish Win a Bloody Battle in the Philippine Islands.

Madrid, Spain.—A dispatch from Manilla says a great battle has been fought in the Philippine Islands, resulting in the signal defeat of the insurgents, of whom 3,000 were killed.

Additional details received here from Manilla indicate that the battle was fought at Balacan, a town in the Province of Luzon, located on the River Loloacan, twenty miles Northwest of Manilla. General Lachica, a leader of the Philippine island insurgents, is said to have been killed in the conflict. Of the Spaniards twenty-five were killed and sixty-[illegible] wounded. It is also [illegible] that seven cannon were captured from the insurgents.

A dispatch from Manilla to the Madrid Correspondencia gives additional details of the battle at Balacan and confirms the report that [illegible] insurgents were defeated and driven out of Luzon, as at first reported.

Prince Malcolm Carolas has also received news from Cagayan which indicates that a similar rout of the rebels in that country will be hastened.

INTO LAKE MICHIGAN

Plunged Vice-President Hammond, of a Wrecked Chicago Bank.

Chicago, Ill.—William A. Hammond, who was second vice-president of the failed National Bank of Illinois, went from his Evanston home partly dressed and evidently demented, in the gloomy darkness and wind swept rain about 2 o'clock Saturday morning, and leaving a trail of torn and twisted private papers in his path, sought the Dempster street pier, from which he threw himself into the icy waters of Lake Michigan, to obtain relief from the troubles which have piled upon him in the past two weeks. The body was found shortly after noon by two boys at the foot of Church street, whither it had been carried by the undertow. It was taken to the morgue and an inquest was held.

DISAPPOINTED BORROWER

Causes a Run on a National Bank at Cripple Creek, Col.

Cripple Creek, Col.—There was a run Saturday on the First National Bank, caused by the circulation of a report that the bank would not open, by a man whom they had refused a loan. Small depositors formed in line and were paid. No big deposits were touched. A special train was run from Colorado Springs with $5,000. President Parker said:

"We have on deposit more than enough to pay every dollar, should it be demanded, but only small depositors seem anxious and business men, mining men, and personal friends are depositing more than is being paid out."

Charles Wilson, said to be a great burglar, has been captured at Dallas, Texas.

A homeseekers' excursion is due here about the 7th instant, and promises to be one of the largest yet. Among the prospectors will be gentlemen interested in the establishment of the tuberculosis home at Thorsby.

Dr. Crowe will contest the seat of Oscar Underwood in the ninth Congressional district. The Doctor is reported to be raising a company to go to Cuba; he says not to fight the Spaniards but for the purpose of raising (sugar) cane.

The Loud bill amending the postal law has passed the House. It relates especially to second-class matter and is intended to do away with certain abuses of the mails. The principal features are that it prohibits newspaper publishers from sending sample copies of their papers as second-class matter and also the mailing of serial novel publications in the same class.

Mr. J. P. VanDerveer has invented and procured letters patent for an improved nut-lock. It is a simple and effective means of locking a nut upon its bolt; it consists of a covering plate adapted to be placed over the end of the bolt to embrace the nut and engage a fixed object, said covering plate having a concentric series of perforations or recesses employed in connection with a spring pawl carried by a supplemental nut. It appears to us that it effectually performs all that it is claimed to do, and is peculiarly fitted for railroad purposes. We commend it to the notice of railroad men particularly as well as to any machinist requiring a bolt to be kept inflexibly in its place.

In our county the year 1896 may well be remembered as one marking an epoch in its history. On the whole it was, considering the condition of affairs generally, a fairly prosperous year. Our people in the main are tolerably well supplied with the necessaries of life, and have marketed at Clanton alone over 3300 bales of cotton. Clanton is now considered the best cotton market between Montgomery and Birmingham, and prices here are only a fraction behind those at the capital city, and ahead of neighboring towns. At the end of December 1895 only 1962 bales had been marketed at Clanton against 3295 this season; a gain of 1333 bales. The county passed through all the excitement of the political campaigns in a quiet and orderly manner and the elections were conducted fairly and honestly in a way satisfactory to all parties, Populists, Democrats and Republicans alike. Despite the financial stringency the county, without inflicting any hardship upon our people, by means of a special tax in place of issuing bonds and plunging the county into debt, raised the money and built a new court house of which we are all proud, and is now practically free from debt. Our population has been considerably increased by immigration and the new settlement at Thorsby is attracting wide-spread attention. It is rapidly growing and already assumes the proportions of a town, and bids fair to soon surpass some of our older communities. The year was a healthy one and death passed us by without removing any of our more prominent citizens. Our new county officers have all fallen into their respective places as if they had been accustomed to them all their lives, and everything is moving along smoothly and satisfactorily. Clanton has largely increased its business facilities with additional new store houses and great improvements to the town are contemplated in the near future. Altogether we have a kindly remembrance of 1896.

Death of Mr. T. E. Gilchrist.

One of our oldest and most highly valued citizens passed away on Monday night at his home one mile east of Clanton. Mr. Gilchrist had not been in good health for some months past and a severe attack of grippe and pneumonia was more than his enfeebled body could stand. A quiet gentleman, always intent upon his own business, and never interfering with others, he was respected by all and will be greatly missed. He was about seventy-two years old and for more than fifty years was a faithful member of the Baptist church. The remains were laid away in the cemetry at Clanton on Wednesday evening, Rev. F. M. Woods officiating at the grave. A large number of friends paid the last tribute of respect by attending the funeral. The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved widow and family.

Convicts a Burden.

The counties of the State are beginning to have some difficulty in dispesing of their convicts. Montgomery is embarassed as to what to do with hers. Last year the Sloss Coal and Iron company of Birmingham, leased Montgomery's convicts and worked them in the mines at Coaloug. The Sloss company also leased practically all of the county convicts in the State, but they have declined to bid for any this year and the understanding is that the company will work free labor hereafter. The objection to the county convicts appears to be that they being sentenced to short terms gain their liberty before they learn to be skillful miners.

A meeting of the State Executive committee of the Democratic party of Alabama is called to meet at Montgomery, January 20, to consider and determine, if the committee decides it has jurisdiction for that purpose, certain complications that have arisen affecting the interests of the party in Mobile county, having relation mainly to the approaching municipal election in the city of Mobile. The particular question that will be submitted for the decision of the committee, it is understood, will be the determination of the qualification of the voters in the future primaries of the party.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Send a postal to the Silver Knight-Watchman, Washington, D. C., and receive a copy of their issue of January 7 which appears in an improved form with a different make-up and general appearance. A large amount of space is devoted to Congressional and governmental news and matters of a national character which every reformer in the country should read. A large corps of writers have been engaged to contribute articles during the year 1897, among whom are the following: Hon. Wm. J. Bryan; Senators, Teller, Allen, Butler, Peffer, Pettigrew, and Dubois; Representatives, Towne, Newlands, Bell, and Jerry Simpson; Wharton Baker, Esq., Wm. P. St. John, Sir Morcton Frewen, and many other famous and distinguished writers, both in public and private life. An article by any one of these writers is well worth the price of subscription, which is $1 for fifty-two weeks.

Lowe Ye Locals.

Leap year has gone and most of the girls are here yet, perhaps the boys will have better success.

We welcome Mr. Danforth's family to our community, also glad to note Miss Lilla's recovery from a severe attack of grippe.

Miss Mattie Lowe and her brother, Dalton, of Jemison visited relatives here last week.

What is the matter with the girls in town? some of their beaux were seen visiting Loweville Sunday evening.

Miss Annie Marlar is out again after a spell of la grippe.

Mr. John Marlar's face has a sad expression since he can't visit Jemison any longer.

We are sorry to state that Miss J. A. Lowe is on the sick list this week.

Mr. C. J. Stewart is quite sick at his home at Lomax.

Success to the Banner and best wishes for a happy New Year.

Aunt Hannah.

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 5, 1896.

According to the New York bankers the war scare has cause a shrinkage in values of $100,000,000. This is more damage than has been inflicted on the island of Cuba, so we are fain to believe that Wall street "scares" come high, or that it is another case of "the little boy lied."

The New York Journal, one of the most independent papers in the east, recently published a number of interviews with leading business men, in regard to the present status of business. Reports were made from New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, New Orleans, Memphis, San Antonio, Denver, Kansas City and San Francisco. The most hopeful reports were from the west and south where a very slight improvement was noted. Eastern men state that the depression has become more marked during the last month.

The feasibility and constitutionality of the state taking individual action in regard to practical bi-metalism is being widely discussed by the newspapers.

The Security and Mortgage Trust company, of Dallas, Tex., has failed for $2,000,000.

The Atlas National bank, of Chicago, has suspended with liabilities of one and one-half millions. Four smaller banks closed on account of this suspension.

Owing to the machinations of the trust that controls that commodity, leather continues to advance in price.

Thanks to a fight between the Sugar Trust and the Arbuckle coffee company, the price of coffee has gone down a few cents. Good.

A rather amusing story has just been sent out in regard to a large number of gold bug democrats, in Ohio, who were beguiled into parting with various sums of money to a self-constituted committee that represented itself as authorized to prepare a list of postmasters to succeed the present incumbents, who were to be deposed for "pernicious activity." None of the promised appointments materialized, which led to inquiry and so the story got out.

What promises to be a most unique and inreresting gathering is the National Congress of Mothers, that is to convene shortly in Washington, D. C.

At a meeting of the members of the lower House at Oklahoma City, Dec. 22, it was agreed to hold a final caucus in executive session at Guthrie, January 11, '97.

W. J. Bryan's lecture at Atlanta was a most unqualified success, but at its close he refused to accept the $10,000 check that would have bound him to deliver the entire series of lectures. He has as yet not fully stated his plans.

According to the report of Labor Commissioner Powers, the farmers of Minnesota have realized on their crops $7,500,000 less in 1895 than in 1891.

Nebraska voters are following the lead of Iowa and demanding a non-partisan conference at Lincoln, Jan. 6, 1897.

The Populists of South Dakota are the party of the Hannacrats.

The absurdity of Spanish threats of war against the United States is conceded by all. President Cleveland's position as regards Cuba can be somewhat accounted for by the fact that Cuban bonds are largely held by the Wall street element to whose interests he has so ably devoted himself. Cuban independence would mean deprecation if not repudiation of these stocks. Sec. Olney will submit plans to congress, Jan. 5th., by which the United States will act as mediater between Spain and Cuba and guarantee to the island semi-independence, and amnesty to the insurgents.

The newspapers of Nebraska are giving much praise to Gov. Holcomb for the character of his appointees.

Chairman Prewett, of the Populist State Committee of Mississippi, has issued an appeal to the Populists of that state to lay aside prejudice and work for the principles of Populism.

La Grippe

If you have had the Grippe, you know its aches and pains, the fever, the chills, the cough, the depression—you know them all. The Grippe exhausts the nervous system quickly, lowers the vitality. Two things should be done at once:—the body must be strengthened, and force must be given to the nervous system. Cod-liver Oil will do the first; Hypophosphites the second. These are permanently and pleasantly combined in Scott's Emulsion.

It lifts the despondency and heals the inflamed membranes of the throat and lungs.

But you need not have LA GRIPPE.

You can put your system in a condition unfavorable to it. You can have rich, red blood; resistive strength; steady brain and nerves. Scott's Emulsion prevents as well as cures.

And whether you send or go for Scott's Emulsion, be sure you get the genuine.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Vine Hill.

Christmas is past with its joys and pleasures. At the station on Christmas eve there was a fine, though not a costly, display of nice gifts for the little ones, and when between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening, when the tree was seen lighted by candle light, with its limbs loaded with beautiful gifts, gracefully and artistically arranged mid the green leaves of the holly, was an object long to be remembered by the little ones and the large and orderly company who had gathered to enjoy the Christmas tree presided over by Mr. Monroe Mercy and others, while all seemed to be filled with Xmas.

On Christmas evening at Mr Fischer's home the children of Mr. Urmies family with a few friends enjoyed another Christmas tree which was a pleasure to all.

Nothing but peace and pleasure on every hand; no disturbance to hurt feelings or injure any one, and long may it continue so. Happy New Year to all. Pat.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phœbe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at J. S. Jonson, Jr., Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

THE MISSING WORD

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately ..... as cause and effect,"

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st. of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and probably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the western hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the southern and western states than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown below, we have done more in recent years to enable the farmers of this country to get their fencing at the actual cost of the wire than all other fence manufacturers in the United States, because we figure and show how cheap the various styles of fence can be made, or what the actual cost of the wire is to make them, while those who make and sell the fencemust add the cost of labor to manufacture and their profit to the actual cost of the wire. We can sell you a Machine and enough wire to make 100 rods of the best Woven Wire Fence on earth, horse high, bull strong, pig and chicken tight for the same money that will buy 100 rods of any good woven wire fence now on the market. In one case you have the fence alone. In the other you have not only the fence but a machine which enables you to be your own fence manufacturer and make any of several styles of Ornamental yard or lawn fencing. To show how little farmers of this country appreciate this machine it is only necessary to say that if all the machines sold by us were run for twenty days, each machine making 40 rods per day, they would make enough fence to go around the world, being an average of 60,000 rods or 1,250 miles per day. If all of the machines were run only 60 days during the year, making 40 rods per day each, they would make a grand total of 24,000,000 rods, which would make an average of 75,000 rods or 500 miles for every working day in the year. The combined product of all the Loom Fence Factories of the United States would not equal this. One cent is much. Invest it in a postal card and send for our Large Illustrated Catalogue, telling all about fencing. It may save you many dollars. Sent free for the asking. Address, Kitselman Bros., Box 1092, Ridgeville, Indiana.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 12 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS.

GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their best ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "suspender," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are those that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

All communications regarded strictly confidential.

Cured His Mother.
CARTHAGE, Mo., July 25, 1895.—Your Menthol Salve cured my mother's hands. She has had no trouble with her hands since I got her the box. My mother is happy and doing all her own work again. She was not able to do any work for three years on account of her hands. Your Balm has cured them. I thank you very much. ROY RAHM.
It Acts Like a Charm.
SALEM, Ala., April 6, 1895.—I have used your Menthol Balm on some old bad sores, and on two or three cases of itch and other eruptions, the patients say it acts like a charm. Please send four boxes Balm. I intend to encourage the use of your preparations because they do act sure enough "like a charm." H. W. FLOYD, M. D.
If druggist cannot get it of your druggist send 25c for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists. Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Indiana.

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 12 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is plain; Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge, a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

MONEY IN THE MISSING WORD.

WE are pleased to make an entirely new offer to our subscribers, in which every one may have a chance to name the missing word in this sentence:

"SUPPLY AND DEMAND ARE AS INTIMATELY '_____' AS CAUSE AND EFFECT."

It is quoted from a prominent writer upon economic subjects.

In making your guess it is not necessary to write out the full sentence—simply write: "My guess for missing word for MARCH is _____."

Give You a Chance to Make Good Money.

THE CONSTITUTION guarantees that the amount of the award will not be less than $500 in Cash, and it may be as much as $2,000.

It will be 10 per cent of all subscriptions that we, and all the other clubbing papers with The Constitution, secure for the months of January and February. If the subscriptions keep up with the record of last year, the sum to be given will Exceed $2,000 cash. If the subscriptions are doubled, as they were in January, just past. The Constitution will pay out about $3,000 in cash premiums in this contest. If more than one person name the proper word, the amount will be equally divided between them.

The Weekly Constitution is the Greatest Weekly Newspaper in the World, with a circulation of 150,000. It covers the whole world in its news service, and covers the news of the United States in minute detail, with 12 pages, 7 columns to the page, 84 Columns Every Week.

AS A NEWSPAPER—The Weekly Constitution has no equal in America! Its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every bailiwick in the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE—It prints more such matter as is ordinarily found in the great magazines of the country than can be gotten from even the best of them.

AS AN EDUCATOR—It is a schoolhouse within itself, and a year's reading of THE CONSTITUTION is a liberal education to anyone.

AS A FRIEND AND COMPANION—It brings cheer and comfort to the fireside every week, is eagerly sought by the children, contains valuable information for the mother, and is an encyclopedia of instruction for every member of the household.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES—Are such as are not to be found in any other paper in America.

THE FARM AND FARMERS' DEPARTMENT,
THE WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT,
THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT,
Are all under able direction, and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed.

LET US HAVE YOUR SUBSCRIPTION AT ONCE

And with it your guess—for the guess must, in every case, accompany the yearly subscription sent in. You cannot do without your local newspaper, and you cannot do without a great, general newspaper, in touch with your section. We cover the local demand—THE CONSTITUTION covers the world. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Constitution, send us $1.00, and along with it your guess in the missing word contest. We will forward same and duly record your guess.

From His Standpoint.

"Have you come to see about why the garbage wasn't collected?" asked the housewife.

"No, I ain't," replied the contractor's agent, indignantly. "I've come to find out what business you people have to make a complaint over a little thing like waitin' a week or two for the man to come around. That's what I'm here for."—Washington Star.

A 50-Cent Calendar Free.

Perhaps the most beautiful calendar issued for the year '97 is THE YOUTH'S COMPANION Art Calendar, which is given to each subscriber to the paper for the year '97. It is made up of four charming pictures, beautifully reproduced in twelve harmonious colors. It is in form a four-page folder which, when extended, is 10½ inches in size. The subjects are delightfully attractive. This Calendar makes a delightful ornament for a mantel, centre-table or writing desk. It is to be sold for sale only by the publishers of THE YOUTH'S COMPANION at 50 cents per copy. Only because of the enormous number published is it possible for the publisher of THE COMPANION to send it free to all COMPANION subscribers.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

INDUSTRIAL SOUTH.

The Chattanooga Tradesman's Weekly Report.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The Tradesman's Southern correspondents report but little change in industrial conditions, and the demand for manufactured products will not show much increase until the spring trade opens. An encouraging feature of the week is the increase in the number of new industries organized, which is a practical demonstration of the restoration of confidence in manufacturing circles.

The movement in iron and steel is light and buyers of Western and Southern brands of pig iron report a cut in prices of 25 cents a ton. The furnaces of the Dayton Coal and Iron Company, at Dayton, Tenn., were put in blast January 1, and the company will build 50 additional coke ovens.

The demand for lumber for home consumption is quiet, but the export trade continues active.

Among the most important new industries for the week the Tradesman reports the following: Window glass works to cost $150,000 at Mannington, W. Va.; the Austin Mining Company, capital $10,000, at Austin, Tex.; the W. C. Quinn Dry Plate Manufacturing Company, capital $30,000, at Henderson, Ky.; the Union Cement and Lime Company, capital $450,000, at Louisville, Ky.; the Big Sandy Oil and Gas Company, capital $450,000, Catlettsburg, Ky.; a cotton seed oil and delinting mill at Little Rock, Ark.; and a $200,000 cotton mill at Valdosta, Ga. Large woodworking plants to cost $100,000 will be erected at Columbus, Ga., and at New Orleans, La.; the Hines Bros. Lumber Company, capital $50,000, has been chartered at Winston, N. C., and $10,000 lumber companies have been organized at Little Rock, Ark., and Shreveport, La.

THE PLAN REVEALED.

Tom Parker Tells a Fearful Story of Intended Crime.

Birmingham, Ala.—Five negroes, Rome Scales, Emanuel Brittings, Tom Ingram, Tom Parker and Andrew Fagan, incarcerated in the county jail within the past week, have proven to be the worst wanted quintette of scoundrels that ever peeped through jail gratings.

Tom Parker, through skillful questioning by Sheriff O'Brien, gave a full and complete description of the entire plot—naming as the instigator Andrew Fagan—whereby passenger train No. 37, of the Southern railway, was to be wrecked at McComb's trestle for the purpose of robbing the express car and dead bodies of those on board the train.

Parker's confession, were it to appear in print, would read more like a dime novel than a real conspiracy in which the lives of hundreds of people were to be taken for the sake of gain. He told how Fagan induced him and the other negroes under arrest, to go to the bridge, and once there remove the spikes and plates which held the rail in position, and to make the plot more certain of success, removed the rail from its position, and then built a fire and calmly awaited the destruction of the train. Jim Hawes' keen sight and wonderful nerve, together with a divine providence, frustrated the hellish designs of the negro fiends.

Fagan alone denies the statement made by Parker, the others acknowledging its truthfulness in every minute detail. Sheriff O'Brien has the negro's confession in writing, which will be used in meeting out to the scoundrels their just deserts.

AND THIS IS CALLED WAR.

Huts of the Peasantry Burned and Forage Destroyed.

Havana, Cuba.—Several detachments of Col. Melguizo's column, while reconnoitering at Montes Caplaso and other places, have destroyed over 400 huts of all kinds and demolished all of the forage and other resources of the enemy south of Lajas and Pilato Hills. The detachments also surprised a rebel camp occupied by a small party of insurgents, three of whom were killed. The troops suffered no losses.

Francisco Padron was shot in the Cabanas fortress at sunrise Monday morning for the crime of rebellion.

FIVE MINERS KILLED.

Through the Carelessness of a Fire Boss in a Coal Mine.

South McAllister, I. T.—Five miners were killed by an explosion of gas which occurred in the Anderson mines at 4 p. m. Monday. The names of the men killed are Martin Roy, Joe Cox, Tom Curry, William Bishop and Simon Pitty, colored.

The explosion is supposed to have been caused by Fire Boss Cox unscrewing the bottom of a safety alve lamp, which ignited the gas. No damage was done to the mine property.

WORST FOR YEARS.

Sioux City, Ia.—The worst blizzard known for years has been raging here for thirty-six hours. In this town the street railway traffic is practically blocked. Many trains have been abandoned and are all late. The conditions are steadily growing worse, and a general blockade is feared. Deaths are reported from the outlying districts, but until after the storm nothing definite can be learned.

A HOSPITAL BURNED.

Omaha, Neb.—The Wyoming State General Hospital, at Rock Springs, Wyo., burned to the ground Monday morning. The ten patients were removed, but one, a woman, died from fright while being taken to the temporary quarters. The loss is $18,000, with $18,000 insurance.

HAVE YOU KIDNEY ILLS?

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention this paper and send your full postoffice address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

"Walter Baker & Co., of Dorchester, Mass., U. S. A., have given years of study to the skillful preparation of cocoa and chocolate, and have devised machinery and systems peculiar to their methods of treatment, whereby the purity, palatability and highest nutrient characteristics are retained. Their preparations are known the world over, and have received the highest indorsements from the medical practitioner, the nurse, and the intelligent housekeeper and caterer. There is hardly any food-product which may be so extensively used in the household in combination with other foods as cocoa and chocolate; but here again we urge the importance of purity and nutrient value, and these important points, we feel sure, may be relied upon in Baker's Cocoa and Chocolate."—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

RIPANS TABULES

For a neighbor, who lived out by him in the country, told his own story, as follows: "Ever since I was in the army, where I contracted indigestion and dyspepsia from eating hard tack and sow belly, I have suffered much from those and kindred ailments. A son of mine told me, while home on a visit over a year ago, to get some Ripans Tabules and take them. I did, and in a very short time I was benefited. I have felt better, ate more and relished it better than at any time since the war, and am doing more work now than I ever expected to do again. I tell you they are the GREATEST MEDICINE FOR A FELLOW'S STOMACH I ever saw. We always have them at home, and I always recommend them when a fellow complains about his stomach troubling him.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 14 1897. NO 12.

Look out for that promised prosperity.

The best money is that of stable volume and value.

The banks have concluded to retire the greenbacks.

McKinley will not have to materially alter Grover's message.

That was only a skirmish; let us get ready for a battle.

That promised prosperity isn't worth a 53 cent dollar yet.

Cleveland and McKinley would make a good pair—two of a kind.

A few farmers in Congress would be a very desirable ingredient.

Mark Hanna has moved his President factory to Washington.

The idle should apply to the advance agent of prosperity for work.

Some of the old populites are becoming a little crank themselves.

President Cleveland's antagonism to trusts comes too late to do any good.

Less money and more starvation is Doctor Cleveland's prescription for hard times.

The next thing Mark Hanna knows he will be charged with running a President.

Some seem to think that the way to get reform measures is to vote for them.

Illinois is the finest woman's prison in the world; yet there is but little demand for the rooms.

We have heard a great deal about prosperity, but have seen no one that has seen any of it as yet.

A brick trust is being organized; it is time the Attorney-General was "throwing a brick" or two.

The plutocrats seem bent on compelling us to take flat prosperity; we would rather have flat dollars.

After the 4th of March all eyes will be turned to the Republicans for the enactment of measures of relief.

We are glad to see the silver men organizing, but the next issue will be the money question and a few others.

The 150,000 yellow-hammers have expressed their willingness that the 4,000,000 silver Democrats may come back into the party.

Grover Cleveland might palliate, to some extent, his short-comings by making it hot for the trusts for the balance of his administration.

An exchange asks: "What are we going to do with the trusts?" It would come to the point to ask: "What are the trusts going to do with us?"

The trusts are increasing prices on the necessities of life, and the manufacturers are reducing wages of employes. The wage-worker is getting what he voted for.

Bankers have robbed the people of more money than all the highway robbers have, yet they are considered a very respectable class—and some of them are.

About the only personal inconvenience General Weyler has experienced in his recent campaign in the field against the Cubans was to miss a meal or two and get his nose sunburned.

Money is simply an order on society for the value expressed on its face. It is money by creation of law—that is, by a general agreement among all the people to receive it as such. Its principal use is to facilitate exchange of commodities.

Want It on a Safe Basis.

Bankers and "business men," led on by Mark Hanna, now want the currency put off a "safe basis." The gold basis isn't "safe," it is now ascertained, and prosperity must linger by the way until "the government is taken out of the banking business." You see they are afraid that the gold reserve will be depleted and the government compelled to issue bonds. And what is the remedy, my lord? In order to prevent the depletion of the gold reserve and the consequent issuance of bonds, they propose to issue five hundred millions of bonds, retire the greenbacks and have the national banks issue the currency. Hot remedy! One remarkable thing in this little game is, that while the government notes are a "source of weakness and distrust" that the bankers "must have government bonds on which to base their circulation." See anything? The bankers' own credit won't float their notes, but they must have the government behind them, at the same time the government's notes, issued direct to the people, are a "source of weakness and distrust." When Uncle Sam says to you or me, "Here is one of my bills, it's OK," the bill is N. G., but when he says, "I guarantee Mr. Banker's currency," then the banknotes are good. Strange that the government's word is so unreliable, according to the broadcloth gents; stranger still that they should scheme so hard to get this untrustworthy personage to say that they are all right. Stranger still, is the fact that the voting king don't see through the game.—Coming Nation.

ASTOR SWEARS ALLEGIANCE TO THE QUEEN OF ENGLAND.

This is the sort of American patriotism that is developed by wealth gained by monopolies. Read this special from New York to a Chicago organ of plutocracy: "William Waldorf Astor has sworn allegiance to the queen. The last link connecting the author-publisher-diplomat of the great family of money-makers with the land of his birth is severed. Such is the news that came from London today by letter. It was from a relative of a New Yorker who has reason to be interested in the doings of the Astor family." The letter gave circumstantial details.

THE MONEY POWER.

A TERRIBLE ARRAIGNMENT OF CORPORATE GREED.

Facts As Startling As Were Cited In the Declaration Framed by Our Forefathers—Corruption Rampant Throughout the Land.

The principles of the declaration of independence are just as potent today as they were in 1776. And the oppressions which the cowardly grandsons of revolutionary heroes suffer are just as galling and destructive of Liberty and equality as were the unjust taxation and tyranny our forefathers fought against. The English and American money power, which is the same, have crushed our government out of all semblance to a government of the people.

We submit facts as startling as were those recited in the declaration that was framed by our forefathers.

The money power has prevented the passage of laws necessary for the public good.

It has caused the repeal of laws that kept money enough in circulation to enable the people to do a cash business without paying tribute to the money brokers.

It has delayed the passage of laws so as to enable trusts, syndicates and combines to corner the market on staple products.

It has prevented the passage of laws for the benefit of the majority of the people.

It has forced its way into legislative halls in the form of a lobby to influence legislation for its own special purposes.

It has prevented state legislation accomplishing the work for which they were called in special session. For instance, the late session of the Illinois legislature.

It has openly, flagrantly and boastfully disregarded the inter-state commerce law, and defied the anti-trust law.

It has prevented the administration of justice by controlling the courts.

It has made judges independent of the law, the constitution and the people.

It has, through its political heelers, created hundreds of useless high salaried offices, and had them filled by appointment from the enemies of the people.

It is building military fortresses and garrisoning them with rich men's sons, besides drilling school children to be soldiers instead of useful citizens.

It indicates what kind of text-books shall be used in our common schools, controls our colleges, and prevents even the preaching of the principles of Jesus Christ in many pulpits.

It has made the military independent of civil power.

The American money power, has combined with England to force this country to maintain a financial policy that is robbing the people of their homes, and turning thousands out to beg, steal or starve.

It causes the building of war ships and cannon, and has secured an entire change in the tactics of the U. S. army, so that now soldiers are being specially trained to bombard houses and murder working people who dare assemble on the streets of our great infernos, called cities.

It has cut off our trade with the world by appropriating all our surplus products to pay interest on bonds and mortgages.

It has forced the issue of interest-bearing bonds to enslave the people.

It deprives men of the right of trial by jury, and has set up a system of "government by injunction."

It has caused the sending of armed troops into a state where the local officers were fully capable of enforcing the law.

It has doubled the debts of the people, and a few thousand of its representatives have stolen half the wealth of the nation.

It has secured by special grants enough land to maintain ten millions of people in honest industry.

It has rendered all our laws inoperative where the rich man is involved.

It has caused the supreme court to declare it unconstitutional to tax rich.

It has bribed men chosen to represent the people.

It has made protection of property the sole object of our government.

It has plundered the people, driven young girls to prostitution, starved wives and children, driven men from happy firesides to wander on the highways, and caused the murder and imprisonment of workingmen whose only crime was helplessness.

It has imprisoned men for stepping on the grass at Washington, and it has caused men to be sent to the penitentiary for asking for bread.

It has caused young men in the military service to shoot down their fathers, brothers, friends, to "protect property," when itself has hired incendiaries to burn property so as to make an excuse for using military force in driving men back to work at starvation wages.

It was the cause of the late war, in which thousands of able-bodied young men were murdered, and the principal result of which was the creation of a debt whereby not only the negro but the white man as well is made a slave, and the owner has not even the responsibility of feeding him. And there are a hundred more things we might mention.—Industrial Advocate.

REFORM PRESS MEETING.

Pres. Van Dervoort Gives Notice of the Time and Place.

In accordance with the vote of the majority of our executive committee and the approval of all of the officers, but one, our annual meeting will be held at Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 22, 1897. The municipal authorities, business organizations and railroads reaching the city will heartily co-operate to make the occasion a grand success. We have assurances that an excursion will be arranged to New Orleans and the Gulf coast. Our vice-president, Frank Burkett, reports that he attended an enthusiastic meeting at Memphis, and that our entertainment will be taken hold of cordially by all of the people and that immense interest is exhibited. Interesting papers will be read by the members. We earnestly desire a large attendance.

We hope that every member will be present and many new ones enrolled. All applications will be received and referred to proper committees at Memphis for investigation and report.

The bitterness of the campaign is now over and we can devise means to reorganize our party and continue the campaign of education on true People's party lines. We extend a hearty greeting to all and hope that they will prosper during the coming year and be able to keep up their work in defense of the cause they have sacrificed so much to build up. Upon the meeting depends the future of the People's party, and we earnestly urge every editor and publisher to make great sacrifices to be present.

Members will apply to the officers nearest them for assistance in securing rates and advertising. Jo. A. Parker, corresponding secretary, at Louisville, Ky., will have charge of arranging rates with Memphis lines.

We append list of officers and post-office addresses to this call.

President, Paul Van Dervoort, Omaha.

Vice-president, Frank Burkett, Okolona, Miss.

Secretary and treasurer, A. Rozelle, Lamar, Mo.

Corresponding secretary, Jo. A. Parker, Louisville, Ky.

Ready print editor, W. S. Morgan, Hardy, Ark.

Executive committee, J. H. Ferris, Joliet, Ill.; Charles X. Mathews, Indianapolis, Ind.; Abe Steinberg, Girard, Kan.; E. S. Peters, Calvert, Texas; Mary O'Neill, St. Louis, Mo.

PAUL VAN DERVOORT, President.

THE POPULIST CREED.

It Will Live Forever in the Hearts and Works of Men.

Tom Watson in People's Party Paper: The Populist creed is an immortal creed, because founded on principles for which just men have contended in all ages. Were there no People's party, the essential elements of our faith would live. They represent the wrongs of crushed masses, the hopes of those who love humanity, the aspirations of those who dream of just laws and happier conditions than those which now prevail. Even were there no political movement along the lines of Populism, the cause would not stand still. Busy pens would still elaborate its principles. In books and in newspapers the thinker would be at work. He would seek his audience and find it, in spite of all the boodlers and the traitors and the tricksters. He might know that the present held no reward for him in its unfriendly hand, but he would look over the present and beyond it, and he would be patient and strong and fearless, for he would know that the future comes hastening this way and that in God's own good time the little he has been able to do for right and for humanity will bear its golden harvest in those years that are to come.

Long ago the lamp of Plato ceased to burn, and yet the light of his luminous thought is with us still. Long ago the voice of Gracchus, pleading for the deserving many against the too-grasping few, was hushed; but its plea thrills all noble hearts among us yet.

Burns no longer sings the equality of man, as he dashes in from the kitchen to face the aristocrats who were too proud to dine with him; but his defiant voice, ringing with undying truth lives forever, and shall move the souls of men till all human hearts are dust.

O'Connell no longer stands upon the hillside, with his thousands listening at his feet; denouncing tyranny, denouncing legislative injustice, demanding popular rights and arraying the resistless powers of public sentiment against a system of government based upon wrong, but every thought that he uttered lives and bears fruit; every inspiration of Grattan still inspires, every lion-like heart-beat of Sydney and Hampden, of John Bright and Gladstone, of Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln Henry and Otis is a heritage of all the world; and while the leaders may perish, his example and his work are beyond the reach of death and the grave.

The Girl Agitator.

Quite a furore has been created in Indianapolis by a young woman named Belle Pierson Springer, who recently took her pen in hand and wielded it in the following fashion:

Girls, just look at this. If you do not think you should give the economic conditions some thought: The average wages per day paid an American workingman outside the trades union is $1.25 per day; the average number of days' work per year for laboring men either in or out of trades unions is steadily decreasing. Every year it becomes more and more impossible for the average man to marry the woman of his choice by reason of his financial standing. It in turn becomes impossible for this woman's father or brother to support her, and she enters the army of work seekers, thereby decreasing the chances of both her lover and her father for a job. It used to be the hue and cry that there were so few avenues open to women; now they are forced into them to the exclusion of men because they will work cheaper, but it is doubtful if they are greatly benefited.

Belle Pierson Springer is a young woman to whom we hasten to doff our hat. She utters sound logic, and evidently proposes to expose the objectionable features of the prevailing "new woman" humbuggery. The only "new woman" who is worthy of attention is the one who takes an interest in the welfare of her sisters despite the great disadvantages under which she labors. Every woman engaged in labor and reform work is more or less of a heroine, and is a thousand times more useful to society than the dawdling social swells whose mushy and gushy behavior gags men of common sense. The sterner sex should be more thoughtful than to uphold a system that forces women and children into workshops and factories. They ought to know that they are hurting themselves. We hope the number of women agitators will increase.—Cleveland Citizen.

The Bolting Prodigals.

There will be many fatted calves killed by Democrats in the future, we have no doubt, and there will also be much music and dancing, but the choicest cutlets will not go to the Indianapolis bolters, and none of them will be called upon to lead the grand march. They must flook with the servants for a season, and be content to eat at second table. If they don't like it we are sorry for them, and assure them kindly but firmly that they will have to lump it. The gold Democrats, from their showing at the polls, are so weak that it is not worth while to dicker with them, or else they voted for McKinley. In the latter case they are backsliders, and can reach full fellowship again only by way of the mourners' bench.—Chicago Dispatch.

Every bank should be required by law to protect its depositors to the last cent. This is a matter of business which the banks are particular to demand when people go there to borrow money, and it is a rule that should work both ways.

One good thing about the silver question is, if you get a man to listen to you you can talk over the money question with him.

ABOUT DIRECT LAWS.

WHAT THEY WOULD AND WOULD NOT DO.

Some Facts on an Important Question by One of "Facts" Interesting Correspondents—There Is Only One Side to This Question.

To the Editor of Facts: In a late number of the Atlantic Monthly is a short and very well-written article on "The Political Menace of the Discontented," in which, after picturing in frightful colors the dangers which threaten our nation from the Chicago platform and its adherents, the writer remarks:

"It is more than a coincidence that the menace to property and credit is more determined in the two parts of the union, the south and the west, which have nothing in common but a lack of thrift."

Farther on he states:

"It is the feeling that in some way the government has ceased to be his, as it was in a time nearer to the town-meeting, that has aroused the suspicion of the isolated man."

Granted that our Atlantic friend's conclusions are correct, it certainly behooves us of the thriftless and therefore rebellious west to make a great effort to allay the suspicions of the isolated man, by making the government once more his own.

How to make and keep our government one which shall be in reality a government by the people is, then, a question of the utmost importance to us.

Doubtless, the terms "initiative," "referendum" and "imperative mandate" are familiar to the ear. But lest some one may not understand them fully I will give a brief explanation.

The referendum is simply a referring to the people of a proposed legal measure for their approval or veto. We now have the referendum in our own country in a very limited measure, i. e., every amendment to our state constitution must be approved by the people before it becomes part of the law of the land. Certain questions as to bond issues are also submitted to the people. Several years ago the school board of Denver gave the people the referendum in regard to free textbooks.

In Switzerland, which country takes the lead in direct legislation, the referendum is either compulsory or optional. That is, in some of the cantons all measures must be submitted to the people before becoming laws, while in others and in the federal government they are submitted only on petition of a certain number of citizens.

The initiative is the natural complement of the referendum. By it the people have the power to initiate legislation when their legislators are too sluggish to do so, or when they are bound by "rings and strings" and unholy combinations. A demand by a certain number of voters then compels the law-making body to frame the desired legislation and submit it to the people for their acceptance or rejection.

The imperative mandate, or, as it is sometimes named, the recall, enables the people to remove from office an unworthy or incapable official, provided that the demand be made by a majority of the voters.

Perhaps it may be plainer to you if brought nearer home. Let us suppose that we have adopted some such system of direct legislation in our city. We wish to take into our own hands the business of supplying ourselves with drinkable water. Say twenty per cent of our people sign a request to our public servants to make all arrangements for purchasing the property of the water company or for putting in a new system. That is the initiative.

The city council thereupon must frame necessary measures and advertise thoroughly the date on which the question is to come before the people. On that day it is settled by direct vote. That is the referendum. Possibly during this operation one of our older men has shown a leaning toward the interest of somebody besides the people whose servant he is. Such things have been heard of in some of our cities. Possibly he has worked so plainly against us and for his own interests that the whole city is indignant. Very well, if more than half of us see fit we may, by signing our names to the demand, remove the gentleman from his public office. That is the imperative mandate, or recall.

Or, suppose that many of us think that our fair city would be fairer without saloons. Do you not see how direct legislation would simplify matters? I believe that if the question of saloons or no saloons were put directly to the people of Denver, the saloon would go. Perhaps not, but I should like to see it tried.

For a few moments let us consider some of the arguments for and against an adoption of this Swiss system.

It would destroy the lobby, that "third house," which is responsible for much of our class legislation.

It would tend to prevent politics from becoming a trade, for the power of the politician being curtailed, there would be little or no money in the business. It is hard to buy up a whole people, and he who would attempt it would have no money to waste on elected representatives.

It would weaken party spirit and probably make an end of party government.

It would put a stop to the wholesale, reckless legislation which is now rushed through our law-making bodies, much of which serves only to make mischief. Is it not true that to-day most reforms lie in the direction of repealing laws already on the statute books, rather than in making new ones?

But you may say the people are not capable of deciding such questions. True enough. We admit our ignorance. But neither are we capable of electing wise men to office, men able to decide these questions for us. What proportion of the people who voted for state legislators on Nov. 3 knew anything of the character and ability of the men for whom they voted? A few knew something of them personally, a few others knew something by hearsay, while the rest voted for them simply because they were the party nominees. Party nominees! Selected, then, in all probability, by a clique of the least trustworthy men in the community.

No, we are not wise enough or patriotic enough to legislate for ourselves, but I believe that we could soon learn how if we had a chance to do it. How much did we know about national finances two years ago? We have had the benefit of compulsory education on that subject of late, for by some strange process the last election turned itself into a referendum on the money question. It has been rather agonizing to our spirits—much of what we have learned with so much pains is not true. But after all we are wiser than we were, and I think that the average man is now about as capable of legislating on financial questions as the financiers we have been sending to Congress for the last twenty-five years. He couldn't make a worse mess of it or change his mind oftener.

Pardon me if I have given you a one-sided view of this subject. I can see but one side. To me it seems the one thing we must have in order to get the many things we want. We cannot get it easily. Working against us we shall have all the lawless and anarchistic elements of the country—the saloon and gambling element, those corporations which have found it to their interest to own our legislators and those legislators who have found it to their interest to be owned. But we have justice on our side, and there can be but one outcome.—Emily Marks in "Facts."

A POPULIST CITY.

It Will Levy No Taxes After the First of the Year.

Glasgow will levy no taxes after January 1, 1897. The revenues derived from the public utilities, owned by the city, including the street car service, the gas and electric light service, the water supply and other public monopolies are now sufficient to pay all expenses of the city government. The most surprising part of the whole matter is the fact that this remarkable achievement has been accomplished with an immense reduction in the cost of service to the public.

Glasgow is a city of about twice the size of San Francisco, population being 792,000. In 1891 it was only 77,000. It has made a larger growth than any other European city since that date. Its great university, over 400 years old is famous the world over. Its public libraries, museum and technical schools are the pride of the city. The general intelligence of this great university town is unequalled in Europe. Its sanitary condition is of the first class. It ranks next to London in size among the cities of Great Britain. In a word, it is the model city of to-day.

The leading source of municipal revenue in Glasgow is the street railway system, and although the city bought the street car service less than three years ago, July 1, 1894, and interest on the debt and provision for a sinking fund made, after meeting these fixed charges and the cost of repair and maintenance there was a balance at the close of the year past, July 1, 1896, of $403,014. The fare is one cent for half mile rides, and the average fare for the 36,462,000 passengers carried during the year is less than 1¾ cents. The cost of water and gas service has likewise been greatly reduced, and yet the revenue has been increased.

Our readers need not be told that Glasgow is a Populist city. Municipal ownership of the public utilities, street car service, water and light, etc., is a fundamental law of the People's party in city government. Another fundamental law is the system of initiative and referendum, otherwise known as direct legislation. With city ownership of public utilities and direct legislation as the foundation of municipal government, the boss in politics is eliminated, for there is nothing left for him to do, and he disappears just as a stone sinks in the water. When will Americans know enough to adopt a Populistic government?—The Californian.

Not a Bad Showing.

Election returns show Bryan more in touch with his home people than William McKinley. Lancaster County, Neb., where Bryan lives, is one of the strongest Republican counties of the state, giving a Republican majority in 1895 of 5,867. Bryan turned this majority under and carried the county by 773 plurality. Stark county gave a Republican majority in 1895 of 2,161. McKinley carried his home county by a reduced majority of 850.—Ex.

We are told by the "sound money" advocates that gold is worth as much without the government stamp as it is with it, and that the stamp adds nothing to the value of the material; that its intrinsic value is what makes it fit for money. Now, if this is true, why should it be declared by law a legal tender? If it rests solely on its own intrinsic merits, why not repeal the legal tender clause and let it rest solely on its own merits and the contracts? Let this issue be pushed and see if the bankers do not change front.

SOUTH'S ADVANTAGE

In the Iron and Steel Making Industry.

Washington, D. C.—The total absence of Southern iron and steel manufacturers before the Committee of Ways and Means Saturday, on the occasion of hearings on the iron and steel schedules, was a fact that excited some considerable comment. The explanation was given incidentally in the argument of the Pennsylvania manufacturer, when he said the Southern mills were making no money, and yet were producing steel and pig iron at less cost than the Northern makers, the ore costing at least $1 less delivered at Southern than at Northern mills. The Southern manufacturers, realizing this fact, know that their interests will be well taken care of before the committee of Northerners, for any concession they may secure will operate even more handsomely to the Southern mill owners. Generally speaking, cost of manufacturing in the South is cheaper than in the North, and in this fact is found the explanation of the very small attendance of Southern protectionists since the hearings began.

J. C. Thropp, of Everett, Pa., a member of the Eastern Association, addressed the committee. The smelters regarded the present condition of the market as abnormal, he said. Prices were lower than they should be, and prices abroad abnormally high. At present the Wilson law ($4 a ton) was sufficient protection. The depression in the United States market was due to domestic competition and decreased consumption. Last year's consumption was 1,700,000 tons less than that of 1892. The Southern mills were making no money. The view of the tariff question held by the association was that on products which American resources could supply for American consumption, the duties should be high enough to keep out foreign goods. The average cost of pig iron in Pennsylvania was $10 to $10.50 a ton. The ore laid down at the works in Pennsylvania cost $6.25 to $7 a ton, while the Southern smelters could secure it at $4 or more cheaper. Another advantage held by Southern manufacturers was that they could practically compel their workmen to deal at company stores, which was forbidden by Pennsylvania law. One Virginia company had made $48,000 on its store last year, while it had lost on every ton of iron turned out.

W.C. Cronemyer, of Pittsburg, asked the following advances in rates on tin plates and similar wares: On tin plates or sheets of iron or steel, from 1 1-5 to 1½ cents a pound; sheet iron or sheet steel, polished or glazed, from ⅛ to ¼ cent a pound; sheet, common or black, between 10 and 25 wire gauge, from 1 1-10 to 1 2-10 cents.

John Jarrett, of Pittsburg, said tin plate making could not have been continued in the United States under the Wilson law, except for the reduction of 25 per cent. in wages and the cheaper price of steel plates resulting from the general depression in business.

The shotgun manufacturers, through Thomas Hunter, of Cayuga County, New York, asked for specific instead of ad valorem duties.

R. E. Hastings, of Philadelphia, spoke for the makers of gold, silver and aluminum leaf and of Dutch metal; W. Schartman, of Elwood City, Pa., for makers of seamless tubes, and C. B. Storrs, of New Jersey, advocated higher duties on antimony.

TOBACCO REDUCED TO ASHES.

American Tobacco Company's Plant at Danville, Burned.

Richmond, Va.—A Danville special to the Dispatch, dated Saturday, says: "The big five-story brick tobacco factory of the American Tobacco Company, located at the Eastern terminus of Bridge Street, near the Southern Railway station, was entirely destroyed by fire, together with its contents, this morning. The factory was 180 x 75 feet, with an L 75 x 100 feet, was filled on all five floors with fine, bright wrappers and cutters, all of which were destroyed. About 145 hogsheads on the ground floor were rolled out during the fire. The alarm was sounded about 7 o'clock, but when the department arrived the building was aflame, and raged with ruthless fury. The costly equipment of the factory—modern machinery—is almost a total loss. The building and 500,000 pounds of fine, bright tobacco was burned.

"The origin of the fire is purely surmise. The loss on building, fixtures and stock, is conservatively approximated at $150,000, fully covered by insurance. The insurance in detail is: Stock, $124,000; building, $20,000; machinery, $350,000; office furniture, $1,250. It is placed with thirty odd companies.

"The American Company used the factory for storing, handling and shipping, doing manufacturing here. Their representatives will be on the market buying next week. Other quarters will be rented."

MAN BURNED TO DEATH.

Memphis, Tenn.—William Carter, aged 50, found his house on fire near Germantown, Saturday night. He ran in to get some money he had there. His charred corpse was found in the ashes, surrounded by the blackened iron he had tried to save.

A 50-Cent Calendar Free.

Perhaps the most beautiful calendar issued for the year '97 is THE YOUTH'S COMPANION Art Calendar, which is given to each subscriber to the paper for the year 1897. It is made up of four charming pictures, beautifully reproduced in twelve harmonious colors. It is in form a four-page folder which, when extended, is 9x4 inches in size. The subjects are delightfully attractive. This Calendar makes a desirable ornament for a mantel, centre-table or writing desk. It is offered for sale only by the publishers of THE YOUTH'S COMPANION at 50 cents per copy. Only because of the enormous number published is it possible for the publisher of THE COMPANION to send it free to all COMPANION subscribers.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by a inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

INDUSTRIAL SOUTH.

The Chattanooga Tradesman's Weekly Report.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—The Tradesman's Southern correspondents report but little change in industrial conditions, and the demand for manufactured products will not show much increase until the spring trade opens. An encouraging feature of the week is the increase in the number of new industries organized, which is a practical demonstration of the restoration of confidence in manufacturing circles.

The movement in iron and steel is light and buyers of Western and Southern brands of pig iron report a cut in prices of 25 cents a ton. The furnaces of the Dayton Coal and Iron Company, at Dayton, Tenn., were put in blast January 1, and the company will build 50 additional coke ovens.

The demand for lumber for home consumption is quiet, but the export trade continues active.

Among the most important new industries for the week the Tradesman reports the following: Window glass works to cost $150,000 at Mannington, W. Va.; the Austin Mining Company, capital $10,000, at Austin, Tex.; the W. C. Quinn Dry Plate Manufacturing Company, capital $30,000, at Henderson, Ky.; the Union Cement and Lime Company, capital $450,000, at Louisville, Ky.; the Big Sandy Oil and Gas Company, capital $450,000, Catlettsburg, Ky.; a cotton seed oil and delinting mill at Little Rock, Ark.; and a $200,000 cotton mill at Valdosta, Ga. Large woodworking plants to cost $100,000 will be erected at Columbus, Ga., and at New Orleans, La.; the Hines Bros. Lumber Company, capital $50,000, has been chartered at Winston, N. C., and $10,000 lumber companies have been organized at Little Rock, Ark., and Shreveport, La.

THE PLAN REVEALED.

Tom Parker Tells a Fearful Story of Intended Crime.

Birmingham, Ala.—Five negroes, Rome Scales, Emanuel Brittings, Tom Ingram, Tom Parker and Andrew Fagan, incarcerated in the county jail within the past week, have proven to be the worst wanted quintette of scoundrels that ever peeped through jail gratings.

Tom Parker, through skillful questioning by Sheriff O'Brien, gave a full and complete description of the entire plot—naming as the instigator Andrew Fagan—whereby passenger train No. 37, of the Southern railway, was to be wrecked at McComb's trestle for the purpose of robbing the express car and dead bodies of those on board the train.

Parker's confession, were it to appear in print, would read more like a dime novel than a real conspiracy in which the lives of hundreds of people were to be taken for the sake of gain. He told how Fagan induced him and the other negroes under arrest, to go to the bridge, and once there remove the spikes and plates which held the rail in position, and to make the plot more certain of success, removed the rail from its position, and then built a fire and calmly awaited the destruction of the train. Jim Hawes' keen sight and wonderful nerve, together with a divine providence, frustrated the hellish designs of the negro fiends.

Fagan alone denies the statement made by Parker, the others acknowledging its truthfulness in every minute detail. Sheriff O'Brien has the negro's confession in writing, which will be used in meeting out to the scoundrels their just deserts.

AND THIS IS CALLED WAR.

Huts of the Peasantry Burned and Forage Destroyed.

Havana, Cuba.—Several detachments of Col. Melguizo's column, while reconnoitering at Montes, Capiaso and other places, have destroyed over 400 huts of all kinds and demolished all of the forage and other resources of the enemy south of Lajas and Pilato Hills. The detachments also surprised a rebel camp occupied by a small party of insurgents, three of whom were killed. The troops suffered no losses.

Francisco Padron was shot in the Cabanas fortress at sunrise Monday morning for the crime of rebellion.

FIVE MINERS KILLED.

Through the Carelessness of a Fire Boss in a Coal Mine.

South McAllister, I. T.—Five miners were killed by an explosion of gas which occurred in the Anderson mines at 4 p. m. Monday. The names of the men killed are Martin Roy, Joe Cox, Tom Curry, William Bishop and Simon Pitty, colored.

The explosion is supposed to have been caused by Fire Boss Cox unscrewing the bottom of a safety valve lamp, which ignited the gas. No damage was done to the mine property.

WORST FOR YEARS.

Sioux City, Ia.—The worst blizzard known for years has been raging here for thirty-six hours. In this town the street railway traffic is practically blocked. Many trains have been abandoned and are all late. The conditions are steadily growing worse, and a general blockade is feared. Deaths are reported from the outlying districts, but until after the storm nothing definite can be learned.

A HOSPITAL BURNED.

Omaha, Neb.—The Wyoming State General Hospital, at Rock Springs, Wyo., burned to the ground Monday morning. The ten patients were removed, but one, a woman, died from fright while being taken to the temporary quarters. The loss is $15,000 with $18,000 insurance.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention this paper and send your full postoffice address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

"Walter Baker & Co., of Dorchester, Mass., U. S. A., have given years of study to the skillful preparation of cocoa and chocolate, and have devised machinery and systems peculiar to their methods of treatment, whereby the purity, palatability and highest nutrient characteristics are retained. Their preparations are known the world over, and have received the highest indorsements from the medical practitioner, the nurse, and the intelligent housekeeper and caterer. There is hardly any food-product which may be so extensively used in the household in combinat on with other foods as cocoa and chocolate; but here again we urge the importance of purity and nutrient value, and these important points, we feel sure, may be relied upon in Baker's Cocoa and Chocolate."—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 14 1897. NO 12.

Look out for that promised prosperity.

The best money is that of stated volume and value.

The banks have concluded to retire the greenbacks.

McKinley will not have to materially alter Grover's message.

That was only a skirmish; let us get ready for a battle.

That promised prosperity isn't worth a 53 cent dollar yet.

Cleveland and McKinley would make a good pair—two of a kind.

A few farmers in Congress would be a very desirable ingredient.

Mark Hanna has removed his Presidential factory to Washington.

The idle should apply to the advance agent of prosperity for work.

Some of the old populites are becoming a little crank themselves.

President Cleveland's antagonism to trusts come too late to do any good.

Less money and more starvation is Doctor Cleveland's prescription for hard times.

The name being Mark Hanna knows he will be charged with running a President.

Some seem to think that the way to secure reform measures is to vote against them.

Illustrating the finest woman's prison in the world, yet there is but little demand for newsrooms.

We have heard a great deal about prosperity but have seen no one that has seen any of it as yet.

A brick trust is being organized; it is time the Attorney-General was "throwing a brick" or two.

The plutocrats seem bent on compelling us to take flat prosperity; we would rather have flat dollars.

After the 4th of March all eyes will be turned to the Republicans for the enactment of measures of relief.

We are glad to see the silver men organizing, but the next issue will be the money question and a few others.

The 150,000 yellow-hammers have expressed their willingness that the 4,000,000 silver Democrats may come back into the party.

Grover Cleveland might palliate, to some extent, his short-comings by putting it hot for the trusts for the balance of his administration.

An exchange asks: "What are we going to do with the trusts?" It would come to the point to ask: "What are the trusts going to do with us?"

The trusts are increasing prices on the necessities of life, and the manufacturers are reducing wages of employes. The wage-worker is getting what he voted for.

Bankers have robbed the people of more money than all the highway robbers have, yet they are considered a very respectable class—and some of them are.

About the only personal inconvenience General Weyler has experienced in his recent campaign in the field against the Cubans was to miss a meal or two and get his nose sunburned.

Money is simply an order on society for the value expressed on its face. It is money by creation of law—that is, by a general agreement among all the people to receive it as such. Its principal use is to facilitate exchange of commodities.

Want It on a Safe Basis.

Bankers and "business men," led on by Mark Hanna, now want the currency put on a "safe basis." The gold basis isn't "safe," it is now ascertained, and prosperity must linger by the way until "the government is taken out of the banking business." You see they are afraid that the gold reserve will be depleted and the government compelled to issue bonds. And what is the remedy, my lord? In order to prevent the depletion of the gold reserve and the consequent issuance of bonds, they propose to issue five hundred millions of bonds, retire the greenbacks and have the national banks issue the currency. Hot remedy! One remarkable thing in this little game is, that while the government notes are a "source of weakness and distrust" that the bankers "must have government bonds on which to base their circulation." See anything? The bankers' own credit won't float their notes, but they must have the government behind them, at the same time the government's notes, issued direct to the people, are a "source of weakness and distrust." When Uncle Sam says to you or me, "Here is one of my bills, it's OK," the bill is N. G., but when he says, "I guarantee Mr. Banker's currency," then the banknotes are good. Strange that the government's word is so unreliable, according to the broadcloth gents; stranger still that they should scheme so hard to get this untrustworthy personage to say that they are all right. Strangest still, is the fact that the voting king don't see through the game.—Coming Nation.

ASTOR SWEARS ALLEGIANCE TO THE QUEEN OF ENGLAND.

This is the sort of American patriotism that is developed by wealth gained by monopolies. Read this special from New York to a Chicago organ of plutocracy: "William Waldorf Astor has sworn allegiance to the queen. The last link connecting the author-publisher-diplomat of the great family of money-makers with the land of his birth is severed. Such is the news that came from London today by letter. It was from a relative of a New Yorker who has reason to be interested in the doings of the Astor family." The letter gave circumstantial details.

THE MONEY POWER.

A TERRIBLE ARRAIGNMENT OF CORPORATE GREED.

Facts As Startling As Were Cited In the Declaration Framed by Our Forefathers—Corruption Rampant Throughout the Land.

The principles of the declaration of independence are just as potent today as they were in 1776. And the oppressions which the cowardly grandsons of revolutionary heroes suffer are just as galling and destructive of Liberty and equality as were the unjust taxation and tyranny our forefathers fought against. The English and American money power, which is the same, have crushed our government out of all semblance to a government of the people.

We submit facts as startling as were those recited in the declaration that was framed by our forefathers.

The money power has prevented the passage of laws necessary for the public good.

It has caused the repeal of laws that kept money enough in circulation to enable the people to do a cash business without paying tribute to the money brokers.

It has delayed the passage of laws so as to enable trusts, syndicates and combines to corner the market on staple products.

It has prevented the passage of laws for the benefit of the majority of the people.

It has forced its way into legislative halls in the form of a lobby to influence legislation for its own special purposes.

It has prevented state legislation accomplishing the work for which they were called in special session. For instance, the late session of the Illinois legislature.

It has openly, flagrantly and boastfully disregarded the inter-state commerce law, and defied the anti-trust law.

It has prevented the administration of justice by controlling the courts.

It has made judges independent of the law, the constitution and the people.

It has, through its political heelers, created hundreds of useless high salaried offices, and had them filled by appointment from the enemies of the people.

It is building military fortresses and garrisoning them with rich men's sons, besides drilling school children to be soldiers instead of useful citizens.

It indicates what kind of text-books shall be used in our common schools, controls our colleges, and prevents even the preaching of the principles of Jesus Christ in many pulpits.

It has made the military independent of civil power.

The American money power has combined with England to force this country to maintain a financial policy that is robbing the people of their homes, and turning thousands out to beg, steal or starve.

It causes the building of war ships and cannon, and has secured an entire change in the tactics of the U. S. army, so that now soldiers are being specially trained to bombard houses and murder working people who dare assemble on the streets of our great infernos, called cities.

It has cut off our trade with the world by appropriating all our surplus products to pay interest on bonds and mortgages.

It has forced the issue of interest-bearing bonds to enslave the people.

It deprives men of the right of trial by jury, and has set up a system of "government by injunction."

It has caused the sending of armed troops into a state where the local officers were fully capable of enforcing the law.

It has doubled the debts of the people, and a few thousand of its representatives have stolen half the wealth of the nation.

It has secured by special grants enough land to maintain ten millions of people in honest industry.

It has rendered all our laws inoperative where the rich man is involved.

It has caused the supreme court to declare it unconstitutional to tax rich.

It has bribed men chosen to represent the people.

It has made protection of property the sole object of our government.

It has plundered the people, driven young girls to prostitution, starved wives and children, driven men from happy firesides to wander on the highways, and caused the murder and imprisonment of workingmen whose only crime was helplessness.

It has imprisoned men for stepping on the grass at Washington, and it has caused men to be sent to the penitentiary for asking for bread.

It has caused young men in the military service to shoot down their fathers, brothers, friends, to "protect property," when itself has hired incendiaries to burn property so as to make an excuse for using military force in driving men back to work at starvation wages.

It was the cause of the late war, in which thousands of able-bodied young men were murdered, and the principal result of which was the creation of a debt whereby not only the negro but the white man as well is made a slave, and the owner has not even the responsibility of feeding him. And there are a hundred more things we might mention.—Industrial Advocate.

REFORM PRESS MEETING.

Pres. Van Dervoort Gives Notice of the Time and Place.

In accordance with the vote of the majority of our executive committee and the approval of all of the officers, but one, our annual meeting will be held at Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 22, 1897. The municipal authorities, business organizations and railroads reaching the city will heartily co-operate to make the occasion a grand success. We have assurances that an excursion will be arranged to New Orleans and the Gulf coast. Our vice-president, Frank Burkett, reports that he attended an enthusiastic meeting at Memphis, and that our entertainment will be taken hold of cordially by all of the people and that immense interest is exhibited. Interesting papers will be read by the members. We earnestly desire a large attendance.

We hope that every member will be present and many new ones enrolled. All applications will be received and referred to proper committees at Memphis for investigation and report.

The bitterness of the campaign is now over and we can devise means to reorganize our party and continue the campaign of education on true People's party lines. We extend a hearty greeting to all and hope that they will prosper during the coming year and be able to keep up their work in defense of the cause they have sacrificed so much to build up. Upon the meeting depends the future of the People's party, and we earnestly urge every editor and publisher to make great sacrifices to be present.

Members will apply to the officers nearest them for assistance in securing rates and advertising. Jo. A. Parker, corresponding secretary, at Louisville, Ky., will have charge of arranging rates with Memphis lines.

We append list of officers and post-office addresses to this call.

President, Paul Van Dervoort, Omaha.

Vice-president, Frank Burkett, Okolona, Miss.

Secretary and treasurer, A. Rozelle, Lamar, Mo.

Corresponding secretary, Jo. A. Parker, Louisville, Ky.

THE POPULIST CREED.

It Will Live Forever in the Hearts and Works of Men.

Tom Watson in People's Party Paper: The Populist creed is an immortal creed, because founded on principles for which just men have contended in all ages. Were there no People's party, the essential elements of our faith would live. They represent the wrongs of crushed masses, the hopes of those who love humanity, the aspirations of those who dream of just laws and happier conditions than those which now prevail. Even were there no political movement along the lines of Populism, the cause would not stand still. Busy pens would still elaborate its principles. In books and in newspapers the thinker would be at work. He would seek his audience and find it, in spite of all the boodlers and the traitors and the tricksters. He might know that the present held no reward for him in its unfriendly hand, but he would look over the present and beyond it, and he would be patient and strong and fearless, for he would know that the future comes hastening this way and that in God's own good time the little he has been able to do for right and for humanity will bear its golden harvest in those years that are to come.

Long ago the lamp of Plato ceased to burn, and yet the light of his luminous thought is with us still. Long ago the voice of Gracchus, pleading for the deserving many against the too-grasping few, was hushed; but his plea thrills all noble hearts among us yet.

Burns no longer sings the equality of man, as he dashes in from the kitchen to face the aristocrats who were too proud to dine with him; but his defiant voice, ringing with undying truth lives forever, and shall move the souls of men till all human hearts are dust.

O'Connell no longer stands upon the hillside, with his thousands listening at his feet, denouncing tyranny, denouncing legislative injustice, demanding popular rights and arraying the resistless powers of public sentiment against a system of government based upon wrong; but every thought that he uttered lives and bears fruit; every inspiration of Grattan still inspires, every lion-like heart-beat of Sydney and Hampden of John Bright and Gladstone, of Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln Henry and Otis is a heritage of all the world; and while the leaders may perish, his example and his work are beyond the reach of death and the grave.

The Girl Agitator.

Quite a furore has been created in Indianapolis by a young woman named Belle Pierson Springer, who recently took her pen in hand and wielded it in the following fashion:

Girls, just look at this, if you do not think you should give the economic conditions some thought: The average wages per day paid an American workingman on side the trades union is $1.25 per day; the average number of days' work per year for laboring men either in or out of trades unions is steadily decreasing. Every year it becomes more and more impossible for the average man to marry the woman of his choice by reason of his financial standing. It in turn becomes impossible for this woman's father or brother to support her, and she enters the army of work seekers, thereby decreasing the chances of both her lover and her father for a job. It used to be the hue and cry that there were so few avenues open to women now they are forced into them to the exclusion of men because they will work cheaper, but it is doubtful if they are greatly benefited.

Belle Pierson Springer is a young woman to whom we hasten to doff our hat. She utters sound logic, and evidently proposes to expose the objectionable features of the prevailing "new woman" humbuggery. The only "new woman" who is worthy of attention is the one who takes an interest in the welfare of her sisters despite the great disadvantages under which she labors. Every woman engaged in labor and reform work is more or less of a heroine, and is a thousand times more useful to society than the dawdling social swells whose mushy and gushy behavior gags men of common sense. The sterner sex should be more thoughtful than to uphold a system that forces women and children into workshops and factories. They ought to know that they are hurting themselves. We hope the number of women agitators will increase.—Cleveland Citizen.

The Bolting Prodigals.

There will be many fatted calves killed by Democrats in the future, we have no doubt, and there will also be much music and dancing, but the choicest cutlets will not go to the Indianapolis bolters, and none of them will be called upon to lead the grand march. They must flock with the servants for a season, and be content to eat at second table. If they don't like it we are sorry for them, and assure them kindly but firmly that they will have to lump it. The good Democrats, from their showing at the polls, are so weak that it is not worth while to dicker with them, or else they voted for McKinley. In the latter case they are backsliders, and can reach full fellowship again only by way of the mourners' bench.—Chicago Dispatch.

Every bank should be required by law to protect its depositors to the last cent. This is a matter of business which the banks are particular to demand when people go there to borrow money, and it is a rule that should work both ways.

One good thing about the silver question is, if you get a man to listen to you you can talk over the money question with him.

ABOUT DIRECT LAWS.

WHAT THEY WOULD AND WOULD NOT DO.

Some Facts on an Important Question by One of "Facts" Interesting Correspondents—There Is Only One Side to This Question.

To the Editor of Facts: In a late number of the Atlantic Monthly is a short and very well-written article on "The Political Menace of the Discontented," in which, after picturing in frightful colors the dangers which threaten our nation from the Chicago platform and its adherents, the writer remarks:

"It is more than a coincidence that the menace to property and credit is more determined in the two parts of the union, the south and the west, which have nothing in common but a lack of thrift."

Farther on he states:

"It is the feeling that in some way the government has ceased to be his, as it was in a time nearer to the town-meeting, that has aroused the suspicion of the isolated man."

Granted that our Atlantic friend's conclusions are correct, it certainly behooves us of the thriftless and therefore rebellious west to make a great effort to allay the suspicions of the isolated man, by making the government once more his own.

How to make and keep our government one which shall be in reality a government by the people is, then, a question of the utmost importance to us.

Doubtless, the terms "initiative," "referendum" and "imperative mandate" are familiar to the ear. But lest some one may not understand them fully I will give a brief explanation.

The referendum is simply a referring to the people of a proposed legal measure for their approval or veto. We now have the referendum in our own country in a very limited measure, i. e., every amendment to our state constitution must be approved by the people before it becomes part of the law of the land. Certain questions as to bond issues are also submitted to the people. Several years ago the school board of Denver gave the people the referendum in regard to free text-books.

In Switzerland, which country takes the lead in direct legislation, the referendum is either compulsory or optional. That is, in some of the cantons all measures must be submitted to the people before becoming laws, while in others and in the federal government they are submitted only on petition of a certain number of citizens.

The initiative is the natural complement of the referendum. By it the people have the power to initiate legislation when their legislators are too sluggish to do so, or when they are bound by "rings and strings" and unholy combinations. A demand by a certain number of voters then compels the law-making body to frame the desired legislation and submit it to the people for their acceptance or rejection.

The imperative mandate, or, as it is sometimes named, the recall, enables the people to remove from office an unworthy or incapable official, provided that the demand be made by a majority of the voters.

Perhaps it may be plainer to you if brought nearer home. Let us suppose that we have adopted some such system of direct legislation in our city. We wish to take into our own hands the business of supplying ourselves with drinkable water. Say twenty per cent of our people sign a request to our public servants to make all arrangements for purchasing the property of the water company or for putting in a new system. That is the initiative.

The city council thereupon must frame necessary measures and advertise thoroughly the date on which the question is to come before the people. On that day it is settled by direct vote. That is the referendum. Possibly during this operation one of our older men has shown a leaning toward the interest of somebody besides the people whose servant he is. Such things have been heard of in some of our cities. Possibly he has worked so plainly against us and for his own interests that the whole city is indignant. Very well, if more than half of us see fit we may, by signing our names to the demand, remove the gentleman from his public office. That is the imperative mandate, or recall.

Or, suppose that many of us think that our fair city would be fairer without saloons. Do you not see how direct legislation would simplify matters? I believe that if the question of saloons or no saloons were put directly to the people of Denver, the saloon would go. Perhaps not, but I should like to see it tried.

For a few moments let us consider some of the arguments for and against an adoption of this Swiss system.

It would destroy the lobby, that "third house," which is responsible for much of our class legislation.

It would tend to prevent politics from becoming a trade, for the power of the politician being curtailed, there would be little or no money in the business. It is hard to buy up a whole people, and he who would attempt it would have no money to waste on elected representatives.

It would weaken party spirit and probably make an end of party government.

It would put a stop to the wholesale, reckless legislation which is now rushed through our law-making bodies, much of which serves only to make mischief. Is it not true that to-day most reforms lie in the direction of repealing laws already on the statute books, rather than in making new ones?

But you may say the people are not capable of deciding such questions. True enough. We admit our ignorance. But neither are we capable of electing wise men to office, men able to decide these questions for us. What proportion of the people who voted for state legislators on Nov. 3 knew anything of the character and ability of the men for whom they voted? A few knew something of them personally, a few others knew something by hearsay, while the rest voted for them simply because they were the party nominees. Party nominees! Selected, then, in all probability, by a clique of the least trustworthy men in the community.

No, we are not wise enough or patriotic enough to legislate for ourselves, but I believe that we could soon learn how if we had a chance to do it. How much did we know about national finances two years ago? We have had the benefit of compulsory education on that subject of late, for by some strange process the last election turned itself into a referendum on the money question. It has been rather agonizing to our spirits—much of what we have learned with so much pains is not true. But after all we are wiser than we were, and I think that the average man is now about as capable of legislating on financial questions as the financiers we have been sending to Congress for the last twenty-five years. He couldn't make a worse mess of it or change his mind oftener.

Pardon me if I have given you a one-sided view of this subject. I can see but one side. To me it seems the one thing we must have in order to get the many things we want. We cannot get it early. Working against us we shall have all the lawless and anarchistic elements of the country—the saloon and gambling element, those corporations which have found it to their interest to own our legislators and those legislators who have found it to their interest to be owned. But we have justice on our side, and there can be but one outcome.—Emily Marks in "Facts."

A POPULIST CITY.

It Will Levy No Taxes After the First of the Year.

Glasgow will levy no taxes after January 1, 1897. The revenues derived from the public utilities, owned by the city, including the street car service, the gas and electric light service, the water supply and other public monopolies are now sufficient to pay all expenses of the city government. The most surprising part of the whole matter is the fact that this remarkable achievement has been accomplished with an immense reduction in the cost of service to the public.

Glasgow is a city of about twice the size of San Francisco, a population being 792,000. In 1801 it was only 77,000. It has made a larger growth than any other European city since that date. Its great university, over 400 years old is famous the world over. Its public libraries, museum and technical schools are the pride of the city. The general intelligence of this great university town is unequalled in Europe. Its sanitary condition is of the first class. It ranks next to London in size among the cities of Great Britain. In a word, it is the model city of to-day.

The leading source of municipal revenue in Glasgow is the street railway system, and although the city bought the street car service less than three years ago, July 1, 1894, and interest on the debt and provision for a sinking fund made, after meeting these fixed charges and the cost of repair and maintenance there was a balance at the close of the year past, July 1, 1896, of $403,014. The fare is one cent for half mile rides, and the average fare for the 36,462,000 passengers carried during the year is less than 1⅞ cents. The cost of water and gas service has likewise been greatly reduced, and yet the revenue has been increased.

Our readers need not be told that Glasgow is a Populist city. Municipal ownership of the public utilities, street car service, water and light, etc., is a fundamental law of the People's party in city government. Another fundamental law is the system of initiative and referendum, otherwise known as direct legislation. With city ownership of public utilities and direct legislation as the foundation of municipal government, the boss in politics is eliminated, for there is nothing left for him to do, and he disappears just as a stone sinks in the water. When will Americans know enough to adopt a Populistic government?—The Californian.

Not a Bad Showing.

Election returns show Bryan more in touch with his home people than William McKinley. Lancaster County, Neb., where Bryan lives, is one of the strongest Republican counties of the state, giving a Republican majority in 1895 of 5,867. Bryan turned this majority under and carried the county by 773 plurality. Stark county gave a Republican majority in 1895 of 2,161. McKinley carried his home county by a reduced majority of 850.—Ex.

We are told by the "sound money" advocates that gold is worth as much without the government stamp as it is with it, and that the stamp adds nothing to the value of the material; that its intrinsic value is what makes it fit for money. Now, if this is true, why should it be declared by law a legal tender? If it rests solely on its own intrinsic merits, why not repeal the legal tender clause and let it rest solely on its own merits and the contracts? Let this issue be pressed and see if the bankers do not change front.

SOUTH'S ADVANTAGE

In the Iron and Steel Making Industry

Washington, D. C.—The total absence of Southern iron and steel manufacturers before the Committee of Ways and Means Saturday, on the occasion of hearings on the iron and steel schedules, was a fact that excited some considerable comment. The explanation was given incidentally in the argument of the Pennsylvania manufacturer, when he said the Southern mills were making no money, and yet were producing steel and pig iron at less cost than the Northern makers the ore costing at least $1 less delivered at Southern than at Northern mills. The Southern manufacturers, realizing this fact, know that their interests will be well taken care of before the committee of Northerners, for any concession they may secure will operate even more handsomely to the Southern mill owners. Generally speaking, cost of manufacturing in the South is cheaper than in the North, and in this fact is found the explanation of the very small attendance of Southern protectionists since the hearings began.

J. C. Thropp, of Everett, Pa., a member of the Eastern Association, addressed the committee. The smelters regarded the present condition of the market as abnormal, he said. Prices were lower than they should be, and prices abroad abnormally high. At present the Wilson law ($4 a ton) was sufficient protection. The depression in the United States market was due to domestic competition and decreased consumption. Last year's consumption was 1,700,000 tons less than that of 1892. The Southern mills were making no money. The view of the tariff question held by the association was that on products which American resources could supply for American consumption, the duties should be high enough to keep out foreign goods. The average cost of pig iron in Pennsylvania was $10 to $10.50 a ton. The ore laid down at the works in Pennsylvania cost $6.25 to $7 a ton, while the Southern smelters could secure it at $1 or more cheaper. Another advantage held by Southern manufacturers was that they could practically compel their workmen to deal at company stores, which was forbidden by Pennsylvania law. One Virginia company had made $48,000 on its store last year, while it had lost on every ton of iron turned out.

W. C. Cronemyer, of Pittsburg, asked the following advances in rates on tin plates and similar wares: On tin plates or sheets of iron or steel, from 1 1-5 to 1½ cents a pound; sheet iron or sheet steel, polished or glazed, from ⅛ to ¼ cent a pound; sheet, common or black, between 10 and 25 wire gauge, from 1 1-10 to 1 2-10 cents.

John Jarrett, of Pittsburg, said tin plate making could not have been continued in the United States under the Wilson law, except for the reduction of 25 per cent. in wages and the cheaper price of steel plates resulting from the general depression in business.

The shotgun manufacturers, through Thomas Hunter, of Cayuga County, New York, asked for specific instead of ad valorem duties.

R. E. Hastings, of Philadelphia, spoke for the makers of gold, silver and aluminum leaf and of Dutch metal; W. Schartman, of Elwood City, Pa., for makers of seamless tubes, and C. B. Storrs, of New Jersey, advocated higher duties on antimony.

TOBACCO REDUCED TO ASHES.

American Tobacco Company's Plant at Danville, Burned.

Richmond, Va.—A Danville special to the Dispatch, dated Saturday, says: The big five-story brick tobacco factory of the American Tobacco Company, located at the Eastern terminus of Bridge Street, near the Southern Railway station, was entirely destroyed by fire, together with its contents, this morning. The factory was 180 x 75 feet, with an L 75 x 100 feet, was filled on all five floors with fine, bright wrappers and cutters, all of which were destroyed. About 145 hogsheads on the ground floor were rolled out during the fire. The alarm was sounded about 7 o'clock, but when the department arrived the building was aflame, and raged with ruthless fury. The costly equipment of the factory—modern machinery—is almost a total loss. The building and 500,000 pounds of fine, bright tobacco was burned.

The origin of the fire is purely surmise. The loss on building, fixtures and stock, is conservatively approximated at $150,000, fully covered by insurance. The insurance in detail is: Stock, $124,000; building, $20,000; machinery, $50,000; office furniture, $1,250. It is placed with thirty odd companies.

The American Company used the factory for storing, handling and shipping, doing manufacturing here. Their representatives will be on the market buying next week. Other quarters will be rented.

MAN BURNED TO DEATH.

Memphis, Tenn.—William Carter, aged 80, found his house on fire near Germantown, Saturday night. He ran in to get some money he had there. His charred corpse was found in the ashes, surrounded by the blackened liver he had tried to save.

THE Watson-Black contest case is being argued this week before electors committee No. 1. There seems to be quite a probability of Tom Watson being seated, but even if he should be successful the end of the session is close at hand and except for the vindication of his right to the seat this tardy recognition comes too late to be of any service.

ACCORDING to the Montgomery Journal, the capital city is to have a new morning daily to be called The morning Sun. It is announced to make its first appearance on Friday, February 17, under the management of Messrs A. E. Bayol and Ed J. Wiley. Evidently these gentlemen are not superstitious or they would not undertake to compete with the Advertiser and commence on that notoriously unlucky day, Friday.

Hon. W. F. Aldrich who has commenced taking testimony for his contest case with Mr. Plowman applied last week to the chief of police at Selma for police protection during the time the testimony was being taken, claiming that he had reasons to believe an effort would be made to prevent the testimony being made. Assuming that the testimony would be similar to that taken two years ago it is certainly not much to the credit of Dallas county that such an application should have been made.

MR. T. S. Plowman in his reply to Mr. Aldrich's notice of contest has made some grave charges which if they can be substantiated would place the latter gentleman in a very unfavorable ligh Until such time as they are proven we must decline to believe them and will continue to look upon Mr. Aldrich as a gentleman eminently fitted to represent this district in congress. But Mr. Plowman in going out of his way to assail the private character of Mr. Aldrich almost ignores the fact that it is a question of which of these two gentleman received the greater number of legal votes that has to be decided by the elections committee and not a question of the contestant's majority. However, we can safely leave the contest to the decision of the committee and have no doubt they will declare Mr. Aldrich was duly elected.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

"An Appeal to the Populists of the United States—We are to be congratulated upon the growth of our party and the fact that in the recent election nearly half the voters of the union indorsed much of our platform. Our party alone has a voting force larger than that which elected Lincoln and an able effective reform press of nearly 2,000 papers. We hold the balance of power in the United States senate and have four times as many congressmen as ever before.

"We united with the silver forces in the recent campaign—not because we believe free coinage of silver is the solution of the financial problem, but because it would better existing conditions, would meet with the least resistance and become the entering wedge for our main issue, viz: full legal tender paper money, issued and regulated by the government alone. Having proved our loyalty at the polls, we are free to act separately on advanced lines and to emphasize the real issues our party was born to advocate. We cannot in honor lay down our arms and cease our activity until the war for which we enlisted has ended in victory for our cause.

"The democratic party proposes to continue the silver fight. Two parties cannot exist on the same issue. The greater absorbs the smaller. Therefore, if we remain where camp followers of another party, disintegration will result. Our party success alone forced the democrats to adopt the Chicago platform and nominate a popocrat for president. Converts made by party regularity cannot be trusted with the reforms of the future.

"We are not democrats, and cannot be classed as such. We simply united for a single campaign. The democrats are but the real guard of our party. We do not stand upon redemption money, but for a scientific dollar, kept invariably by proper regulation of the money volume.

"The millions of converts to silver during the recent campaign must advance. They will not remain where they are. We must educate them up to the main issue and the time to do it is now, not just before a presidential election. We must also hold the democratic party to its present positiotion or compel it to advance.

"President Cleveland supplies us with fresh incentive for renewed effort in his official demand for the retirement of greenbacks and the issue and control of paper money (except coin certificates), by the banks. Senator Quay says this should be made an issue by the republicans and advocates the substitution of United States notes payable in gold for the greenbacks.

"Here we have a living issue with both wings of the gold forces, which brings our main question to the front—shall the paper money of the country be issued and regulated by the people or by the banks? This will precipitate a hot debate in congress that will focus public attention upon the relative merits of scientific and redemption money, which will become the absorbing question of the day, just as the silver movement followed the silver debate a year ago, and will afford our sentinels in congress an opportunity to measure the true attitude of the silver democrats and republican leaders on an issue vital to our party and the welfare of the country and to determine to what extend our recent allies can be depended upon.

"The proposen retirement of the greenbacks and the discussion of the Pacific railroad question will bring before congress the two strongest measures of our platform, and whatever issues the other parties may adopt, the logic of events will so force upon congress and the people the consideration of these measures as to overthrow all others and win to our ranks thousands of voters from both the republican and democratic parties.

"Let us act with patriotism, courage and sagacity. Let us lose no time. If any lack incentive, it will be found in the intense suffering every where and in the increasing arrogance, lawlessness and heartlessness of the trdsts and monopolises. Against their power we put principle; against their money we match manhood, and urge all populists to continue this contest during the next four years, and then hold an early national convention to strike the keynote of the presidential campaign, or if desirable, establish an honorable alliance on leading issues.

"I also suggest that a national conference of party leaders and workers be held as soon as practible, that we may have a full and free expression of opinion regarding future work. We hope, therefore, that the reform press will give the fullest possible exposition of their views on this important subject; and our friends are invited to write me or our national chairman expressing their ideas on the independent party action herein proposed.

"Shall we march to victory under our own banner, or contiue as stragglers under another?

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 12, 1896.

Interest in political matters has necessarily flagged during the holidays. The center of political events, Washington, D. C., has been deserted by all save few to whom even the Christmas time brought no respite from axe-grinding.

The question of free homesteads in the Indian lands is before the committee on Indian Affairs and the measure provided for the opening of the land purchased by the government as free homes, is being bought by Tom Platt.

Some timorous congressman has sounded this note of alarm: "It is not plutocrats, who will ultimately control the country but the newspaper men." Then he disconsolately points out the men, in both house who owe their present position to the fact that they had a powerful newspaper behind them.

Sentiment against the Pacific Funding Bill is assuming proportions that promise its defeat.

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, has been placed at the head of the steering committee of the Silver Democrats and Republicans and Populists who intend to oppose the confirmation of recent goldbug appointees.

Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, sailed for London, January 3, to be present at a Bimetallic confab to be held in that city by one representative from each of the five great European powers. It is understood that, although he goes by invitation, he is heartily endorsed by republican leaders.

A bill giving the President power to appoint delegates to an international Bimetallic Conference is to be introduced shortly in the Senate.

We have again been regaled with an elaborate account of the New Year's reception at the White House. Seven thousand people lined up in a cold drizzling rain to wait to shake hands with Pres. and Mrs. Cleveland Such incidents tempt one to use the Carlyslian description of the people, "mostly fools."

Dr. B. G. Crowe, populist candidate from the Ninth congressional district of Alabama has served notice on Underwood (dem) that he will contest the seat. Fraud is charged ni every county. Dr. Crowe advocated that Gov. Kolb should be seated by force when he was elected two years ago.

At a banquet in Baltimore, Dec. 31st, Congressman Patterson, of Tenn., in his response to the toast, "The cotton states in the recent election," made a speech that in its endorsement of the Indianapolis platform is a very good offset to David Overmeir's letter that was read at a banquet given in honor of W. J. Bryan, of Lincoln, Neb., about the same date. Overmeir asserted that silver alone could not win but that some other great question, like government ownership of railroads must be taken up too by the party it looks to succeed in 1900.

In South Dakota, the fusion forces in the legislature have been so far unable to agree on the Senatorial caucus. The populists have 18 majority in joint session. Populist candidates are Loucks, Kyle, Koontz Goddy and Plowman.

The State Auditor of Minn., reports to the legislature that nearly one-half of the land in that state is owned by the railroads having been granted to them in direct violation of the law which requires that all state lands shall be sold at public auction. He also reports that 9 per cent. of the mining contracts are owned by Rockfeller and were secured by private sale.

Some Reform papers have been pushed to the wall, but new ones are starting up too. "Sound View" is a recent addition to the ranks.

A fight on the "old line" insurance companies is to be made in Kansas, as the records show that they cleared above all expenses and took out of the state $1,700,000 during 1896. It is proposed to require them to invest 65 per cent. of their earnings in state securities, which shall be deposited with the State Treasurer, who shall have a voice in settling all disputed death claims

THE MISSING WORD.

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately '.....' as cause and effect."

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and piobably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. This The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the western hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the southern and western states than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

A large amount of space is devoted to Congressional and governmental news and matters of a national character which every reformer in the country should read. A large corps of writers have been engaged to contribute articles during the year 1897, among whom are the following: Hon. Wm. J. Bryan; Senators, Teller, Allen, Butler, Peffer, Pettigrew, and Dubois; Representatives, Towne, Newlands, Bell, and Jerry Simpson; Wharton Baker, Esq., Wm. P. St. John, Sir Morcton Frewen, and many other famous and distinguished writers, both in public and private life. An article by any one of these writers is well worth the price of subscription, which is $1 for fifty-two weeks.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE cures nervous prostration. Not miraculously, but scientifically, by first removing the germs of disease, and then supplying healthy nerve food, increasing the appetite, helping digestion and strengthening the entire system. Desperate cases require prolonged treatment as shown by that of Mrs. H. B. Reed, of Delta, Iowa, who writes: "As the result of a lightning stroke, the physicians said I had a light stroke of paralysis, my limbs would all draw up. I would have throbbings in my chest that seemed unendurable. For three months I could not sleep and for three weeks did not close my eyes. I prayed for sleep, and felt that if relief did not come I would be dead or insane. I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and the second night slept two hours and from that time on my health improved; slowly at first, but steadily and surely. I took in all 10 bottles, and I cannot express how grateful I am, for I am now perfectly well, and have taken no medicine for over four months." Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by druggists on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$100.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors, to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up or down without breaking the passenger's back, "suspenders," "collar-button," "nut lock," "bottle-stopper," "fly-trap" and other little things that most any one can make use of in everyday life, and these simple inventions are the ones that bring the largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT IS THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to the journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $100 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

1000 WAYS TO CURE A COLD!

Quinine, aconite, hot tea, onion syrup, whiskey and quinine, rock candy and rye, "sweat," foot bath, starvation feeding, wrapping your hose around your neck, cod liver oil, and old lady remedies, cough, cure, three and over-doses of everything by the quart race to cure a cold. The best way is to make CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER your daily companion and you will never catch cold.

A man must be miserable indeed who is laden with a bad cold, carry the headache and be forced to breathe with dull pain, his throat sore and his head thick, when one little prescription of these ingredients CUSHMAN'S INHALER will give him instant relief.

RELIEF EASY TO GET!

He may go on and on, freeze his head off for that matter, muffle and sport around in everything this country offers. Every cure I recommended, his head and ear ache and his throat so sore he can hardly swallow. Finally he must go to ridicule it all when for 50c he can buy CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER and restore himself to his normal condition.

Cushman's Menthol Inhaler a Jewel!

A woman will sit around prostrated in nervous feeling desperate over loss of sleep, head and eyes racked with pain, cold settled in every bone so miserable that life seems a burden, but if she would make the marvelous little instrument known as CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER her ally companion, her headaches would come less frequent, she would never have a cold, and sore throat and catarrh would have no terrors.

NEVER NEGLECT A COLD OR COUGH

Neglect a Cold or Cough and if La Grippe don't get you, Consumption will. CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER and all diseases of the fire stairway passages. You have dollars in danger for fails in not keeping CUSHMAN'S INHALER handy to drive off a cold or cough or sore throat at its very first approach.

The Greatest Authority in the World.

DR. J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed., Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, says: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hitherto unknown inveterate Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathways, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

(Do not this recommendation sufficient that all who read may profit by it?)

Druggists everywhere. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists or mailed postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials.

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co.; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 12 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is plain; Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both enjoined from deceiving the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap package at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge, a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention this paper and send your full postoffice address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

"Put me down as a warm friend of TETTERINE. I have a child three years old who has been afflicted from its birth with the worst case of eczema I ever saw. It began on one ear or eye and from its feet to its crown. It has been treated by none of the most eminent physicians in this and adjoining states without the slightest benefit. Several months ago we commenced the use of TETTERINE on the child, and today, thank God and the manufacturers of TETTERINE, the child is cured. My wife and I will ever feel grateful to you for ending us this blessing."

JOINING CUBANS.

An Undertaking Attended With Hardship and Peril.

THREE AMERICANS RETURN

After Having Suffered Privation and Imprisonment at Spanish Hands.

A PECULIAR FORM OF PARCLE.

Demonstration of Sympathy at Havana on the Departure of the Marquis of Apeztugia.—Gomez Still Declared to Be Negotiating for Peace.—Other Matters.

Philadelphia, Pa.—James McGuire, of this city, Jeremiah Bonds, of New York, and Chas. W. Allen, of Stamford, Conn., have just reached this city after a thrilling experience in Cuba, in the course of which Wm. Barry, of New York, who had accompanied them, was shot and killed by the Spaniards.

On the 10th of last September the trio mentioned, in company with Barry, started for Cuba to join the forces of the belligerents and arrived in Havana September 21st. Here they fell in with Josef Ruiz, a Cuban patriot, who volunteered to guide the quartette to the retreat occupied by the commanders. They headed for the Pinar del Rio district and when near Mariel in the Guanajas district were surprised by a body of about fifty Spaniards. They were taken, searched, and finding papers confirming suspicions on Ruiz had a consultation and decided to kill all the prisoners. The conversation was carried on in Spanish but Ruiz interpreted their remarks for his American friends. Recognizing the desperate position in which they had placed themselves, the quintette decided to risk their lives in a vigorous effort to escape, rather than wait and be shot. Maguire rolled over to Ruiz and the young Cuban used his teeth with such success that he soon had Maguire's bonds cut through. Maguire then took a pen-knife and liberated his companions. It was dark, but the moon showed light sufficient to illuminate the ground for some distance. With a rush the five men ran to the spot where they noticed some machetes and guns. They armed themselves each with a machete, revolver and belts, full of ammunition. They then attempted to get away, but the Spaniards pursued, firing a deadly volley after their escaping prisoners. Barry fell, shot through the heart, at the first fire, and Bond's right arm was perforated by a bullet. The remaining four succeeded in out-distancing their pursuers. They made every effort to get back and recover Barry's body, but were unsuccessful, and were compelled to make their way further into the mountainous regions of Pinar del Rio, and after a tortuous journey they arrived in the region of San Cristobal.

A few days after they were recaptured by a band of Spanish patrolers. Their hands were tied behind their backs and they were compelled to march for a distance of over ten miles, when they were thrown into prison. The next day they were forced to march again until late in the afternoon, when they were put in another prison, and so they were marched from prison to prison until Havana was reached. Here they were thrown into a well guarded prison where they were separated.

On December the 23rd the Americans were brought before some commanding officer, whose name they did not learn, but it is presumed by them that it was General Weyler. They were told that Ruiz, the young Cuban had committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver which he had snatched from one of the guards. The three friends said nothing but they discredited the suicide story and were firmly convinced that the young Cuban had been murdered.

The trio of Americans were offered their liberty and passage home if they would sign a paper, promising to do all they could against the Cuban cause. This they did and were released.

BOY BUTCHERED

By Spanish Soldiers.—Dogs Eat Human Flesh.

New York, N. Y.—A dispatch to the World from Tampa, Fla., says: A school boy of ten years was killed in Guanabaccoa on Thursday evening by a Spanish patrol because he refused to hurrah for Spain. The lad smiled when the soldiers asked him to hurrah, not comprehending what they wanted. They cursed him as a "Cuban Whelp," butchered him not two squares from his home, and left his body in the street.

In the fields surrounding the city dogs have been seen eating human flesh and gnawing human bones.

More than five hundred people have moved from Guanabaccoa within ten days.

Another large pit with dead bodies in it was discovered Thursday near Guanabaccoa in thick underbrush. Decomposition was too far advanced to permit recognition of the bodies. It is supposed that these victims of Spanish cruelty belonged to the poorer class of that suburb, as many have been reported "missing" lately.

Antonio Roginy, a native Cuban, forced to leave home as the police were after him on suspicion, has arrived here. He says the raid of Cabotillas, called a Spanish victory, was a great Cuban success. The town was garrisoned by 500 Spaniards, who had three canon. Before night Wednesday, Cuban insurgents, under Maj. Sorres, stormed the outposts and almost captured the entire place before the Spaniards knew what was going on. The canon in one block house was turned on the Spaniards and they retreated in the intrenchments. Maj. Sorres threw part of his forces in the rear of the Spaniards and routed them. The Cubans did not pursue; they were after the spoils and supplies. The Spaniards had managed to spike one canon, but the Cubans took the other two with them, as well as the complete camp equipment, including a large supply of ammunition.

GOMEZ HAS ENOUGH.

According to Papers Published at the Spanish Capital.

Madrid, Spain.—The Epoco officially confirms the report that Maximo Gomez has informed the Cuban Committee in the United States, that the Insurgents are demoralized, their supply of munitions of war being exhausted, and that they are unable to continue the struggle.

The Correspondencia Espana asserts that Maximo Gomez is disposed to negotiate for peace.

M'KINLEY'S INAUGURATION.

Arrangements Making for Elaborate Spectacular Affair.

Washington, D. C.—The arrangements for the inauguration of President-elect McKinley are progressing in a manner very satisfactory to the committee having them in charge, and it is believed that the decorations, illuminations and ceremonies incident to this event will at least equal in beauty and impressiveness those of any former inauguration. A large number of committees, composed of prominent citizens, each having in charge a single feature, are working in perfect accord, and the results so far obtained give assurance of complete success. All of the money asked for by the Executive Committee has been contributed, and a number of contracts have already been let. At a meeting of the Executive Committee, Chairman Wright, of the Committee on Public Comfort, reported that he would be able to furnish lodgings for 100,000 persons if necessary. He had already registered 9,100 places where meals may be obtained, and 171 windows and a number of balconies from which the parade can be witnessed.

General Clay, from the Committee on Military Organizations, reported that there would be in the parade one entire division from Pennsylvania, consisting of the Governor and his staff, division and brigade commanders and their staffs; three regiments of ten companies each; twelve regiments of eight companies each; one battalion of four companies; one separate company; three troops of cavalry; two companies of naval militia, in all 8,600 men. Maryland will send her entire national guard and large bodies of troops are expected from New York, Ohio, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and other States. The cadets from the United States Military Academy at West Point and from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis also will be in line, as well as a large number of crack military organizations from different parts of the country. Applications from many civic societies and clubs for positions are being received, and this feature of the parade will, no doubt, be unusually fine.

The inaugural ball promises to be an exceptionally brilliant affair. The decorations will be very elaborate, and all of the appointments of a high order. The contract for the banquet was let to Carl G. Essner, of Philadelphia, after a spirited competition among caterers in the East. A military band of sixty-five pieces and an orchestra of 125 pieces will furnish the music from separate stands, to be erected at the East and North fronts.

The Committee of Civic Organizations contemplates the erection of information booths along the line of the parade and in the business portions of the city, to be manned by members of the Washington High School cadets. The Washington Light Infantry Veteran Association has tendered its services to the committee to do escort duty during inaugural week. The usual reductions in railroad rates from all parts of the country are expected.

HANNA TO BE A SENATOR.

He Will Succeed Sherman, Who Goes Into the Cabinet.

Cleveland, Ohio.—The opinion among those who claim to know is that Senator Sherman will be offered and will accept the Secretaryship of State in Mr. McKinley's Cabinet, and that Mr. Hanna will not be one of the Cabinet advisers of the next President. It is believed certain that Mr. Hanna will be appointed as the successor of Mr. Sherman in the Senate, a place which he very much prefers to any portfolio which the President-elect could offer him. Inasmuch as the Senatorial appointment would be made by Governor Bushnell, the arrangement herein suggested is said to indicate the friendly feeling which Senator-elect Foraker has for the President-elect and for the Chairman of the National Committee.

Regarding the selection of Cornelius N. Bliss, of New York, for Secretary of the Navy, it is said that Mr. Bliss has been offered the place, but that he deferred his acceptance until he could ascertain whether he could so arrange his business affairs as to permit of his taking the place. General Alger, of Michigan, is counted on as certain to be Secretary of War.

DISOBEYED ORDERS.

Fort Worth, Tex.—A disastrous collision occurred on the Santa Fe, fifteen miles North of here early Saturday morning. Two freight trains came together, completely demolishing both engines and killing Engineer Haggerty and Head Brakeman Marshall. Both were married. Several head of cattle and a number of hogs were killed. The South-bound train had orders to take a side-track at Haslett, but disobeyed them.

AN IMP OF HELL.

The Terrible Work of a Desperate South Carolina Negro.

KILLS AND WOUNDS ELEVEN

Did this Desperate Son of Ham, Wholesale Butchery of Innocent People.

HE IS FINALLY CAPTURED AND HUNG

And Meets His Just Deserts at the Hand of an Enraged Populace.—Carted Through the Streets of Sumter and Viewed By Both Whith and Black People.

Columbia, S. C.—Sumter County, this State, is in a state of intense excitement over the bloody career of Simon Cooper, who has in the past week killed and wounded eleven citizens of that county.

At a colored emancipation celebration at Magnolia, on January 1, he became involved in a difficulty with another negro and finally shot and killed him. Application was made to a local magistrate for a warrant for his arrest, but for reasons which have never been explained, the warrant was not issued. The negroes then attempted to capture him without a warrant, but he fortified himself in a railroad culvert, and from the shelter of it shot down five of his pursuers, all of whom were seriously wounded. The party then retreated, and the murderer escaped to the swamps, where, armed with a Winchester rifle, he defied arrest.

Nothing more was seen of him until Thursday evening, when he appeared at the house of a colored woman whose daughter had promised to marry him, and threatened to kill her if she refused. She made her escape to the woods, and finally reached the shelter of a white man's house.

Cooper then proceeded to the house of a Mrs. Wilson and forced her to let him remain in the house all night. Early next morning he went to the house of a colored man named Boyle and forced him to loan him his horse, taking Boyle's son with him to return the horse.

From Boyle's he went to the house of West Wilson, a respectable white farmer, over 60 years of age, and demanded that Mr. Wilson loan him his buggy. This Mr. Wilson refused to do, whereupon, without warning, Cooper shot him three times. Mr. Wilson's son, who had been within, then appeared in the door of the house, and was shot down in his tracks.

Leaving the Boyle boy with the horse, Cooper then forced Mrs. Wilson to accompany him to the stables and show him the harness. He then returned to the house with her and was inside with her for some time. When he came out he told the Boyle boy that he had ravished her and afterward cut her throat.

His next move was to load Mr. Wilson's buggy with everything in the way of provisions and valuables that could be found about the place.

He had driven only a few hundred yards from the scene of the slaughter, when he met a young negro named Preston Smith, whom he commanded to fall upon his knees. Smith did so, and was brained with an ax by the fiend, while in that position.

A short distance further on he passed the house of Mr. Baker, and fired at his children, who were playing on the piazza.

The Sheriff of the county organized several posses, which scoured the country, determined, despite the fact that it might cost several lives, to capture the fiend, who seemed to be raging for blood.

Blacks and whites alike joined in the pursuit.

He was betrayed by his half-brother and uncle, and was located in his uncle's house, five miles from Sumter, early Friday morning, and the building was surrounded by a posse of twenty men, under Sheriff Pierson, of Sumter. Cooper kept the men at a safe distance with a Winchester rifle; none dared to rush on what seemed to be certain death. The Sheriff telegraphed the conditions to the Governor, and asked that a cannon with "solid" shot and a supply of long-range rifles be sent to him on a special train. Governor Evans replied that no cannon was available, and ordered Cooper's capture, dead or alive.

Backed in this, the Sheriff got a cannon in Sumter, but while it was being conveyed to the seat of war, Cooper was killed. It seems that under protection of another house some members of the posse got within a short distance of where Cooper was, and kept up a hot fire.

He hailed them and offered to talk. One of the members told him it would be best to give himself up, but he blasphemed terribly at the suggestion. He was told if he came out unarmed, with his hands up, he would not be killed. Finally Cooper did come out. One member of the posse, keeping him covered, walked up and took hold of him. The others then surrounded the negro, who began to resist. Then he was shot in the head with a pistol and afterwards with a rifle. He fell, but regained consciousness and kept up his cursing. It was suggested to burn him, but the half dead man was started to Sumter. On the road the posse, which had assumed the proportions of a mob, tied the officers of the law, hauled Cooper out of the cart in which he was, and strung him up to a tree, riddling him with bullets.

A coroner's inquest held on the spot resulted in a verdict that the killing had been done by persons unknown to the jury.

Cooper's body was carted through the streets of Sumter and viewed by a large crowd. The negroes seemed joyous over the killing of Cooper. The desperado's last wish was that he might have a chance to kill the brother who betrayed him.

REUNION IMPOSSIBLE.

Sound Money Democrats Hold an Interesting Meeting.

Chicago, Ill.—The conference of gold standard Democrats held at the Auditorium Saturday declared for continued opposition to the tenets of the free silver wing of the party, and for a continuance of the party organization. Reunion with the Bryanites was declared to be out of the question, and a resolution was offered by John P. Irish, of California, was adopted, calling upon gold Democrats throughout the country to perfect their State and local organizations with the purpose of placing State and local tickets in the field at the next election.

About sixty men were present, representing the States of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Minnesota, Kentucky and California.

Franklin McVeigh called the meeting to order, and named Gen. S. B. Buckner, of Kentucky, as chairman.

Gen. Buckner, in taking the chair, said the meeting was called for the purpose of conferring with reference to the future course of the National Democratic party, which was the only Democratic party in existence. Speeches were made by men from every State represented, showing that the party was everywhere in good condition. A motion urging the members of the party to perfect their organizations throughout the country was presented and adopted. The question of a name for the party came up for consideration, and John P. Irish said he would not be surprised if the party at its next convention, assumed the name of the Democratic-Republican party, the original name of the Jeffersonian party.

$2,000,000 STEEL PLANT.

Joint Stock Company Formed By Pennsylvania Mill Workers.

Braddock, Pa.—Mill workers at the Carnegie plants here and at Homestead, Duquesne and Pittsburg, and employees of the Westinghouse works at Turtle Creek and Wilmerding are forming a joint company to build a $2,000,000 iron and steel plant at Port Angeles, on Puget Sound. The Company has been incorporated under the Washington laws. The officers are: George M. Ninon, of Braddock, president; Thomas Murphy, of Pittsburg, vice-president; M. E. George, Braddock, secretary; William J. Weissel, Allegheny City, treasurer.

Twelve hundred prominent mill workers of this section have in the past fortnight subscribed for about $1,000,000 worth of stock. The plant will employ 2,000 men, and will cover thirty acres of ground. The work on the mill buildings will be started in April, and the subscription books will remain open until that time.

The company has been given great inducements to locate at Port Angeles. Eighty acres of land for a manufacturing site and 200 acres for a town, with 500 feet of wharfage on Puget Sound, and railroad rights of way to the wharves, with water power, and the necessary rights of way for proper development, compose the bonus.

BRUTAL CALIFORNIANS

Hang Six Unoffending Japanese Until Life Is Almost Extinct.

Sacramento, Cal.—A crusade against coolie labor has been inaugurated at Orangeville, a citrus colony in the Southeastern part of this country. C. G. Roose, an orchardist, employed six Japanese on his place, and Saturday night fifteen citizens with gunnysacks over their heads seized the Japanese and placed ropes around the neck of each and took them to a big oak tree. There they were strung up and left hanging until life was almost extinct. The Japanese were then lowered, and when they revived the hanging process was repeated several times. The Japanese were then forced to march out of the settlement and were warned never to return on penalty of being hanged until dead.

Roose, the employer, remonstrated at the outrage, and then a rope was thrown about his neck with a threat to hang him if he interfered or employed any but white labor on his ranch hereafter.

A BANK SENSATION.

Dreyer & Co. Had On Hand $9,000.—Liabilities, $1,400,000.

Chicago, Ill.—Sensational charges concerning the business of E. S. Dreyer & Co., the bankers whose assignment was caused by the collapse of the National Bank of Illinois, were made in Judge Freeman's Court today in an intervening petition brought in behalf of Mrs. Mary Leicht. It is charged that property mortgaged as security for a note for $3,000, upon which Mrs. Leicht has regularly paid interest, has been disposed of.

The Economist says to-day, referring to the Dreyer failure: "The depositors in the bank will get little or nothing. The statement which has been prepared shows that the bank was an empty shell, with some $1,400,000 of liabilities when the bank closed, with only $9,000 cash on hand."

NEBRASKA BANK FAILS.

Alma, Neb.—The First National Bank of this city was closed Saturday morning by order of the Controller of the Currency, and is now in the hands of the Bank Examiner. Liabilities are $125,000. Assets about the same. The chief item of indebtedness is a State deposit of $20,000.

TO ESCAPE ARREST.

New York, N. Y.—The police of Paterson, N. J., raided a dog fight in that city Saturday night. To escape arrest, Francis Frain jumped through a second-story window, landed on his head, and suffered a fracture of his skull, from which he died.

A TALE OF FRONTIER LIFE.

RECOLLECTIONS RECALLED BY INDIAN INCURSIONS.

What a Lowell Reporter Discovered in the Historic Town of Dunstable—Miraculous Escape From a Miserable Existence of a Descendant of One of the Pioneer Warriors of Colonial Times—The Talk of the Neighborhood.

From the News, Lowell, Mass.

Mr. Hiram Spaulding, who was for many years the proprietor of the Massapoag House, a Boston summer resort, is undoubtedly as well known as any man in Middlesex County. Mr. Spaulding, besides having been a popular hotel man, boasts of being a lineal descendant of John Spaulding, a well known soldier who was killed in action with the Indians while serving in the command of the famous Captain John Tyng in 1804. He also is well known as the first leader of the celebrated Dunstable Cornet Band, of Dunstable, Mass., familiarly known as the "mounted band." Altogether Bandmaster Spaulding is perhaps the best known citizen in town, and respected everywhere for his uprightness and sterling character.

Mrs. Nellie A. Spaulding is the wife of this gentleman, and almost as well known as her popular husband. A recent severe illness from overwork and malaria caused grave fears among her numerous acquaintances, and the local physicians seemed powerless to aid her. Chills and fever, impaired action of heart and liver, and general wretchedness were her portion, until her attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and she began to use them. On Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 7, 1896, Mrs. Spaulding finished the first box of Pink Pills, and she informed the News reporter that on that day she performed one of the hardest day's work ever accomplished by her. She is still taking Pink Pills according to directions, and all traces of malarial poison seem to have vanished.

"No one was more astonished at my recovery than my husband and my neighbors, and they are not surprised," said she, "to find in me such a champion of what is destined to become a household medicine, the precious Pink Pills."

At the request of Mrs. Spaulding, the News reporter called on several persons in the town of Dunstable, all highly respectable indeed of prominence in the community; he found them using "Pink Pills" with good results, and after a fair trial will (so they thought) be ready to add their testimonials to that of Mrs. Spaulding as to their medicinal and curative worth, especially in chronic cases of nervousness.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, (they are never sold in bulk or by the 1000), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

NO 13.

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 21 1897.

Congress is talking.

Professional politicians will do to watch.

The world is going mad after wealth and power.

Push the work of education on government railroads.

There is a strong mistrust that the great trust is hoggish.

A howler for office is out of his place in the People's party.

"Banks are more dangerous than standing armies."—Jefferson.

Let the war against banks of issue be waged all along the line.

The Republican party has a large batch of promises to redeem. Watch it.

Agitate the question of compelling the banks to give full security to depositors.

The Jaw Gymnasium, alias the American Congress, is now in full blast.

If we had Direct Legislation we could wipe up the earth with the politicians.

One of the demands of the times, and one that the people will have soon, is an income tax.

The banks have declared war on the people's money, now let war be declared against the banks.

The People's party is no one man's party or two men's foolishness. The rank and file must rule.

One of the principal objections which plutocratic papers urge against Populism is Peffer's whiskers.

In Illinois a banker has been sent to the penitentiary for robbing his depositors. Mark one for Illinois.

It costs about $20,000,000 a year to sustain the navy, and the proposition now is to increase this expense.

The little dollar of contract and the big dollar of payment is what makes the rich richer and the poor poorer.

If the law does not make money, then let us demand the repeal of the law which makes gold a legal tender.

The New York Journal is authority for the statement that the Republicans had a campaign fund of $16,000,000.

The Republicans threaten to break up the trusts. If they do they will earn the gratitude of a long suffering people.

Don't depend too much upon the question of free silver as an issue; educate along the lines of the Populist platform.

A number of the men who marched in Chicago for "sound money" in the recent campaign are now marching for something to eat.

If it is unconstitutional to tax the rich then we should have a system that would make it impossible for a man to become very rich.

Did you ever think what little respect the rich anarchists have for the laws. They seem to think that laws are made for the poor to observe only.

Finance, Transportation and Land constitute the main issues which concern humanity most. Let every Populist continue to educate along these lines.

The law cannot make a wrong right; robbery is robbery whether a violation of law or not. Trusts, however, are unlawful combinations and therefore unlawful robbers.

The Imperative Mandate enables the people to vote office-holders out of office when they don't do to suit them. Of course plutocracy and the office-holders will oppose it.

The war against excessive rates of railroad and express companies is increasing in its intensity. The logic of events points to government ownership as the only remedy.

More rotten armor plate has been discovered going into the construction of some of our war vessels. The armor plate companies seem to be in the steal business as well as the steel business.

Railroad corporations have done more to corrupt our courts and legislatures than all other things combined. Government ownership will avoid all this, as well as be a great saving to the people.

The Republicans seem to be in a peck of trouble; they are asked by the bankers to retire the greenbacks and they don't see their way clear to do it without issuing bonds, which they fear to do. If they do either, or both, defeat stares them in the face at the next election.

There is considerable fear expressed among Populists at the proposition to increase the standing army, but a greater danger than that threatens us. It is the aggressive spirit of the banks. Having disposed of silver, as they think, they now propose to destroy the greenback and assume full control of the currency.

THE MONEY QUESTION

TRUE MONEY AND OUR PRESENT VICIOUS SYSTEM.

The Intrinsic Value Fallacy Is the Sum of All Villainies and the Foundation of All the Montary Evils That Afflict the World.

Rev. D. Oglesby in Chicago Express: A true system of money would secure a just exchange of the products of labor. But the money systems of the world are perverted, and money is made the instrument to rob and enslave labor. It is so perverted that it places the cart before the horse. Ignoring the fact that labor fixes and regulates prices of all property to be exchanged, money is made to usurp the place of labor, and it becomes master instead of servant. It sets and regulates prices of everything on earth, of money too, when as a matter of fact it is nothing but the price of property itself. We read of money being "cheap," or "dear," an "easy money market," a "tight money market," etc. Money, true money, bears a similar relation to property that the yard stick does to a bolt of cloth, or the surveyor's chain to a tract of land.

The yard stick does not make the bolt of cloth longer or shorter, but is used to ascertain its actual length. So the surveyor's chain is used to ascertain the boundary of a tract of land, not to change the area. If the chain was made of rubber the quarter section might be made to contain 1,000 acres instead of 640; just as our rubber system of money makes the farmer's wheat sometimes $1.50 per bushel and sometimes 50 cents; or the laborer's day of work sometimes $2.00 and sometimes $1.00, all of which is accomplished by expanding or contracting the volume of money in the country.

It is a wicked perversion of money to give it such power.

It makes it the master and enslaves the toilers.

This perversion of money is based on the false idea that money is property; that it possesses intrinsic value.

It is even recognized as not only property, but elevated above all property.

1. This idea gives rise to a class of money-mongers—men who deal in money. Money is not made to deal in, but to do business with.

2. This property idea is the basis on which usury or interest stands. There is no other foundation for interest to stand on but this false property claim.

3. This property idea is the source of all debt. Debts are made to draw interest, and for no other purpose.

4. Interest, rents, and profits, all spring out of this same prolific soil—property money—because if the wealth producer always received the actual value for his product there would be no ground for profits; only compensation for labor.

5. This property idea of money causes it to be hoarded and the volume contracted so as to make their property (money) more valuable than all other property.

6. This produces panics and hard times, causing all prices to shrink, banks to fail, business houses are ruined and business paralyzed.

7. This property fallacy is the foundation for the theory of redeeming one kind of money with another kind; of swapping dollars.

8. This property fallacy causes the world to cling to coin as the only material to use for money. All money made out of paper is only currency redeemable in coin.

The object is to make money scarce and produce debts in order to get interest. And the theory now is to have no real money in the world but gold; all other money must stand on that.

We are assured that all the minted gold in the world could be stowed away in an ordinary church, house or hall. This little pile of metal is to fix the price of, and measure the value of, every kind of property on the earth.

It is absurd and monstrous. It is so contemptible that, as the boy said, it isn't fit to be ridiculous.

Thus we must keep $100,000,000 of gold as a sacred reserve, to accommodate the banks. Nobody else wants to redeem greenbacks.

9. This intrinsic property idea of money is the cause of Wall street gold gambling.

10. To sum it all up in few words, this property idea of money adopted by the world, is the sum of all villainies. It is the upas tree breeding death to all governments.

It not only robs mankind, but robs God too. Here is the proof: God makes the oak tree. It bears acorns. The acorn is invested with vitality. It will grow and make another oak tree.

Man makes money—the dollar. It is falsely invested with vitality. The dollar will grow and make another dollar. Thus man becomes a creator too, and man's work, money, is equal or superior to God's work. The oak tree will grow old and die. But the dollar planted in debt never grows old or dies.

Sam Jones said when the old prophet Daniel waked up in the lion's den after pillowing his head on the shaggy mane of the lion and sleeping soundly all night, he rubbed his eyes, and, looking round, said, "This beats h—ll."

His idea was that if he had disobeyed his God he would have been cast into hell instead of the lion's den.

But this property theory of money beats the great God.

His intention was that every man should eat his bread in the sweat of his face, or by labor. But this system lifts the money-monger above God's law of labor. He can snap his finger in defiance of his creator's law.

Some one made the calculation that 1 cent put at compound interest on the day Christ was born at 6 per cent would amount to more now than all the wealth of every kind on the American continent. Only 1 cent.

One dime placed at 5 per cent compound interest on the first Christmas would now amount to over 32,000,000,000,000 of spheres, as large as our earth of solid gold. It would take a man 1,600 years to count these globes, counting 100 a day. It would make over 800,000 rows of globes as large as the earth made of solid gold, reaching to the sun. Only a dime.

That is the outcome of property money. The world is groaning under its load and it is getting heavier every hour. No wonder it crushed to powder Rome, Greece, Egypt, and all the great empires of earth.

We are traveling the same road and unless we "face about" we will land where they did.

But we don't propose to "face about." We voted to stick to the gold standard because the Republican party wanted us to do it.

For thirty years or over the Republican and Democratic parties pretended to fight each other with all their might. The reformers told the people that it was a sham war. The old parties held up the tariff before the people, like shaking a red rag at a mad bull, so as to keep the country from seeing that they were manipulating the money question so as to enslave them. Now the two old parties are married and enjoying their honeymoon.

It was not free coinage of silver that both the old parties hated. This was sham again. It was the income tax, government by injunction, but especially the war on national banks that these our enemies hated.

The hard conditions of life produced by this heathen system of money is awful. "The destruction of the poor is their poverty." Bible. The harvest of mammon worship is appalling.

In the year 1895 over two hundred men were caried each day to drunkard's graves. Over thirty murders each day, and over ten suicides. Estimate if you can the anguish, the tears, the groans, the crushed hearts and blasted lives of the wives and children of wrecked families.

Yet we voted to worship the gold calf on Nov. 3.

So this dance of death is to continue. The priests of mammon rejoice. They have gained a great victory.

They have put down anarchy. They have crushed out repudiation. They have their feet on the neck of the toilers, and their slaves are subdued. Hanna's money did it and they shout for joy. Let the masses weep, starve, suffer and die. What care they? Gold is God. "What is the Almighty that we should serve him." "Is there knowledge in the Most High?" Yes, "He shall laugh at their calamity and mock when their fear cometh," and it cometh.

Richview, Ill.

The Fewer the Better.

For three successive elections Mississippi has chosen seven Congressmen on a total vote of less than 66,000. In 1894 the total vote was less than 40,000. The Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution reads in part as follows:

"But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, for the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male citizens of such state, being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state."

Outside of South Carolina there were perhaps no three Congressmen, who will occupy seats in the next house whose districts did not cast in the aggregate more than 66,000 votes, and in many single districts in the late election more than half that vote was thrown. Now if the clause of the constitution above quoted means anything it means, that under such conditions as now prevail in this state and South Carolina the representation in Congress shall be cut down in the proportion which the number of male citizens disfranchised by state laws bear to the whole number of male citizens in the state over twenty-one years of age.

This would give Mississippi two, certainly not more than three Congressmen, and unless we had a wonderful improvement on the old gang who have masqueraded at Washington the past six years, we do not hesitate to say the fewer the better.

The People Are Getting What They Voted For.

The coal monopoly is turning its screw once more for the oppression of the people. There is no duty on anthracite coal and never has been. It was thought the reduction of the duty on soft coal from 75 to 40 cents per ton would tend to reduce the price of anthracite. But it has not had that effect, and gradually coal has been going up while all other products are going down. It simply shows that there is a combine or trust and that they have the people by the throat. Government will have to take hold of that monopoly, as of the railroads and other great corporations, and exact that which is just and right for the benefit of the public. Even wages in the mines have been crowded down. The poor man everywhere suffers while the rich mine-owner prospers. Often the railway companies are partners in helping to give another turn to the monopolistic screw.—Western Rural.

REFORM THAT DON'T REFORM.

Government Issue of Paper Money Is the Big End of the Money Question.

We have never yet seen the Democratic politician who did not talk and act as if all the monetary reform needed in this country was the free coinage of silver.

Mr. Bryan following the habit of his kind whenever he begins a discussion of the money question commences with silver and ends with silver.

In a recent article of his published in the North American Review we find this characteristic Democratic sentence:

"The declaration of the Chicago convention in favor of the free coinage of silver forced upon the people of this country," he says, "a study of the money question in general; and within the last four months more people have been studying the silver question with deliberation than ever before in the history of the world."

From a Democratic standpoint "free coinage of silver is the money question" entire and the "money question" is the "silver question," nothing more and nothing less.

It seems never to have filtered through a Democratic skull that free coinage of silver would not add more than 73 cents per capita to the circulating medium in this country per annum, and that the amount would be so small the next generation would scarcely perceive the increase, for the population would increase in nearly the same proportion.

The idea that the national bankers who at present control our money volume and contract and expand it at will and pleasure—always for their benefit and to the injury of the nation's industries, should be forced out of the governing business and that Uncle Sam alone should issue our paper currency seems never to have reached a Democratic brain. And it never will, notwithstanding the fact that this is the big end of the "money question."

Until Mr. Bryan and men like him can muster up the courage to abandon party name for principle and set his great energies to work unhampered by the dead weight of Democracy, he will never comprehend the real needs of the people. Free silver is an incident in the monetary reform for which the country is clamoring, but it is not a remedy for the evils suffered and the man who thinks so has much yet to learn and he who knowing better attempts to make the "silver question" and the "money question" synonimous terms, only for fear he will incur the enmity of the national bankers, is an arrant demagogue.

Democratic reform is a reform that don't reform worth a cent.—People's Messenger.

Postal Savings Banks.

From the Boston Globe: The people of Europe seem to get much more accommodations out of great functions like the postoffice than we secure in this country.

In Germany the postoffice is a mammoth express office as well as an agency for mailing letters. Within the border of the empire one can send almost anything through the mails, from a pin to a piano.

In Great Britain the postoffice serves an even greater variety of purposes. Besides taking care of regular mail matter it is an express office, a savings bank, a life insurance company and an agent for the sale of annuities.

In the savings bank line one may deposit from a shilling to £50 a year, interest being paid at the rate of 2½ per cent. Through the postoffice the depositor can buy consols, and the office will also sell stock obtained through it.

Thus, by means of the British postal system, many poor people become owners of government stock.

There are 12,000 local postoffices which deal in life insurance policies and sell annuities. In fact, the British postoffice largely prevents poor people from being seduced into unreliable speculative schemes. Backed by the goverament it enables the poor to find a safe deposit for their earnings, and the branch offices serve to circulate money among the poorer classes.

What can be done under a monarchical system successfully cannot always be done successfully in the same way under a republican form of government. But it is not strange that the success of certain postal savings banks and other "foreign institutions" should cause many to ask why America cannot adopt them.

Congress could be engaged in far less profitable work than in considering the strong points of the postal systems in Germany and Great Britain, and the practicability of incorporating them, in some form or other for the benefit of our own people.

Postal Savings Banks.

From the Philadelphia City Item: In Great Britain the postal savings bank system has proved an unalloyed success. It is a boon to the workingman of frugal habits, and, besides, creates a foundation upon which that "sure thing" dear to English hearts, the annuity, is built. Savings banks do not suspend in England, leaving depositors nothing to show for their years of thrift and self-denial. And the system is as simple as it is satisfactory.

Boatner. Democratic free silver Congressman from Louisiana, wants to increase the salaries of congressmen from $5,000 to $7,000. That's a sample of Democratic economy.

The wealthy classes will always oppose anything like the Initiative and Referendum, because it means actual government by the people.

Brave men never give up the fight. Let us take it up with renewed effort.

ALABAMA'S CHRONICLES.

The Latest Happenings of a Great State.

MORE DAMAGE SUITS.

Birmingham.—The following suits have been entered in the City and Circuit courts against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company growing out of the Cahaba River bridge disaster:

William T. Tibbs, administrator of Jennie H. Tibbs, deceased, vs. Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, damages; suit for $40,000. Three cases.

James W. Fencher, administrator of F. W. Tibbs, deceased, vs. Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, damages; suit for $40,000.

ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL.

Scale.—One morning the past week when Jailer Chadwick carried breakfast to his prisoners they attempted a break for liberty. By hard work, with a piece of water piping, which they had managed to secure, they had bent and sprung the cell door so that it would not fasten, and when Mr. Chadwick went up, two or three negroes made for him. He promptly covered them with a evolver, and they beat a hasty retreat to their cells, begging him not to shoot. When they get away from Mr. Chadwick they will be older than they now are and will have more experience.

STATE UNIVERSITY COMMITTEE.

Tuskaloosa.—The committee appointed by the General Assembly to investigate the State University have completed their labors and returned home. The committee consists of Hibbard, of Monroe; Robertson, of Mobile; Longshore, of Shelby, and Kilpatrick, of Wilcox. The report of the committee will cover 150 pages, and there will be no minority report. The report will create a profound sensation. The committee made a thorough examination, and examined forty persons, comprising the president, faculty, cadets, citizens, etc. The testimony taken fills 236 pages. The committee was treated with the utmost courtesy, and every opportunity given to obtain the fullest information. The committee found much to deplore, many defects to be remedied, and will make some radical recommendations.

PROUD OF THEIR ARMORY.

Alexander City.—The armory of the Alexander City Rifles has been beautified in many ways the past two weeks, and is now as handsome as any parlor. It has been overhauled, repainted, repaired, refurnished, etc., and new shades and new curtains add to the good looks. A large curtain hangs gracefully across the large room, which divides it into apartments—one to be used for the assembly room and the other for the gun rack and accoutrements. The work was left to Messrs. Hodo, Smith and Bush, and they have displayed the most artistic taste. Pictures will be hung, carpets laid, new furniture put in and other improvements made.

The boys are justly proud of the armory, and will not feel in the least embarrassed when their lady friends and invited guests visit them.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

Blocton.—Last Tuesday night Mr. Miller's store, at Green Pond, was broken open and robbed of two double-barreled guns, candy, etc., amounting to about $60, and Friday night H. C. & W. B. Reynold's store, on Smith Hill, at this place, was broken into and a lot of watches, money, clothes, etc., stolen.

Saturday morning Tom Miller, William T. Blackburn and John Miller went to arrest Hillery Guy, when he drew his gun on Tom Miller, and was in the act of shooting, when Mr. William Blackburn threw his pistol in his face and made him (Guy) drop his gun. lot of stolen property, in his possession, was identified by Mr. Miller, and Guy was brought here this afternoon, and Mr. Sam Allen, storekeeper for Messrs. Reynolds, identified and swore to the clothing the man had on. The watches were described, and even the money found in Guy's possession had a smell on them that Mr. Allen told before he saw it, satisfying the spectators that it was Reynold's money.

BURGLARS CAPTURED.

Brewton.—Our night policeman, E. A. Rogers, "covered himself with glory" Saturday morning, about 2 o'clock, by capturing a gang of robbers, supposed to be the ones wanted at Letohatchie and Evergreen for robbing the postoffices at those places.

Mr. Rodgers detected them in our postoffice here, drilling the safe. Slipping off and getting some help, he came back and surrounded the place. One of them evidently "heard something," and tripped to the rear door, and was silently stealing away, when a double-barreled shotgun was presented, with the business end toward him, and he was invited to remain inside.

They were taken without resistance, together with their kit of tools. They had drilled a hole about a half an inch in diameter entirely through the safe door. There were two white men in the office, and two others, supposed to be their pals, were arrested later in the night. They were tough-looking tramps, and were all turned over to Sheriff McWilliams and locked up.

Birmingham.—An important conference was held in the Commercial Club rooms Friday noon, at which it was determined that Alabama will be represented by a fine exhibit at the Tennessee Centennial, in Nashville. The State Board and mineral owners came together and discussed the exhibit. Four big corporations promised to make a display of minerals. This promise of the corporations insures the appropriation by the Department of Agriculture.

The Board of Commissioners met promptly, and Birmingham's representatives were on hand. Among those present were the following: Maj. U. F. Culver, Commissioner of Agriculture and President of the Board; Mr. H. G. McCall, of Montgomery, Secretary of the Board; Maj. F. Y. Anderson, Land Commissioner of the Queen and Crescent system, and a member of the Board; P. G. Shook, of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company; Maj. T. D. Radcliff, of Sheffield, Ala., manager of the properties of the Sheffield Coal, Iron and Steel Company; T. M. Byars, editor of the Blountsville Journal; Thomas W. Furman, editor of the Albertsville Journal; J. F. Fletcher, contractor; P. Byrne, architect, and others.

YELLOW FEVER.

The Disease Prevelent in Havanna. Soldiers the Victims.

Washington, D. C.—The current number of The Public Health Reports, issued by the Marine Hospital service, contains a report from Sanitary Inspector Burgess, at Havana, who says:

"During the week ending January 7, there were 306 deaths in the city, 61 of which were caused by yellow fever, approximately 170 new cases; 78 were caused by smallpox, with 702 new cases, approximately; 9 were caused by enteric fever, 3 by so-called pernicious fever; 4 by paludal fever, 1 by diphtheria, 15 by dysentery, 18 by enteritis, 1 by the grippe, 8 by pneumonia and 37 by tuberculosis.

"Sixty of the 61 deaths from yellow fever during the week were among Spanish soldiers in the military hospitals, while all of the 78 deaths from smallpox occurred among civilians in the different parts of the city.

"Yellow fever, on the whole, rather diminishes, as might be expected from the cooler weather which has been prevailing for some time, but smallpox increases."

The Vice-Consul-General at Port au Prince, Hayti, under date of December 16, reports that the yellow fever epidemic that prevailed there has ceased its ravages.

Henry S. Caminero, sanitary inspector at Santiago de Cuba, says that 52 deaths have been reported during the week ended January 2, of which three were from yellow fever. The latter disease has abated somewhat, but the inspector says that as a new regiment arrived from Spain January 1, he has no doubt the fever cases will again increase. Malaria is, as usual, causing many victims.

ON SUSPICION.

A Pole is Arrested.—Believed to be Connected with the Cahaba Wreck.

Birmingham, Ala.—Deputy sherif James Ball returned from Eatonton, Ga., Monday morning, bringing with him Sam Palatka, a Pole, who is suspected of knowing something about the wrecking of the Birmingham Mineral train, on the Cahaba River bridge Sunday, December 27th, which caused the death of twenty-eight people.

Ball secured requisition papers from Governor Johnston and the Governor of Georgia duly recognized them.

Palatka was arrested by parties in Eatonton after he is said to have made a number of statements concerning the wreck. It is stated that he told of the wreck so accurately, descibed the country where the horrible catastrophe occurred and made known many other incidents connected therewith that he excited suspicion. He was watched closely and finally arrested.

Sheriff O'Brien was notified and it was thought advisable to bring him back for interrogation.

The parties making the arrest are said to have some strong evidence against Palatka, who is a wandering sort of a fellow.

The Southern Railway and Louisville and Nashville offer a reward of $10,000 for the conviction of the party or parties who wrecked the train.

TILLMAN WITHDRAWS.

And Governor "Bob" Taylor Will Be Inducted Into Office.

Nashville, Tenn.—Hon. George N. Tillman is out in a card formally abandoning the contest for the gubernatorial chair. Mr. Tillman assigns as his chief reason the enactment of the Bond bill, which has passed the Legislature and received Executive sanction. This bill provides for the execution of bond in the sum of $25,000 by the contestant when such contest is not made in "good faith" or for political effect.

Mr. Tillman says it would be useless for him to contest the election when the men who enacted this measure would be in effect the court of last resort. His action is approved by the leading Republicans of this city and State.

In view of Mr. Tillman's withdrawal the inauguration of Governor-elect Robert L. Taylor has been arranged to take place on Thursday. The occasion will be without demonstration, and ultra democratic in its simplicity.

SAW MACEO BURIED.

Colonel Hernandez, of the Cuban Force Writes Interestingly.

New York, N. Y.—A Tribune special from Jacksonvill, Fla., dated Sunday, says:

A letter was received here on Friday from Lieutenant Colonel Andre Hernandez, now in command of the department of the Cuban army encamped near Havana, giving the true account of Maceo's death and his subsequent burial. As he says that he was in command of the Cuban detachment that recovered the body from Major Cirujeda's command, and afterwards buried it, his statement should settle the matter.

The letter was sent to J. A. Huau, the Florida representative of the Cuban junta. It came through the underground channel. It is dated January 9th and from the "encampment near Havana." After extending to Mr. Huau thanks for past favors, the letter goes on:

"It was on December 7th that we suffered a great misfortune in the tragic death (by ambush) of our leader, Maceo. This is the greatest misfortune we have suffered since the war began, but it only encourages us to fight the harder and to avenge his death.

"We were camped near the fight that day and heard the firing. Maceo came across the trocha, unknown to us, with but forty men. More than 1,500 Spaniards, who had been informed of his trip, ambushed him. He rode into it and was shot at the first fire.

"We heard the firing and thinking that some of our friends were attacked by the Spanish Guirillas, started off at once to their aid, though we had but 400 men. When we reached the scene of the slaughter it was most over, and then we were told that Maceo was dead and that the enemy had his body tied to a horse's tail and were taking it off. Our men were perfectly frantic over the report and begged to be lead against the Spaniards. We dashed forward with drawn matchets and what a fight that was!

"The Spaniards met us and the encounter was horrible. Our men fought to kill; only bent on avenging Maceo's death. Our trusty and sharp machetes fell with regularity and I think that we killed more than two hundred of the enemy; and, what is more, we had the consolation of recovering the body of our beloved Maceo. The Spaniards fought hard again to regain it, charging upon us repeatedly, but our charry machetes were too much for them and they suddenly retreated.

"Our little force suffered terribly. Our cavalry, which went into the fight eighty strong, came out with only 22 men, and the infantry suffered almost in the same proportion. But for all that we were consoled by the fact that our brave brothers gave up their lives in a good cause, and to save the body of our lamented Maceo from the desecration which the Spaniards would have inflicted.

"We buried the body in a secret place and a secure one. Only myself and a few selected officers know the location. In due time it will be marked. If known now the murderous Spaniards would try to get it, and parade it as showing their great triumph.

"Poor Maceo sleeps in pence, but his brothers remain to avenge him, and that they are doing daily. I have a good many important things to tell you in connection with this, but I do not care to put them in this, as I am not positive that the latter will not through safely."

WRECKERS THROW A TRAIN.

Crosstie Placed on Iron Mountain and Texas.

Dallas, Tex.—The through express from St. Louis on the Iron Mountain and Texas and Pacific route, due at Dallas at 6.20 a. m., was wrecked Saturday night at the little station of Forest, in Cass county, near Springdale.

Engineer Clemmons had both legs broken and sustained other injuries so severe that he died shortly after the accident. His home was at Marshall, Tex.

The express messenger is reported as being fatally injured, and a postal route agent as seriously injured.

The wreck was the work of the train wreckers, who had piled cross ties on the track. The full details have not yet reached Dallas. Two trains have been abandoned and two others are late, and are expected to arrive between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Half a dozen or more passengers are reported injured, but none fatally.

The engine and three cars, mail, baggage and express, were thrown down an embankment, but no passenger coaches left the track.

TO KEEP OUT THE PLAGUE.

Precautions Taken by the Health Department of Brook'yn, N. Y.

New York, N. Y.—The Brooklyn Health Department fearing that the bubonic plague now ravaging India, may be carried to this country by steamships, has made preparations to have all vessels arriving from India subjected to thorough disinfection and quarantined. Health Commissioner Emery has issued orders to inspectors and health officers to take extra precautions in the examination of ships. Especial vigilance is directed to the docks where hemp is landed.

SENATOR Sherman is to be secretary of state in President McKinley's administration, and possibly the choice is as good a one as could be made in the republican ranks.

A MAN has been arrested in Georgia and taken to Birmingham charged with causing the wreck at the Cahaba bridge, but there does not appear so far to be much evidence against him.

THE State Democratic Executive committee have let the bars down again and anyone can vote in their future primaries who will pledge himself to support the nominees of the party.

THE eleven electors of Alabama met at Montgomery on Monday and cast the vote of the State for Bryan and Sewall. Mr. John W. A. Sanford, Jr., was chosen the messenger to carry the vote to Washington.

THE dispensary law of South Carolina has been declared by the Supreme court of the United States to be unconstitutional as it conflicts with the inter-state commerce act, that is so far as it prevented a citizen from importing liquor for his own use. This decision in a very great measure will render the dispensary law inoperative.

THE committee of the Georgia legislature who have been investigating the charges against Judges Reese and Sweat have decided there is not sufficient ground for impeachment. Judge Reese appears to have come clear of the various charges, but Judge Sweat would do best to resign his judicial position.

WE are in receipt of a copy of the World Almanac and Encyclopedia, got up in first-class style and brimful of information. THE Legislature re-convened at Montgomery yesterday and will remain in session twenty-five days. Among the new bills introduced was one to abolish the present election law and revert to the old one. A bill was introduced in the Senate which proves that no registered elector shall require to be registered again so long as he resides in the precinct or ward in which he is registered for the last general election.

FROM recent developements it would seem that if a little exertion had been made at the time the notorious Frank Randolph skipped it would not have been very difficult to have brought him back and some of the money he had stolen would have been recovered. As it is a draft for $1250 bought by him in San Francisco on a bank in London has just been stopped payment at the request of Gov. Johnston and that amount saved to the State.

THE Alliance Co-operative Co. at Jemison which since its establishment has been constantly increasing its business, has branched out in a new line, and one that should fill a "long-felt want." As will be seen from their advertisement elsewhere they have gone into the business of supplying our farmers with plow-horses, mules and milch-cows—not swapping them like gypsies, but selling them to you on easy terms. We hope this new venture will meet with the success it deserves.

The Friends of W. F. Aldrich Speak.

Editor Birmingham State Herald,
Birmingham, Alabama:

Our attention having been called to a scurrilous and uncalled for article in the columns of your Sunday edition, reflecting on the personal character of Col. W. F. Aldaica, of this place, we, the undersigned white citizents of Aldrich, and vicinity, irrespective of party lines and political influences, request the privilege of replying to said article, in vindication of the fair name of our fellowtownsman, during his absence from our midst.

We can not see why Mr. Plowman should resort to this method of warfare in a matter of simple contest for a seat; or why he should invoke such unusual methods to determine a matter of purely legal rights. He certainly has not strengthened his cause to any degree, either with fair minded democrats or republicans, by assailing the personal character of Col. Aldrich, and even breaking over the conventional barriers of propriety and decency, and dragging into publicity the innocent ladies of his household. We have seldom known such a want of chivalry manifested in congressional timber.

We have known Col. Aldrich long and well; and while most of us are opposed to him politically, yet we deem it a matter of simple justice to denounce the slanderous assault made upon him in the public prints, and to deny emphatically and unequivocally the malicious charges therein made, reflecting on himself and his family.

Had Mr. Plowman sought other sources of information, he would hardly have essayed to prejudice his cause by resort to such a puerile and silly warfare; and we fear he has not always been so particular in scrutinizing the private characters of all candidates he has supported for office. There is nothing to be gained by these unfair attacks on a man who stands high as gentleman in his own community.

We feel that we cannot remain silent under these ill-timed aspersions without raising our voices against such splenetic exhibitions of malice and envy; and we surely are better located to know the facts whereof we speak, than the wily opponent—miles away—who ruthlessly tramples to scorn the sacred safeguards that every gentleman respects, in almost every condition of life."

It is signed by twenty residents in the vicinity of Mr. Aldrich's home.

A Small Wreck at Clanton.

ON Friday last, shortly after noon, our town was stirred by news of a wreck on the L. & N. R. R. which had just occurred in the cutting. It appears that the first section of freight train No. 73, with Conductor Dyer in charge, had come to a standstill in the cutting, and while Engineer Lofton was waiting for instructions to proceed, the second section under the control of Conductor Black with Engineer Brennan at the throttle, ran into the caboose of the first section, telescoping it into the next car. Mr. W. R. Seay, of Lebanon, Tenn., who was in the caboose, in charge of some stock he was carrying to Montgomery, says the flagman had placed some torpedoes for the purpose of warning the second section of the train, and that when he saw the locomotive of the second section rapidly approaching the caboose he ran out and jumped up the embankment. Mr. Seay had a narrow escape. The flagman says he placed two torpedoes on the track, which means stop, and Engineer Brennan declares he only heard one explosion, which means slow up; he did so but had not sufficient time to avoid the collision. The result was the demolition of the caboose and the next car. Very fortunately no one was hurt, and in a short time both trains proceeded on their way.

Death of Mrs. Nat. Watts.

ON Thesday morning the spirit of Mrs. Nat. Watts made its flight to the better land. Mrs. Watts had been sick for the last three months and finally succombed to consumption. The deceased lady was born in 1841 and was consequently in her fifty-sixth year. She was married in 1866 in Lowdnes county to Mr. Nat. Watts, who with six children, survives to mourn a devoted wife and fond mother. For some years she was a faithful member of the Methodist church and Rev. W. B. Dennis had the mournful duty of consigning the body of a beloved member of his flock to its final earthly resting place. The funeral which, despite the inclement weather, was largely attended by sympathizing friends, took place on Wednesday morning, in the cemetery at Clanton. To the bereaved family we say "She is not dead, but sleep eth."

Political Po.n.ers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 19. 1896.

The Kansas Farmers Alliance, that was reported to be in a moribund condition, has taken a new lease on life and a plan for co-operative work is being prepared by Anna L. Diggs and others.

W. J. Bryan was an honored guest at Chicago the 7th and at Lincoln the 8th, the banquets having been so arranged that he could attend both.

Gov. Pingree in his inaugural address urged the abolishing, in his state, Michigan, of political conventions and the use of the direct vote in nominating candidates; the use of the referendum in granting quasi public franchises; two cent railroad fares; and inheritance and income tax. Pretty good People's party man is Pingree, if he is, like others, afraid of the name! At the joint meeting of Populists, silver democrats and republicans held there they did not endorse this message in its entirety but warmly commended the portions referred to. The joint meeting was harmonious.

Gov. Altgeld in his final message displayed his wonted vigor. He scored newspaper men and methods and it is generally believed that he intends starting a paper to show just how it should be run. Tanner cut Altgeld's name off the inaugural program and then openly declared himself against the "common" people and for corporate wealth.

Gov. Holcomb's message is characterized by great good sense. He urges a better ballot system, economy in state affairs, an anti-railroad pass law and speaks against the beet sugar bounty.

It is conceded that Gov. W. J. Stone could have succeeded George West in the Senate had he indicated a wish for the place. He was urged by the new democracy and Populists to accept the nomination but he declined.

Bank Examiner Breidential of Kansas announces that there are too many banks in that state for the volume of business and urges consolidation.

After a most harmonious meeting January 6, at Lincoln, Nebraska, the State Bi-metallic Union appointed a committee consisting of one Populist, one silver democrat and one prohibitionist to have charge of the affairs of the union until such time as another meeting should be held.

President McKinley is having a serious time getting his cabinet made up. All so far honored decline, and Thos. Reed gives it out cold that they do not desire to be the tools of Mark Hanna and that is what all McKinley appointees must be.

Among the many signs of better times (?) is the eviction of 51,000 families in Greater New York. Kansas will be avenged for the recent slanders of the press of that metropolis by sending sending several train loads of grain and provisions to the sufferers.

George F. Washburn of Boston, whom every Populist knows, has issued an address filled with earnest words to the party but the rather unnecessary assertion that Populism is not democracy. He reiterates the facts, in which all Populists join without argument, that Populists are not silverites, but believers in scientific money, that the union in the last election did not injure our cause or party but on the contrary we have to-day every reason for satisfaction. Mr. Washburn closes with the suggestion that a meeting of party leaders be held as soon as practicable to perfect plans for the future.

Very stories are current as to Hanna money having been used in the North Carolina legislature to secure the re-election of Prichart, who was a pronounced goldbug in the recent campaign.

Coxey's meeting at St. Louis on Jan. 12, to organize a new party, was something of a "frost." About twenty persons of more or less prominence were in attendance and regrets were read from as many more.

The Kansas Farmers' Alliance has taken on a new lease of life. A. R.

Are You Thin?

Look about you! See for yourself! Who suffer most from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia, despondency, general weakness? Who are on the edge of nervous prostration all the time? Those who are thin, Opium, chloral, bromides, headache powders, only make matters worse. Iron and bitters are only stimulants. To be cured, and cured for good, you need a fat-making food. You want new blood, rich blood; and a strong nerve-tonic.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is all this. It feeds the tissues, makes rich blood, and strengthens the nerves.

Book about it free for the asking.

THE MISSING WORD.

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately ....." as cause and effect,"

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and probably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. This The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the wistern hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the southern and western states than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

Jemi.on.

The farmers of Jemison are all busy preparing for another crop.

We are sorry to say that there are several attacks of la grippe and pneumonia around Jemison now; much suffering but no fatality.

We are glad to say that Prof. C. C. Slaton has a large school now and is progressing. His sister and assistant teacher is much loved by all the scholars and also by the community.

Mr. W. A. Mims of Collins Chapel has moved to Jemison for his children to get the benefit of Jemison High school. Our town is improving very much; there are several new buildings started which will add much beauty to the town when completed.

Mr. J. C. Langston, of Sixmile, has moved to Jemison and opened up an office in which he will repair clocks, watches and also jewelry.

Mr. H. I. Honeycutt, of Clanton was in Jemison Monday on business.

Miss Mattie Lowe, of Jemison, is visiting relatives in Montgomery this week.

Mr. A. J. Atkinson has greatly improved his plantation by new buildings, fence, etc.

Last Saturday was horse-swapping day in Jemison. There were many people in town for the purpose of swapping horses, and all seemed to enjoy the day very much.

The young people of Jemison had a nice entertainment at Mr. I. L. Beddings last Friday night and all enjoyed themselves very much. Success to BANNER and all the readers. X. Y. Z.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $100 per bottle

Marvelous Results

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gangerman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract. "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. When I was pastor at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Ministers Should Use Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

THERE IS NO PROFESSION, whose labors so severely tax the nervous system, as that of the ministry. The derangement of the nerve centers of the brain by over work, frequently brings on attacks of heart trouble, and nervous prostration.

Rev. J. P. Kester, M. D., Pastor U. B. church, London Mills, Ills., himself a physician, writes Feb. 25, 1895: "Heart affection and nervous prostration had become so serious last fall that a little over work in the pulpit would so completely prostrate me that it seemed certain I must relinquish the work of the ministry entirely. Heart palpitation became so bad that my auditors would ask me if I did not have heart disease. Last November I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure alternately with Dr. Miles' Nervine and derived the greatest possible benefit. I have just closed revival work of 10 weeks, preaching nearly every night and twice on the Sabbath. I can speak for hours without suffering as I formerly did. Hard working ministers should keep Dr. Miles' grand remedies on hand."

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$1800 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "suspenders," "collar-button," "nubbick," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $1800 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

All communications regarded strictly confidential. Address

THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD PRESCRIBES

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

—FOR—

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or Any Head or Throat Trouble.

DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

This Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He describes himself in a recent medical work as a practitioner of fifteen years' standing. "The vapor of Menthol checks to a marvelous degree, almost to the point of absolute cure, hardly less than marvelous, acute colds in the head. For all forms of nasal disease, catarrh, catarrhal deafness, I prefer Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of two fresh per annum."

"A CERTAIN DISEASE LURKS IN EVERY BAD COLD!"

This will do you good to read, if you are trying to wear out your kidneys. Cushman's Inhaler will do the work effectively. It is a medical Conglomerate! Effective as a remedy for 50 cts. Not a toxic, no poisoning drugs to debilitate. Safe! Portable! Convenient! Use it anywhere, anytime, in the house, in the office, in travelling, relief or cure and health and a day to you. Indispensable to travelling People, lawyers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in preserving the voice.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, and inventor of the celebrated Salisbury Medicated Inhaler, writes: "I prescribe Cushman's Inhaler for Influenza, Bad Colds, Catarrh, Deafness, Throat Troubles, etc., and especially in the Influenza cases it has proved invaluable. Its effects are so prompt, so decisive, so satisfactory, which remains after the disease is gone, and so pleasant to use."

SEA SICKNESS! DR. T. DOUGLAS MORTON, of the Medical Department of the Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I have used one of your Menthol Inhalers for a long time with good results in Sea Sickness. It has given me more relief than any other remedy I have tried."

A cure in 5 minutes! Catarrh about five years. A friend sent me one of your Inhalers. It helped me the first time I used it.
T. DOUGLAS MORTON,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC ..... CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS ..... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet taken by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE ..... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN ..... CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop windcolic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE ..... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED ..... CASCARETS are taken patiently, persistently, as guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or your money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT ..... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS ..... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merits. Put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

FIRST.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

SECOND.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

THIRD.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co; both of which have sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 12 cents, if consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason is that some unprincipled druggists, for the sake of the extra profit, will try to palm off on you some other article, which they say is just as good as Simmons Liver Medicine, and by so doing they can make a profit of 200 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you can't do if you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge, a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

MONEY IN THE MISSING WORD.

WE are pleased to make an entirely new offer to our subscribers, in which every one may have a chance to name the missing word in this sentence:

"SUPPLY AND DEMAND ARE AS INTIMATELY '_____' AS CAUSE AND EFFECT."

It is quoted from a prominent writer upon economic subjects.

In making your guess it is not necessary to write out the full sentence—simply write: "My guess for missing word for MARCH is _____."

Fence the World in 20 Days.

In the sale of the "STAR" Machine, as shown above, we have done more in recent years towards the fencing of the country to get their fencing at the actual cost of the wire than all other fence machines in the United States, because we supply and show how to make cheap the various styles of fence can be made, or what the actual cost of the wire is to make them, while the agents who make and sell the fence must add the cost of lumber, to manufacture and their profit to the actual cost of the wire. We can sell you a 26 inch hinge fence, enough wire to make 100 rods of the 5 Wire Fence on earth, horse high, bull strong, pig and chicken tight, for the same money that will buy you 100 rods of any good woven wire fence now on the market. We can show you how the fence, also in the other styles, have not only the fence but a machine which enables you to make your own fence, and sell all the surplus you may desire at a profit of from 100 to 300 per cent. HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention this paper and send your full postoffice address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

A Unique Republic.

The republic of Gosut is the smallest in the world. Andorra is an empire in comparison. Gosut is about a mile square, and it houses 130 persons. It has been independent these 250 years.

It stands on top of a mountain by the Spanish border, near the edge of France, and it gets along very comfortably without ever mixing itself in other people's affairs, and without reading the evening papers, or, so far as we know, the morning ones. The delectable 130 govern themselves by a council, one member of which is selected to see that the business agreed upon is executed. Matters go along very smoothly, and Gosutians are all the happier because nobody knows much about them, and therefore they are unenvied.—Kansas City Times.

Vices and Virtues of Chinatown.

If you made with me a complete tour of Chinatown, visiting every place where a Chinaman dwells, when you had returned you would sum up what you had seen about as follows:

Places where opium was smoked by Chinese in their own private apartments: about one-fourth of the whole.

Places where opium was sold to white visitors who smoked and slept on the premises, and which is commonly called an "opium joint": possibly three in your whole tour.

Places were gambling was in progress: about one-twentieth of the whole.

Places where men were pursuing the ordinary vocations of life: nearly three-fourths.—Century.

Thorough in Her Work.

"And is Jennie thorough in her work?" asked Mrs. Jarley of Mrs. Perkins, having reference to a would-be waitress."

"Very," said Mrs. Perkins. "When she broke one of my royal Worcester soup plates she really didn't appear satisfied until she had broken the other eleven. Oh, yes, Jennie is thorough."—Harper's Bazar.

Wabley—Awful bother cutting the leaves of a magazine, isn't it? Wagrow—Not for me. When I take a magazine home I put it in a conspicuous place and some one invariably does the job for me.—Roxbury Gazette.

Dukane—Spiffins has refused to honor that sight draft. Gaswell—Perhaps he regarded it as an oversight draft.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Dublin—The members tell me that Fadway is one of the best members of the Rockrib Athletic Association. Wablin—Why, he's no athlete! Dablin—That's true; but then he pays his dues regularly.—Roxburr Gazette.

One Brings Good News, While the Other Contradicts the Promised Era of Prosperity.

MERCANTILE COLLECTIONS SLOW.

A Large Demand for Steel, Owing to Large Purchases of Wool and Some Bridge and Terminal Improvements, Though Prices are Slightly off.—Large Purchases of Wool and Some Dealings in Leather.

New York, N. Y.—R. G. Dun & Co., say in their weekly review of trade: The greatest growth and prosperity the country has ever seen, came suddenly in 1879, after several months of disappointment, because specie resumption had not brought the benefits expected. It takes time for new confidence to reach through easier money markets, larger orders, resuming bills, expanding employment and larger distribution, to the results which make still greater and lasting gain possible. Such gradual and steady improvement has been in progress for more than two months. The out-put of pig iron has gained 41.6 per cent since October 1. Sales of wool have again become large. Money markets feel a steady increase in demand for commercial and manufacturing loans. Additional works have gone into operation each week in January and the working force is larger than at anyother time for six months.

It is no time for high prices. Many who are anxious to get an early hold on the market, are making, for the moment, lower prices than they could afford to maintain. With the increase of the out-put of pig iron to 150,720 tons weekly against 142,278 last month the price is a shade lower at the east and at Chicago, but heavy purchases already advance Bessemer a shade, at Pittsburg. Steel bars have been reduced to one cent, and some other finished products $1 per ton, but the demand is, on the whole, steadily increasing. The coke output has risen from 50,000 to 94,000 tons weekly, and minor details are a shade stronger.

Textile manufacturers are not encouraged by the demand for goods, though more print cloths were sold than for many weeks. Lower prices are expected in goods and slow buying is not unnatural since cotton has fallen 17.8 perc ent.; bleached goods 3½ to 5½, and brown goods 2½, 3 and 4 per cent. Though woolen goods do not improve, there have been purchases by large mills which cover for two weeks of January 11,110,300 pounds at the three chief markets, against 11,817,600 last year. Some large purchases of leather indicate that some shoe manufacturers are seeing their way to more active work, and shipments from the East in January, thus far, are 20 per cent. larger than last year.

The Pennsylvania and some other roads have commenced to buy rails and several costly improvements have been ordered, the Columbia bridge, alone caling for 7,000 tons of steel and a terminal improvement for the Erie to cost $1,000,000.

The money market has been disturbed by a combination of large banks not to lend money on call below 2 per cent. which invited all sorts of financial institutions to take the market, caused payment of bank loans for some millions and left supplies of funds so heavy that the loans were sharply marked down. More was doue in commercial paper, though offerings increased but moderately. Receipts for the interior exceeded shipments by $1,500,000. Exports continue to exceed last year's for the same week 8 per cent., while imports fell 10 per cent below that of same week of last year.

Failures for the week have been 457 in the United States against 395 the same week of last year and 71 in Canada against 81.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

New York, N. Y.—Bradstreets of Saturday had the following report: Except for a few southern cities, as reported last week, wholesale merchants throughout the country note no change in trade features and few indications of improvement in the near future. Mercantile collections continue slow. Some jobbers in St. Louis, Chicago, Baltimore and other large cities report increased demand in dry goods shoes and hardware and groceries for spring deliveries, but that all other lines of business are very dull. Dealers in staples in cities in Texas, Louisiana, Georgia, Tenn. and South Carolina, report a better demand for hardware and agricultural supplies, as compared with last week. Some Baltimore salesmen are securing relatively fair orders. There has been no revival in textile circles, except increased purchases of wool at Boston, by some large manufacturers: Cotton goods contiue depressed at first hands, with little prospect for improvement until production has been restricted.

December gross railway earnings are relatively more favorable than those in the preceding months, showing a decrease of 1 per cent. from that of December 1895. The best December reports were by Southwestern and Southern railroads, which show gains over December totals for 1896.

Bradstreets comparison of prices of products and staple articles, at quarterly intervals for a series of years, shows an upward tendency on the part of quotations during the last quarter of 1896. Advances during the last quarter of 1896 were conspicuous among most of the leading cereals, for live stock, meats, dairy products, some vegetables, hides, leather wool, various grades of iron, copper, lead, brick, glass and spruce lumber.

Prices the past week show advances for leather, pork, lard, petroleum and while decreases are reported in prices of hides, wheat, corn, coffee, pig iron and steel billets. Heavy stocks continue to depress cotton goods. Iron and steel have not met the increased demand that was expected, while sugar and coffee prices have been affected by competition between leading dealers.

There has been 478 business failures in the United States this week, as compared with 488 last weeek, 412 in the second week of January of last year, 378 in the like week of 1895, and as compared with 404 in the corresponding week in 1894.

A COMMON CAUSE

Bring Together Fred Grant and Gen. S. P. Lee.

Washington, D. C.—In the disturbed condition of affairs in the Southern States which followed the war, a commission sent out by President Johnson to investigate matters, and of which Gen. J. S. Fullerton, of the Chickamaugua Park Commission, is now almost the only survivor, found in every Southern hotel they visited Gen. Robert E. Lee's portrait displayed in the post of honor in the office. The one particular exception was Vicksburg, where the portrait of Lee on the right was flanked by that of U. S. Grant on the left. Friday last, this incident was recalled by a remarkable rencontre which occurred in the Speaker's room, at the Capitol.

Col. Fred D. Grant, of New York, son of the great Union general, and Lieut. Gen. S. D. Lee, of Mississippi, one of the Confederate leaders, met for a common purpose. Grant and Lee are here, both advocating the perpetuation of the battlefield on which Grant won his greatest laureds as a strategist and a fighting soldier.

Colonel Grant represented the Army of the Tennessee, and General Lee represented the Confederate Veterans' Association. They are the leaders of a commission having for its object the purchase of the country surrounding Vicksburg, to be held by the Federal Government in perpetuity so that future generations may see how the great Federal general manoeuvred to capture the Gibraltar of the Confederacy.

The Park Commission, represented by Grant and Lee, appeared before the Committee on Rules, consisting of Speaker Reed and Messrs. Henderson and Dalzell, to plead that a day may be set aside for the consideration of their bill, making an appropriation for the preliminary work of surveying and marking the lines of battle. As the bill carries an appropriation, Speaker Reed would not make a positive answer, saying that the matter could not be considered alone in its sentimental side.

INDIA COTTON BARRED.

For Fear That It Will Transmit the Bubonic Plague.

London, Eng.—The Rome correspondent of the News telegraphs that paper that the perfects of the northern provinces of Italy, have prohibited the entry into those colonies, of cotton from India, fearing that it will convey the bubonic plague that is now ravaging Bombay and other places in India. This cotton is imported into Italy by way of Genoa. As a result of the prohibition many of the operatives of the important factories have been thrown out of work owing to the lack of material. The idle operatives are very indignant over the action of the perfects and it is feared that there will be disorders.

The government has announced that an international conference will be held, probably at Rome, to consider measures for the protection of Europe against the plague. It is stated that six powers have already given their adhesion to the proposed conference.

The French Government has declared a quarantine against vessels arriving from Plymouth, England, owing to the recent arrival there of the transport Nubia with cholera on board. Passengers from Plymouth will be detained in French ports for five days.

REV. THOMAS DIXON, JR.,

The Famous New York Preacher, to Visit Birmingham.

The coming of the famous New York preacher, Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., on the 28th of this month, to appear in a lecture at O'Brien's Opera House, is exciting deep and widespread interest. Mr. Dixon is the successor of Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, in the great Music Hall—the largest auditorium in New York city, and crowds that vast structure as even Dr. Talmage did not pack it. He is called by competent critics "The King of the American platform." The Rev. Sam P. Jones says of him: "Thomas Dixon is the best lecturer I ever heard, and I have heard them all. He is a live wire." Mr. Dixon's theme in this city will be "Modern Babylon."

HANGED TO A TREE.

Negro Highwayman Murdered by a Mob in Louisiana.

White Castle, La.—Saturday night George P. Beauvis was waylaid, robbed and beaten over the head by a negro in the Texas Pacific yards, the weapon used being a coupling-pin. Beauvais reached the hotel and gave a description of the would-be murderer. Before midnight the highwayman had been arrested, was brought before his victim, and fully identified. The negro was then placed in jail, but at daybreak next morning his body was found dangling from a convenient tree, where it remained for several hours. The Coroner's jury investigated the case, and returned a verdict of death by hanging at the hands of unknown parties.

DRIVEN FROM HOME

By Gen. Weyler's Infamous Bayate Edict and Cubans Are

CROWDING INTO THE TOWNS

Extenuated by Hunger and Emaciated by Fever in a Way to Resemble Skeletons.

THEY TROOP DOWN FROM THE HILLS.

Their Mysery Now Being Augmented By the Privations They are Obliged to Undergo.—The Situation Depicted.—United States Army Officer Will Fight for Cpba.

Key West, Fla.—Advices from Havana state that the effect of Weyler's famous Bayate edict of the 1st inst., is being felt with more intensity in the Provinces of Havana and Matanzas than in that of Pinar del Rio, since these Provinces are more thickly populated and with more farms and estates than the former. The wholesale abandonment of the properties and the concentration of the people in the towns will not only augment the misery already prevailing, but also present the serious inconveniences of lodging so many people in towns already full to overflowing.

Without discussing Weyler's barbarous and inhuman measures in thus depriving peaceful and unoffending citizens of their rightful means of existence, and huddling them in already crowded places, exposed to all the rigors of hunger and disease, simply for the sake of clearing the country of so-called rebel sympathizers, a legal point has been sprung by the foreign property owners, especially the Americans, who own large properties in the Provinces of Havana and Matanzas, which will surely lead to complications and claims on the Spanish Government.

Weyler distinctly states in his decree that those who wish to remain on their properties must exhibit the last tax bill paid. Now, it is a recognized law that taxes are only levied on productive industries, and these planters have not been able to work on account of the abnormal conditions in the Provinces since Gomez's invasion in December, 1895. No taxes have been collected since that time, the Government tacitly admitting such unusual circumstances, or being powerless to collect them because the rebels were in possession of the country, did not press their collection, consequently no taxes have been paid in the country since the date mentioned. Besides that, Weyler has unofficially ordered that no sugar crop should be made, and now he wants the sugar planters to pay taxes on an industry which they have not been able to produce. The legal authority can readily be seen.

The result has been that the manager of the sugar estate "San Antonio," near Madruga, Havana, owned by Mr. Antonio Terry, an American, residing in Paris, presented himself to Consul Lee, demanding protection, because the milltary commander of Madruga ordered him to abandon the place (which, by the way, is one of the most valuable estates in the Province, worth at least half a million dollars), because he did not present the required tax bill. Consul Lee at once took the case in hand and simultaneously presented the same to the Captain-General and the State Department at Washington. No replies have been received yet, either from Weyler or from Olney.

To depict the situation in Pinar del Rio, nothing can be better said than to translate the report of a trip made to the city of that name by a correspondent of La Luch:

"All the way traversed by the railroad from Artemisa to Consolacion del Sur, is, without exaggeration the most chastised and undoubtedly has suffered most from the rigors of war.

"The fields lie waste, and abandoned, the bushes and trees burned, and the yellow and decayed leaves strewn by the winds; tears drawn from the mother (illegible) pained and anguished at the fate of men; the huts destroyed; the stone houses, in other times happy homes, converted by the hands of rebels and Spanish alike into heaps of ruins, the black and fallen walls of which, covered with lichen, only serve as a refuge for the lizards and owls; the cane fields dried up and covered with bushes by the ravages of the fire; the towns—the authorities of which are making great efforts to remedy the necessities of the residents—full of people, of poor families, who daily swoop down from the hills, extenuated by hunger and emaciated by the fevers, in such a way that they resemble skeletons risen out of their tombs to appear before the final judgment; to the right and left of the road, as much as the train winds its rapid march, the traveler observes with painful anguish the desolation and ruin within the inextinguishable poetry of these exuberant fields, always green with the eternal verdure of Spring, as if God, with His eloquence, would point us that the only thing we can do is to destroy the beauties which surged from His bounteous will."

FOR GALLANTRY IN 1864.

Washington, D. C.—A medal of honor has been awarded to Samuel J. Churchell, of Lawrence, Kas., late corporal Battery G, Second Illinois light artillery, for most distinguished gallantry in action at the battle of Nashville, Tenn., December 15, 1864. This non-commissioned officer, being under detachment, and when the enemy's batteries opened fire on his guns, compelling the men of his detachment, for a short time, to seek shelter, stood manfully at his post for some minutes, working his gun alone.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR

An Orphan's Home Near Dallas, Texas, Burned.

SIXTEEN LITTLE LIVES

Destroyed by the Merciless Flames and Many More are Seriously, Though not Fatally Injured.

ALL OTHERS ACCOUNTED FOR.

Seeking to Save the Little Ones, the Matron Forgot Her Own, Till Her Efforts Proved Futile, and She Was Forced to Flee with Their Death Cries Ringing in Her Ears.

Dallas, Tex.—Fire completely destroyed the Buckner's Orphans' Home, near here, early Saturday morning. Sixteen children were cremated, and nine injured, three of them fatally.

The search for bodies was completed in the evening. Sixteen corpses were taken from the ruins.

The following is the list of the dead: Bertie Britton, 10 years old; Martin and Milton Britton, twins, 10 years old; Carlos Jones, 6 years old; Grover Cleveland Yarborough, 12 years old; Oscar Jackson, 12 years old; Preston Kribler, 10 years old; William Miller, 7 years old; Virgil Nelson, 9 years old; Eugene Black, 9 years old; Arthur W. Edwards, 10 years old; Oscar Coward, 7 years old; Ray King, 6 years old, and Charles O. Bannon, 13 years old.

The following were injured: Dick Richards, 10 years old, fatally; P. Charles Friend, 10 years old, fatally; Sadie Britton, 18 years old; Bennie Ward, 8 years old; Samuel Henderson, 11 years old; Earle Doodle, 7 years old; James Scott, 8 years old, and Frank Chaffin, 7 years old.

All the dead, except one, were buried Saturday evening in the cemetery of the home, Rev. Mr. Buckner, manager of the home officiating.

The home physicians are in attendance on the injured.

All the farmers in the vicinity turned out and assisted in making coffins, digging graves and burying the victims. There were 147 boys and more than 100 girls in the home. All are accounted for.

The fire was discovered about midnight. Mrs. Britton, the boys' matron, had been in bed some time, when she was awakened by the smell of smoke. She jumped to the floor, but found it so hot she could not stand on it, and she immediately raised the cry of fire. The attaches were hastily aroused, and sent in all directions to rouse the children. Such was Mrs. Britton's anxiety for the safety of the inmates, that she forgot her own children, and despite her frantic efforts at rescue, they were burned to death. The fire is believed to have originated in the room under that of Mrs. Britton.

Before Mrs. Britton retired for the night she had the boys clean out, and prepared a stove in the room just under hers for the morning fire. She then sent one of the large boys to see if the work had been properly done. He reported that everything was all right, but it is believed that some live coals were scattered on the carpet, near the stove, which ignited and soon spread to the woodwork.

The building is of wood, and the fire communicated to its various wings with incredible rapidity. The children were hastily aroused and hurried out of the building, wrapped in their night clothes and bed quilts. All were badly frightened, and when the shrieks of those who were being cremated in the roaring mass of flames reached their ears they became almost unmanagable, and were, with difficulty, prevented from rushing into the fire in an effort at rescue.

The building was soon destroyed, and at daylight the work of searching the ruins was taken up. All the children were accounted for by noon. The home was ten miles from Dallas, and it would have been impossible to get aid out in time had it been requested. The matter will be investigated.

A BIG REFINERY.

Arbuckle & Co. to Erect a Large Sugar Refinery.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Ground was broken Friday, for the Arbuckle sugar refinery, on the lot adjoining the Arbuckle coffee plant. It is the intention of the Arbuckles to push the erection of the building with all possible speed. To this end, day and night gangs of workmen will be employed, and the great plant may be in operation by next August.

The building will cover the block bound by John, Jay and Pearl streets and the river. The refinery will have a capacity of 6000 barels per day. The increase from 1,200 barrels, which was the original intention of the Arbuckles, has been made necessary by the agggressively agnostic attitude of the sugar trust.

EMBEZZLER ARRESTED.

A Judge Served with a Warrant While Sick in Bed.

Fort Scott, Kan.—While sick in bed, Judge J. F. McDonald, accused of the embezzlement of several thousand dollars in fees and moneys paid as compromise in the Frantenac explosion cases, was arrested and held under bond for $2,750. Judge J. D. McCleverty is the prosecuting witness. The warrant alleges that McDonald collected $5,000 in fees in the cases; that he is still holding $1,346 due McCleverty, which he has converted into money for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors, and that he has it fraudulently concealed; that he settled the cases secretly and without consulting his partner.

"The Old Yellow Almanac."

When Ella Wheeler Wilcox wrote the poem, having for title the same heading as this article, she touched a chord that vibrated in thousands of hearts. For Ayer's Almanac, "The Old Yellow Almanac" of the poem, is intimately associated with the days and deeds of a large part of the world's population. How large a part of the population this general statement may include can be gathered from the fact that the yearly issue of Ayer's Almanac is from 17,000,000 to 25,000,000 copies. It is printed in twenty-eight editions and in some eighteen languages, including, besides English—Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, German, Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, Bohemian, Welch, Italian, French, etc. The old style almanac is looked upon by many as a relic of antiquity, especially the "patent medicine almanac," whose jokes are the butt often of the very papers in whose columns they first appeared. But there are almanacs and almanacs. Ever since Dr. Ayer's Almanac has been put out it has employed as high a class of mathematical and astronomical talent as is available in the country. The result is that it stands on a par, in respect of the reliability of its data and the accuracy of its calculations with the U. S. Nautical Almanac, and testimony to this fact is found year after year in the letters referred to the almanac department of the company, from students and mathematicians in various parts of the world. In its permanence and reliability Ayer's Almanac stands as a very fitting type of the Ayer Remedies—indispensible in the family and reliable every day in the year. The 1897 edition of this useful almanac is now in course of distribution through the druggists of the country.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

NO. 14.

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 28 1897.

Prosperity was evidently billed too soon.

If this is prosperity give us something else.

Mosco may be dead but his spirit is in evidence.

Place hunters and spoilsmen are the bane of all parties.

Sound money don't seem to be sounding to any alarming extent.

The plutocrats are pressing down upon the "crown of thorns."

Old party platforms can only be regarded as a sop to the people.

As long as corporations can skin the people the people will be skinned.

The transportation question enters into every little transaction of the business world.

Cleveland evidently considers it his duty to sit on the safety valve of this Cuban war excitement.

It ought to be apparent now to everybody that confidence alone will not restore prosperity.

The "business interests" voted for the gold standard and now they are getting it—in the neck.

At the rate national banks have been failing recently they will soon settle that question themselves.

A broad platform will hold more people than a narrow one; a single issue platform is a mistake.

When the little bugs hear from the big bugs they will tell you why prosperity has not arrived yet.

The people might easily declare that on the Cuban question Mr. Cleveland is in a state of belligerency.

Unless the brand is changed the present wave of prosperity is likely to sweep the Republican party off its feet.

Even if the money question is not the most important one to be solved it is the one that is now up for immediate solution.

Under our present system one of the first things a man thinks of after being elected to office is how to secure his re-election.

The most good the silver issue has done is to open up the discussion of the whole money question. Now let the good work be followed up.

Explain the theory of direct legislation to your Republican and Democratic neighbors and tell them to look for it in their old party platforms.

If some one would volunteer to go to Cuba as Grover's substitute in case we had war with Spain old "Fatty" might consent to acknowledge Cuban independence.

And now the Commercial agencies are admitting that trade is dull, and business men are disappointed. But we've got the gold standard, so what's the use to kick?

It is to be hoped that congress will pass some kind of a bill to restrict foreign immigration to this country. There exists a pretty general opinion that we have about all we can assimilate.

The net earnings of the banks of the United States over all expenses, including high salaries to the owners, is $60,000,000 a year. All of this could be saved, and much more, with a system of government banks.

Don't let the enemy side-track you on the Cuban question, the Venezuelan controversy, or any other fake issues, but stick to the text, shall the banks or the government control the currency and the business of the country.

By the way, it is the "business men" and the "financial experts" that are failing now at the rate of over 350 per week. They know all about it, you know, and want sound dollars. They are getting what they voted for.

The Republicans are now on record. They have promised the people prosperity. If they don't give it to them the people will have an opportunity to even up with them at the ballot box. Keep your eye on the Republican party.

C. P. Huntington claims the honor of saving Oregon and California to the Republicans. What effect this will have upon his Pacific railroad funding bill now pending in congress remains to be seen. It is reported that he contributed a large sum of money to the Republican campaign fund.

It seems like all the things that the sound money men prophesied would happen in case of Bryan's election are happening since McKinley's election, just as the Populists said they would. This proves that the Populists were right and the Republicans were wrong and the people are finding it out.

The train robbing industry seems to be reviving. It and the frequent holdups in St. Louis and other large cities are about the only signs of returning prosperity we have, but other industries may start up in the near future. There seems to be no diminution in the activity of the trusts, except the extortions have been raised a notch higher.

MORGAN'S COLUMN.

THE ARKANSAN ON SOME CURRENT DOINGS.

He Takes a Few Snap Shot Pen Pictures of the Passing Show—No Quarter for the Wicked—His Views on Present Prosperity.

The Pacific railroad funding bill is now one of the most important measures before congress. The railroads have defefaulted in the payment of their debt to the government and the mortgage can now be foreclosed. This is an opportunity to begin in a practical business way the government ownership of railroads.

The government issued bonds to aid in the construction of these railroads. The proceeds of the bonds were sufficient to construct and equip the road. Besides this millions of acres of lands were granted to the companies. For thirty years now the railroad companies have been defaulting in the payment of interest on these bonds until now they owe the government something over one hundred million dollars.

It has been ruled by government officials that a default in payment of the interest was not such default as to authorize foreclosure of the mortgage, and the effect of this ruling was such as to give the companies the use of both principal and interest for thirty years without compounding. Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania, who was a member of the commission appointed by the President to investigate the methods of the companies, in his minority report said that the use of this interest money was worth to the companies one hundred and ninety-nine million dollars.

The proposition now is to fund this debt into two per cent bonds, some of which may run for seventy years longer. This bill is now pending before congress, and C. P. Huntington is there to assist with his lobbying methods to get it through. As he was a large contributor to the Republican campaign fund he may be successful. But the people of the whole country should see to it that everything possible is done to prevent it. In states where United States senators are to elect, no man should be supported who will not pledge himself to vote against this funding scheme and do all he can to protect the government from any further loss in the matter.

Here is an opportunity for Populists to press the issue of government ownership of railroads and insist on the seizure of this opportunity to test its utility. There is no good reason why the government should not foreclose. It was manifestly the intention to do so when the aid was given if the roads defaulted. Ample provision was made to do so, and there is now no question as to the legal right to do so. Here is the law covering the case (act of July 1, 1862): "On the refusal or failure of said company to redeem said bonds or any part of them when required to do so by the secretary of the treasury, in accordance with the provisions of this act the said road, with all the rights, functions, immunities and appurtenances thereunto belonging, and also all of the lands granted to the said company, which at the time of said default shall remain in the ownership of said company, may be taken possession of by the secretary of the treasury for the use and benefit of the United States."

Two years ago, when Collis P. Huntington first went to Washington to lobby for an extension of time on the debt of the Central and Southern Pacific roads, Senator Stewart acted as his go-between to the other senators, conducting them from the senate chamber to the lobby rooms and introducing them to Mr. Huntington. Stewart was also on the committee to which the Huntington bill was referred and voted to report it favorably to the senate. Stewart is evidently Huntington's attorney. The Missouri World, commenting on this phase of the case, says: "Watch the Silver Knight, published at Washington, D. C. When congress was in session last winter the Pacific railroad funding bill was up, but readers of the paper saw little or nothing in it on the subject. An alleged populist paper, published at the national capital, keeping mum on that stupendous subject! Senator Stewart, the editor, is on the Pacific railroad senate committee, and, strange to say, is in favor of the funding bill, which the national platform of the people's party denounced as 'infamous.'"

The Loud bill is up before congress again. The purpose of this bill is to restrict the present scope of mail carriage. It provides against accepting "books published as serials" as second-class matter, and the mailing of free sample copies. There can be no good reason given for the passage of the bill. Whatever deficiency is caused by the carriage of second-class matter is simply gain in one way and loss in another. What the people save through the postal department they pay out of the treasury, and we see no reason why the law should be changed and compel the people to pay ten times the amount to the express companies, whose business would be greatly increased by the passage of the Loud bill. If Mr. Loud is working for the express companies, he should be confined to their offices, and to their pay. Another influence that is being brought to bear in favor of this measure is the publishers of the great dailies, whose large Sunday editions are designed to supplant the literature of the magazines and serial books. The people should protest against the passage of the bill.

A recent dispatch from London says: "The Times' Paris correspondent says: 'The washington government has been confidentially informed, although in very friendly terms, that the European powers would not remain passive should the United States recognize or encourage the Cuban insurgents. If my information is correct, an intimation has been further given that Germany is quite ready, even now, to take Spain's side should the United States show a disposition officially to side with the rebels. These warnings originated in the course of pourparlers for a European coalition against revolutionary socialism.'"

Now, who cares whether the "European powers" remain passive or otherwise? The United States should do just what is right by Cuba, regardless of the action of other nations. Spain recognized he independence of the Southern confederacy within forty-five days of the firing on Fort Sumpter, before any battle was fought, and almost before the north had an army in the field. Other powers were not slow to follow. From a military standpoint; from a commercial standpoint; and from a humanitarian standpoint, the United States is more directly interested in Cuba than are any of the European powers save Spain. It is right that some kind of recognition should be given the Cuban cause, and if "the powers" don't like it, let them shy their castor in the ring and out of the wreck we may hope for something better to come. Uncle Sam is not hunting any row with any one, and is not going to Europe to fight, but he's going to look a "leetle" after his weak neighbors, and if "the powers" don't like it and want a rumpus, let them come over on our "dung-hill" and we can lick the stuffin' out of 'em as fast as they can land.

There must be something the matter with Hanna. Business failures are increasing right along. The banks are going under, "confidence" is shaken and "Old Prosperity" is getting it in the neck.

This "business revival" reminds us forcibly of a negro baptizing, which occurred in the south in the days of slavery. The stream was flushed with recent rains and the current was so swift that the old negro minister could scarcely "hold his feet." Several times he had to have help to "hold his subject" from washing away. Finally he did lose his hold on a little negro boy to whom he was administering the sacred rite, and the lad was washed rapidly down the stream. But he was a good swimmer, and paddling out to a pile of driftwood on which he climbed he said: "Look heah! If dis kin' of foolishnis haint stopped somebody's gwine ter lose a nigger." The application is apparent.

W. S. MORGAN.

THE LEAVEN IS WORKING.

The People Begin to Acknowledge the Justice of Our Cause.

Populist leaven is working. What Populists and Greenbackers have seen for years is becoming more and more apparent to a large majority of the people. Four years ago when the Omaha convention issued its note of warning and appeal to reason, stating that the country was verging onto moral and financial ruin and that a continuation of the systems which are aggregating all the wealth and power into the hands of a few heartless capitalists would soon end in the death of the republic and American liberty, the party was pronounced crazy, and was said to be composed of a lot of irresponsible numbskulls, fanatics and peace disturbers. Even a large majority of those who voted for Bryan this year harbored that opinion and many of them were open and above board in so expressing themselves. But now they see their mistake. They see matters just as those who formulated the Omaha platform, four years ago, saw them. Instead of denouncing those who oppose the present monopoly, disrupting and obnoxious systems as cranks and fanatics, they themselves have become advocates of the anti-monopoly doctrines, and the army is growing more rapidly each day. And the converts are not confined to the laboring and producing classes either. Many men of wealth and high political standing are beginning to see the tendency of things and are turning from them. Among others of this class we notice Senator Quay, who recently expressed himself in an emphatic manner along this line of thought as follows: "I am opposed to the * * * theory that organized wealth shall dictate high office, and so take possession of the government. * * *The people * * * most in need of protection are the farmers, the small storekeepers, the artisans and the laborers, and I stand by them. * * * I go into the barricades with the burgeoise and the men in blouses. * * * There must be less business and more principle in our politics. * * * The business interests are making our politics sordid and corrupt. The tremendous sums of money furnished by business men are polluting the wellsprings of our national being."—Farmers' Tribune.

WATSON ON MONEY.

FREE COINAGE ALONE IS INADEQUATE.

The Destruction of Paper Money and Its Effect On Prices — Banks Must Go Out of the Government Business—Populism to the World.

From the St. Louis Chronicle: Gold, silver and treasury notes constituted the legal currency of this government from Jefferson's time to Lincoln's.

That gold and silver should be used as money, the constitution recognizes; that paper could be likewise used, if the government saw fit, was recognized by the practice of Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln and the supreme court of the United States, in the broadest, directest terms, declared the practice legal.

Populism agrees with the advocates of silver coinage as far as they go. We say they do not go far enough.

Money can be controlled in its price by any one who controls the supply. In other words, a trust can be based upon money, just as it can upon wheat or cotton. The only way to break the grip of a trust is to bring into the market another supply of the commodity "cornered."

The wheat trust is broken by bringing in more wheat, the cotton trust by bringing in more cotton.

A money trust can only be broken by bringing in more money.

If gold were the only legal currency, it could easily be "cornered," because the supply is so small.

If both gold and silver constitute the only legal money the formation of a money trust is more difficult, but still it could be done.

There being no legal money but gold, how could a trust in gold ever be broken?

The world would be helpless. Every citizen who owed a dollar of debt or taxes would be absolutely at the mercy of the trust which held control of the only money in which the debt or taxes could be paid.

The free silver men tell us that this gold trust could be broken by opening the mints to silver, and thus bringing into market another supply of legal money.

True enough, but suppose that the available supply of both gold and silver be cornered, how then is this trust to be defeated?

Populism says it can only be done by reserving to the government the power to issue paper money, and thus to bring in the supply, without which the grip of the money trust could never be broken.

The very fact that the speculators in money know that the government was vested with the power, and its administration in the hands of a party which would exercise this power, would be the surest guarantee that if the populist principles were adopted no corner on money would ever be attempted.

We say that scarce money means dear money, just as scarce wheat means dear wheat. The more money there is in circulation the easier it is for each citizen to go into the market and buy dollars with corn, cotton, land and labor. The demand for money depends upon the number of people, the amount of business, the amount of debt and the amount of taxes. This people being in debt to the aggregate of $40,000,000,000, and the taxes growing heavier every year, while the number of the people and the volume of business constantly increases, the demand for money has enormously increased over than it was in 1867.

The demand being greater than in 1867, the supply of money should be greater, in order that the equilibrium between money and all other commodities should be preserved.

But the supply has not only not increased, but is about eight times less than it was in 1867.

We need not wonder then that money, being so much scarcer is correspondingly dearer.

"Money is a measure of value," the book-makers tell us.

In 1867 money "measured" the two million bales of cotton and found them more valuable, in dollars, than the nine million bales were in 1895.

"How is that?" says Populism. The bale of cotton had precisely the same intrinsic value in 1895 which it had in 1867.

Not only that, but it had the same commercial value as compared with all other commodities—except money.

In 1867 money "measured" seven hundred million bushels of corn, and found them to be more valuable than twenty-one hundred millions in 1895.

Yet the bushel of corn would feed man and beast just as long in 1895 as in 1867. The intrinsic value is precisely the same. Why then does the corn raiser have to pay six bushels of corn to get the money one bushel used to get?

Simply because when the corn raiser goes into the market to buy dollars he finds that the demand has increased and the supply decreased.

Populism says that the silverite does not reach the marrow of the question at all. He does not go deep enough. He weakens the case by commencing with 1873 as the starting point of "falling prices," when everybody knows they commenced in 1866.

The silverites also denounce "contraction of the currency," and yet takes pains not to explain that the contraction consisted in destroying the paper money. Gold currency has not been contracted, nor has silver. Both have been increased, silver specially.

The contraction took place in destroying the paper money, and Populism says that, while silver coinage will help the people to the extent that it enlarges the supply of money, our people need never expect to be as prosperous as they were in 1867 until the government restores to the channels of trade the paper money which has been destroyed.

And we say that the government itself should issue this money, and not the banks. The power to issue money is a sovereign power, and if vested in any corporation creates a privileged class clothed with the tremendous agency of creating currency, setting its own price upon the currency, exercising autocratic rule over the markets and values.

"Money is not a mere measure of value," says Populism; it is an instrument of tyranny.

Let the law once say taxes and debts can be paid in nothing but money and you have a civilization based upon the highwayman's simple code of "Your money or your life."

Let the law further say that non-payment of taxes (as in Georgia) works forfeiture of the right to vote, and you have the dollar acting as political boss, and becoming the test of political liberty.

Populism says the disease cannot be cured save by making the supply of money correspond with the demand. Under no other circumstances can this people ever pay off the public and private debt. Under no other circumstances can the wheels of trade be put in motion, a demand for labor created and a profitable market be found for labor and its products.

Populism presents these facts and these reasonings to the world, asks impartial consideration of its creed and invites all patriotic citizens to reflect upon these vital issues, to the end that the truth may be reached and the Republic saved.

Very respectfully,

THOMAS E. WATSON.

CHURCH ROBBERY.

The Church Losing the Respect of the People.

From St. Louis Evening Journal: The robbery committed Sunday morning in the Grand Avenue Presbyterian church furnishes a good topic for a lay sermon. In former times church robberies were exceedingly rare. They have been increasing in numbers in recent years. In past generations the most hardened criminal, either from a tinge of religious sentiment or from superstition, avoided any desecration of the temple in which the principles of humanity, as taught by Christ, are expounded. That used to be the one thing and place sacred. It was the "ark of the covenant" uncontaminated by sacrilegious hands. It is such no more. The altar is as likely to be profaned as the barroom. It is a bad omen.

It indicates that the church has lost its spiritual influence over the minds of men, and that men have lost faith in the church. It has long been apparent to impartial observers that the church was gradually losing its hold on the people. Robbery in the house of God ought to convince the most orthodoxical fanatic that something is wrong in the relation of the church with the people. What is the trouble? It is the church itself that has brought this indifference and contempt upon it. The church has lost its spirituality, has abandoned its true mission as a repository of moral power and ministering to the wants of humanity.

The self-sacrificing and sanctifying energy of the Nazarine's principles are emasculated into a mercenary system of compromises that the blessed Savior himself would scarcely recognize if he came into our midst again. The money changers seem to control the church militant as their class controlled the temples of Jehova during Christ's mission. He whipped them out in his time, and religion and the churches again were revered by men. The masses gladly heard and believed the heavenly inspired reformer and lover of humanity and his sect, although made up from the rejected ones of earth, grew and spread until they became the elect of the world. The church was intended to be a home for the homeless, a refuge when all other sources failed. It was intended to be balm for injured souls, and a wall of fire protecting the innocent, the helpless, the oppressed and the heavy laden. The church now is a social corporation where nice songs are sung by vocal artists, and so-called sermons are preached by well-groomed pastors; sermons made up of meaningless platitudes and glittering ethical generalities that would not offend even his Satanic majesty. The church today is compromising with the world, the flesh and the devil, and has thereby lost the respect and reverence rightly its due.

It now appears that the Dingley tariff bill was only introduced for campaign purposes. Half of the time spent by our law-makers is for partisan advantages, and party spirit is the greatest obstruction to all measures introduced in the interests of the people. Moneyed interests alone that are represented at the Capitol by lobbyists seem to be able to obtain legislation.

Occasionally a railroad train is held up and the papers make "a great to do" over it, but the men who own and control the railroads are holding up the people every day, and but little is said of it. The same can be said of the banks—by violations of law the banks swindle the people out of millions of dollars annually.

Sponges, slates and slate pencils are no longer allowed in the public schools of Cambridge, Mass. Paper, pens and pencils have been substituted.

Congress is talking again.

ABSOLUTE POWER.

VESTED IN SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The Power of Making Money Scarce or Plenty, to Expand or Contract the Currency, Rests All on His Caprice—Place for a Wall Street Fool.

The world's history furnishes no parallel for the absolute power of one man and the abject humiliation of the whole people, as exhibited today in this country. One man sitting in Washington is endowed with larger powers than was ever any other in any country since the world began. He holds the key to the industrial, commercial, agricultural, mechanical, banking, in short all the interests of the country that have any relation with money or currency. On his breath hangs, with greater or less degree, the welfare and prosperity of forty millions of people. The power of making money scarce or plenty; to expand or contract the currency of the country, rests all on his caprice.

Speculation rides rampant on the changes of his fickle will. Values rise and fall. Men are rich today and poor tomorrow, as he may dictate. The country lies at his feet. Could the people sit down for one single, thoughtful moment in front of the great shame of this situation and consider the amazing possibilities of power in the hands of this man, there would surely be a revolution. No such power over all the monetary interests of so many millions was ever in any age intrusted to a single individual. It is not in the possibilities of human wisdom to administer such a trust wisely. No man ever lived who could administer such a trust honestly. There is not virtue enough in human nature to withstand all the innumerable subtleties of temptation that must assail the holder of such enormous power.

The privilege of debasing coin, which has sometimes been exercised by sovereigns and parliaments, was always guarded with the greatest jealousy, and the instances in which it has been done are reckoned landmarks of national folly and set up as the warnings of history. But here in the nineteenth century, in the midst of what we boast as the highest civilization, we clothe one man, or rather allow one man to clothe himself, with the power of debasing the currency or appreciating it at his own sweet will, and we hardly put up so much as a protest against it, while trade and commerce, and about everything, except the actual drawing of our breath, are at his mercy. Talk about the tyrannies and despotisms of the old world, of the suppression of free thought and free speech, of the absolute control exercised by despots over their subjects. They are hardly to be compared to the tremendous power of the finance minister who holds between his thumb and finger the business interests of the whole continent. It was urged as such an objection to the old United States bank that it could make money cheap or dear at its will, and this, it is said, gave it enormous political power that was dangerous in the extreme. If this power was dangerous then, when the country was small, population scarce and business limited, what shall be said of the present condition, when one man, instead of a corporation, controls more absolutely the vastly extended business interests of the country, and commerce and trade depends entirely upon the fiat of his will?

Compared with the present secretary of the treasury and his power, the influence of the United States bank was as that of a puling infant to a full-grown Hercules.

Is any demonstration needed of the terrible dangers to which we are momentarily exposed by this wild bestowal of authority? Witness the effect of this man's action during the presidential canvass, when, with no authority except what he himself assumed, and for that matter, may at any time assume again, he diluted the currency by expansion to the extent of millions for political and partisan purposes, and by that means contributed largely to the perpetuation in power of the administration of which he was a part. Witness, too, the fluctuations in our money markets for weeks past, the uncertainty of all legitimate trade and commerce, and the subsequent damage to the industrial and the business interests of the country.—New York Tribune.

Hear Ingalls.

In one of his great speeches, some time ago, Ex. U. S. Senator John J. Ingalls had this to say:

"Labor and capital should not be antagonistic, but allies rather. They should not be opponents and enemies, but colleagues and auxiliaries, whose co-operating rivalry is essential to national prosperity. But I cannot forbear to affirm that a political system which under such despotic power can be wrested from the people and vested in the few is a democracy only in name. A financial system under which more than one-half of the enormous wealth of the country, derived from the bounty of nature and the labor of all, is owned by a little more than 30,000 people, while 1,000,000 American citizens, able and willing to toil, are homeless tramps, starving for bread, requires adjustment. A social system which offers to tender, virtuous and independent women the alternative between prostitution and suicide as an escape from beggary is organized crime for which some day unrelenting justice will demand atonement and expiation."

That is just what the People's party is saying now. Ingalls urged this view of the situation in this country as a Republican U. S. Senator.

A NEW CHARGE

Will Probably Be Made Against The Three Friends.

ARE THEY PIRATES?

United States Attorney Genera Harmon is Considering the Matter of Charging the Officers and Crew of the Filibusterer

WITH BEING PIRATES.

Spanish Gunboat Burned by Cubans.—Citizens of France Arrested and Thrown Into Prison.—Recent Crimes and Causalties.—Chinese Holocaust.

Washington, D. C.—If the sensational stories in certain New York newspapers regarding the Cuban filibustering tug Three Friends, on her last voyage, training a Hotchkiss gun on a Spanish gunboat and firing at that vessel have any foundation in truth, the Attorney-General of the United States Government declares that the Three Friends is amenable to the laws of piracy, and her officers and crew are liable to be surrendered and punished as pirates.

Attorney-General Harmon, it is officially stated is considering the advisability of instituting proceedings against the Three Friends on that charge. The Attorney-General was originally of the opinion that the Three Friends had not committed a piratical act, even assuming that the reports published of her exchange of shots with the Spanish vessel were true. But a careful consideration of the law and decisions on similar cases had made him doubt his primary view.

In order to expedite the case of the Three Friends the Attorney-General has prepared an application to present to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari on the United States Circuit Court at New Orleans for the transfer of the case to the Supreme Court, so that the latter tribunal may pass on Judge Locke's decision given at Jacksonville. Judge Locke held that the Government in its bill of libel against the Three Friends did not show that the vessel had violated any law. He gave the Government ten days to amend its libel, and declared that unless this was done, he would dismiss the application.

SPANISH GUNBOAT BURNED.

Brave Attack of Cubans, with a Successful Result.

Key West, Fla.—Havana advices received in Key West are to the effect that the Spanish gunboat Cometa has been captured and burned by the insurgents.

The Cometa, one of the most powerful of the smaller Spanish vessels in Cuban waters, has been cruising near Cardenas to prevent the landing of filibustering expeditions. For some time she has been accustomed to anchor at night off Sercia Morena. The place where the gunboat anchored was favorable for an attack from shore; and the insurgents determined to capture her. Last Tuesday night they opened on the vessel with a twelve-pound Hotchkiss gun. The vessel was struck several times and badly damaged. While the crew was in confusion, boats loaded with insurgents left the shore, and the Cometa was boarded. A desperate hand-to-hand fight took place on the deck of the gunboat, the Cubans using the machete with deadly effect. Finally, after the Spanish commander and half of his men had been killed, the survivors surrendered. The vessel was then burned.

CITIZENS OF FRANCE

Arrested and Sent to Cabanas Fortress: Plantations Destroyed.

Havana, via. Key West, Fla.—Salvador and Pedro Laborde, brothers, citizens of France, and owners of an estate in Jobo were sent to Cabanas Fortress under Weyler's orders for grinding cane against his commands, and also made responsible for the defeat the Spaniards suffered in their recent fight which occurred on that estate.

Ana Sotolongo, a lady imprisoned as a political suspect in the Paula Hospital, managed to escape last night.

All the buildings of the valuable estate, San Lino, in the Cienfuegos District, owned by Lino Montalve, has been burned. The loss is estimated at over a million dollars. Over eight million arrobas or quarters of cane were burned.

A DELICATE QUESTION.

A question of woman's rights has been raised in the war department, and is likely to cause discussion. The Civil Service Committee recently advertised to fill a $1,500 vacancy in the Adjutant General's office, requiring knowledge of five diferent languages, proof reading, library methods and other qualifications. Miss Maud Stalnaker of Washington, D. C., a lady of unexceptional character and accomplishment, was the only person who passed the examination, and she was duly certified for the position, but the appointment has been rejected on the ground that the department does not desire to have a woman in the place.

THE charter of the city of Jemison was passed in the Senate yesterday. Hurrah for Jemison!

THE dispensary bill on Tuesday passed the Senate by a vote of 18 for to 13 against. About one-half of the counties in the State are exempted from its provisions. Chilton is included in the bill. What will be its fate in the House is uncertain, but it is doubtful if it will become law.

UNDER the caption "How to unite the party" the Montgomery Journal quotes Jno. B. Knox, chairman of the State Democratic executive committee as follows: "They (the State Democratic Executive committee) require that all persons participating in Democratic primaries or mass meetings shall vote for the nominees of such primaries or mass meetings." With this, so far as primary elections are concerned, we entirely agree. No man has any right to record his vote in a primary election unless he has fully decided beforehand to abide the result of that election, any more than when he votes in a State or Federal election he knows full well that whether he votes with the majority or the minority he is bound to accept the voice of the majority as expressed at the ballot box. Let every voter before he takes part in any primary first make up his mind whether it is to his interest or not to abide the result of that primary.

A PETITION is being (or has been) privately circulated in some parts of beat four in favor of a stock-law for this beat. It appears to have been confined to a very limited number of persons and in fact has been kept so remarkably secret that but few of the inhabitants of the beat know of its existence. The originator evidently thought it was best kept dark. From enquiries we have made we feel justified in saying that a very large majority of the citizens of this beat are utterly opposed to any such measure. But supposing our position to be wrong in this conjecture, we ask is it right or proper for one or two individuals to try and impose in secret a stock-law upon this community? If such a law is desirable by all means let us have it, but first let the people know what is being done in the matter. We invite the originators of the scheme to write us for publication their reasons for getting up their petition, and also why they have kept the matter so very quiet. Our advice to those who are opposed to the measure is to at once procure signatures to a counter petition.

CHILTON county is suffering just now from the vexatious efforts of a few disappointed individuals who are dismayed at the progress our county is making under Populist administration. If their attempts at upsetting the existing condition of affairs in the county were made openly and boldly we should have no apprehension of the result, but as these efforts are confined to private visits to the Legislature and the introduction of bills of which the people know nothing it may be possible—although we do not think it probable—that their schemes may prove successful. We refer in particular to the bill providing for a board of revenue, introduced at the instigation of a Republican and advocated by a Clarke man, and which is abhorent to ninety-nine per cent. of the voters of the county. Also to this proposed stock-law for beat four, originating no one knows where, and which is bringing forth bitter opposition. Section 23 of the Constitution provides that no local law shall be passed unless at least twenty days notice shall have been published in the locality affected. Has any notice of either of these measures ever been published? On the contrary they have been produced by one or two individuals in secret. We cannot bring ourselves to believe the Legislature will be guilty of passing any such undemocratic measures.

"If any one thinks that the fight for bimetallism is over, let him ask himself when a single defeat ever disheartened such men as those who have this year advocated free, unlimited and independent coinage. When men's convictions are so strong that they will face political defeat without flinching, defy financial despotism and risk social ostracism in behalf of a cause they do not surrender because they lose one battle.

"It must be remembered further that we fought against great odds in the Middle States also. The Democratic party in Wisconsin and Minnesota declared against silver in the conventions which sent delegates to Chicago. In Michigan the convention was nearly equally divided on the money question, and there was a bitter contest within the party in Iowa, Indiana and Ohio. In Illinois we were at a great disadvantage because the influence of the Chicago press was thrown almost entirely against free coinage, and this influence pervaded nearly all the Upper Mississippi Valley."

"During the last three months the gold Democrats have gone up and down the land loudly declaring their affection for Democratic principles, while they have striven to undo all that Jefferson and Jackson labored to accomplish; and in order to give a touch of humor to their campaign they prefixed the word 'National' to the word 'Democrat,' although they neither expected nor desired their ticket to carry a single county in the entire nation. They used their party organization for the purpose of misleading others, while they themselves spared no effort to secure the success of the Republican ticket. They cannot disguise themselves again."

"The contest for financial independence will go on. 'An American financial policy for the American people' will still be the motto of those who have in this campaign advocated the free coinage of silver on equal terms with gold. We entered the contest with a disorganized army; we emerge from it a united and disciplined force without the loss of a soldier. We are ready for another contest. We shall watch legislation, discuss every movement made by the enemy and keep before the public the principles for which we contend. We believe that we are right, and believing that right will finally triumph, we face the future firm in the belief that bimetallism will be restored."—William J. Bryan in North American Review.

Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

There is always a bustle in the house. If nothing exciting is under discussion members are moving around and everybody seems busy about something. Most of the members are young men, although there are twelve hoary or bald heads that indicate that the deliberations of the body will have the prudence of mature years as well as the vigor of middle age and the enthusiasm of youth impressed upon them.

That gentleman who has just taken his seat is Mr. Reynolds, of Chilton, one of the handsomest members on the floor. He is very industrious, watchful and tireless in his efforts for the welfare of the people of Chilton, and will satisfy all with the record he will make. He is popular at home as well as in the house, and so cheery, pleasant and affable that no one can be displeased with him. Differ with you he may, but he will be respectful and considerate; and he will uphold his side of the case with tact and shrewdness.—Alabama Monitor.

The principal topics treated editorially in the February Review of Reviews are the Anglo-American arbitration treaty, the Cuban situation, the prospects of the Nicaragua Canal, the recent elections of United States Senators in the different States, and the relation of the great corporations to political campaign funds. There is also the customary resume of the significant foreign events of the past month. The editorial pages, like the other parts of the magazine, are fully and suitably illustrated.

The frontispiece is a magnificent portrait of King Oscar of Sweden and Norway, who has been selected as umpire under the general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 26, 1896.

The call for the Reform Press not having been issued regularly and as the last meeting was held in the south, much dissatisfaction is expressed among reform editors and there is some agitation of the question of holding a meeting at some more central and accessable point.

If any one is still under the delusion that a man can not be a polished speaker or writer and a Populist at the same time, we commend to his perusal the inaugural address of Governor Leedy, of Kansas. It is, as produced by the press, a finished bit of literature, containing many choice epigrams that will make good models for those eastern goldites who persist in believing that Kansas has but three staple products, viz.: cyclones, mortgages and Populists. An example: In paying his respects to Eastern newspapers he said, "The dogs of Egypt have been barking at the pyramids for fifty centuries."

Senator Wolcott, bimetallic representative (?) from the United States, is reported to be visiting at the palace of Baron Rothchilds. He has also been wined and dined by the great moguls of goldbugdom. The Rothchilds syndicate have added another gold mine to its purchases in the United States which have mounted up to $35,000,000 within a year. This is but a natural sequence to the establishment of monometallism.

The New York Journal of January 17 published a communication recently sent to Lord Salisbury by Baron Rothchilds. It deals exclusively with the financial, railway and general investment conditions in the United States and shows that the great Jewish money lender is perfectly familiar with the affairs of a country upon which he manifestly means to foreclose sooner or later.

It is conceded that the Populists and silver republicans will elect a senator from Oregon. A Populist senator will also succeed Dubois from Idaho.

The State Populist Committees of Minnesota and Missouri were called together last week to prepare plans for continuing educational work.

The women of the Society for Political study, in New York, recently invited Mrs. Lease to address them. She was not favorably received at first but finally won her audience and closed mid applause and enthusiasm.

An address has been issued by the Executive Committee of the National Direct Legislation League, setting forth its plans and asking for financial aid from all friends of the movement. All contributions should be sent to J. L. Pierson, Glenn Ridge, New Jersey.

Ex-Governor Waite has announced his retirement from Cuba fillibustering and politics. He has returned to his former home at Aspen and will engage in mining.

A Bill making reading and writing the voting qualification has been offered in the Michigan legislature.

The number of the unemployed continue to grow. Twenty thousand are reported to be in enforced idleness in the city of St. Louis alone.

J. Pierpont Morgan and the Vanderbilts stand ready to buy the Pacific railroad if it should be sold by the government. Morgan has signified his desire to endow some charitable institution with 1,000,000 of the dollars derived from the last bond steal.

McKinley's efforts to construct a cabinet sufficiently strong for republican seances, continue to fail. So far John Sherman is the only man courageous enough to accept. Preparations for the inaugural go on with vigor, and a pageant grossly out of keeping with the distressed condition of the country is promised.

The State Farmers' Alliance that met in Mineappolis, January 11 renewed their fight on the railroads to secure track scales and better elevator accommodations.

Abe Steinberger, ex-president of the Kansas Reform Press Association was expelled from that order at its last session. A. R.

Your Cough,

like a dog's bark, is a sign that there is something foreign around which shouldn't be there. You can quiet the noise, but the danger may be there just the same. SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil is not a cough specific; it does not merely allay the symptoms but it does give such strength to the body that it is able to throw off the disease.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told that I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

THE MISSING WORD.

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately '.....' as cause and effect,"

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and probably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. This The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the wistern hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the southern and western states than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

Mr. Yeke Martin's friends have been happy to greet him back from Texas.

We regret that our urbane and gentlemanly friend, L. D. Graham has left us and is now publishing a most excellent news-paper in Evergreen.

Mrs. Cooper is now on a visit to Clanton.

Mrs. N. A. Goodwin has returned from Birmingham and is now entertaining Mrs. R. Goodwin of Selma and Mrs. Settles of Centreville

There has been much suffering but no fatality here from la grippe. Mrs. Sarah Foshee and her daughter, Miss Minnie, we are sorry to state are now suffering with this very painful complaint.

Farmers are in fine spirits starting their crops, the plow is running in fine style, a true saying, "tickle the earth with a hoe (or plow) and she will laugh with a harvest." We do not claim a boom but like the turtle will surely win in the race. Our new schoolhouse in the hands of our very energetic citizen, Dick Garner, is being built Our new R. R. will be started off in a few weeks and Maj. Harrison will erect a large mill here to furnish material for it.

He was suffering from a pain in the leg and his wife gave him one dose out of a bottle she had had there for about two years and replaced it in her trunk. He complained and said she had not given him sufficient. She laid down and after awhile saw him get up and look at her. Mrs. Hendley dropped off to sleep and was awakened half past eleven by his struggles which continued about two hours when he died. The bottle was found on the mantel and it is supposed he had taken another dose.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cure by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Fifty cents and $1.00

"DR. MILES,

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands."

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1895, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. Dr. Miles, through his Nervine is a benefactor to thousands." A. C. LEHMAN.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$1800 reward will be given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "suspenders," "collar-button," "safe-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $1800 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the inventions.

All communications regarded strictly confidential.

For all forms of nasal disease, causing obstruction to the nasal breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

DR. BROWNE also says: "Always carry the ingenious MENTHOL INHALER known as CUSHMAN'S, which should be used not only on the first approach, but three or four times a day during an epidemic, and always in cold catching weather by those subject to hoarse colds."

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is particularly destructive to the life of the Influenza bacilli."

DR. A. S. BISHOP, Surgeon to the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, Chicago, says: "You need no other assurance of my good opinion of your Inhaler, when I say that I am constantly using and prescribing them for my patients."

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC ..... CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

PURELY VEGETABLE ..... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE ..... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

LIVER STIMULANT ..... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

BOON FOR MOTHERS ..... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet taken by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN ..... CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive out worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

CURE GUARANTEED ..... CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS ..... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

*Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

THREE TIMES GOVERNOR.

Robert L. Taylor Again Chief Executive of Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn.—Robert L. Taylor was on Thursday, for the third time, inaugurated Governor of Tennessee.

The inaugural ceremonies took place in the halls of the House of Representatives, beginning at 11 o'clock and ending a few minutes after noon.

The halls and galleries were crowded. The seats on the floor of the House were occupied by the members of the two branches of the General Assembly and their friends, while the galleries were thrown open to the general public. The band from the Tennessee Industrial School was in the gallories at the left of the Speaker's stand, and the band from the Tennessee School for the Blind was in the gallery on the right.

The hall was simply, but very tastefully decorated for the occasion. The Speaker's stand was banked with a mass of potted flowers and plants. Immediately in the rear of the stand the Stars and Stripes were gracefully draped.

At 11:25 o'clock the State officials, the members of the Supreme Court, Court of Chancery, Appeals, and other courts, Governor Turney and Governor Taylor entered the hall, their appearance being greeted with cheers. Governors Turney and Taylor walked arm in arm. They took seats on the platform of the Speaker's stand, the two Governors being seated at the right of Speaker Thompson.

Both incoming and retiring Governors delivered eloquent addresses to an enthusiastic audience.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Work of the Alabama Law Makers.

Montgomery, Ala.—The General Assembly has once more settled down to business, and there is a hubbub in the halls and cloak rooms of the Capitol.

This session will record a great deal of important legislation. There are measures pending that have attracted the attention and serious thought of Alabamians for many years, and the time is ripe for action. The members of both branches seem to be deeply impressed with the degree of responsibility now resting upon them as public officials. The Constitutional Convention is, of course, the paramount issue. But there is other important legislation to be enacted. There are measures touching the interests of corporations of this State as well as of individuals. It is well known that there will be important railroad measures up for consideration. The lobby has begun to sprout already, and before many days it will, doubtless, grow into full fledged capital detachment.

WORK OF THE HOUSE.

Thursday.—There was but one bill of general interest discussed in the House of Representatives to-day.

House bill 134, by Hon. Virgil Baldwin, of Jackson, entitled "An act for the protection of girls under the age of 14 years," provoked a whirlwind of eloquence from the leading members of the Assembly.

The bill places the age of consent at 14 years, instead of 10, as the present law stands, and its violation made punishable as felony—imprisonment of not less than one year nor more than ten. The bill was amended by Mr Sheldon, of Mobile, so as not to apply to boys under the age of 14 years, and with this amendment was passed by a vote of 61 to 12. Hon. C. E. Waller, of Hale, led the opposition to the measure, on the ground that there was not enough protection to boys in its provisions.

Several of the special committees appointed to sit during recess reported this morning. The various bills drafted by these committees are so lengthy that they will be put in printed form and distributed among the members of both branches for inspection, before they come up for passage.

Friday.—This was a quiet day in the House. Lavender's bill to license slot machines, was the only measure which provoked discussion, and very little spirit was displayed even over this bill. It was opposed by Hon. Virgil Baldwin, of Jackson, and laid upon the table.

The following general bills were introduced and referred as indicated:

H. 808, by Mr. Smith, of Tallapoosa—To establish the reformatory for youthful criminals and to convert the Mount Vernon barracks, situated at Mount Vernon, in the County of Mobile, into a convict farm and reformatory to be known as the Mount Vernon Reformatory of Alabama.

H. 802, by Mr. Stansel—To subdivide the several counties of Alabama into precincts, to incorporate the several precincts into municipal corporations with limited powers, to authorize all precincts to establish and maintain public schools. Education.

H. 803, by Mr. Stansel (by request)—To provide for the collection and disposal of the poll tax and exemptions from said tax. Education.

H. 804, by Mr. Stansel (by request)—To define who is liable to road services or road tax. Public Roads and Highways.

H. 709, by Mr. Bouldin—To amend section 1966 of the code of Alabama, 1886. Judiciary.

H. 797, by Mr. Altman—To amend sections 2590 and 2591 of the code of 1886. Judiciary.

H. 798, by Mr. Green, of Jefferson—To declare unlawful and void all arrangements, contracts, agreements, trusts or combinations, made with a view to lessen or which tend to lessen free competition in the importation or sale of articles imported into the State, or in the manufacture of articles of domestic growth, or of domestic raw material, to declare unlawful and void all arrangements, contracts, agreements, trusts or combinations between persons or corporations, designed or which tend to advance, reduce or control the price of such product or article to producer or consumer of any such product or article; to provide forfeiture of the charter and franchise of any corporation, organized under the laws of the State, violationg any of the provisions of this act to prohibit every foreign corporation, violating any of the provisions of this act, from doing business in the State; to require the Attorney-General of this State to institute legal proceedings against any such corporations violating the provisions of this act, and to enforce the penalties prescribed; to prescribe penalties for any violation of this act; to authorize any person or corporation, damaged by any such trust, agreement or combination, to sue for recovery of such damage, and for other purposes. Corporations.

IN THE SENATE.

Tuesday.—To-day's session was opened by an eloquent and impressive prayer by Rev. Mr. Riley, of Georgia.

The Senate devoted nearly two hours to a discussion of the bill introduced by Dr. Cunningham, of Jefferson, known as the two weeks' pay bill. This measure provides that corporations shall be required to pay their employees in lawful money at least every two weeks. This is a bill of especial importance to the Birmingham district, where the commissary check system is in vogue, and Senator Cunningham made an earnest appeal for its passage to-day. The bill was stoutly opposed by Senators Pettus, McEldery and Kilpatrick. Hundley, of Madison, and Abercrombie, of Calhoun, agreed to vote for the measure with certain amendments. Senator Hogue moved a committal of the bill to the Corporations Committee, and it was so ordered.

The Moody Dispensary bill was made a special order for next Thursday. With the exception of one local bill, this cleared the Senate calendar, and this session begins upon a clear page.

Friday.—This was a busy day in the Senate.

Among other important measures, women were made eligible to the office of County Superintendent of Education, after a lively discussion. The bill was introduced at the last session by Senator Brooks, of Geneva, and passed to-day by a vote of 18 to 8. The provision, however, only applies to the counties of Lamar, Fayette, Shelby, Geneva, Walker, DeKalb, St Clair, Madison, Pike, Coffee and Crenshaw. The office is appointive in these counties.

The report of the joint committee on the code contains some rather startling changes in the rules of practice of the Supreme Court. Among them the report requires that transcripts for appeals from lower courts shall be typewritten, as heretofore. It also requires the attorney for the appellant to deposit an estimated sum of money with the court trying the case to cover charges of the printer, in case he desires transcripts, etc., printed instead of type-written. Clerks who furnish transcripts get the same pay as formerly.

Following is a list of bills introduced in the Senate to-day:

By Hawkins—To punish timber depredators. Judiciary.

By Kilpatrick—To require public ginners of cotton to keep certain books. Agriculture.

By Matthews—To fix fees for recording in State and county offices; finance bill provides that after November 3, 1898, such fees shall not exceed the sum of ten cents per hundred words.

By Cunningham—To regulate the insurance business in this State. Judiciary. This bill comprises a complete revision and enlargement of the existing State insurance laws.

By Sayre—To make the birthday of Gen. Robert. E. Lee a legal holiday. Judiciary. This bill was introduced by request of Lomax Camp, Confederate Veterans.

The joint recess Convict Committee, of which Senator Cunningham, of Jefferson, is chairman, presented a lengthy type-written report of their vestigation. The report virtually indorses the Cunningham Convict bill, with which the public is familiar.

Saturday.—This was a slow day in the House, as far as measures of general interest are concerned. A local bill to regulate the holding of court in Marengo County engaged almost the entire session to-day. The provisions of the bill asked for the establishment of a court house and jail at Demopolis. The bill was opposed by Mr. Meador, the junior member from that county, and after mush discussion was defeated.

The special committee to investigate the normal schools of the State reported to-day, and made recommendations based upon their investigation. They stated that it is alleged there is an unjust discrimination made against the free pupils of these institutions in favor of those who pay. The State now makes a liberal donation, and this complaint was unexpected, and is believed by many of the members to be ungrounded.

The following new bills were introduced in the House to-day:

H. 852, by Mr. Stansel—To regulate the practice in the circuit and city courts of this State in reference to the preparation of causes for trial, and the disposition of demurrer to complaints and other pleadings, Judiciary.

H. 853, Also—To regulate the reinstatement of injunctions, writs of nexeat and attachments, when an appeal is taken from any interlocutionary or final decree dissolving the same. Judiciary.

H. 854, Also—To regulate the costs of litigation and to regulate the summoning of witnesses in the Circuit Courts of this State. Judiciary.

House 855, Also—To amend section 2844 of the Code. Revision of laws.

H. 842, by Mr. McCollum—To prevent the use of wheels of fortune, chance games and raffling or devices of the like kind. Revision of Laws.

H. 833, by Mr. Lavender—To amend an act entitled an act to prescribe the mode and time of advertisement of property for sale levied upon under execution issued on the judgment of justices and under attachments issued by such officers, and to fix the place of sale, approved February 22, 1869. Judiciary.

H. 839, by Mr. Brown, of Colbert—To provide for the inspection and sale of illuminating oils in the State of Alabama. Judiciary.

H. 861, by Mr. Waller, of Hale—To amend section 2720 of the code of Alabama. Judiciary.

Saturday.—In the Senate to-day the Cunningham Convict bill was made a special order for next Wednesday, the first thing after the report of standing committees. Dr. Cunningham will open the discussion. There will be opposition to the bill, but Dr. Cunningham is sanguine of success. He has devoted much time to the preparation of this measure, and will not easily be persuaded to lay down his hand. The measure seems to be popular, and it is believed now that with some amendments the bill will become a law.

The opposition to gambling is at fever heat in the Legislature. The race pool rooms were knocked out to-day as far as the Senate end of the bill is concerned. The bill went to third reading, and 25 ayes were recorded to its passage; nays, 0.

A bill to further regulate the business of the building and loan associations was introduced by President Sayre. It requires detailed annual reports made to the Auditor, from whom non-resident associations, having not less than $100,000, shall also take out license. Judiciary.

Senator Pettus moved reconsideration of the vote by which the bill making women eligible to the office of Superintendent of Education in certain counties of the State, passed yesterday, and a lively discussion ensued, in which the best talent of the Senate was drawn out. Among the debaters were Cunningham, Hall, Pettus, Moody, Hogue, Kilpatrick and Brooks—author of the bill. The discussion was cut short by a special order, and a vote on Senator Pettus' motion was not reached.

Other general bills introduced were:

By Bethune—To amend section 2 of an act to fix the terms of several officers of the State, approved February 2, 1893. Judiciary.

It provides that the State Commissioner of Agriculture shall hold office for the term of two years, from December 1 next after his election, and vacancies shall be filled by appointment by the Governor for the unexpired term until his successor is elected and qualified.

By Bethune—To punish train wrecking. Judiciary.

The bill provides, on conviction, that the punishment shall be death or imprisonment for not less than ten years.

By Smith (by request)—To provide for the control and education of orphans and certain other children under 14 years of age. Judiciary.

By Matthews—To give greater security to the transfer of property. Judiciary.

—The Eufaula Times says that Mrs. Higgins, wife of the engineer who went down on the Evergreen and Opelika Railroad, received $1,000 accident policy, $1,500 from the Brotherhood and $2,500 from the railway company.

STRONG POINTS ON HIM

Birmingham.—John Calhoun Ward, who was arrested last night near Eldridge, Ala., on suspicion of being one of the three men who robbed the Southern Railway train twice within the past month, near Berry, was brought here Saturday and closely questioned by the officials and detectives of the Southern Express Company. To-night they state that they have the strongest reason to believe that Ward was one of the robbers.

Conductor Wilmer, of the train that was robbed Thursday night, says he closely resembles the robber who put two pistols in his face. Ward had two pistols, which Wilmer says are exactly like those drawn on him.

Ward claims his home to be at Ben the famous Rube Burrows committed Brook, Tex., which is the place where his first train robbery. He says that he left Texas January 4, and camped alone in the woods near Eldridge Thursday night, the date of the last train robbery.

Several people from around Berry say Ward resembles a man seen about that place before and since both train robberies, who had considerable money.

Two other men were arrested near Carbon Hill, but released for lack of evidence.

VEST PULLED DOWN.

Huntsville.—Ed. Vest, a notorious murderer and horse thief, wanted in several States, was captured at Dallas Mills Saturday evening. Vest was at the home of his mother, where he had been sick several weeks. When officers called for him he shoved a man out the door. This man was arrested by mistake, but on of the deputies having occasion to go back to the house, found Vest armed with a large pistol. He attempted to shoot, but the deputy was too quick for him.

Vest is wanted in Arkansas for murder, and in Missouri, Tennessee, and a number of other States for horse stealing. Large rewards are up for his capture.

DIED FROM THE SHOT.

Athens.—Press Lacy, the eighteen-year-old boy who was shot Wednesday by his first cousin, Andrew Todd, died here Saturday. The ball took effect in the stomach. The shooting was purely accidental.

DR. DIAZ A FREE-LANCE.

Atlanta, Ga.—Dr. Diaz, the well-known Cuban patriot, of this city, has decided to sever his connection with the Missionary Board of the Baptist Church. The Baptists own extensive property in Cuba, and they fear that it will be imperiled by Dr. Diaz's active work in behalf of the Cubans.

Dr. Diaz, now that he is not hindered by his church, has established himself at the head of the Cuban Junta in Atlanta.

MANY PASSENGERS KILLED.

Kingston, Jamaica.—Word has been received here of a terrible railroad disaster in Barbadoes. A train plunged over a precipice, killing a large number of passengers. No details are given.

SENT FROM SEARSPORT.

Miss S. Mollie Percy, the Well-Known Searsport Dressmaker, Gives Her Experience of Her Life-long Suffering and Cure.

From the Commercial, Bangor, Maine.

The following communication has just been received from Miss S. Mollie Percy, of Searsport, Maine, where she is well and favorably known:

"I was a sufferer from constant headache all my life, frequently accompanied with nausea and sick stomach, especially before and during severe attacks. I am now thirty years old, and as far back as I can remember I was never free from these depressing and distressing attacks, and did not know what it was to feel well, until last winter, when, having seen so much written and heard so much spoken about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I made up my mind to see if they would do me any good. I therefore bought some of them and began to take them according to directions.

"I soon began to experience relief, and have improved ever since. I am still taking them, and shall continue so to do until I am free of the slightest symptom of my old enemy. I am a firm believer in the efficacy of Pink Pills, and I shall never be without them as they have done me so much good.

"I have recommended these pills to others, among them C. G. Coburn, who is ill of heart trouble.

(Signed) "S. M. PERCY.

Witness: MRS. J. E. NICHOLS.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. They are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

THE POST DISCONTINUED.

By direction of Lord Salisbury, the military post of the Uruan, in British Guiana, which led to acute troubles with Venezuela, has been discontinued. An Indian post holder has been substituted for the police garrison in obedience to the directions from the Colonial Office in London, and one of the greatest thorns in Venezuela's side has been removed.

The news of the abandonment of the post reached the State Department to-day through the Demerara newspapers, which made the announcement January 6. The colonists are philosophical over the set-back and claim that the Indian post-holder will constitute as effective maintainer of their territorial title as the soldiers, who who will not be exposed to the frequent malaria influences of the locality. It is, also, stated that the indemnity secured from Venezuela on account of what was known as the Uruan Incident, has been apportioned among the british involved, Inspectors Barns and Baker getting $2,500 each and the constables $500 each.

BIG NASHVILLE ROBBERY.

Porch Climbers Rob Rev. Dr. Young's House of $2,500 in Jewelry.

Nashville, Tenn.—Another daring burglary was committed Saturday night in the residence portion of the city. The residence of Dr. R. A. Young, a well-known Methodist divine, on West Broad street, was entered between 6 and 7 o'clock, while the family were at supper, and $2,450 worth of diamonds and jewelry stolen. The jewels belonged to Mrs. Young, Mrs. Kilpatrick and Miss Hunter, members of Dr. Young's household.

The burglar climbed to the roof of the porch, entered the second story window, and went through the apartments. Miss Hunter, returning from supper to her apartments, discovered the burglar, and gave the alarm. Mr. Hunter rushed up stairs with a pistol and attempted to fire upon the burglar, who was trying to escape on the porch roof. The pistol was not loaded, and the burglar jumped to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet, escaping. No arrests, though detectives and police are busy on the case.

ANOTHER BRIDGE HORROR.

Train Falls Fifty Feet.—Three Men Killed Outright.—Many Injured.

Butler, Pa.—Saturday afternoon a passenger train on the Pittsburg and Western Railway went off a bridge fifty feet high over Paint Creek. The entire train, with everybody on board, went down. Only one person on the train, it is said, escaped injury. The train consisted of engine, baggage car and two passenger coaches. About thirty passengers were on board. Just as the train left the rails Baggagemaster Rainey, of Foxburg, jumped, saving his life, but suffered very serious injury. The engineer, fireman and mail agent were killed outright. Relief trains were hurried from St. Petersburg and Foxburg with a corps of physicians. The names of the dead are:

Daniel Moriarity, engineer; Ira Beatty, fireman; William Copeley, mail agent.

Brakeman Wise was badly bruised, receiving serious internal injuries that may cause his death. Details are meagre and conflicting.

KILLED HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Deckard, of Bristol, Makes a Confession.

Bristol, Tenn.—Mrs. Deckard has made a full confession that she murdered her husband, Joseph Deckard, who was killed in his bed at 2 o'clock Thursday morning. She related the whole affair, and said that she meant to cut Deckard's head off with the ax, but that the lick did not land as directed. It is said that she gave as her motive the frequent trouble between herself and husband.

Mrs. Deckard was taken in charge by the officers, and was lodged in jail at Abingdon, Va. She is 40 years of age.

EMBEZZLER ARRESTED.

White Bluff, Tenn.—G. Egerton, the absconding back tax collector for Dickson County, has been arrested in Cincinnati. He will be brought back. His deficit amounts to about $2,000, and it is said the money was spent in the interests of an aspirant for Congress, who failed to get the nomination. Egerton is well known in Chattanooga.

For Breakfast.

Sometimes even the most fastidious woman forgets that the keynote of daintiness is struck by the morning toilet. A model of all that she should be at other times, her breakfast apparel gives every outward evidence of haste, and leaves much to be desired.

A woman who has made a hasty morning toilet is by no means a thing of beauty. Therefore, she who is wise gallantly foregoes the joy of the forbidden nap. She rises betimes, supported by the thought that of such stuff martyrs are made, and after her matutinal dip, as she arranges her hair as becomingly as she would later in the day for a luncheon or a shopping expedition, she finds herself at peace with all the world, even including the cook.

It's only a little thing in the day's doings, but it tells. The woman who presides at the breakfast table, neat, fresh and rosy, is fulfilling part of her mission in life.

Her husband is as much stimulated by her presence as by the fragrant cup of Mocha which she dispenses, and, though seemingly absorbed in his newspaper as he sips his favorite beverage, in reality he sees every detail of the dainty toilet, knowing that it was made for his eyes alone, and, man-like, appreciating it all the more for that very reason.

What a time a man must have who makes a night of it at the North Pole! Think of going on the rampage for six months!

Goose Barnacle.

One of the oddest things they have at the marine aquarium is a goose barnacle. This particular specimen is very small, very much alive, and has been living in the aquarium for months in spite of the fact that some of its normal barnacle necessities are supplied by most peculiar artificial means. The goose barnacle differs from other varieties in that it hangs from ships, floating timber, or other substances near the surface of the water, and has only the power to attach once to any object. This barnacle being taken from its means of support, an artificial one had to be supplied. This was done by means of a piece of common cotton string. This is tied around the barnacle and to a cork from which the barnacle hangs near the surface of the water in a glass in the aquarium. The barnacle is so small that the string is as large as a rope in comparison, and it looks very comical hanging, the feathery looking cirrus down and grasping out into the water for food.—New York Times.

Castor Oil a Hair Tonic.

The fashionable coiffure for young women and girls is waved at the sides, where it droops a little. Small combs hold these waves in place. The coil at the back is placed rather high. Castor oil, pure and simple, is said to be an excellent tonic for the hair, used once a month.

It is applied with a small, fine sponge, which is dipped in the oil and rubbed on the scalp, the hair being parted with the fingers.

Sweetness and Light.

Put a pill in the pulpit if you want practical preaching for the physical man; then put the pill in the pillory if it does not practise what it preaches. There's a whole gospel in Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills; a "gospel of sweetness and light." People used to value their physic, as they did their religion,—by its bitterness. The more bitter the dose the better the doctor. We've got over that. We take "sugar in ours"—gospel or physic—now-a-days. It's possible to please and to purge at the same time. There may be power in a pleasant pill. That is the gospel of

SENATOR GEORGE'S CONDITION.

An Important Message Occupied the Attention of the Senate Friday.—Powerful Petitions in Favor of the Arbitration Treaty to Be Presented.—Hon. Walker Fearn Ill.

Washington, D. C.—The bill for the representation of the United States on any international monetary conference that may be called occupied the Senate Friday almost exclusively, and was finally passed by the triumphant majority of 36 to 4. It authorizes the President to appoint four or more commissioners to any international conference, with a view to securing a fixity of relative value between gold and silver as money by means of a common ration between the metals, with free mintage at such rates, and it also authorizes the President to call, in his discretion, such conferences, to assemble at such points as may be agreed upon. The debate on the bill was long and interesting, but by far the most important speech was that made by Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.). He took the ground that a very large majority of the people of the civilized world was in favor of the double standard of gold and silver. He quoted two distinguished French statesmen, MM. Fongerol and Meline as strongly in favor of bimettalism, and said that a resolution introduced in the French Assembly by the first-named gentleman had the support of 307 out of 450 delegates, or a majority of between three-fifths and four-fifths.

Mr. Hoar also named as among the principal European advocates of bimetallism Mr. Balfour, leader of the English House of Commons, and recalled the remark made by him to a member of the present British Cabinet, in a brilliant company in England, when he (Mr. Hoar) declined to repeat what Mr. Balfour had said to him, "Why, Mr. Hoar, it is no secret that Mr. Balfour's opinions on this matter are those of a majority of Her Majesty's Government."

Mr. Hoar also mentioned the likelihood of Germany and Russia joining in the bimetallic movement, and he declared, in this connection, that the time had come for making another effort in that direction.

Senator Sherman, of the Committee on Foreign Relations, has received a petition from the British Arbitration Society of London, which that organization asks him to lay before the Senate. The petition is similar to many that have been received from American societies, and urges the ratification of the proposed general treaty of arbitration as the first step between the two greatest nations of the earth toward universal peace.

Unfortunately for the British association it was ignorant of the provisions of the United States Constitution when it addressed its petition either to Congress or any individual member thereof. The receipt of petitions or memorials by Congress from aliens is prohibited unless the same come through the State Department. Senator Sherman cannot, therefore, present the petition to the Senate.

He declines to make its text public or discuss the petition in general terms even. A petition, elaborately printed on parchment and signed by an even hundred of the leading citizens of Philadelphia, was presented to the Senate this week. It urges the Senate to ratify the treaty of arbitration now pending between this country and Great Britain. The memorial is signed by Mayor Warwick, the judges of the various courts, ex-Senator Edmunds, formerly of Virginia, and bankers and capitalists representing money valued in the millions.

Fearn was Minister to Greece under Cleveland's first Administration. During the war he, with the late Justice Lamar, succeeded Mason and Slidell as Representatives of the Confederacy in Europe.

Attorney-General Harmon has prepared a petition for a writ of certiorari to bring up for review by the Supreme Court of the United States the case of the Three Friends, the alleged filibustering steamer, from the United States Court for the Southern District of Florida, which he will present to the court at its session Monday. An appeal from the decision of Judge Long in the case has bee taken to the Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, where it is now pending.

FIRE AT FORT PAYNE.

A Large Brick Building Consumed by the Angry Flames.

Fort Payne, Ala.—Tuesday morning the people of this city were awakened from their slumbers by the awful cry of fire, to find that the fine, large brick building belonging to a gentleman in a Northern city was wrapped in quickly consuming flames. A railroad crew first discovered the fire, being on a through night freight train, due here about 1 a. m. By the time any citizens of the town had come to the fiery scene the flames had gained such headway that to save the burning structure was an absolute impossibility.

The postoffice is just across the street from the unfortunate building, and but for the timely aid of the city fire company the office would have met a like fate. As it was, the large, expensive glass front was seriously damaged, and the loss will exceed $75, while that of the hardware company, whose stock was in the burning building, was upward of $8,000, with no insurance. The office of the Fort Payne Basket Company and the Standard Stove Works were in the second story, and if their books had not been in the safe, and thereby saved, the owners of the same, Messrs. Saunders and Folsom, say their loss in these industries would have been about $15,000.

The office of the DeKalb County Abstract Company was destroyed, with a great loss of valuable documents. Charles M. T. Sawyer is the sole owner of the same.

The furniture in the Knights of Pythias hall was lost, which is valued at about $1,000, but they had an insurance of $500. A photograph gallery on the third floor was burned, and in this place it is claimed that the fire originated. Photographer Howard said it must have caught from a piece of wood falling from the grate during the night.

The fire is quite a sad loss to Fort Payne, but it is thought everything will get straightened out in a few days, and that the stove works will continue in operation.

FOUR CHARRED VICTIMS

Found in a Burned Farmhouse.—A Husband's Awful Find.

Belleville, Mich.—The farmhouse of A. E. Vandewater, located three miles South of this place, was destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning, and four persons were burned to death. They were Mrs. Vandewater and her two children, a boy aged 8 and a girl aged 14; Miss Anna Vandewater, a sister of Mr. Vandewater.

Mr. Vandewater was away from home and it was not until daylight Tuesday morning that it was known that the house had burned. The remains of the victims have been recovered, but in a horribly charred condition. It is not known how the fire started, but it is believed it started from an overheated stove.

ON FRYING PAN SHOALS.

Wilmington, N. C.—The tugs Jones and Blanchie went to the British steamer Adrichaig, stranded on Frying Pan Shoals, Thursday morning, but the tide was not high enough to get the vessel off. This afternoon thirty hands went to lighten the steamer of her cargo, and tugs will pull on her to-night at high tide. The steamer is reported to be lying easy, and in good condition, with the sea moderate.

TURNER GETS THE PLUM.

STATE OF TRADE.

Business for January Proves Rather Disappointing.

ALL CLASSES OF GOODS

Show a Decided Decline, While Industries, in Some Lines, Resume Operations.

EXPORTS ARE LARGER

The Enormous Crop of Corn Bids Fair to Drive the Price of Wheat Still Lower.—Iron and Steel Show an Increase of Production.—Failures for the Week.

New York, N. Y.—R. G. Dun & Co. say in their weekly review of trade:

January has been a month of disappointment, but of real gain. Nearly everybody had promised himself a land of milk and honey after New Years, and the slow progress looks like standing still to men in such a state of mind. Moreover, there are multitudes throughout the country who have been taking large ventures in advance of or apart from their regular business, because they expected a rise in prices. But prices fall, as yet, to bring them profit. Wheat has declined severely, cotton has scarcely risen enough to pay brokerage, wools holds steady in spite of enormous buyers, woolen goods hardly change in price, iron and its products decline, leather is sluggish, hides are lower, for some shoe manufacturers accept a shade lower prices, the average railroad stock is slightly lower than it was December 31, and the advance in trust stocks has been small. To traders in such properties the month has been disappointing. Yet during the week the record shows that ten iron works have started, and only two have stopped; thirteen woolen works have started, and nine more are about ready to start, while three have stopped. Similar things are seen in other industries, and the additional establishments are not starting without some increase in orders received. It would do more harm than good to exagerate the improvement. But a study of conditions governing business indicates that the wheels are on the right track and moving in the right direction. Men talked of a possible drain of gold a month ago, but January has passed, and the liquidation of foreign indebtedness to this country seems farther off than ever. Merchandise exports from New York in January have been about 4 per cent larger than last year, when the excess of exports was over $18,000,000 while cotton imports from other parts have, also, been larger. The month has not diminished, but has increased the current balance due this country. Money markets become more easy and favorable to expansion in industries and legitimate business.

The decline in wheat was over 6 cents in spite of an official report of a yield far below estimates generally accepted, reflects perception of the error of the report and, also, of the influence of enormous exports of corn instead of wheat, eighty million bushels in seven months. When two bushels of corn can be had for less than one bushel of wheat, it is largely preferred in European markets and up to January 7,859,127 bushels of corn have gone abroad, from Atlantic ports, against 5,306,349 last year, while Atlantic exports of wheat and flour have been 6,335,154 bushels, against 8,403,765 last year. As the great crop of corn prevents much advance in its price, its outgo affects the demand for wheat and a heavy liquidation of speculation has occurred with the price of corn scarcely changing. The largest article of export, at this season, goes out freely, but cotton looks less attractive to traders because American millers are laboring over the plan to reduce a great surplus of goods and prices of many have declined. Takings of northern spinners have been, in five months, 44,000 bales less than last year, and 423,000 less than 1894-95.

Sales of wool in January have never been surpassed in that month, nor in any other month, except last November and July of 1895 and 1892. The price has remained about steady.

The iron and steel manufactures show little gains, production having increased so heavily before and the gradual enlargement of demand for finished products has not overtaken that increase. Lower prices result from Bessemer pig, grey forge and for southern iron, at Chicago; for cut nails and the average of all quotations is the lowest since early last year. For sheets there is an active demand, and better, also, for bars, on account of much car building.

Failures for the week have been 331 in the United States, against 404 last year, and 57, in Canada, against 70 last year.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

New York, N. Y.—Bradstreet's has the following report: There has been a falling off in general trade owing to the heavy fall of snow, and cold weather. There is a moderate increase in distribution of heavy winter goods, but commercial travelers very generally report buyers are even more conservative than early in the month, and that wholesale trading in January, except in lines specified, is smaller than for years. Mercantile collections are interrupted, and the improvement looked for in iron and steel is not in sight.

The most favorable feature of the business week is the sudden and sharp falling off in the total number of business failures in the United States, the aggregate being 326, as compared with 429 last week, a decrease of 103. When compared with the corresponding week of 1896 this week's falling off is 67.

There have been increased sales of hides and leather, in some instances of shoes, coal, fertilizers and Southern pig iron for export. At Boston, Charleston, Galveston, Galveston and San Francisco there are moderate gains in trade compared with last week. The feature of the Pacific Coast business situation continues to be relatively large ETAOISHRDHR be the relatively large proportion of foreign trade. Eastern and middle State iron and steel industries are in in an unsatisfactory condition, but Southern furnaces announce nearly 12,000 tons of iron sold for export with Russia in the market as a would-be buyer.

The heavy business in raw wool within a fortnight continues, and there is still an active demand. Men's wear woolens, heavyweights, for next Fall, are attracting attention and good orders have been booked. Cotton goods continue depressed, notwithstanding efforts to relieve the situation by reducing heavy stocks of prints on hand.

Bank clearings at cities throughout the United States show a sharp falling off from last week, about 8 per cent., but an increase of 7 per cent. compared with the corresponding total one year ago. The downward movement of prices for some of the more important staples continues conspicuous, notably for flour, wheat, oats, lard, coffee, petroleum, turpentine and tin plate. Quotations for Indian corn, pork, sugar, cotton and print cloths are practically unchanged. Concessions have been made in prices for iron and steel, yet quotations are nominally unchanged.

CYLINDRICAL COTTON BALES.

Mammoth Stock Company to Be Organized to Establish Them.

Galveston, Tex.—It is learned from a very authentic source that there is in contemplation, here, the formation, in the near future, of a stock company with an authorized capital of $5,000,000, having for its object the introduction and operation of cylindrical bale cotton compressors throughout the cotton States.

This system of compressing involves a complete change in the present manner of handling cotton. It is aimed to make it an international affair in order to find a ready outlet for the cotton thus put up. The company contemplates establishing ginning and compressing plants at all points in the cotton-growing districts, where it may expect to handle 10,000,000 bales during a season. Each of its plants is to have a capacity of not less than 100 bales per day, and all are to be of the most approved order. The company will control the patents covering the compressers, as well as other machinery used in the make-up of its system of ginning, cleaning and compressing cotton, and will erect machinery and foundries at the most advantageous points for the manufacture of all its machinery. This system of baling cotton will, it is claimed, result in great saving to the producers, as well as the shippers of cotton.

A CINCINNATI BLAZE.

Originated in a Malt House, and Consumed an Entire Block.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—The block bounded by Race, Commerce, Vine and Second was the scene of a destructive fire at 2 o'clock Friday morning. The blaze originated in the engine room of the Herman Goepper & Co., malt house on Commerce street, and spread rapidly to the cordage establishment of Overman & Schroeder, and the commission houses of W. W. Blair & Co., and Mellen, Brown & Co. These buildings were completely destroyed, entailing a loss of $200,000. The buildings adjoining were damaged by water only, and were occupied by the following firms:

The Furniture Warehouse Company, J. Staun & Co., dealers in tobacco; the Cincinnati Transfer Company, C. H. Reinhardt & Co., confectioners; John H. Pointers, baker, and the Kerr Grocery Company.

The loses are fully covered by insurance.

FATAL GAS EXPLOSION.

Berlin, Ont.—A serious explosion occurred at the gas works here Tuesday night, killing Foreman William Aldrich and probably fatally injuring Manager Carl Breithapt and an employee named Weller. It is reported the explosion was caused by a workman accidentally dropping a lighted cigar into one of the tanks.

FOUR CHILDREN CREMATED.

Curwensville, Pa.—A fire broke out in the dwelling house owned by the Elk Tanning Company Tuesday evening, occupied by Moses Watson and John Webb, both colored, with their families. Mrs. Webb had gone to the store and left her children in the house, their ages being 6, 4, 2 and a baby. All were burned to death.

A FARMER'S PLAN.

ADVOCATES CANAL FROM GALVESTON TO CANADA.

Positive That It Would Cost the Government Less Than War with Spain Over Cuba—Bankers and Shysters Against It.

Dallas News: Mr. A. Baker, one of the oldest farmers in Dallas county, who used to run a canal boat, said yesterday:

"In these days of sharp competition the producer in the United States must have cheap transportation to realize a reasonable profit on the products of his labor. Of course the people will never get anything of this kind as long as the most of the political leaders are the subsidized agents of private corporations controlling transportation. Gibbs or no other earnest advocate of political reform in transportation methods and rates ever received much favor from the masses to be benefited. Even before the political rule of powerful railroad corporations DeWitt Clinton was politically crucified and ridiculed for originating and advocating the Erie canal idea. An interstate canal reaching from Galveston to Canada is not only feasible, but would in the matter of cheap transportation put the west on transportation equality with territory tributary to the Missouri river—it would fix a water rate basis of freight. This interstate canal could commence at Galveston, thence up the Trinity river to Red river, thence up north fork of Red river and through Indian Territory, Kansas, Nebraska and Dakota and through Dakota to the Canadian line. This would be very easily made an interstate canal. By following the route on the map it will be seen that the principal rivers nearly all run in a southeasterly direction and nearly all have their heads in the Rocky mountains and an abundant supply of water. Those not used as a part of the canal could be made to help furnish the water supply. It is well known to every man who has studied the canal question that a canal can be made of any hill or mountain where a supply of water can be had on top the hill or mountain. I know of one place in the Ohio canal at Akron where the canal grade is 315 feet in two miles. From Akron to Cleveland there are forty-nine locks and a fall of over 600 feet in thirty-eight miles. It crosses at Akron the great continental divide. Water at Akron runs north and not two miles south of Akron it runs south. This international canal would start high up the never-failing Missouri river and add to the water supply of every river it would cross. By building a dam across Red river in Montague or Clay county the water could be forced over the divide so as to come down the Trinity river. This canal could be made 200 feet wide and eight feet deep, and boats of 1,000 tons capacity could be brought through the locks. This canal could also be used for irrigation purposes and to fill up artificial lakes en route when the melting snows or great rainfall gave a surplus of water. In building this canal it is very doubtful if there would be at any place on the line as much engineering skill needed as was necessary in the building of a bridge across the Mississippi. By following the course of certain rivers, such as the Trinity and Red river, there would not be needed so much excavation as might seem probable at the first blush. The system of locks and dams is now perfectly understood by all skilled engineers and there would be no trouble about rock or water supply. Along this canal would spring up manufacturing cities equal to those in the east, with cheap transportation to the commerce of the world on the sea, where the real clearing-house of the world's commerce is located. This canal at each lock would furnish electric power for manufacturing. Enough electric power could be generated to furnish motor power for the canal boats.

"2. Left off boating on the Ohio canal the year before Garfield began and knew something about the practicability of canalizing rivers, especially with the improved methods. Would not this concentration of water and its reservation have a tendency to increase the rainfall in the west? Its building would employ our surplus labor. It would put the west in the matter of transportation on an equality with the east and make our farmers prosperous. It would cost the government less than a war with Spain to determine whether the Spaniards or Cuban negroes should rule Cuba. It would cost less than to buy the railroads.

"It would save the people from being the serfs of railroad corporations, whose bonds are held in Europe. It would do more for us than free silver.

"Why can't the News and Gibbs and others get up an interstate canal convention just as they did the deep water convention which resulted in the Galveston harbor improvement? Why not the people favorable to a general system of irrigation take it up? Why not the press of the west force politicians to study this question? When Gibbs and a few others called a deep water convention at Fort Worth some said it was a private snap to boom Aransas Pass, but all the same it resulted in other conventions and a port at Galveston. A great deal of grain is seeking an outlet there now, and two-thirds of it would come this way with an interstate canal. The canalization of the Trinity river would furnish 400 miles of this international canal. Peace has its victories as well as war. Our United States engineers are paid big salaries out of the taxpayers' money whether employed or idle. Why not have them examine and report on this improvement in the interest of irrigation and transportation. If the populist senators and representatives from Kansas and Nebraska would take this up in congress they might do much good. Excessively high official salaries, undeserved pensions and useless army and naval expenditures are eating up the substance of the producers. At each election the politicians carry them snipe hunting."

"A DANIEL COME TO JUDGMENT."

Governor Pingree Rises to Make a Few Remarks.

Mr. Pingree, mayor of Detroit, has been elected governor of Michigan on the Republican ticket, by virtue of preaching populistic principles. He visited Chicago the other day and this is the way he talked:

"Michigan railroads will either sell tickets for 2 cents a mile or they will have their charters taken away. There can be no compromise. There is not one of the corporations which can go into court and sustain its present discriminating practices. They allow the rich men who can afford to advance the money to ride for less than the poor man. The farmer pays the same freight rates that he did when his wheat was worth nearly double its present value. Everything has fallen in price but railroad rates and railroad fares. It is time the government was taking a hand in this matter and standing between the people and the trusts which are sapping the very life blood of the nation. The fact that the railroads sell some tickets for 2 cents a mile is proof they would not lose anything by selling all tickets at the same price. There is no one who will claim that any railroad ever sold any tickets at a loss. We propose to set the example in Michigan.

"Gold standard talk has had its day. There will never be another Republican convention which will write that word in its platform. If it does then there will be a split and the best elements of all parties will get together and sweep the country. There will next time be a strong bimetallic platform, and this is what the people want. They will have learned by that time that prosperity does not necessarily come by the election of any one man to the presidency, and that prosperity cannot come until the laws are radically changed. Michigan would have gone for free silver, but the gold men scared the people to death with their calamity howls and the promises of prosperity whose sunshine is that of Paradise alley."

This is all well enough, but we distrust the man who remains in the Republican party while preaching such doctrines. He is simply endorsing the Sermon on the Mount while working for the Devil. He is probably posing now to run for president in four years from now on the Populist platform, against the Populist party. He represents the worst class of tricksters, who keep monopoly in power by conceding that it is all wrong.

You cannot shout for Christ and at the same time help Pontius Pilate to send him to Calvary.—Ex.

Man and Wealth.

That system of political economy which makes wealth and not man the ultimatum is based on a monstrous fallacy—on a fallacy so slavish and so detestable that the wonder is how accomplished and personally amiable men can be found as its abettors. The fallacy is in taking the rents of the landlord and the profits of the capitalist as the measure of good and evil, instead of taking the condition of the cultivators and of the laborers (the many) as the sure index of the character of a system. Whatever tends to debase man, to make him physically, intellectually or morally a lower being, is bad, however much or little the wealth produced may be. The wealth is not the stable element. It is an accidental, and by no means an important adjunct. Man is the stable element. His condition is the standard. His improvement is good. His deterioration is an evil. And this is independently of all other considerations. All other conditions are secondary, dependent, subsidiary to the great intention. Man is not useful as he produces wealth, but wealth is useful as it sustains man, ameliorates his condition, improves his capacities, gives opportunities for his further cultivation and aids his progress in the great scheme of human regeneration.—A Physician.

An Object Lesson.

Farmer—I have just received this notice from you, Mr. Morgan, and I am very much troubled about it. If you will pardon me, I would like to ask you how soon do you think, if McKinley is elected, an international agreement for the free coinage of silver can be perfected?

Banker—Well, I think we can confidently expect to bring it about in ten years. Yes, let me see. Yes, I think it is safe to say in ten years.

Farmer—Ten years, did you say? Heaven protect us! Why, my dear Mr. Morgan, my farm will be gone long before that time, and my children will have grown up in ignorance.

Banker—Possibly so, my friend, but be loyal to the old party; be patriotic; be honest. What is a home compared to the gold standard platform of our party? What is an educated family compared with a reputation for honor and patience such as you will have if you can hold out until England gives us permission to coin silver?—Vidette.

The authors of the metallic money system were the fellows who believed the world was flat, that the sun and moon circled around it, and that it was their duty to have as many wives as the situation would admit of.

PINGREE SPEAKS OUT.

MICHIGAN'S GOVERNOR CANNOT BE BLUFFED.

Will Make It Warm for the Plutocrats—He Is a Populist at Heart—He Condemns Big Fortunes and the Purchase of Foreign Titles.

The first suggestion of the name of Gov. Pingree of Michigan for president of the United States came from Miss Mary B. Miller, a pupil of the Englewood high school, Chicago. In an address on the political situation over a year ago she very cleverly summed up the evils of our times and pointed out certain remedies, such as government ownership of all monopolies, including gold and silver mines and the unlimited coinage of both metals. Pingree, then mayor of Detroit, was suggested as the man to lead the people to the promised land. It was predicted that he would become governor of Michigan in 1897 and that he would later on be named by the Republican party for president of the United States. In event that the McKinley administration fails to bring prosperity, and we are sorry to say it will, Pingree would be the logical Republican candidate in 1900. What effect would such a condition of affairs have on the Populist and the Democratic parties? There was a general shaking up of parties in 1896, but if the Republicans name Pingree there will be a worse shaking up in 1900. One thing certain, all the Republican party would not take Pingree. The Hannacrats would flock with the Clevelandcrats and it would be a battle between the plutocracy and the people. The people of the country will watch proceedings in Michigan from now on. That state will be a theater of action. Although a nominal Republican Pingree is in reality a Populist. All the corporations were against him in the late campaign. Yet the people elected him by a tremendous plurality. He ran ahead of McKinley almost 50,000 votes. Just read what he said on the eve of his administration as governor:

"I don't believe in these great fortunes. Here are the Vanderbilts, with their $100,000,000 apiece. That means an income of at least $5,000,000 and perhaps more. Figure that down and it means an income of about $12,000 a day.

"Think of it," declared the Governor, raising his hands above his head; "one man having an income as large as that of 15,000 of his fellow citizens combined. I believe we ought to have some kind of a law regulating those things. It seems the constitution won't let us have an income tax and won't let us have an inheritance tax. I guess the constitution needs amendments to it, so we can do something.

"They talk of limiting the number of hours in a day's work. Why should not the amount of money that any one can pile up be limited? After they get so much let the accumulations be turned over to the government to lessen the taxes of the people."

"What is your idea of a proper sized fortune?" he was asked.

"I haven't made up my mind on that yet. When Carter Harrison died he left $350,000 to each of his children and gave the balance of his fortune to charitable objects, saying he thought $350,000 enough for any one man to have.

"Why, when you get these fortunes up into the big millions, you see fathers taking their daughters to Europe for a sale to a duke or prince. How much did the Vanderbilts have to pay for their Duke? What was it C. P. Huntington got? It was a full-fledged prince, wasn't it?

"A lawyer who represented the prince in that affair told me that Huntington was going to give the money to the bride. You see the lawyers arrange all these details. After everything was ready for the wedding, and it was just about to come off, and the transfer was about to be made to the bride, the Prince called a halt. No, sir, the money had to be paid over to the Prince, and Huntington had to come to time.

"I tell you such things are a disgrace to a nation. If people haven't enough sense not to do such things, the law ought to limit their incomes."

Good for Pingree! We need such men in these times, no matter by which party name they chose to be known. Illinois has lost an Altgeld, but Michigan gets a Pingree. The principles of the Populist party will not down. The star of the people is in the ascendant. God reigns.—Vox Populi.

A Relic of Barbarism.

Metal money—gold and silver—has been in use thousands of years and we should continue its use, argues the hard money advocate. In the early colonial days people were charged with witchcraft and burned at the stake. Hundreds of years ago when a culprit escaped justice, punishment was administered to his relatives. Civilization has advanced in everything but providing for an enlightened method for the transaction of business. The old barbaric, superstitious idea of metal money holds to an otherwise advanced civilization with wonderful tenacity.—Missouri World.

A New York newspaper, after careful investigation, fixes upon $25,000 a year as the amount necessary to dress a fashionable woman in a way to make her happy. Half that amount would make the ordinary farmer and his wife both happy during their whole lifetime.

When a republican office-seeker begins to talk populist doctrine it is well enough to consider whether he does it from conviction or a desire to add to his chances to secure an office.

We are glad to learn that the bill providing for a board of revenue for Chilton county has been shelved in committee and will probably never more be heard of. Its introduction was a mistake and it could never have proven acceptable to the people of this county. "Let the dead past bury its dead"—it has gone, so we will say no more about it.

A BILL repealing the Sayre election law was passed in the House by a vote of 75 to 11. It is to be hoped it will also pass the Senate. The bill provides for the repeal of the Sayre law and the re-enactment of the law of 1886. In the debate on the measure Messrs. Longshore of Shelby and Mr. Reynolds of Chilton took the position that as a choice of two evils they preferred the lesser and voted in favor of repealing the Sayre law. We are entirely of the same opinion. Although there should not be much difficulty in framing a fair election law, almost anything is better than the Sayre law, which has been denounced by all parties, and proven satisfactory to none.

A CALL has been issued for a meeting of Reform editors and publishers at Kansas City, February 22, for the purpose of organizing a genuine People's Press Association. The need of a real live, progressive reform press association is urgent, and we hope this meeting will be largely attended. The reform press needs cohesiveness; our efforts should be made in unison; the education of the people demands something more than individual partisan attempts to influence local politics. More can be accomplished by concerted action in any of the affairs of life than by isolated efforts of individuals, let them be ever so numerous and enthusiastic. We hope and believe the new Association will be a grand success from the start.

THE charter for the city of Clanton has passed the House and it is to be presumed our citizens will now begin to investigate its provisions. That which could have properly been done at first will perforce have to be attended to now. Our objections have never been against the charter itself but to the fact the citizens were all in the dark in connection with it. Those who have to pay the taxes have at least the right to know what they are to pay for. No sensible man invests his money in any concern without making himself acquainted with the merits of the business he is going into. The incorporating of a town is a matter of business and of vital importance to all those affected by it. Already on the streets prospective candidates for the offices of mayor and marshal are being discussed and we hope the discussion will be full and free, so that the very best men in the town may be elected to those offices.

A CONSTITUTIONAL convention we believe to be inevitable. If a fair and honest expression of the will of the people can be obtained we are in favor of it. Under existing conditions, however, we are somewhat dubious of the intentions of those manipulating the movement. A bill is now under consideration in the House, providing for an election to be held on Tuesday, August 3, 1897, when a vote will be taken whether the convention shall be held or not. At the same time delegates are to be elected to the convention. Of course, if the vote is against the convention the delegates will not be required. But can we depend upon the vote being counted as it is cast? There's the rub. The intention of holding the convention at any cost is so palpable we more than half fear it.

For the purpose of keeping our accounts straight with our subscribers we purpose during the next few weeks to write under each name as we mail the paper the date each subscription is due. If by any means there should be any mistake on our part we ask you to kindly let us know it at your earliest convenience. We have a few subscribers who are a long way in arrears, and we must respectfully remind them that we cannot afford to send them the paper indefinitely unless they come forward and make satisfactory arrangements. It would be as well perhaps to say here once more that subscriptions are due in advance and we sincerely trust that all subscribers who find the date is passed when they should have renewed will at once remedy the oversight. One thing more in this connection to some of our friends who seem to imagine newspaper men have lots of money to loan. Our clubbing rates are cut to the lowest point and are intended for subscribers only who pay in advance for a full year. No credit whatever can be given for clubbing papers—cash is the only thing that goes. One gentleman is now highly indignant with us because we could not send him another paper besides THE BANNER on credit. We are sorry, but it does not rest with us, it's the other paper man who refuses to send out a single paper until he receives the cash. If your other paper fails to come regularly, do not write to THE BANNER but complain direct to that paper.

DURING a debate in the House on a bill to prevent persons who make advances or loans upon cotton or agricultural products, to be delivered in the future, from exacting commissions for selling or storing cotton or agricultural products not actually grown by the borrower, our Representative, Hon. L. H. Reynolds, in supporting the bill related several incidents where "warehousemen get from 40 to 75 per cent. interest on money advanced, by making the farmer contract to deliver his probable crop. The crop came out short, but the farmer had to pay storage and commission on all this "probable" crop just the same."

The Progressive Farmer, the organ of the National Farmers' Alliance, says:

"We have just learned of a gigantic and diabolical combine about to be effected to control the price of cotton

"The plan is to secure charters and establish gins with compress attachments at as many points as possible in the cotton states. The bales are to be round instead of square. Cotton buyers will co operate and force farmers to have their cotton ginned at these new gins by refusing to pay as much for cotton put up in the ordinary way. This will compel the present owners of gins to go out of business.

"The railroads will haul round bales cheaper than square bales. The cotton seed oil mill will, like the new gins and compresses, be located mainly on railroad lines, and the seed men will always be on hand to get bargains, as many farmers would sell seed cheaper rather than haul them a long distance home.

"To defeat this scheme it will require the united efforts of all the farmers in the cotton states. It is probable application will be made for charters for such enterprises to the present and all legislatures held in the near future."

Senator Peffer announces that he will, on the expiration of his term, return to Topeka, Kansas, and edit the "Advocate" on strictly "middle-of-the-road" lines.

When "Coin" Harvey attempted to speak to the workmen in the G. N. R. R. Co.'s shops, during the campaign, a whistle was blown to silence him and then the men were put to work twenty minutes before regular time. The men were supposed to vote for McKinley. It is of interest to note that 200 of these men were recently dismissed owing to the hard times.

The Populist legislators are making things lively down in Oklahoma and are passing some good bills.

Gov. Pinagree, of Michigan, persists in being both mayor and governor. He has, however, found time to offer a handsome prize to any student, male or female, who shall prepare the longest list on obsolete laws that have been enacted in the state.

The election of Harris of Kansas to the senate is a vindication of that state from the charge of gross sectionalism, under which she has so long suffered. Harris is an ex-Confederate soldier, and that he should occupy the seat from which the late John J. Ingalls issued his historic "bloody shirt" manifestos, is cause for national gratulation.

The question of whether to hold a constitutional convention or to amend the present constitution is agitating Kansas. The former will, it is estimated, cost the state $700,000 Sixty-three bills were read in the legislature there in one day.

Ex-Governor Altgeld affirms that the increased vote in Ohio since 1892 would indicate an increase in that state of nearly 1,000,000 inhabitants while the vote in Illinois indicates an increase of 1,200,000 in the same time. The Republican legislators of Illinois are planning to pass an anti-fusion bill.

Growing Children

One-third of all the children die before they are five years old. Most of them die of some wasting disease. They grow very slowly; keep thin in flesh; are fretful; food does not do them much good. You can't say they have any disease, yet they never prosper. A slight cold, or some stomach and bowel trouble takes them away easily.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is just the remedy for growing children. It makes hard flesh; sound flesh; not soft, flabby fat. It makes strong bones, healthy nerves. It changes poor children to children rich in prosperity.

Editor BANNER: Amidst all our home folks and the community suffering with la grippe and the severity of the cold weather, we feel thankful that it has been no worse, especially after learning of the awful sufferings from cold and destitution in Chicago, and other places where thousands have been kept alive by the intervention and aid given by the mayor's proclamation, and all other available help hastily given to save life.

So far that we know the sick in our neighborhood are convalescing. We now hope that as January has paid up all her dues in snow, ice and cold in general, we may trust future developments for weather ahead.

People should look carefully to the health of cattle after such cold

THE MISSING WORD.

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately '.....' as cause and effect,"

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and probably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. This The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the wistern hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the southern and western states than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Mrs. Mary Watts.

WHEREAS it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from this world, our beloved sister, Mrs. Mary Watts, be it

RESOLVED by the members of the Clanton M. E. Church South,

We can truthfully bear testimony to the Christian character and useful life of our departed Sister, and to her love for, and interest in the church. We have every evidence that she has gone to dwell with the Lord in Glory.

We appreciate her lovely character, especially in relation to her fidelity and devotion in her home life. She was a great sufferer, but bore her affliction with submission, and when asked about her spiritual condition, replied: "I have all faith and I am trusting in Jesus." That we hereby tender our deepest sympathies to the bereaved family and relatives, commending them sincerely to that Comforter, who is able to soothe the most bitter sorrow of the human heart, and fervently praying that through faith in her Saviour they may all be prepared to meet her at "the Beautiful Gate.

"When my farewell to the world I have said,
And gladly lie down to my rest;
When soft y the watchers shall say, 'she is dead,'
And fold my pale hands o'er my breast:
And when with my glorified vision at last;
The walls of 'that city' I see,
With anyone there at the beautiful gate,
Be waiting and watching for me?"

That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, to the "Alabama Christian Advocate" and to "THE BANNER."

Respectfully submitted,

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a Cough remedy. J. D Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B F Merrill, Baldwinsville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trial Bottles at J. S Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE, has its victim at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a cure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Wineinger, of Selkirk, Kansas, writes; "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was numb and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects. I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150 one every month given away to anyone who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "suspender," "collar-button," "inkstand," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving, and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT'S NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

All communications regarded strictly confidential. Address

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC

.....CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove foul bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS

.....CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet taken by the mother passes in her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the baby-germs.

PURELY VEGETABLE

.....CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mineral or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest, most modern discovered and most scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN

.....CASCARETS are relished by children. They do good and do good. Stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE

.....CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED

.....CASCARETS taken naturally, perfectly satisfactory guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or money refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT

.....CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous, healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS

.....CASCARETS are sold by druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

$1.00 FOR YOUR PHOTOGRAPH.

Write us a letter covering these three points:

First.—State how long you have known, or used, or sold "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine."

Second.—State diseases you have known it to cure and give the names of those cured by it.

Third.—Give your opinion as to the difference between its strength and action, and the strength and action of the "Liver Regulator" made by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and the "Black Draught" made by Chattanooga Medicine Co.; both of these latter are sold to dealers at 6 or 7 cents per package, net, and should retail at not over 10 or 12 cents. If consumers are not imposed upon, while our Original article cannot be sold at less than 25 cents per package, as we have too much regard for human life to use cheap drugs in any of our medicines. The reason Jos. Zeilin & Co. and the old proprietors of "Black Draught" were both genuine, is, we believe, they did not knowingly deceive the public by using the words constituting our trade name; therefore, look out that some dealer (not knowing you are posted) don't sell you some cheap substitute at a profit of 300 or 400 per cent., instead of our Genuine "Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine," which you be sure to specify, and take no other, as there is nothing else like it.

On receipt of your letter enclosing photograph, we will mail you free of charge, a $1.00 package Liver Medicine, or on receipt of letter without photograph, we will mail you a 25 cent package, free.

Aluminium Burial Caskets.

Aluminium coffins are the latest and are of uniform width, square ends and vertical sides. They are finished with a heavy molding around the bottom and at the upper edge, and with pilasters at the corners and a round molded top. Aluminium caskets are not covered, but finished with the metallic surface burnished. The noncorrosive qualities of aluminium, as well as the lightness of the caskets, recommend them. A six-foot aluminium coffin weighs about 100 pounds. They are, however, very expensive.

A Hazardous Occupation.

Since balloon ascensions began there have never been so many aeronauts injured as during the year 1896. Fourteen of them have either been killed or badly injured by accidents. Two of these unfortunates were women and both were killed. Professional balloon men ascribe the accidents to ignorance and carelessness. Only three of the fourteen aeronauts referred to were of long experience. It has happened that this season there has been a great demand for aeronauts from circuses and fair associations.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address

STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Work of the Alabama Law Makers.

Wednesday.—The house refused to reconsider the vote by which the back tax commission bill was passed, and it now goes to the Senate.

The House Committe on Commerce and Common Carriers reported adversely the bill to create a new railroad commission and enact a new code of laws to govern railroads.

A minority report was, however, filed by members of the committee, favoring the passage of the bill, which was placed on the calendar under adverse report.

The following bills were introduced in the House to-day:

H. 943, by Beasley—To allow persons, other than doctors, who effect a cure of cancers, to charge for and collect for the same. Public Health.

H. 944, by Mr. Pitts—To amend section 3612 of the code of Alabama. Judiciary.

H. 954, by Mr. Lawson—To amend section 2311 (2674) of the code. Judiciary.

H. 955, by Mr. Hill—To amend section 3787 (4344) of the code of Alabama. Judiciary.

H. 956, Also—To amend section 3787 (4344) of the code of Alabama. Judiciary.

H. 950, by Mr. Smith—To prevent the buying or selling of cotton, meat, wheat or other commodity under contract agreement for the future delivery thereof within or without this State. Revision of Laws.

Thursday.—The Davis Election bill having been made a special order for to-day in the House, was called at 11 o'clock, and brought about a long and spirited discussion. This measure provides for repeal of the Sayre Election law, and re-enactment of the code of 1886. Davis, of Marion, author of the bill, and one of the most prominent young members of the General Assembly, has taken a great deal of interest in this measure, and has worked diligently to the end of its passage. He made a strong speech in advocacy of the measure on the floor to-day. Green, of Jefferson, made the opening argument for the opposition, and was followed by Lipscomb. Both made forcible defense of the existing law.

Longshore, of Shelby; Reynolds, of Chilton, two Populists, preferred the lesser of two evils. Neither indorsed the law of 1886; nor indorsed the Sayre—they simply preferred the law of 1886, and said they are in accord with their constituents. But the debate did not wax exceeding warm until Heflin, of Chambers, came forward, with a fire of eloquence, and touched his torch to the latent enthusiasm of an overworked body. He opposed the Sayre law on account of its secrecy in the matter of casting ballots, and implored its repeal. Davis closed the discussion, and the bill passed by a vote of 75 to 11.

Not as much opposition was developed to the measure as was expected, though it was almost a foregone conclusion that the Davis bill would pass the House. When the bill reaches the Senate it will find its author in the presiding chair of that body. Its destiny is hard to predict just at this time.

The Committee on Rules this morning reported in favor of the proposed measure providing for a Constitutional Convention, and that it be made a special order for next Monday morning and a continued order until disposed of.

The following general bills were introduced:

H. 984, by Greene—To regulate the liens of municipal corporations against real property for improvement or betterments of any kind made by such corporations. Corporations.

H. 985, Also—To regulate the lien of municipal corporations for taxes and to provide when such taxes become delinquent. Corporations.

H. 986, by Mr. Abercrombie—To further regulate elections in the State of Alabama. Privileges and Elections.

H. 995, by Mr. Heflin—To reduce the fees of probate judge now allowed by for filing and recording crop lien notes. Claims and Fees.

H. 981, by Hogan—To prevent discrimination by the public carriers on any of the waters of this State. Commerce and Common Carriers.

H. 989, Also—To amend section 1750 of the code of Alabama. Judiciary.

H. 990, by Mr. Waller, of Hale—To punish any person who pollutes or contaminates waters supplied to cities and towns of the State. Judiciary.

H. 991, Also—To confer upon persons, companies or corporations supplying water to cities, towns or villages, the right to buy and acquire or condemn real estate, the acquisition of which may be necessary to prevent the pollution of their water supply. Judiciary.

At 1 o'clock the House adjourned until 3 o'clock.

The afternoon sessions, called for under the resolutions passed last week, will be devoted entirely to the passage of local bills.

Wednesday.—Senator Cunningham occupied the entire morning session of the Senate in an able speech in advocacy of his Convict bill.

Thursday.—The Cunningham Convict bill having been made a continuing special order until disposed of by the Senate, was brought up this morning after the reports of standing committees, and provoked a discussion, in which part was taken by many of the leading members of that body. The Senate went into a Committee of the Whole, and took up the measure seriatim.

Senator Hogue, of Perry, by request, took the chair. He is one of the best parliamentarians of the present Assembly, and dispatched the business this morning in an able manner.

Senator Sayre led the opposition to the bill.

Senator Bethune opposed the bill as a whole in his forcible manner of argument.

Senator Brewer offered an amendment by striking Lowndes County from the provisions of section one, but the motion was lost.

It is apparent that the bill will pass the Senate by the contest of votes cast on subordinate points in the discussion to-day.

Dr. Cunningham introduced a bill allowing hotel proprietors to sell baggage in lieu of unpaid board and storage bills.

The following was the only general bill introduced:

By Cunningham—For the relief of Confederate soldiers. Finance.

This bill exempts from all State, county and city license tax for engaging in any lawful business, except making and selling liquor, under the following conditions:

That he was disabled by wounds received of became invalid from exposure during the civil war; that he has less than $1,500 of property; that he be over 50 years of age and of good moral character.

Friday.—In the House to-day, the Barnes Railroad bill occupied a large part of the morning session. In substance, the lengthy measure is as follows:

"To provide for the regulation of railroad companies and persons in this State; and to provide for the location and building of passenger and freight depots, and to regulate rates of storage to be charged; to prevent unjust discriminations in the rates charged for transportation of passengers and freights, and to prohibit railroad companies, corporations and lessees in this State from charging other than just and reasonable rates, and to proscribe a mode of procedure and rules of evidence in relation thereto; and to appoint commissioners, and prescribe their powers and duties in relation to the same."

The advocacy of the bill was led by Hons. Barnes, Bauldin, Brandon, Brown (of Talladega), Cameron and Sheldon. The opposition was led by Meador, Waller (of Hale), Greene, Wiley and Kyle.

The bill was finally made a special order for to-morrow at 10:30 a. m., when the House shall go into a Committee of the Whole, and take the measure up seriatim. There is a heavy lobby here on this bill, and insinuations of filibustering and corporation influence were discussed on the floor this morning.

The next issue of great importance before the House is the Constitutional Convention bill, by the sturdy and popular young Democrat of Wilcox, Hon. S. C. Jenkins. Mr. Jenkins has devoted almost his entire time to this measure, and his bill has been made a special order for next Monday at 11 o'clock.

Friday.—In the Housse, to-day, the house resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering the remainder of the Cunningham Convict bill. The twenty-second section had been reached and adopted at the recess of yesterday's session. Those who participated in the discussion to-day were Senators Cunningham, Case, Hall, Moody, McElderry and Brewer, the latter leading the opposition, and Cunningham, the author of the measure, fighting for its passage. The entire morning session was devoted to this discussion, but a vote will probably not be reached upon the bill in its entirety until day after to-morrow, and probably not until even a later date, as the afternoon sessions are devoted to the passage of local bills.

Saturday.—In accordance with a motion adopted at yesterday's session, the House of Representatives this morning resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole and proceeded to take up the Barnes Railroad bill seriatim. The entire morning session was devoted to section 1 of the bill. The first twenty or thirty minutes after the bill was called up there was another tempest of disorder resembling that of yesterday morning's session, and it seemed for a time that the transaction of business would be a thing impossible. Finally the parliamentary discussion was disposed of and peace reigned supreme.

Longshore (Pop., of Shelby,) offered an amendamnt to this section, providing that members of the Railroad Commission appointed by the Governor, shall be chosen from the three dominant parties—Democratic, Republican and Populist, respectfully. Discussion of this amendment consumed the remainder of the morning session, and when the hour of adjournment arrived the first amendment to the first section of the lengthy bill had not been acted upon.

Hon. A. Y. Glover, of Greene, made a strong speech in opposition to the measure, and had the floor when the House adjourned.

Barnes, of Lee, author of the bill, led the fight in favor of section 1 in its entirety.

Timberlake, of Jackson, and Glover, of Greene, opposed provisions of the entire bill, and while they were the only members who participated in the discussion of the merits of section 1, there was considerable private work done on the floor by both sides.

Saturday.—The Cunningham Convict bill passed the Senate this morning by a continuing special order for the past a vote of 19 to 6. This bill has been three days, and has consumed the entire morning sessions of that body for such a period. The measure was discussed seriatim, and several amendments offered, the majority of which were defeated. The bill as passed was amended so as to provide that only 40 per cent. of the State convicts can be let out to miners under lease system, and these shall be from the first and second class only.

A few local bills only, were introduced in the Senate, and the following general bills were passed:

S. 219, by Brown (Judiciary, favorably, with amendment)—To regulate the summoning and attendance of witnesses in civil causes, and prescribe the duties of parties to suits and clerks of courts in reference thereto.

S. 287, by Mr. Brown (also favorably) —To amend an act entitled "an act to provide for the County Court of Blount County, to be held at the court house at Bangor for the trial of all causes cognizable in said court arising in the Western Division of said county, approved February 21, 1893.

S. 256, by Mr. Brown (also favorably) —To require circuit solicitors to attend all Circuit Courts and supercede county solicitors therein.

S. 296, by Mr. Matthews—To fix the rate of charges for rec. and transcribing in the State and county offices in the State.

FELL TWENTY-FIVE FEET.

A Brooklyn Elevated Engine and One Car Plunge to the Ground.

Broklyn, N. Y.—The ice and snow, with an open switch, were the cause of an engine and one car of the Brooklyn elevated railroad to leave the structure at Fulton and Bradford streets, falling to the ground, a distance of twenty-five feet. Several persons were injured, as well as the car and engine being demolished. Two persons, it is said, will die. The injured are:

Thomas Caffney, engineer of engine No. 74, living at 653 Chauncey street: skull fractured and other injuries to the body.

George Thomas, of Canarsie, fireman of the same engine; scalded on face and limbs by escaping steam; both taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

Albert Brown, engineer of engine No. 67; several wounds to the scalp.

Thomas Heath, of No. 341 New Jersey avenue, fireman with Brown, left leg amputated.

Henry Sebers, of No. 134 Cleveland street; sprain of left leg.

J. Hanbury, of Railroad and New Jersey avenues, Jersey City; fracture of spine.

Andrew Grogans, of No. 8 Montauk avenue, contusion of the hips.

Henry Hinke, of Railroad avenue, near Jamaica, scalp wounds.

Heath and Caffney will die. The latter was in charge of engine No. 74 of the Lexington avenue branch, that left the Brooklyn Bridge at 6:15 o'clock, and was on its way to Cypress Hill Cemetery. Four cars made up the train, but only a few passengers were in them. At the junction of Bradford and Fulton streets, as Gaffney was about to slow up, engine No. 67, drawing a train of empty cars, in charge of Albert Brown, loomed up, and striking an open switch, headed directly in Gaffney's course. No time was given to reverse the levers. The engines came together with a crash, and a second later engine No. 74 toppled over, leaving the rails, and dragging the first car with it to the street. The breaking of the coupling on the second car prevented the three other coaches from leaving the rails. As it was, the front wheels of the second car were dragged from the tracks, becoming settled in the ties, remaining there, preventing the cars in the rear from following the engine's descent to the street.

DYNAMITE DID THE WORK.

Southern Pacific Express Held Up and a Successful Haul Made.

San Francisco, Cal.—Train No. 15 North bound express on the Southern Pacific, was held up Friday morning at Sandy Point, two miles South of Roseburg, Ore., by two or three men. The express car was detached from the train by the robbers, and the door blown open with dynamite. Two small safes in the car were blown open and looted. The express car then took fire The conductor and brakemen worked hard to save it, after the robbers had gone, but the car and contents were destroyed.

The train was on time at Sandy Point, where Engineer Morris saw a man at the side of the track waving a flag. He slowed up for the signal and as he came to a stop, a man armed with two revolvers came over the back of the tender and covered him. At the same time another man, the one who had flagged the train, appeared at the side of the cab, and pointing a revolver, ordered the engineer not to attempt to move the train, but to come down at once and go with them to the express car. The fireman, meantime, had got down on the other side.

Two robbers and the engineer then went to the express car, where the outlaws ordered the express messenger to to open the door. This he refused to do. The robbers then uncoupled the express car, returned to the engine, and backed the train, leaving the express car separated. Meantime the express messenger had seized the opportunity to leave the car.

After breaking the train in two the robbers returned to the express car, and with heavy charges of dynamite, blew the door open. Entering the car they attacked two small safes, which they succeeded in entering. The messenger thought the robbers did not understand getting into the big safe, and consequently they would not secure much money.

The mail car was also visited by the robbers, and registered letters taken.

The explosion set fire to the express car, and when the robbers left it was a mass of flames. The train crew worked like Trojans, but were unable to save it. The car and contents were almost totally destroyed by fire. The pasengers were considerably shaken up and frightened, but no one was injured. An imperfect description of one robber was secured.

COX, OF TENNESSEE,

Introduces in the House a Bill to Reimburse Confederates.

Washington, D. C.—There was offered in the House, Saturday, by Mr. Cox, of Tennessee, a bill which recites the circumstances of Lee's surrender at Appomattox, and the written guarantee that the artillery and cavalry officers of the Confederacy should be permitted to retain their horses, arms and baggage. After the surrender the Federal soldiers dispoiled the Confederates of these effects, and they were never returned to the original owners. His bill appropriates $200,000 as a compensation for these losses, upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the Quartermaster-General.

HALF A BLOCK IN MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Milwaukee was visited by a fire Tuesday morning which consumed a half block of small buildings on the corner of Wells and West Water streets. It took two fire tugs and seven fire engines to get the flames under control. The loss will reach about $30,000.

ALABAMA CHRONICLES.

The News of a Great State Told in a Few Words.

—Over 200 members have been received for the railroad branch of the Young Mens' Christian Association at Selma.

—Fire at Wyeth City burned a large portion of the town. The fire cleaned up almost what the cyclone, last Summer, left.

—There is almost a water famine at Childersburg, so far as the wells are concerned. Many of them have never filled since the dry, hot spell of the Summer.

—A little negro at Troy undertook to stand on his head on a plank laid lengthwise on top of a picket fence and slipped off, receiving injuries that resulted in death.

—W. A. Gale, a prominent citizen of Montgomery, came across for the poor of that city with a donation of twenty-five tons of coal, which was distributed by the Mayor.

—Ground is being cleared to erect new buildings on the burned districts at Centre.

—There will be a Teachers' Institute held at LaFayette on the 5th and 6th of March, 1897.

—John Harrison, a former Selma boy, has struck it rich in Mexico, where he went some months ago. He bought a mining claim for a small amount and has just refused for it $75,000.

—P. A. F. Ingle, of Guin, has taken charge of the Kansas City, Memphis & Birmingham Depot at Crews.

—The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Rube McCullough was badly burned at Selma. Its clothing caught fire from an open-grate. Fears are entertained for its recovery.

—Shipments of cotton from Cullman up to the 21st inst. aggregate the very large sum of 9,254 bales. But few more bales remain to be shipped this season.

—The residence of G. C. Hall, Circuit Court Clerk of Marshall County, was burned at Guntersville. The origin of the fire or the amount of damage is not known. Mr. Hall carried $1,100 insurance.

—the report in the Hamilton News of the death of J. C. Camp, an old Alabama citizen, in Dangerfield, Tex., has happily proven an error. Mr. Camp is enjoying first-rate health, his friends will be pleased to learn.

—The Cordova Cotton Mill, which, by the way, is to be one of the largest in the South, will soon commence to take definite shape, so a reporter is reliably informed. The Legislature will give it a charter, and it is understood that the work of construction will commence shortly thereafter.

—Secretary Herbert has announced that he will send at least one warship to Mobile on March 1, to be present at the Mardi Gras festivities, but the Newark or Raleigh will probably be utilized for the purpose.

—Inquiries have come from abroad for Alabama bar iron. The satisfaction the pig iron has given has created an incipient demand for the finished product. It is very probable that before long a considerable quantity of the output of the local rolling mills will be crossing the ocean.

—The scale and oil houses of the Mabel Mining Company were destroyed Saturday night, January 30th, by fire, together with two pairs of track-scales and several barrels of oil. Business will be delayed two or three days.—Special to Evening News from Warrior, Ala.

—With the sales of one large company for this month to be heard from yet, the total sales of Alabama iron to the Old World since July last have been 92,000 tons.

—Last week alabama iron entered an entirely new field. A thousand tons were sold to a large iron firm on the Australian Continent. The shipment has already been provided for. Scarcely a week passes that some new point is not reached. One of the markets opened up in the past few weeks is New South Wales. That is a pretty long distance to send Alabama iron.

—The 3,000 tons of Alabama iron to be shipped to Yokohama by the ship Lord Wolseley was in durance vile at Pensacola, where the Wolseley is waiting for it, when last heard from, on account of the ship being quarantined by the health authorities of that place. The matter will be remedied, and the iron is probably loaded by this time.

—The coal business is very satisfactory. The mines are doing a heavy work, and the cold weather has made the consumption of coal both at the furnaces and for domestic purposes much greater than it has been before for a long time.

—It is stated on good authority that on an average of twenty-five cars of chert leave the Alabama district every day for the outside world. A part of it goes to Atlanta, where it is being used to build a boulevard; some goes to Montgomery, some to Mobile, and so on. The estimated value of this output is something like $150 per diem, There is immediate prospect of a still larger demand for the Birmingham chert, whose reputation has gone abroad. Meridian has lately been inspecting the Jefferson County roads, and is contemplating some like them.

—Ball play is now connected with the outside world through the Georgia and Alabama Long Distance Telephone Company, and the business men and the community generally are pleased.

—A generous citizen of Anniston, on Thursday, gave orders to a coal dealer there to supply suffering families with fuel and charge the same to him. His kindness helped many poor people to obtain a comfortable home during the terrible weather.

KILLED ABOUT A DEBT.

Savannah, Ga.—Prof. P. C. Booth was shot and killed by a negro near Manor, Ware County, Tuesday. A quarrel about a debt was the cause of the murder.

A GREAT INCREASE.

Norfolk, Va.—Norfolk cotton receipts during the five months ended to-day were 610,484 bales, as against 228,707 bales last year, an increase of 382,741 bales.

REASONS FOR USING
Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa.

1. Because it is absolutely pure.
2. Because it is not made by the so-called Dutch Process in which chemicals are used.
3. Because beans of the finest quality are used.
4. Because it is made by a method which preserves unimpaired the exquisite natural flavor and odor of the beans.
5. Because it is the most economical, costing less than one cent a cup.

A gentleman residing in T street, N. W., Washington, D. C., asserts that he suffered for many years with dyspepsia, indigestion and biliousness. He tried every known remedy, consulted many physicians with the hope of getting cured or even relief, but nothing seemed to relieve him. After meals he would feel as if a ball of lead was lodged in his stomach, tired and listless, as though life was scarcely worth living. Finally he was attracted to the ad of and concluded to try them. After taking the first two or three he was surprised to find the relief they gave and soon he felt like a new man. He has never been without Ripans Tabules since, nor has he suffered since.

LATE NEWS

Some Interesting Dispatches from Various Sections.

SOME GOSSIP FROM CANTON

Some Interesting Visitors to the President-Elect.—Considerable Amount of Cabinet Talk.

PRESIDENTS PRIVATE SECRETARY.

GOSSIP FROM CANTON.

Mack Hanna May Be Postmaster-General.—Bill Stevens in Evidence.

Canton, Ohio.—The indications now are that the present intentions of M. A. Hanna will occupy the Cabinet guessers the rest of the week. It is rumored here by many of Mr. Hanna's Cleveland friends who visited Canton, that he may decide to accept the position of Postmaster-General. The most generally accepted opinion is that Mr. Hanna thinks he will not be appointed to the Senate by Governor Bushnell, though the rumor that Governor Bushnell has decided to appoint Lieutenant-Governor Jones to fill the seat in the United States Senate which will be vacated by John Sherman on the 4th of March, is not thought to be wholly reliable.

The earnest effort on the part of the loyal Republicans attached to both wings of the party in Ohio is now being made to continue the harmonious relations which have existed in the State for the last year and a half, and it is by no means certain that Governor Bushnell may not at the last moment appoint Mr. Hanna to the Senate, although up to this time he has in no way indicated his willingness to do so.

Whether Mr. Hanna is appointed to the Senate to fill Mr. Sherman's unexpired term or not, he will be a candidate for election for the regular full term before the Legislature, which is to be elected next Fall, and which meets to choose a United States Senator in January next. Many of Mr. Hanna's friends want him to go into the Cabinet, and Major McKinley has desired it ever since his election. The belief that he will be appointed Postmaster-General is growing hourly.

The recent visit of General Alger to Canton was not fraught with importance. He came to present the wishes of some Michigan friends. There was a little talk about an Assistant Secretary of War, but nothing of a definite nature respecting this important appointment was done.

The visit of Chairman Gowdy, of the Indiana Republican Committee, was one of interest. He spent the day in Canton, and had an extended talk with the President-elect. Mr. Gowdy says Indiana will be modest in her demands upon the President-elect, and when pressed, confessed that he would like to be appointed Consul-General to Paris. As a matter of fact, applicants for offices from Indiana have not been as numerous in Canton as from many other States. There at least twenty-applicants for the post of Consul-General at Paris.

The appointment and acceptance of Mr. Addison Porter of the position of Private Secretary to the President-elect, puts a stop to further guessing. Perry Heath, of Indiana, who was a good deal talked of in connection with the office of Private Secretary, came here yesterday in response to a telegram from the President-elect. Mr. Heath was offered a very handsome appointment, which he has long desired, and which he accepted. He applied for the position several months ago, and Major McKinley, who has known him for many years, and who thinks highly of him and of the work he did in the campaign, said he was glad to be able to give the appointment he wanted.

Among Major McKinley's callers last night were two colored Republicans, of H. Deas, of South Carolina, and W. J. Stevens, of Alabama. The name of Dr. Seward Webb, of Shelburne, Vt., has been presented to Major McKinley for consideration as a Cabinet possibility, and was being seriously thought of, when, owing to sickness in his family and business engagements, he asked Gen. T. S. Peck to visit Canton and withdraw his name.

GEN. CLAYTON'S MODESTY.

Mr. McKinley Surprised Thereat.—Minister to Mexico.

Little Rock, Ark.—Hon. L. H. Remmel, of this city, late Republican candidate for Governor of Arkansas, is authority for the statement that General Powell Clayton will be the next United States Minister to Mexico, succeeding Hon. M. W. Ransom. Mr. Remmel held a conference with Major McKinley last week, and says that the President-elect was surprised at General Clayton's modesty. The appointment will be made a few days after March 4.

JOHN BULL'S METHODS.

London, Eng.—The plan formulated by the Government for increasing the strength and efficiency of the navy contemplates the construction of five battleships and three first-class cruisers, and an addition of 10,000 more men.

LATE STATE NEWS.

Condensed Newsy Paragraphs About Alabama Matters.

River business on the river to and from Decatur is pronounced fine just now.

Harrison Mitchell, colored, was run over by a train and killed at Greenville.

The Circuit Court has adjourned at Troy. The Grand Jury returned 32 bills.

Robert Harris was hurt seriously by falling slate in the mines at Blocton.

A. D. Chancello lost his home, near Round Mountain, by fire.

The contract for the erection of the court house at Wedowee, Randolph County, has been let.

The Cherokee County Grand Jury stirred up the chicken fighters, and it is said that many who engaged in the big mill at Round Mountain were indicted.

The Alabama Field Trials Club's first annual meeting, which was billed to be held at Madison, Ala., during the week begining February 8th, has been postponed, on account of bad weather, until February 15th, and the closing of entries extended to the 14th, the night before the running of the Derby.

There is a lively fight being waged at Opelika over the postoffice plum, which is expected to drop from the next Administration. The only two applicants so far developed, and the only two which will likely develop, are Capt. D. B. Smith and William Garden.

Cal Fagan, colored, who has been under indictment by the Jefferson County Grand Jury for the past two or three years for murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree and assault and battery, was captured at Smith's Mines by Deputy Sheriff James Ball, and is now in the County Jail at Birmingham.

Hon. Oscar W. Underwood, Congressman-elect from the Ninth Alabama District, will begin taking his evidence in reply to the contest of Dr. G. B. Crowe, Populite, on Monday next. Mr. Underwood is allowed forty days in which to take the evidence, and it promises to be fully as interesting as that advanced by his contestant.

Slope No. 5, of Wylam, has completed one of the finest endless-rope haulages in the State. The length of the haulage is 2,700 feet. The engine is a Payne engine and fly-wheel, which regulates the speed of the endless rope. This mine in a few days, when all the new men get acquainted with the work on the rope, will raise the output to 1,000 tons per day, which will make this the banner mine of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company.

The Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House of Representatives were guests of Birmingham last Wednesday. They took in the Birmingham Mineral District, and were given an informal public reception at the Commercial Club. The distinguished visitors are enjoying the opportunity of beholding the most marvelous concentration of natural wealth that nature has ever endowed a section with.

Governor Johnston has announced the appointment of Hon. William J. Wood, of Florence, as State Tax Commissioner of Alabama. Judge Wood's appointment was a foregone conclusion, as he was the originator and most industrious advocate of the bill. His industrious work before the committees and in the lobby contributed very largely to the passage of the law and recognizing these facts, and Judge Wood's admirable fitness for the place, Governor Johnston rewarded him with the appointment.

Birmingham gets another College. The Methodist Male University will be built in the Magic City. The North Alabama Conference, held in Tuskaloosa, appointed a comittee to select a site for and make arrangements to build a new Methodist male college. Mr. R. W. Owen, of Owenton, near Birmingham, on the Bessemer and Birmingham Railroad, offered 100 acres of ground, etc., near Owenton, about a half-mile from the dummy line, and only two miles from the city, for a location. A motion was made to accept Mr. Owen's offer, and was adopted with a unanimous vote. It was decided to comence work on the college at once. The ground donated consists of 100 acres, with a probability of 100 more being added. The erection of the necessary buildings will be begun at once.

There was an explosion at the North Birmingham furnaces of the Sloss Iron and Steel Company Wednesday morning, and though but little damage was done, a great noise was made, and much concern was felt by the people living in the vicinity. It seems that some water got into the pipes under furnace No. 4, and the explosion was occasioned when the hot metal was met. Between two and three tons of iron was ruined, and the plant injured a little, to the amount of about $200 in all. A negro named George Washington, standing near-by, was thrown up in the air a little, and injured some, but not seriously.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Work of the Alabama Law Makers.

SENATE.

Wednesday.—After the call of the districts this morning the Senate took up the continuing special order—Senator Abercrombie's General School Laws bill—and completed its reading and amendment by sections. This bill was then temporarily recommitted for the purpose of giving certain representatives of the Alabama Educational Association a hearing on the same. It will not lose its place, but will be read the third time after the reading of the journal to-morrow. It has the hearty indorsement of State Superintendent of Education J. O. Turner.

The Senate then began back on its calendar for January 27, and passed several local and a few general, though unimportant, bills.

Thursday:—In the Senate to-day, contrary to expectations, a vote on the final passage of Mr. Abercrombie's general school law bill was not taken, as he obtained unanimous consent to postpone it until 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, as the paramount, special order for that hour.

The next special order on the calendar, was one, though of a local nature, which was, nevertheless, one of considerable interest to all sections, that was the bill to regulate the payment of wages to miners in Jefferson, Walker and Blount Counties. The bill is a substitute for the one introduced, simultaneously in the house by Mr. Lipscomb, and in the Senate by Dr. Cunningham. It is known as the two weeks pay-day bill, and, also, as the "Anti Commissary Bill." It provides that mining corporations and others shall be required to pay wages due to their employees, every two weeks, if demanded, instead of monthly, as heretofore, and, also, that all commissary checks issued shall be commercially negotiable, and redeemable in lawful money, instead of goods.

The bill, after a stubborn fight, was finally lost by a vote of 21 to 7, on a motion to indefinitely postpone, made by Senator McEldery.

The entire afternoon session, was consumed in the discussion of the motion of Mr. Brewer to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed, yesterday, to regulate the business and taxation of Building and Loan Associations in this State.

Mr. Bethune made a motion to lay Mr. Brewer's motion on the table, and the motion to table prevailed.

The only bill of general interest introduced in the Senate to-day, was one by Senator Buchannon. It is one to regulate passenger fares on chartered railroads in this State. The bill fixes first class passenger fares at two cents a mile, and one and one-half cents per mile for second class fare, and requires, among other things, that all railroad City Ticket Offices be kept open at least thirty minutes before the departure of each train. Any corporation violating this proposed law is declared guilty of extortion and on conviction shall be fined not less than $25, and not more than $100 for each offence. It was referred to the Comittee on Commerce and Commen Carriers.

Friday.—In the Senate to-day Senator Abercrombie's General Educational bill, which has been the subject of much discussion and a deluge of amendments, again struck a snag this morning. Several times this bill has been on the very verge of a final vote, when it has received a set-back. This morning, after it had been amended until its best friends would hardly recognize it as the original measure, the Secretary began its third reading for passage, when Senator Buchanan delayed it again by interposing a motion that 100 copies of the bill as amended should be printed, and its further consideration postponed until 10:30 a. m. next Tuesday.

Senator Kilpatrick supported Senator Buchanan's motion, and said that there was too much red tape about the original bill, and he doubted that any Senator on the floor, except its author, fully understood the provisions of the bill, since it had been mangled by amendments. Senator Nolan thought the bill unwise, arbitrary and obnoxious, generally; so much so that he moved to have the County of Coosa excepted from the operations of the bill. Senator Abercrombie warned him that the effect of his motion would be to deprive Coosa County from any public school appropriation of the money by the State. He replied, that rather than submit to this law, Coosa would rather do without any appropriation. Coosa and Mobile counties were excepted by a vote of the Senate. Mobile County's schools already have the State Liquor License there as a revenue.

Mr. Buchanan's motion was adopted, and the chances of the Educational bill becoming a law appear to be growing doubtful, although Senator Abercrombie is managing it with zeal and ability.

At the afternoon sesion of the Senate several local bills were disposed of, nothing of general importance being brought up.

Although there remains but few days of the session, the introduction of bills continue.

HOUSE.

Wednesday:—The event of the day in the House, was the complete knock out given the proposed railroad commission bill. This action of the house was not unexpected, however, in fact had been predicted by many. It landed without much of a jar on the members favoring it, for the reason that many of them had already realized that there was no hope of its passage.

The vote was then taken on Mr. Waller's motion to indefinitely postpone the consideration of the bill and the substitute, which was carried by a vote of 54 to 39.

While the substitute that was killed by the House this morning was in the exact language of the amended bill, which passed the Senate yesterday, that bill will come to the House to-morrow and will, in the regular order of things, be referred to the Committee on Commerce and Common Carriers. The chances are that it will remain with the committee until the close of the session.

After the vote on the Railroad bill, which was taken about 12:45 o'clock, Mr. Greene, of Jefferson, reminded the chair that the next order of business was the consideration of the anti-pool bill which had ben made a special order. Mr. Wiley insisted that his Convict bill was also a special order for this morning, and the Speaker ruled that the last named bill had precedence. The title was therefore read, when Mr. Altman secured the floor and called the attention of the House to the fact that the Senate had already passed the bill regulating the convicts of the State, and that it would be expeditious to consider this bill rather than Mr. Wiley's. Before Col Altman could go into his argument the House adjourned, which will give him the floor upon reassembling to-morrow. Mr. Wiley's bill is radically different from Mr. Cunningham's, and a spirited contest will likely ensue as to which of the two bills shall be considered.

When the continuing special order, came up for consideration, Mr. Barnes secured the floor and offered a substitute for his original bill, in the exact language of the amended bill as passed by the Senate on the previous day. Mr. Waller followed in a strong speech, in opposition to the proposed measure, and in concluding his speech moved that the bill with the substitute be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Brown, of Talladega, moved to lay Mr. Wallers motion on the table. A thrill of interest prevaded the hall while the vote was being taekn. The vote resulted—ayes 40, nays 54.

The question then recurred on the motion of Mr. Waller to indefinitely postpone the bill and the substitute, and Mr. Barnes, who, under the rules, was entetled to close the debate, transferred the right to Browne of Talladega. He made a vigorous speech in defense of the bill. He insisted that it was an exceedingly conservative measure and much more lenient on the railroad companies than the laws of many of the states.

Thursday:—After the regular call of committees, in the House, to-day, the first business, after the call of the counties, was Mr. Cameron's motion to reconsider the railroad bill, which was lost yesterday. Mr. Waller moved to lay the bill on the table, and, to the surprise of the friends of the bill, on call of the ayes and noes, Mr. Waller's motion prevailed by a vote of 56 to 36. This, it is thought, will effectually kill the bill.

Several members made explanation of their vote, notably Mr. Timberlake of Jackson, the man of "high hat" fame. He said that it had been intimated or charged that he had changed his mind, on the matter, twice between two suns, and that it was a false accusation. That he had always been opposed to the bill, and that no lobyist had ever approached him on the subject.

Messers Greene and Lipscomb made good fights in the interest of the pool bill, in the House, to-day, and as a reward they had the pleasure of seeing the bill pass. The lobbies and galleries were full and the ladies had the right of way, in the galleries, by order of the speaker.

There were quite a number of bills introduced in the House to-day, but, as usual, they were near all purely local measures. At the afternoon session the usual amount of local legislation was disposed of, it, too, being almost entirely local measures.

Friday.—The House had a business move on it to-day, and the business was transacted with dispatch. The University bill had the right-of-way in general legislation, and created quite a debate. Mr. Stansel, of Pickens, who is the oldest member in the House, and who has been for years Pickens' representative in both branches of the General Assembly, is the author of the bill, and opened the debate for the measure in a clear, concise history of the university and the facts leading up to the necessity of the bill. He had spoken but a few minutes when his voice and strength failed him, and he was compelled to desist, and asked that Mr. Speaker, of Tuscaloosa, should have the right to close the debate for the bill.

Mr. Robinson, of Mobile, followed Mr. Stansel, in favor of the bill, and made one of his best efforts in its advocacy. He claimed the State owed the debt of $2,000,000, and had for a long time, and that the university had waited patiently for relief from the State until now, and that in the name of honesty and fair dealing, the State should recognize this debt and pass this bill. That the 2,000 alumni of the institution were scattered all over the country, had made records of which no institution should be ashamed, and that they now claimed as a matter of right their alma mater should be dealt with honestly by the State.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

A JUDGE SAYS IT HAS GOT TO BE TRIED.

Discusses the Huntington Pacific Roads Funding Bill—The Plutocrats Must "Come Off" or There Will Be Trouble in the Country.

From the St. Louis Evening Journal of recent date we clip the following interview which throws much light, from a high authority, on the railroad question:

Judge Seymour D. Thompson, who is considered by the legal profession one of the ablest attorneys on corporation law in this country, kindly consented to be interviewed by a Journal reporter on that vital question, "The government ownership of railroads."

Judge Thompson's associations in California give him an opportunity of fully appreciating the inner situations of the funding bill.

The judge, though a very busy man, informed the reporter that his time was at the disposal of the public press on such important matters as government ownership. Following is the interview reported by stenography:

"Judge, if the senate sustains the action of the house of representatives in defeating the Pacific railroad bill, what, in your opinion, will be the ultimate disposition of this vexed question?" asked the reporter.

"I think that the natural, if not inevitable result will be the foreclosure of the government's mortgages."

"In the event of the foreclosure of the mortgages, what disposition could be made of the roads? Would it not result in the ownership of the government of the roads—perhaps their operation by the government?"

"No; at least not necessarily. If you have a mortgage on my farm, and I can not pay it when due, you foreclose the mortgage and the farm is sold under the order of foreclosure. If there is anything left after satisfying your claim, it comes to me. The government's position in this matter is precisely what yours would be in the above supposed case. It will proceed in the same way to sell the mortgaged property. Doubtless if the road were put up at auction under an order of foreclosure there would be a combination formed to buy it in. As the government's mortgage is only a second mortgage, and as the first mortgage bonds amount to an enormous incumbrance, it is quite unlikely that any syndicate will bid enough to pay the government's claim. That, of course, is a risk the government must take, and one which should have been thought of when the government allowed the Pacific roads to postpone it to the first mortgage bondholders. You are no doubt aware that the government originally had first mortgages for all the money it advanced to build these roads. When they found that they wanted more money—either to complete the road or to fill their own pockets, they persuaded congress, by a supplementary act, to allow them to put a mortgage on the properties which should take precedence of the government's mortgage. This first mortgage, which is ahead of the government's mortgage, is immense in amount—perhaps it exceeds what the whole property is worth. The Union Pacific is, I believe, in the hands of a receiver, so that it does not seem to be able to pay the interest on its first mortgage bonds and its running expenses. The Central Pacific is leased to the Southern Pacific Company—not the Southern Pacific railroad, but a Kentucky corporation, which controls the latter and many other roads comprising what is known as the Southern Pacific system. It has always been thought by the outside public that the earning power of this end of the line—the Central Pacific—was far less than it ought to be, from the fact of its being under the control of the Southern Pacific company, possessing a rival line, all its own, whose revenues it did not have to divide with any one else, as it had to do in the case of the revenues of the northern route. The malign influence of such a control is apparent to the humblest intelligence. It not only led to the starving of the Central Pacific, but of the Union Pacific, which had no other outlet to the coast."

"Do you think it best for the government to foreclose the mortgage or allow the companies to continue in the ownership of the roads, as contemplated by this bill?"

"The men who compose the Central Pacific Railroad company and the Southern Pacific company are a gang of public criminals, and the government ought not to treat with them. The four original conspirators have been succeeded in part by men of the same flexible morals."

"You perhaps know how they started this vast enterprise. Huntington and the rest had, at the outside, $400,000—some say only $100,000—of their own. Everything else was furnished by the government, or by the first mortgage bondholders. They are all enormously rich, or have died rich—Huntington, Stanford, Crocker and Hopkins. Hopkins is said to have left $60,000,000. Crocker is said to have left $42,000,000. The Stanford estate was appraised at $17,000,000, probably much less than it was really worth. As to Huntington, no one really knows how much he is worth. With his simple taste and enormous income, mere accumulation for a quarter of a century and more could not account for even the extreme erating them. They get a franchise, bond the road for several times what it will cost to build it, build it themselves by organizing into a construction company, paying the construction figures that are quoted. But his fortune was not made by operating roads. He is one of those men who made money by building roads, not by operating them. They get a franchise, bond the road for several times what it will cost to build it, build it themselves by organizing into a construction company, paying the construction figures that are quoted. But his fortune was not made by operating roads. He is one of those men who made money by building roads, not by company double or treble what it is worth to build it, and pocket the profit thus made. That is where they make their money."

"In case of a sale, if the government had to take the road for the debt—what, in your opinion, would be the result?"

"The government might have to buy in the roads to protect itself, no doubt, and probably it would continue to operate them. It might operate them until it had an opportunity to resell them or lease them, or it might decide to operate them permanently. That is no new thing, except in this country. It is done in Germany, in Australia, in New Zealand, in Austro-Hungary, and it was done in Russia. What other peoples can do we can do. Are we less honest and less efficient in administration than the Germans? I admit that we have less public honesty. But we have as great a genius for administration as any people in the world, and all that we need is a vitalized public opinion to create public honesty."

"Don't you think that this country would be better off if all the railroads were in the possession of the government and working under a uniform system with one controlling head?"

"That is a large question, a very large question. I have for a long time felt very strongly that the only solution of the railroad problem is government ownership. The railroads are being merged into great systems, and these are being linked together in great combinations—pools, trusts or what you will. The name makes no difference. The purpose is, under one management, to keep down competition and to keep up rates, without reference to the cost of the service, and to wring from the people the uttermost farthing. Eight great railroads went into a trust of that character about a year ago, with the pretended object of supporting the interstate commerce law by preserving uniformity of rates. Now, uniformity and stability of rates is a good thing in itself; it is something to be desired in the interest of all legitimate business. It enables business to be conducted with a certainty that is impossible with daily fluctuations in rates of freight. But the real object of this combination was not to maintain stable rates, but the highest rates possible under the laws of the various states in which they operate and under the interstate commerce law. Their object, in short, was to suppress competition in an unlawful way. Now, there is only one kind of a trust that can meet that kind of a trust, and that trust is the government of the United States. Whether our government is strong enough to do it, I am not prepared to say. But the attempt is going to be made. You will see it made. The question is knocking at the door and will be brought out, and you young men will have to fight it out."

"Do you think that as long as the government remains in the hands of the Republican party we are likely to have government ownership of railroads?"

"The idea is not confined to any one party. It permeates them all, and it is working like leaven. Some of the strongest advocates of that experiment are now found in the Republican party. That party, it is true, is a business man's party, a capitalists' party, a corporation party, if you will; more so, at least than the Democratic party. But these ideas are growing in the minds of men of all parties and of all classes. Some of the more far-sighted railroad managers themselves foresee the event and some of them have been courageous enough to avow their belief that it will be best for the railroads as well as the people. The chief danger is that if we load upon the government so many undertakings it is apt to get top-heavy. Those in power have such great opportunities to steal in one way or another, that the scattered and segregated people have not the means of safe-guarding themselves from this danger. We do not know what the result would be of adding to our present civil service of about 100,000 men, the vast army of railroad employes, numbering, I believe, something like 1,000,000."

"You think, then, the government will eventually own the railroads?"

"It has got to be tried. It is something that is coming with state socialism, a thing that is advancing in all countries. The government, not only this government, but the government of every civilized people, is taking upon itself new offices and doing things which were formerly left to individual enterprise. Illustrations of the fact will occur to every observing mind."

"If, then, the government should buy in and retain these roads, you think it would be a good thing for it to try the experiment of government operation?"

"I would be glad to see the government try the experiment of owning and operating a great railroad system. I do not know whether the experiment would be successful or not, but I want to see it tried; and furthermore I feel as sure as I do of anything that I do not know, that it will be tried sooner or later."

Would it not be a fortunate thing for the people of the coast for the government to take the roads?"

"Unquestionably. They would enjoy for the first time in their lives a decent, honest, just and fair railroad service. The San Francisco Examiner took a vote of the people on the coast on this very question, and the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of government ownership."

The dollar is so good now, goes so much further than it would when the present salary of Congressmen was fixed, that it seems like some of them would introduce a measure to cut it down in proportion to the fall in prices of farm and other products, but instead of that there is an evident disposition to raise it.

MORGAN'S COMMENT.

Snap Shots Taken from the Passing Procession.

The Globe-Democrat, which, by the way, is very good plutocratic authority, says: "The principal thing to be done in dealing with the Pacific railroad matter is to get back as much as possible of the vast sums that certain bandits have made out of the property at the expense of the government."

Why not prosecute the bandits the same as we do common highwaymen and footpads, and also proceed against the stolen property as in the case of common thieves?

It is amusing to note the frantic efforts of the plutocratic papers to inspire the public with the hope of "returning confidence.' Here s a sample: "The savings banks report a large increase in number of new depositors since the November election. This is one of the best proofs of returning confidence, as well as of a gradual improvement of business."

If business is reviving why is the money going into the savings banks? It takes cash to run business and the more money there is out of the banks the better the indications are that it is being invested in business enterprises.

There is some significance in this increase of deposits, but it can hardly be said that the hoarding of money will tend to revive business. As between dishonest bank officials and ordinary footpads and highwaymen the possessor of cash funds is between the devil and deep sea. And with the increase in the number of "holdups" and robberies on the one side and the corresponding increase of bank failures on the other hand, the sea room is narrowing down very rapidly. It begins to look like a good burglar-proof safe was the best solution to the problem.

Chauncey M. Depew, the $50,000 a year railroad president, in one of his recent orations said: "It is the result of my study, experience and observation, that the best day is to-day, and to-morrow will be better." There is some very good philosophy in that observation, and it is to be regretted that the conditions are such that it cannot be almost universally applied. With a great many people—far too many—the situation could be more truthfully expressed in the words, "To-day is the worst day, but to-morrow will be worse." Mr. Depew seems to see only the bright side of life. He would forget that his words and philosophy cannot be applied to the wretched poor that have not left to them even the opportunity to earn their bread. A better philosophy would be "the best day is that in which we do the most for humanity."

The St. Louis Republic, commenting on the probabilities of co-operation, or a continued alliance between the democrats and populists, says: "Populist members of the legislature in this state went into caucus with the democrats and thus signified their intention to act with the party. It is probable that in this and other states many democrats who had wandered into populism will not return to it, but will stay in their old party. But certainly all of that crowd of political wild steers known as the Middle-of-the-Roaders will probably get together on a platform which will embrace fiat money and all the isms of the extremists. As hard money is a basic principle of democracy, this action on the part of the populists must signify the parting of the ways of the late allies and a triangular fight four years from now."

It seems that the republic "snuffs the battle from afar," and it certainly is refreshing to see it so frankly announce its allegiance to the money of barbarism. Yes, all true populists will take up the fiat for real scientific fiat money and press the fight to a finish.

Senator Campbell of Labette county, Kansas, has introduced a bill in the senate of that state modeled somewhat after the Coxey good roads, non-interest bearing bond plan. The bill provides for the issuance of $3,200,000 in state script intended to circulate as money within the boundaries of the state. The bill is ingeniously gotten up in order to evade the provisions of the state and federal constitutions, which prohibits a state from issuing money.

The title of the bill is "An act providing for the employment of idle labor on roads and the issuance of notes therefor." Its intent is for the various counties of the state to put idle men at work on the public roads and other public improvements and pay for the same in notes nominally issued by the counties, but in reality by the state.

According to the provisions of the bill these notes will be issued in the following manner: The governor shall procure notes which draw 1 per cent interest, mature in 10 years and are exempt from taxation. A county can procure them from the state and issue them to be worth their face value. They are then supposed to circulate as money, are receivable for state and county taxes and are ultimately redeemed by the state. In order to provide against too great an issue of the notes being made the bill provides that no county shall receive or issue an aggregate amount of more than 1 per cent of the assessed valuation of that county, in one year, and not more than 4 per cent during the entire 10 years.

W. S. MORGAN.

The McKinley administration is not now on trial, but the result of the election, so far as it affects the confidence of business men, is, and so far has proved to be a disappointment and failure. Confidence was apparently restored, but prosperity never showed up.

THAT proposed stock law for least four seems to have been still-born.

THE charter of incorporation for the city of Clanton passed the Senate and Clanton is now a city indeed.

IF the combine is made and farmers are compelled to bale their cotton in circular form it will require the united efforts of all our farmers to defeat it.

THE bill for refilling the jury boxes of Chilton county we are assured will become law. It has been necessary to pass special laws to that effect for a great number of counties in the State.

THE committee on elections which had under consideration the Watson-Black contest from the tenth Georgia district has decided that Tom Watson was not elected, consequently Mr. Black retains the seat. This is one time where our Democratic contemporaries have nothing to say about Republican partisanship ruling their decisions.

STRONG efforts are being made to revive the Farmers' Alliance, and in view of the fact that this organization has already accomplished a vast amount of good it would hardly seem necessary to urge upon our farmers the necessity of its re-establishment. Clanton primary has the honor of being number one in Alabama, and we shall be glad to see number one hold its position, nay, not only hold its position but take foremost rank in the revival.

As will be seen from the following clipping, the bill providing for a constitutional convention has passed the House and we have no doubt but that next fall an election will be held, and subsequently a convention will meet and probably frame a new constitution based upon the Mississippi plan; that plan has not been satisfactory in that State and will never be satisfactory in Alabama.

Up to last Monday the passage of the constitution bill through the house was a remote possibility. The chance for its passage was esteemed to be about one in a hundred. However, some generals, who never surrender, got behind the project and the vote in the house tells how well they have succeeded.

The bill was called up very soon after roll call this morning by its author, Mr. Jenkins, of Wilcox, and after one or two little colloquays over its consideration, Mr. Davis, of Marion moved to lay the bill upon the table. The vote on this resulted ayes, 37; noes, 55. The consideration was then proceeded with.

Amendments to the bill were introduced and adopted as follows: One changing the date for assembling the convention from the first Monday in September to the first Monday in October, and one providing for the election of eleven delegates from the state at large in addition to the 100 delegates from the several counties. A discussion of the bill then followed.

Mr. Hearn, Populist, insisted that the principle of holding a constitutional convention was wrong. He said a clean thing could not come out of a dirty one, that the democratic party was fathering the convention and he could not conceive how it could be a respectable concern.

The previous question was then demanded, and Mr. Jenkins, as was his privilege, closed the debate for the passage of his pet measure in a brief, but effective speech. The vote was then taken and resulted as statedr

It will be observed that the populists, republicans and sixteen democrats voted against the bill. Four gentlemen paired on the measure and were absent, and three friends of the bill were unable to be present.

The bill went to the senate without engrossment, and it is said tonight that its passage there is already assured.—State-Herald.

Let Us Save Our Public Men.

Collateral demands upon public characters are greater by far in this country than elsewhere. The scholar in Germany has due opportunity to pursue his scholarship unmolested. In England a statesman, apart from social recreation and sports, is accorded his full time and strength for his most important duties. In France the artist and the author are guarded and protected by common consent. In London the editor in office hours is as inaccessible to the ordinary caller as the Queen herself; and outside of office hours he is altogether a private person. As for our own country, one is sometimes disposed to take the discouraging view that we are so warmly appreciative of everybody who does anything creditable enough to gain some public recognition, that henceforth we are all unwittingly engaged in a conspiracy to prevent that poor fellow from doing anything again that shall embody his best concentrated effort.—From "A Plea for the Protection of Useful Men," in February Review of Reviews.

5 Drops.

"It is not often that we commend in these columns anything of a medical character. But the reports that we hear of the efficacy of the remedy called '5 drops,' are so unusual that we cannot resist the impulse to give it special mention in this issue. For the diseases mentioned in the advertisement this remedy seems to have jumped into popular favor with a single bound, and its success is deserved, for it has performed some cures." '5 drops' is manufactured by the Swanson Rheumatic Cure Co., 167 Dearborn St., Chicago, and the company has the highest reputation for honesty in all business transactions."—[Silver Knight Watchman, Washington, D. C., September, '96.

The testimony so far elicited in the contest case of Goodwyn vs. Brewer, in the Fifth congressional district, shows the frauds to have been equal to those two years ago, and the developments perefectly satisfactory to the contestant.

Beautiful Sea Shells.

Every one admires them. Since coming south I have received numerous inquiries from northern people for sea shells, and now I am prepared to answer yes, I can send you shells, for I have made quite a collection of lovely shells, both from our own coast, the coral reefs and some lovely ones from the West India islands. I will mail a dozen or more different kinds, no two alike, to anyone who sends a stamp for postage.

Yours, MRS. F. A. WARNER.

Vick's Floral Guide, 1897.

For nearly half a century this Catalogue of flower and vegetable seeds, plants, bulbs, roses, grains, potatoes, etc. has come as regularly as spring time. Here it is again to remind us that it's time to think about our gardens. This issue contains half a dozen full page half-tone illustrations of roses, astors, gold flowers, carnations and tomatoes.

It seems full of the necessary information for either amateur or professional. Send 15 cents to James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y., for a packet of Vick's branching astor, new Japan morning glory or extra choice pansy and a copy of Vick's Floral Guide. If you state where you saw this notice you will receive a package of flower seeds free.

East Chilton Notes.

Plenty of rain and mud.

This locality is building up rapidly; every available house is being brought into use and some new ones have just been completed.

Everyone is vigorously at work fencing, making new gardens and roads, a sign of prosperity we think.

Mr. S. Hardy's new store is in course of construction. We welcome him and family to our community.

Miss Janie Oden has received an invitation to the marriage of her cousin, Mr. Demps Alexander Oden to Miss Carrie Belle Maxwell, at Montezuma, Ga., Feb. 17; we extend to the happy pair our warmest congratulations.

Mrs. James Petty visited her father in Coosa county recently.

Mr. J. W. Taylor has beautified his residence by the addition of a new veranda.

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 9, 1896.

A Colorado man speaks out in meeting and says that the people of that state have about as much faith in Wolcott's alleged bimetallic mission doing anything for silver as they have in its "building a trolley system to the New Jerusalem."

In last week's News Letter by a typographical error we were made to say that the vote for Senator Teller stood "61 against," when it should have been "six against."

Mr. McKinley proposes, as a sop to Wall street, and to make partial amends for the appointment of Gage, to establish a Department of Commerce and Trade and put a New Yorker at its head. Apropos of Gage's appointment it is said that Europe began buying American stocks January 26, as a result of the security it felt was thus assured. Gage, it is said, with a regard for the eternal fitness of things seldom found in a national banker, wears a golden wig.

Several states have acted upon the hint carelessly dropped by that prince of trust defenders, Grover Cleveland, in his message, as to the possibility of their dealing with those hitherto uncontroled robbers, the trusts. Georgia's law has gone into effect. New Jersey is framing one and even trust-ridden New York is beginning to bestir itself on this point. Legislation on this point is pending in Alabama, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Indiana, Utah, Minnesota.

Some light is being thrown on the much talked of Arbitration Treaty. It seems that its acceptance by England will insure her control, if not absolute ownership, of the Nicaragua Canal, which has been coveted by her singularly acquisitive sons since the inception of that great plan.

Populist teachings have made politics more a matter of social science and less a matter of office holding.

The Arbuckle Havermeyer coffee war goes merrily on. Let the trusts roast "one another" the people can stand it.

J. A. Edgerton, Secretary of the People's Party National Committee, has written a call for a National conference to be held at Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 23, forwarded it to National Chairman Butler, urging him to issue same. The N. R. P. A. will convene there the 22nd of Febuary.

Thatcher, Populist candidate for United States Senator in Utah, has not yet been elected but his chances are good.

Heitfelt, Populist, was elected in Idaho, over Dubois. He is a farmer a native of St. Louis, and lived for many years in Kansas. He is a capable, well-balanced man and much is expected of him.

Ex-Governor Lewelling, of Kansas, has been appointed Railroad Commissioner.

The Oregon legislature is suffering a deadlock owing to its inability to select a speaker.

Masterworkman Sovereign is speaking throughout the Northwest to delighted audiences.

Populist Hargrave was seated in the State Senate of Washington versus the republican contestant.

The republican legislature of Illinois returning a vote of thanks to the Populist legislature of Nebraska for aid extended the starving poor of Chicago, is the solitary instance of an exchange of amenities between the two elements.

Postmaster Heising of Chicago, Democrat, is an ardent advocate of the Postal Savings Bank.

John W. Breidenthal, after a most successful and effective term, has decided to resign as State Chairman of the committee in Kansas.

It is about settled that Chauncey Depew is to grace the court of St. James during McKinley's misrule.

The following is an excerpt from the Illustrated American, and notorious gold bug organ: "The essential principals of Populism were never more vigorous. They are the decisive issues in the mighty struggle for which we are now crystalizing the opposing forces of the nation." Right! A. R.

Nourish Him.

That's the whole secret in a word. We can cure no disease unless we can keep up the patient's strength. And there's only one way to do that—feed him. But if the system refuses food? Then use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It goes STRAIGHT TO THE BLOOD, stops the wasting, rekindles the vital fire, makes new flesh and so renders a hopeful fight possible against ANY disease.

Especially is this so in bronchial and lung troubles, in the relief and cure of which Scott's Emulsion has won its reputation. Book about it free.

Scott's Emulsion is no mysterious mixture. It is palatable, non-nauseating and infinitely preferable to the plain oil. The genuine has our trade-mark on salmon-colored wrapper. Get the genuine.

Brownwood, Texas, Jan. 25, '97.

Editor BANNER: Please give me space in your paper and I will write my many friends in Chilton. I landed in Brownwood Nov. 27 and found my people all well. Have been busy building, plowing grubbing and fixing fences; have not seen much of the country. Times are hard here owing to last year's drought. I find but little difference in prices here; wild land sells $1.50 to $4 per acre; improved from $5 to $15. It costs more to improve here than it does in Chilton. Freight rates and the middle man's fee run up lumber. On a trip to Concho county I saw thousands of acres of land that will make from 40 to 50 bushels of corn per acre; and from ½ to 1 bale of cotton; will make wheat, oats and grass in proportion. There are also large coal beds about 30 miles in width. This is destined to be a mining country in Coleman and Ucculoe counties. We crossed the Colorado river at Waldrif going west and passed through numbers of prairie dog towns. Crossing the Bradie mountain we landed at Rev. J. B. Lee's; he told me he was the only Baptist preacher in Concho county. We spent two nights with him and I promised him to go back in June and help him in his protracted meeting. I have agreed to take the care of one church and have two others soliciting me. My family and self are well. A. J. LEE.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery and he knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

OBITUARY.

Mr. James R. Mims was born in Darlington, South Carolina, May 25, 1805, and died at his home in Chilton county, Ala., November 11, 1896. He joined the Methodist church early in life, and belonged to that class of men of whom it may be said "They lived well." No after death tribute from friends could enhance the worth of this encomium and in it his surviving kins people possess a most precious memory. Two remarkable elements blended to form in this man a beautiful and attractive character. He was positive; and he was gentle. In his convictions and integrity he was as stable and immovable as the great rock, and in his love and sympathy he was as tender as the ferns that grow in its crevices. He was what it takes to constitute a great and happy country a quiet citizen. As to his native land, he was a patriot; as to his church he was a servant and lover. Through that remarkably long line of years in which he pilgrimaged he was always the ready friend of the church and the constant sympathizer and supporter of its ministry. No one could have known him without feeling the stir of strength in his manly character. The memory of his useful and beneficient life, his affectionate heart and gentle words still remain with us, and while we bow submissively to the Divine Will we feel humbly thankful for the example of so pure and noble a life, and will endeavor to emulate his loving self-sacrificing nature. Funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. James R. Crawford, and the remains laid to rest in Shady Grove cemetry by the side of his wife. He has gone away, but "O precious thought!" we know where to find him.

THE MISSING WORD.

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately ..... as cause and effect,"

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and probably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. This The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the western hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the southern and western states than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from real nervousness. When every nerve seemed to quiver with a regular, creepy feeling first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing bubble in the brain, and you became irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, singing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health.....

Mrs. Eugene Scarles, 110 Shoonten St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee that bottle will benefit or money refunded.

THE GREATEST AUTHORITY IN THE WORLD
PRESCRIBES
CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER
—FOR—
COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or Any Head or Throat Trouble.

DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

DR. Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, remains unrivalled; to the general breakdown, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE LURKS IN EVERY BAD COLD!

Then why do you go on in a deluded way trying to wear out your misery when CUSHMAN'S Inhaler will relieve you instantly.

It is a Constant Convenience! $2.00 worth of medicine for 50 cts. No sickening or nauseating drugs to debilitate your system. Only a refreshing and healthful aid to you. Indispensable to Invalids. Public singers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in strengthening the throat.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "Inhaled Menthol is persistently destructive to the life of the Influenza bacilli."

SEA SICKNESS! Dr. Bosley Thorn, in communication in the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's Menthol Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo, which remains after the actual vomiting and retching passed off."

MONTVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 21, '96.

I have had Catarrh about ten years. A friend sent me one of your Inhalers. It helped me the first time I tried it.

F. DOUGLAS MORSON.

EMMONS, N. Y.

I have used one of your Menthol Inhalers for about a month for Chronic Catarrh of twenty years' standing. It has given me more relief than all other remedies I ever tried.

H. LATHAM.

The most refreshing and Healthful aid to HEADACHE Sufferers. Brings Sleep to the Weak. Cures Incipient Catarrh and Prevents Progress. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, CATARRH, ASTHMA, HEADACHE and their marvelous cure.

Science of the 19th Century looks on with amazement at the most remarkable record of cures ever known in the World's history.

5 DROPS

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. J. F. Limburner, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populists and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

Jan 28, 1897.

DEAR SIRS—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 4th of January 1897, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an aggravated case of inflammatory rheumatism so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 DROPS and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself immensely relieved, and continuing treatment woke the second morning cured. My arm was absolutely free from pain, and all swelling and stiffness had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over year of the great curative properties of your medicine and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial. Sincerely yours, J. F. LIMBURNER,
Bureau of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had rheumatism in every joint and in the heart, and I had Catarrh of the head for years. I was so badly cured that I lost the use of my legs and arms, and could not move without pain. I was so crippled, that I had some but little work for seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But now, after using "5 DROPS" only two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. The medicine does more than is claimed for it. At this time my Catarrh is much better, and I have scarcely any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pain are gone. My hearing is now good and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than 40 pounds of flesh and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw. It relieves mother who has asthma so bad, for it has the same effect on them as on the brother. It wards off Croup and eases the lives of the child and makes sweet and refreshing sleep to both young and old.

Yours respectfully, W. M. M. KELLUMS,
Uniontown, Perry Co., Ind.

Jan. 29, 1896.

We received the following letter from Mr. J. J. Wilson of Omaha, Nebr. He has been for many years an invalid, and realizing the uncertainty attending such a case, Kellums asking if his endorsement was genuine, and received a letter in which he gives his name.

MR. J. J. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand, there is enough you speak of is genuine. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" published my testimonial just as I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I would swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for the letter. I wrote it of my own accord, January for publication in order that poor sufferers, like myself, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I had received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to show my sympathy with those who are afflicted, for though I suffer yet I am happy to say I can now walk and have felt any pain. Dr. S. W. Kelleter, the druggist, sells "5 Drops" on his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a positive cure.

MR. W. M. ALSO DR. S. W. KELLUMS.

Sept. 21, 1896.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a $1.00 bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (200 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle prepaid by mail 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC ..... CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS ..... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet taken by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE ..... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN .... CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE ..... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED ..... CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT ..... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and out them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS .... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

The Way To Weigh More

Good weight means good health. Good health means good blood. Good blood is at the bottom of it all. If a man or woman is losing flesh, chances are ten to one that the blood is impure and lifeless. Pure blood builds up good, firm flesh. It makes muscles that you can use. There is no fictitious fat about it. It gives you a balance in the bank of health that you can draw on without fear.

Sarsaparilla is Nature's remedy for impure or impoverished blood. It is just the sort of remedy that grandmother used to dig up in the garden. It is simple, pure, efficient. It puts the digestion into perfect order, stimulates the appetite, assists nutrition, cleanses and purifies the whole body.

When Sir John Sloane died years ago in England he left three sealed cupboards which were to be respectively opened in 1866, 1886 and 1896. The first and second were found to contain valuable statuary and pictures for the Sloane museum, but the third, which was opened last week, proved to be a testamentary joke, for the cablegram says it had nothing in it but a lot of valueless papers. It must have been a bit of grim humor on the part of the testator to devise such a joke on the museum which he founded. It is more likely that the contents of the cupboard were stolen years ago or that the papers are not so valueless as is supposed.

In a case in court a New York woman alleged as one of her complaints against her husband that he could not be kept from washing the dishes and doing the other work about the house contrary to her wishes. Her protests angered him to such an extent that he assaulted her, and he was put under bonds to keep the peace. From this it would appear that the New York man would make an ideal helpmeet for a woman who devotes her time to politics and the uplifting of the masses.

BUSINESS WORLD

The Commercial Agencies' Report on State of Trade

A MORE HOPEFUL FEELING.

The Southern Iron Export Within the Past Few Months Being Felt by the East and West.

BESSEMER PIG AND GREY FORGE.

Marked decline in Failures.—Cold Weather of the Past Week Had Its Usual Good and Bad Effect.—Downward Prices Checked.—Price of Cotton Fell Some.

New York, N. Y.—Bradstreet's says: General trade, which was retarded by unfavorable weather a week ago, has recovered somewhat at Chattanooga, Memphis, Birmingham and New Orleans. While the cold weather cut into stocks of heavy goods it delayed the sale of Spring goods. Other relatively favorable trade reports are from St. Paul, Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Louis. At most centers jobbers report business quiet or unchanged with no prospect for immediate improvement. The restriction of the production of cotton goods has not strengthened the market or advanced prices yet. The heavy increase in sales of wool—40,000,000 pounds at Boston alone since January 1, against 24,000,000 pounds last year—is based largely on the expectation of a higher duty on wool. More woolen mills have started up, and those which have hit the popular taste in style and fabric are full of present business. One of the most unsatisfactory industrial features is the lack of demand for iron and steel, prices of which in the central Western States, have gotten below normal quotations. Eastern and Western iron makers are attracted by the expansion of the Southern pig iron export trade within a few months.

The downward tendency of prices noted during the past two or three weeks is checked in part, there being almost an equal number of the products and commodities usually quoted which are higher or lower or unchanged compared with last week. Among those which have advanced are Havana tobacco, wheat, corn and oats paper and refined and crude petroleum. Those which are lower include resin hides, wheat flour, pork, lard, coffee and raw sugar. Practically unchanged quotations are recorded for refined sugar, rice, tea, lumber, wool, cotton and print cloths.

The check to the number of business failures as reported last week appears again in the total for the current week, 305 throughout the United States as compared with 326 last week, and 338 in the same week last year.

DUN'S REPORT.

R. G. Dun & Co. say:

No important change in business appears, but the number of manufacturing establishments started much exceeds the number of those stopped during the week, and so much that the curtailment of working time in many cotton mills probably does not lessen the aggregate productive force or amount of wages paid. There is a distinct increase in orders for woolen goods, some gain in the silk manufacture, awaiting condition, with gain in one branch of boots and shoes, and indications of better things coming in the iron and steel manufacture. Cotton fell to 7¼c. after the agreement to close Fall River and other print cloth works became known, but received the quotation of a week ago, 7.31 cents without further news. Spinning takings have been so small this year—those of Northern mills being about 400,000 bales less than in 1894-'95—that the admitted narrowness of demand for goods has at present considerable weight. It appears that foreign trade is also somewhat restricted by narrowness of demand, sales of wool having been smaller than in other recent weeks, and yet are far in excess of consumption of all mills for the week, if all were fully employed. At the three chief markets the aggregate for the week has been 13,566,700 pounds.

There has been only a slight stiffening in prices, but more foreign wool will be taken and stored, it is believed, if Western holders continue to demand higher prices.

Prices of Bessemer pig and gray forge at Pittsburg have slightly advanced, with a much more hopeful feeling, notwithstanding the comparative narrowness of the demand for finished products, and in plates and wire and wire nails there is much more business, with good prospects. Billets are quoted at $15.25, with scarcely any demand at present, and rods at $21, while No. 27 black sheets are quoted at only two cents. Reports that 25,000 tons of steel plate and sheet bars have been exported to England, are only indications of the temporary excess of supply over demand in this country, and are not supposed to have realized any profit. Yet it is stated that prices of cast pipe are from two to three dollars per ton lower at New York than at Scotch works. Bars are quoted at the lowest price ever known at Philadelphia, without much improvement in demand, and steel rails are still inactive and unchanged in price, the railroads waiting for a decline corresponding to the fall in billets. But on the whole, the demand for iron and steel products is slowly gaining, and a considerable proportion of the work is fully employed, though the gain is not yet enough for those who have taken large stocks of material or products on speculation. In the money market there appears to be no embarrassment, and the large sale of Northern Pacific and Oregon Navigation securities to European capitalists has given additional assurance that balances due to this country will not be cancelled for some months to come, so that the point of possible gold exports is removed still farther.

Failures for the week have been 311 in the United States, against 325 last year, and 63 in Canada, against 67 last year.

SOME CABINET TALK.

McKenna to Be Secretary of the Interior.—Other Maters.

Chicago, Ill.—A special from Canton, Ohio, says:

Judge Joseph McKenna, of San Francisco, has been selected for Secretary of Interior, and he has accepted. That information has also been vouchsafed by the President-elect to a delegation of Missourians, who came yesterday to urge the appointment of Judge William Warner, of that State, to the same position.

Two Maryland booms for Cabinet appointments met here Monday, and Senator Wellington, of that State, who did not come nearer Canton than Cleveland, is credited with having assisted in causing one of them to drop quickly from public view. The withdrawal of Judge Goff from the list of Cabinet possibilities caused the friends of James A. Gary, of Baltimore, to think there was an opportunity for a Maryland Republican Cabinet appointment, and as he is indorsed by influential politicians in all but two of the Southern States, a strong showing was, and has again, been made in his behalf.

Judge Lewis McComas, a former member of Congress from Hagerstown, now a judge in the District of Columbia, has been suggested by many of his friends as an available man for appointment to the Cabinet. It is understood that the Republican organization in the State, which is controlled by Senator Wellington, is not friendly to him.

The Missouri delegation, which came to Canton Monday afternoon to ask Major Mckinley to appoint Major William Warner, of Kansas City, to the Cabinet, made a strong argument in his behalf. It is the third delegation which has visited Canton to suggest the appointment of Major Warner. It was argued that his selection for the Cabinet would harmonize the party, and bring the State into the Republican column four years hence.

It is the general belief here that Major McKinley may decide at the last moment to complete his Cabinet without having a member from the South in it. The Missouri visitors presented an indorsement of Major Warner from the legislators of Indiana, Texas, Kansas and their own State.

NEGRO LYNCHED.

Hanged for Writing an Insulting Letter to a White Lady.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Friday night, near Rockfield, a little station ten miles from this city, a negro named Robert Morton was hanged. Morton wrote an insinuating note to Miss Tommie Johnson, a popular young white woman of the town, and when it became known a posse went to arrest him. He ran, and they gave chase, capturing him after shooting him several times. While the officers were guarding Morton, a mob overpowered them and took the prisoner out of their custody, and carried him three miles from town, and hanged him. The body was found at 9 o'clock next morning rigid in death. The matter was done so quietly that it was not known here until to-day. Morton was the son of a section foreman.

ESCAPING FROM CUBA.

The Sisters of an Insurgent General Expelled from the Island.

Tampa, Fla.—Senoritatas Counselo and Arita Arange, accompanied by their brother, arrived here Friday night from Havana en route to some place of safety. These young ladies are sisters of Gen. Raoul Arango, who is operating with the insurgents near Havana, and who was with the party that blew up the train near Havana a few days ago. This act so enraged General Weyler that he issues an order for these ladies to leave Cuba in short order or be punished for the crime of their brother against the Government. They had with them Weyler's order of expulsion. They would not make known their destination, but expressed great satisfaction at being safely away from Cuba. An agent of the Spanish Government was also a passenger. He goes to Washington with messages to Minister de Lome.

THREE CONVENTIONS.

Atlanta, Ga.—Vice-President Hector D. Lane, of the National Cotton Growers' Association, was here Friday in conference with President Broughton, of the Georgia Association. They were planning for more thorough organization. Colonel Lane states that three conventions of cotton growers will be held—one in Waco, Tex.; the second at Memphis, and the third in Atlanta. The purpose of the conventions will be to reduce cotton acreage and perfect a system of correspondence which will keep up with the acreage and condition of the crop throughout the season.

INDIAN AGENTS KILLED.

Raid of a Gang of Bandits on Stores and Offices.

Guthrie, O. T.—A gang of bandits attempted to raid the stores and Government offices at the Sac and Fox Agency Friday, and three men, including General Thomas, the Indian Agent, were shot and killed. The same report is prevalent at Shawnee, the nearest telegraph station to the agency, but no definite particulars can be obtained. General Thomas is from Atlanta, Ga.

BIG MILL BURNED.

Berlin, Austria.—The extensive cotton mill of Dollfus & Mantz, at Mulhausen, Alsace, was burned Saturday. Loss, $200,000.

THANKFULNESS.

Let us be thankful. Life is not so long;
Fast fades the day to night;
Half is but heartache; but some flower of song
Still lifts its leaves in light.

Let us be thankful. We shall one day gain
The summit crowned and high;
Beneath us leave the lightning and the rain
And face the clear, starred sky!

In the Museum: Aunt Hetty (looking at the Wild Men of Borneo)—"What a pity we can't send out more missionaries to civilize them critturs." Uncle Josh—"I dunno! If them fellers was civilized, they mightn't be able to git sech a good job."—Puck.

America Rich in Wild Plants.

Nearly all our grasses and forage plants are introductions from other countries, and every once in a while some botanical novelty is introduced with a flourish, and predatory runs made on the slim bank accounts of the agriculturist, who comes eventually to find the dearly-paid-for article no better than it should be. The botanists of the United States Department of Agriculture have recently shown that our own country is rich in wild plants of this character, and might add largely to profitable cultivation if only our progressive men could be induced to give them patient tests, so as to improve a little on their wild characteristics. The idea is that some far-fetched article must be acclimated before it can be valuable. The department has recently issued a valuable publication, profusely illustrated, showing that there are over two hundred wildlings or natives of the United States which are worth trial as forage plants, many of which would possibly prove mines of wealth to those who would intelligently undertake their culture and improvement. The different species of Hosackia it especially notes as worthy of trial.—New York Independent.

Mineral Wealth in Siberia.

D. M. Ivan and Peter Kulaboff, members of the Russian Geological Survey, who have been for some time past investigating the mineral resources of Siberia along the route of the great Siberian railway, arrived at San Francisco, Cal., recently on their way to St. Petersburg. They traveled a vast distance of mountain region. Their duty was to explore the country for 100 miles on the strip along which the road runs or is surveyed so as to get a good idea of what the country afforded.

"We found it a wonderful country, both in point of scenery and resources of gold, silver, copper, lead, coal and other minerals," said one of the gentlemen. "It was all we could have desired. We collected many specimens of different descriptions of ore which we are taking back with us to St. Petersburg. Besides the minerals there are many acres of magnificent agricultural ground, available chiefly for growing wheat, oats, barley and other cereals and vegetables. The great rivers of the country afford fine opportunities for commercial development. It has a thousand interests than can only be alluded to."—New York Mail and Express.

How Seeds Are Distributed.

The whole subject of the methods by which seeds are distributed is attracting considerable attention just now. It seems almost impossible to construct any general law by which to explain the reason for things in nature. It does seem, for instance, safe to say that wings are given to seeds to enable them to fly far away from the parent tree, and thus extend the area of territory occupied by the species. But in many of the large seed pines—the linden, and others, the hollow seeds only are the ones blown away. The solid, perfect seeds remain around the parent tree. The objectors to everything argue that wings are given to fan out the light, useless material. But this surely cannot always be.—New York Independent.

Keeping a Weathercock.

Old Bartle was a perfect example of the type which sees only the poorest and meanest sides of life and society, and one of his friends, a blacksmith with a quaint humor, thus accounts, in a conversation with the squire of the English village in which both men lived, for Bartle's idiosyncrasies:

"It's my belief, squire," said Samson, "that there old chap Bartle have a-swallowed the east wind, and it haven't agreed with un."

"Swallowed the east wind?" said the squire. "Why so, Samson?"

"Why, how else could he go on as he do? From morning to night, from one week's end to another, it's nothing but grumble, fidget and growl.

"First it's the dreadful accidents, the fires and the murders; then it's the fever and riots in Ireland; the paupers, the jails and the strikes. Everything's going wrong, and there's no good news anywhere.

"Why bless 'e, he come into my forge the other morning, and what's he do but begin foragin 'about among my tools and putting them to rights—'making 'em tidy,' he says—and upsetting things to that degree that every bit of fire went out of the coals and put me all of a cold sweat.

"'Be off, Bartle!' I says at last. 'Get away out into the sunshine there, and take a good drink of that, and see if it can't clear all them cobwebs out of your brains.' And with that, squire, away he goes out of the place like a mad March hare!"

"Well done, Samson!" said the squire; "well done! If he would but take your advice, that wretched old creaker would be a different man in a month. Now he is nothing but a nuisance to himself and all his neighbors. Good-night, Samson. How's the wind?"

"West, sir—west to everybody in the place but old Bartle. But he keeps his own weathercock, he do, and it's nothin' but east-by-northeast and dirty weather. It's a pity such people was ever born."

Statues.

To the uninitiated it is always a puzzle to know how a bronze or marble statue is made. The natural impression is that the sculptor, armed with mallet and chisel, chips his conception from a huge block of stone after modeling it in clay.

Such was the method of Michael Angelo, but to-day another manner prevails. The sculptor having modeled his figure most carefully, a plaster cast is taken. In the meantime, skilled mechanics have prepared a block of marble.

The plaster cast is placed beside this block and used as a model, the stonecutters copying point by point, measuring the cast with square, rule, and callipers.

The cutting goes on until a general outline of the statue is attained, when a skilled artisan, specially trained, takes it in hand, making a most faithful copy of the model under the sculptor's personal superintendence and direction.

When his work is completed, it only remains for the artist to give the finishing touches, a line here, an indentation there, bringing the statue into nearer realization with his conception.

A DECADE OF AGONY.

A Young Lady of East Syracuse Tells Her Story.

From the Standard, Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Rosamond Ash, who resides with her father, Mr. C. S. Ash, on Manlius Street, Syracuse, forwards the following testimonial to the virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and account of her sufferings, which is startlingly interesting:

MANLIUS STREET, SYRACUSE, N. Y.,
August 16, 1896.

"For the past ten years I have been a fearful sufferer from the most painful type of inflammatory rheumatism, which would make its appearance on the least possible provocation. Winter was when I suffered the worst, and it generally attacked me from my hips down, and I had to go to bed. While these attacks lasted, if anyone touched the bed even, I would scream with pain, as the least contact was unbearable, for every joint and every muscle gave me excruciating agony.

"While I was in this terrible condition, my pastor, Rev. Mr. Campbell, came to visit me, and told me he knew of a case very similar to mine that had been entirely cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and advised me to try them, as the physicians were not doing me any good. On this my father bought me two boxes, which I took according to directions, and I began to recover, getting stronger every day. I kept on with Dr. Williams' remedy until I had taken two dozen boxes, and by that time every trace of rheumatism was gone, and I am now as well as ever I was.

"If you have any doubts as to my statement, I refer you for its confirmation to Rev. Mr. Campbell, of Hastings, and Mr. Seever, of Hastings, the latter being Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School, who know all of the facts surrounding my extraordinary recovery. Pink Pills saved my life and gave me health and strength, and we will never be without them in our house.

(Signed) "ROSAMOND ASH.
"Manlius Street, East Syracuse, N. Y."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Sarsaparilla Sense.

Any sarsaparilla is sarsaparilla. True. So any tea is tea. So any flour is flour. But grades differ. You want the best. It's so with sarsaparilla. There are grades. You want the best. If you understood sarsaparilla as well as you do tea and flour it would be easy to determine. But you don't. How should you?

When you are going to buy a commodity whose value you don't know, you pick out an old established house to trade with, and trust their experience and reputation. Do so when buying sarsaparilla.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been on the market fifty years. Your grandfather used Ayer's. It is a reputable medicine. There are many sarsaparillas. But only one Ayer's. IT CURES.

"You see, to start with," said a Cleveland, Ohio, compositor, my work—that of setting type at the case—allows me little chance for exercise, and is too confining for anybody who is in the least subject to indigestion or dyspepsia. That has been my trouble for years, and I attribute the recent noticeable improvement in my physical condition to the occasional use of

I first heard of them through a fellow-workman who, on hearing my tale of woe, one day offered me a Tabule and said he would guarantee it to act on the liver. I took it under protest, but was surprised with the result. It was gentle but effective, and since then I have gradually noted an entire change in the working of my system, and I think that Ripans Tabules are the best remedy for liver and stomach troubles this side of anywhere. They are really in my case a substitute for physical exercise."

WASHINGTON RELICS

RARE DOCUMENTS RELATING TO THE GREAT AMERICAN.

Many Characteristic Traits Revealed in a Message in Martha Washington's Handwriting—Bill of his Tailor.

THE New York Herald reproduces two documents which throw light on George Washington's private life. We know a great deal about Washington as a soldier and statesman and it would be well if we knew as much about his private life. True, we have a general conception of the manner in which he conducted himself to his family, his servants and his neighbors, and what his personal tastes and habits were, but a thorough knowledge of him from this point of view can only be obtained by reading just such documents as the Herald publishes.

The first document is a letter from Martha Washington to her kinswoman, Mrs. Frances Washington. The letter was written by Martha, but was dictated by George Washington, who was then President of the United States. It was duly forwarded to its destination, but a draft was made by Washington's instructions and from this draft the Herald reproduction has been made. The note at the end of this letter is in Washington's handwriting; the letter itself is in his wife's. Here is the text, with a few slight changes in punctuation and spelling:

MARTHA WASHINGTON'S HANDWRITING.

"The President says you are already acquainted with his sentiments on the propriety of clearing out our lands and negroes in Berkeley. As it seems to be the intention to settle another plantation there, he thinks that the negroes, with such as you may incline to move up from Fairfax, had better be divided between the two places and each tenant be some man of character and responsibility who will be able to give security for the performance of the agreement. This will save you much trouble and reduce your business to a certainty, which never will be the case under overseers at a distance, as you seem to have experience already. He thinks articles should be drawn up by some professional man and careful person and every precaution taken to prevent waste of the timber or the cutting down too much thereof, and no consent either the land or the negroes (should) be permitted. As to the terms for which you should let the estate it must depend upon your own view of the subject, the will and the advice of your friends, those who are much better acquainted with the circumstances attending the estate and the ability of a lessee for shorter term than he is at this distance."

Then comes the following memorandum in George Washington's handwriting:

"Sentiments dictated by George Washington in a letter from Mrs. M. Washington to Mrs. Frances Washington, 2 June, 1793."

A peculiar interest attaches to this document for the reason that very few of Martha Washington's letters are in existence. Her husband, both in his official and private capacity, wrote a great deal; she apparently wrote comparatively little. Doubtless this sensible, good woman thought that she could spend her time more profitably than in letter writing, or it may be that her letters, being naturally of a private nature, were not preserved as carefully as those written by her illustrious husband. She may, however, have frequently acted as his secretary, especially when some family matter was under discussion, as in the present case. That she was not apt with the pen is evident. There is also a notable lack of punctuation throughout the letter, though the writer's clearness of mind is shown by the little dashes, which, except in one or two places, are used in lieu of full stops.

In his counsel that "no abuse of the negroes (should) be permitted" we see a striking trait of the man. No one was ever more kindly and indulgent than he. He owned many colored servants and treated them all well. Among them were carpenters, blacksmiths, wheelwrights and men skilled in other trades, "so that the plantation produced everything within itself for ordinary use." There may have been some good tailors on the plantation also, but Mr. Carlin, whose bill is reproduced herewith, was evidently not one of them.

Washington's kindness to his servants was indeed always marked. A few days before he died Mr. Lear, his secretary, brought him some letters to be franked, in order that they might be taken to the Postoffice, but, although Washington attended to his request, he said that the weather was too bad to send a servant out with them. Again, a few hours before he drew his last breath, he turned to his servant, Christopher, who had been in the room during the day, and almost the whole time on his feet, and kindly told him to sit down. He was President of the United States when he wrote to Mrs. Frances, with the cares of a nation on his shoulders, but yet he did not forget to say a kind word for the negroes, just as he did not forget the courtesy due to a menial when he was lying on his death-bed. We have many letters written by Washington, but few more worthy of study than this one to his kinswoman.

This Mrs. Frances Washington was the daughter of Colonel Burwell Bassett, of New Kent County, Virginia. She married on October 15, 1785, Colonel George Augustine Washington, who was the great George's nephew, being the son of his younger brother Charles. Mrs. Frances had four children, one of whom died in infancy. Her husband left her by will, which was probated in 1794, all his property as long as she remained a widow, though provision was made for the children as soon as they should marry or attain their majority. In the will is a full description of the Berkeley county property referred to in the letter.

TAILOR CARLIN'S LITTLE BILL.

The second document is very curious. Here is a verbatim copy. Mr. Carlin has such a distinct individuality that it seemed a pity to mar it by substituting modern English for his quaintly spelled words:

Wm. Carlin.

Now, who would look for George Washington's handwriting on a bill of this kind? And yet it is there. The bill itself and the signature are in the handwriting of the worthy tailor, Carlin, but the receipt, beginning at the word "Received" and ending at the date "1772," is in the handwriting of George Washington.

A quainter document has seldom been published. What an honest fellow Carlin is! He charges 5s. 7½d. to "makeing yr green wastcoat," but he takes care to explain that the odd 7½d. is only a fair payment for the silk used by him. Note, too, how careful he is to write the words "Errors accepted" at the end of the bill. If his bill is not entirely satisfactory—we are all human and liable to err—he is quite willing to listen to any arguments with a view to its reduction. On the other hand if he should have forgotten any item, he would naturally have the right to charge for it in a later bill. His precaution, however, did not avail him, as the receipt in Washington's handwriting shows. In it Mr. Carlin acknowledges that all the money due him has been paid; aye, even though George Washington still owes him a half-penny. The balance due to him is £5 12s. ½d., and he only receives £5 12s. Probably Washington had no coppers at hand, and Carlin was wise enough to take what he got and be thankful.

Washington kept all such bills as these with great care, and no one was more exact than he in seeing that they were correct. He was a good arithmetician, and his accounts were always in order. The "ciphering book," in which he wrote out the solution of many difficult sums, is still preserved.

That much of his income was spent on clothes can be readily seen. Though never a dandy, he liked good attire for himself and family, and no one was more careful than he that his servants should be comfortably clothed. Fashionable clothes, when needed, were imported direct from London, and we know from Washington's letters that he obtained in this way several elegant articles of attire for himself and his wife. On state occasions he dressed with great care, and we are even told that at those times "his horse's hoofs were blackened and polished as thoroughly as his own boots." On the day when he was inaugurated as President he wore a full suit of dark brown cloth with white silk stockings, all of which were of American manufacture; on his shoes were silver buckles; his hair was tied and powdered, and a steel hilted dress sword hung by his side. Whatever he wore, he always looked the great man he was.

"In the year of our Lord, 1790," says an admirer, who saw him in New York, "I stood upon the doorstep of the counting house, of which I was then but the youngest clerk, when the companion beside me hurriedly said, 'There he comes. There comes Washington.' I looked up Pearl-street and saw approaching with stately tread and open brow the father of my country. His hat was off, for the day was sultry, and he was accompanied by Colonel Page and James Madison. Never have I forgotten, nor shall I to my dying day forget, the serene, the benign, the godlike expression of the countenance of that man of men. His lofty mien and commanding figure, set off to advantage by an elegant dress, consisting of a blue coat, buff small clothes, silver knee and shoe buckles and white vest; his powdered locks and powerful, vigorous look (for he was then in the prime and strength of his manhood) have never faded from my mind during the many years which, with all their chances and changes, have rolled between." A more expressive pen picture than this it would be hard to find.

On the day when he bade farewell to the two houses of Congress he wore, and most appropriately, a full suit of black. In his hat, too, was a black cockade. Thus attired, he delivered his memorable address and remained perfectly self-possessed until near the close. "Then," says an eye witness, "when strong men's sobs broke loose, when tears covered their faces, then the great man was shaken. I never took my eyes from his face. Large drops came from his eyes. He looked to the grateful children who were parting with their father, their friend, as if his heart was with them and would be to the end."

Men of the upper class were scrupulous about their attire in those days, and Washington never laughed more heartily than when two of his friends lost their clothes. They were Judges, and were coming to visit him at Mount Vernon. They were very dusty after their long ride on horseback, and stopped in a wood on the outskirts of the estate in order to change their traveling dresses before entering the mansion. What was their dismay, however, when their servant opened the portmanteau, to find, instead of their dress clothes, cakes of Windsor soap, a lot of cheap jewelry and other pedler's ware. By some blunder their portmanteas had been exchanged for that of a Scotch pedlar at their last stopping place. Their plight was so ludicrous that they could not help laughing, and Washington hearing the noise, came up, and was so overcome by the ridiculous appearance of the group that "he rolled on the grass, almost convulsed with laughter." When he recovered, he probably conducted them to their bedrooms, and laid before them articles from his own wardrobe—very likely some of Carlin's handiwork.

Carlin's masterpieces, however, were evidently worn by some of Washington's servants. Giles, whose name appears in the bill, was clearly a postillion, for in a letter, dated November, 1790, Washington writes that the jockey caps of Giles and Paris are very much worn, and requests that new ones be made, with better tassels. Of this other postillion, Paris, we hear a bad report in June, 1791. According to John, the coachman, he has become uncontrollable, doing everything which he should not do, and nothing which he should do. As a postillion he is of no further use, and Washington decides not to take him with him when he goes to Philadelphia. What was Giles's end, we wonder. Was he one of those postillions whom Washington forbade to sleep over the stable because he was afraid that they would set fire to it?

But all are now gone—Giles and Tom and Joe, for whom "2 pr Bretches" were made, and dainty Mrs. Frances Washington and Martha and George Washington and even the great Carlin himself—and there remains only the imperishable renown of the master of Mount Vernon and his loyal helpmate. The others are but names that have been rescued from oblivion because it was their owners' good fortune to be for a time the associates of George Washington.

CROSSING THE DELAWARE.

I.

And so, you'd have me tell the tale
My father oft told me!
A story of the days when pale
Hope fled, and Misery
Stood stark and grim before that band
Of men beyond compare—
The tale of Washington the Grand,
Who crossed the Delaware!

II.

One Christmas night, long years ago,
When shrilly cold winds blew,
And through the darkened air the snow
On frozen pinions flew,
A little band of patriot souls
Stood brave and fearless whert
In iciness and anger rolls
The fretful Delaware.

III.

Nor ice, nor storm, nor cruel blast
Can hold these heroes back;
They have resolved; the die is cast
For Freedom's cause! A track
Of blood upon the snow they've left
From shoeless feet and bare;
Of all life's comforts they're bereft,
Beside the Delaware.

IV.

But "Onward! Onward!" is the word
Their brave commander speaks.
When thro' the storm his voice is heard
Each Son of Freedom seeks
To do his bidding; put aside
Is every woe and care—
There's vict'ry o'er the tide,
Across the Delaware.

V.

On through the gloomy, stormy night
With hardships dire they cope—
"For God, and Native Land, and Right!"
Their watchword and their hope;
Until at last, all cold and dank,
They greet the morning's glare;
Safe thro' the tide they've reached the bank
Across the Delaware.

VI.

And then, nine miles beyond they go,
With steady, solemn tread,
To where the hated Hessian foe
Sleep in their drunken bed.
Aroused from dissipation's doze
In wild surprise they stare,
And, conquered, give their swords to those
Who crossed the Delaware.

—George V. Hobart, in New York Herald.

THE WASHINGTON FAMILY.

Mary Ball's Tall Sons Were "Mute as Mice" in Her Presence.

Augustine, the second son of Lawrence Washington, was the father of George Washington. He is described as a tall man, of noble bearing, with fair complexion and fine gray eyes. After remaining some time in England, he returned to Virginia, and by 1715 had married Jane Butler, and settled down as a planter in Westmoreland County. In 1728 his helpmate died, leaving four children, of whom only two—Lawrence and Augustine—grew to maturity. Two years later, true to the custom of his family, the widower married again. His second bride was Mary Ball, of Lancaster County. She was the daughter of Colonel Joseph Ball, and was descended from respectable English colonists, who had settled on the banks of the Potomac.

Mary Ball's early life was quietly passed at Epping Forest, her father's plantation where she was bred in the domestic virtues which characterized the matrons of her day. She was little versed in book lore, but was of such commanding character as to inspire respect and obedience in all surrounding her, even in those who loved her most. We are told that her sons, though "proper tall fellows," were wont to sit as "mute as mice" in her presence. Only one thing could subdue her dauntless spirit, and that was the fear of lightning. In her youth a friend had been killed by lightning in her presence, and always after, at the approach of a thunder storm, Mrs. Washington would retire to her room, where she would shrink and tremble like the weakest of her sisters.

For several years after their marriage she lived at Wakefield, her husband's home on the Potomac, and there in 1732 George Washington, her eldest son was born. A few years later the family removed to a house in Stafford County, near Fredericksburg, where Augustine Washington died in April, 1742. Besides her two stepsons, the young widow was left with five children of her own—George, Elizabeth, Samuel, John Augustine, and Charles. To them she devoted her life, and George Washington always declared that his successful career was the result of his mother's teachings.—Munsey's Magazine.

Washington Never Celebrated.

If we were to follow the example of Washington himself there would be no holiday on February 22. The Father of his Country paid no more attention to the 12th of February (on which date he was born according to the old calendar) than he did to the 13th or 14th. So far as is known his good wife, Martha, did not even present him with a new snuff-box or handkerchief by way of recognition of this now world-famous anniversary. But his friends always remembered him.

The Historic Tree.

"I cannot tell a lie," said he,
As guilt suffused his brow,
And pointed to the cherry tree—
But that's a chestnut, now.

FINANCIAL HISTORY.

A GLIMPSE AT CONGRESSIONAL LEGISLATION SINCE 1860.

An Open Letter to Lyman J. Gage, McKinley's Secretary of the Treasury—A Cool Statement of Facts That Are Written in the Laws of Our Country.

To Lyman J. Gage:

In a few days you will assume the high office of secretary of the treasury. While I am radically opposed to the financial views which you are said to hold, yet I am conscious of the fact that unlike most men who have to do with banks, you are not opposed to reasoning with the advocates of the other side. Therefore I feel at liberty to make an argument in behalf of a liberal use of silver as money of redemption during your administration. You know what the condition of the country is today. You know that prosperity is not coming. You know that a high tariff alone cannot bring prosperity among the people. You know that an increase in the volume of money is the one thing that is necessary to a restoration of prosperity. You know that such an increase would have a tendency to cheapen all other money, and that holders of the latter would speedily invest their holding to catch the resultant rise in prices of labor's products. So far as the necessity of an increase in the volume of money is concerned gold and silver men agree. But as to the means they are at wide variance. The gold men believe that the increase should come through the national banks. The bimetallists contend that it should come through the government by free and unlimited coinage of silver and government paper. Within the limits of your administration a move in one direction or the other will have to be taken. Which is the better plan? Let us take a brief glance at our financial legislation since 1860.

Let it be remembered, and never be forgotten, that when the war of the last rebellion broke out in 1861, the treasury was left empty. The bankers of that day came forward and offered to furnish the government all the money it wanted, i. e., of its state bank notes, and take government bonds at 80 cents on the dollar in exchange for these notes.

Salmon P. Chase, the secretary of the treasury, thought the government of all the people would be better than any banker's bank notes, who had not one dollar in coin back of every ten, and in many cases twenty paper promises to pay, which they put out so congress passed an act, Aug. 5, 1861, to issue $50,000,000 demand notes which were paid to soldiers, officers etc.

The bankers, however, would take them for only 80 cents on the dollar, as they lacked the legal tender quality of money.

Congress, act of Feb. 12, 1862, issued another $10,000,000, and likewise $50,000,000 to take up the $50,000,000 already issued without the legal tender quality of money, and called in the first issue of demand notes. This sixty million never depreciated one cent after being made a full legal tender by act of March 17, 1862, but soon disappeared from circulation just as did all the metal money. This money lasted but a few days. Congress was about to issue another batch of $150,000,000, and that greatly alarmed the bankers, for they saw that their game was in danger. They dispatched their most polished lobbyists to Washington to advise the members of congress what was best to do in case of issuing paper money, as they called it.

Then the house of representatives passed an act to issue $150,000,000 of the same kind of legal tender paper money, making it legal tender for all debts public and private; while Mr. Belmont and others were laboring with the senate, saying that they would have to issue bonds and that Mr. Belmont had been authorized to say that Baron Rothschild would take three or four hundred millions of our bonds if they would make the interest payable in coin.

Salmon P. Chase remarked: "How could we pay the interest in coin, the treasury is empty of coin, and likely to be?"

"That is a very easy matter," remarked Belmont; "make your import duties payable in coin, then you will have the coin come in the treasury with which to pay the interest. You cannot expect Rothschild of England to take your paper money for the interest when it is only another promise to pay."

The house bill provided for the issue of $150,000,000 of pure, absolute, constitutional money, with the fiat of government upon paper—which is just as good as upon metal if the people have confidence in the stability of their government and have the taxing authority to tax the money back into the treasury which issued it.

It should be impressed upon every intelligent mind that the material upon which the fiat stamp of the government is impressed, does not change the representative value of the dollar. It is the number of dollars in circulation that gives it a high or low purchasing power. Take away half the money in circulation and all products of labor would sell for only half as much as when there was double the amount with which to do business.

When this bill passed the lower house and was sent to the senate for its approval and ratification, the bill was amended by the senate and made to read: "This is a legal tender for all debts public and private except duties upon imports and interest upon public debt."

Belmont's tampering with the senate had had its desired effect, to the great approval of the money power and the oligarchy of the country.

The bill was sent back to the house in that crippled condition, and that grand old commoner, Thaddeus Stevens of Pennsylvania, made a speech objecting to the senate amendments, and explained to the house of representatives the effect that would follow if the amendment crippling the legal tender quality of the money was allowed to attach to the bill.

The news came to Washington of the Bull Run disaster, indicating a possibility that the confederates might march to Washington, and money was needed and there was no time to parley over the exception clause, so the act was passed as it came from the senate, providing for the issue of the money at once, and in that crippled condition. Immediately Mr. Belmont wired Drexel, Morgan & Co., of Philadelphia, and the leading bankers in New York and Boston, to hold on to their coin, that now they had a bonanza, etc.

Gold and silver made a leap from a dollar to a dollar and a half. At that time state bank currency was in circulation, and when this crippled government money was put into circulation, gold and silver, with the first issue of $60,000,000 of demand notes, went out of circulation; was hoarded by bankers and speculators, for they could plainly see that it would go to a premium, as importers would have to have it to pay inport duties, which, at that time or soon after, amounted to $250,000,000 per annum.

Soon after this another batch of currency was issued with the exception clause on its back. Importers had to buy coin to pay import duties and had to pay $1.50 of crippled paper money for every $1 of coin.

Following this the national bank act was passed which enabled those who bought bonds to pay for them in greenbacks, and by depositing them with the treasurer of the United States could go into the banking business. The government would issue to said bank 90 per cent of currency signed by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, stating on said currency that: "This note is secured by the deposit of government bonds with the treasurer of the United States," which made the currency good. At about the same date the government passed an act stating that all private or state banks issuing notes and putting them in circulation should pay to the said government a tax of ten per cent annually on such of their notes as were in circulation. The act virtually compelled all banks of issue to go out of business. State banks were turned into national banks or had to bank on what genuine money they could command.

As the war progressed and the large volume of currency increased in circulation, prices of everything increased. Prices went up. It was a great time then to make money for labor and the products of labor were going up in price. Shrewd people got out of debt and had plenty of money to do business on a cash basis.

About the year '63 or '64 A. T. Stewart, that great importer, had a great cargo of costly goods come to New York from Europe, the import duties upon which was $100,000. Mr. Stewart took $300,000 in greenbacks to buy metal money with which to pay import duties, as the government would not accept the same kind of money that had paid to the gun holder and plow holder.

Mr. Stewart went straight to Wall street, to that great bank, Smith & Co., and they asked him $2.84 in greenbacks for one of coin. Stewart said he thought he could do better with Gillman & Co. All right, Mr. Stewart, that is your privilege. When Stewart left the office, Smith wired Gillman & Co.: "Stewart is coming. I asked him $2.84." Stewart stepped into the bank of Gillman & Co. just as Mr. Gillman turned from the instrument. "Good morning, Mr. Gillman," said Mr. Stewart, "I want $100,000 of something the government will accept for import duties." "You can have metal money for $2.85 on the dollar." "Let me have it," says Stewart, "I see you gentlemen have it in your power to put it up or down at your pleasure." Gilman said to his cashier: "Charlie, you may let Mr. Stewart have $50,000 of the first issue." "All right, sir." So he counted out $50,000 in $20 gold pieces and $50,000 of the first issue of demand notes. Mr. Stewart asked why he had to give them $2.85 of one kind of paper money for $1.00 of another kind, both issued by the same government. "Why, Mr. Stewart," answered the bland cashier, "I give you this, sir, as a courtesy, so you will not be hampered with the heavy metal money." Turning over one of the demand notes, he continued, "You see, Mr. Stewart, this the government will accept for import duties, as there is no exception clause upon the back of it." Stewart said he could not see why the government did not issue all that kind of money. The cashier replied: "If they had, we could not have sold you this kind of money, stamped upon 25 8-10 grains of gold for $2.85 of other government money."

Stewart then remarked that he would have to charge up to the stock of goods $285,000, with profit and interest, and said it would all come out of the consumers of the goods. The government gets $100,000 and you gentlemen get a profit of $185,000.

Few people have any conception how millionaires have been made at the expense of wealth producers, who are the consumers, by that exception clause on the back of the greenback, which, in that crippled condition, saved the country in the time of need, when gold and silver hid in shylock's coffers.

What chance has the wealth producer, the common laborer, to compete with those who have been given hundreds of millions of national bank currency as a pure donation?

The national banker secured his bank notes from the government by depositing bonds paid for with greenbacks which did not cost the first purchaser over 40c on the dollar in coin. He thus draws from the government twice as much money as he originally invested, besides being allowed the privilege of drawing interest on the full face value of the bonds and 90 per cent of currency, and all exempt from all taxation, except having to pay 1 per cent on such of the bank notes as are kept loaned out. All the notes of bank currency in the bank are exempt from taxation.

In the year 1869 the bondholders and national bankers needed a little legislation in regard to the five-twenty bonds which had been issued and made payable after five years or which might run twenty years, at the pleasure of the government. The five years were up Jan. 1, 1869. The holders of these bonds called a conference of themselves, as they saw clearly that the government had reserved the right to pay off said bonds after five years, with the same kind of money that it had received in payment for them, which was greenbacks, and the government had a large amount of it on hand piled up in the treasury, the same having been received in payment for these said bonds and which was afterwards ordered by congress to be destroyed. The conference came to the conclusion that as an inducement to the government to refund said bonds into long time bonds and make the new bonds payable both principal and interest in coin at the then standard and fineness, each silver dollar to be 371¼ grains of pure silver or 412½ with the alloy, and each gold dollar to contain 25 and 8-10 grains—9-10 fine. A resolution was passed pledging each member of said bondholder conference to recommend to his member of congress that there be a bill passed to refund said $1,000,000,000 of five-twenties.

As a consequence, a bill was introduced, called the credit strengthening act, which was a misnomer. I could not understand why the government wanted its credit strengthened after the war was over. The fact of the matter is the act was so named purposely to deceive the people.

This bill provided for the refunding of the five-twenties into a new issue to run thirty years, draw 4 per cent instead of 6 per cent and to be paid, interest and principal in coin.

The bill provided for payment on or before thirty years, but the words "on or before" were erased and the word "after" inserted, before the bill was enrolled.

Then in 1873 there was an act passed to revise the coinage laws. In said revision the silver dollar of 412½ grains was dropped out of the coinage act, and the coinage of a trade dollar provided for to contain 420 grains of silver and was made a legal tender for $5.00 only, it being claimed that said trade dollar was coined for the China trade. What did congress want to coin such a dollar for when at that time the dollar containing 412½ grains of silver was worth 103 cents in gold in Liverpool or London? It was to deceive and rob the people by making the bonds payable in gold. That was the aim of the tools of monopoly which make up the American congress.

The silver dollar was the unit of value from the foundation of this government until 1873, when it was changed to gold, gold being the only money of final redemption to-day. The silver dollar is to-day a legal tender, and the greenback is nothing less. There is not a bond outstanding to-day but what is payable in silver dollars. Why not pay off the bonds which are payable? Pay them off in silver dollars. The treasurer's report says there is about 400,000,000 silver dollars and bullion piled up in the treasury vaults. Why is it there? Because the money oligarchy controls a majority of the members of congress.

Now, the next scheme is to retire the $346,000,000 of greenbacks by issuing $300,000,000 new fifty year bonds, and on said bonds let the national bankers draw the full face value of the bonds in national bank currency. Will the people submit to it? We will see.

And further, there will be another issue of bonds before another year passes. It looks very much as though the people must submit to become hewers of wood and drawers of water. Make them poor and dependent, and they will become humble and obedient servants. As it is in Europe, so shall it be in America. We will have barracks, garrisons and arsenals, and a great addition to the army, to keep down strikers who are called anarchists. Then good-bye liberty, the doors will be closed and never can be opened.

A Good, Big School.

The biggest public school that has been on this planet since Adam was a boy is now in full blast; the scholars are hungry, poor, despairing, ragged, mad all over; but they are being educated at a rate to make your eyes hang out. The miller cannot grind with the water that has passed. And the men plutocracy swindled out of their votes in 1896 can't be cheated again in 1898. The fluttering flags of despair, pendant beneath their coat tails, will remind them of how they were "played for suckers." They have had enough. Dont despair. God rules and the people begin to think. There are a great many fools, but they do not constitute the entire population. Take possession of the government. How? Work among your neighbors. Spread Populist literature all around you. A little leaven leaveneth a great mass. Work as you never worked before—for home, country and civilization.—Ignatius Donnelly in Representative.

THE legislature adjourned Tuesday night until Thursday to enable the clerks to catch up with their work and will finally adjourn today.

SENATOR Sayre, who has been appointed judge of the city court of Montgomery, has resigned the presidency of the Senate, and Hon. Frank L. Pettus of Dallas was elected in his place.

THE constitutional convention bill is done for. It was killed in the Senate by a vote of 18 to 11, the Populist senators of course voting in the majority. We now have at least two more years in which to fight any and all propositions looking to the disfranchisement of our people.

THE Dallas grand jury declares that the receipts and disbursements of the county treasury have not been published semi-annually, as provided by law, in several years. It is the rule not to publish them in the black belt, despite the mandatory statute to that effect.—Monitor.

THE women of Mobile have undertaken to erect a monument to Admiral Semmes, commander of the Confederate cruiser "Alabama," and will be glad to receive contributions to the fund. Subscriptions should be sent to Mrs. E. W. Christian, Treasurer, 350 Adams Street, Mobile.

HON. Truman H. Aldrich, representative from the ninth congressional district of Alabama, last week presented to Congress a petition from citizens of Hale county, praying that, as their rights as citizens are denied them, they be relieved of all duties required of them as citizens of the United States. The petition was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

THE city of Clanton will hold its election for mayor and four councilors on Monday March 1. Let every man vote for those he thinks best fitted to fill the offices. So far as we have been able to learn only two gentlemen are avowedly candidates for the mayor's office—J. M. Stanfield and T. A. Curry. Whether they will head two separate tickets or not no one seems to know. It seems to us it would be well for some sort of ticket to be made public so that our citizens would know whom they are likely to have in the council. Important duties devolve upon them and we should have the best material in the city.

MR. Thomas S. Plowman began Tuesday the taking of evidence disproving the claims of Hon. W. F. Aldrich.

Two courts will be run simultaneously throughout the forty days allowed by law and every white voter in the county will be examined. Lewis Bamberger and R. E. L. Neil are acting as special commissioners and Mr. Plowman will be represented by Hon. H. F. Reese and Hon. Francis L. Pettus, late president of the State senate. Mr. Aldrich is represented by William Vaughan, chairman of the republican State executive committee, and Wade Mothershed, both of Birmingham.

Mr. Aldrich's claims, as to Dallas county, are that he received 2,501 more votes than were returned for him and that 2,501 negroes were present at the polls and desired to vote for him, but were prevented from doing so by threats and violence.

THE CLANTON CHARTER OF INCORPORATION.

THE charter is a pretty lengthy document, but from it we glean the following particulars:

The corporate limits from a point beginning at the trestle north of the depot follow, within fifty yards, the creek round to the trestle south of the depot, then continues up creek to Edwards, cuts across north to creek again and then east to north trestle.

The corporation may sue and be sued and have the right to purchase or sell property to the amount of $20,000.

There is to be a mayor and four councilmen, who must have resided in the city two years and are to be elected every year in January. Voters must have resided in city six months. The copy of the charter we have before us places the mayor's salary at $100 per annum and certain fees, clerk $100, marshal $300 and fees, but we believe these amounts were raised to $500 in each caser. The mayor has authority to ty cases the same as the judge of county court. Mayor must make $1000 bond, marshal $500 and clerk $500.

The marshal is appointed by the council; he will preserve order and may make arrests one mile outside of city limits.

Clerk is to be appointed by the council who will fix his salary. He will act as clerk, treasurer, tax assessor and collector.

Council may employ police if necessary and also a surveyor to survey and make a plat of the town May levy tax up to the constitutional limit of ½ of 1 per centum; require all persons subject to road duty to work the streets ten days in each year or pay a street tax not to exceed $5; remove nuisances at cost of persons causing the same; license and tax shows and peddlers; prohibit disorderly houses, racing, prize-fighting, cock-fighting, gaming and gaming houses; prohibit any person from selling, keeping for sale, giving away or otherwise disposing of any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or other intoxicating beverages, or intoxicating bitters or concoctions of any kind; punish violations of the Sabbath and persons using profane or abusive language, public drunkness, and carrying concealed weapons, discharging fire arms and fire crackers; may prevent the running of stock at large upon the streets; take care of and regulate all burying-grounds within the town, may license and tax all persons in business, trade or profession. The council may exempt from taxation for ten years any real or personal property used for industrial and manufacturing purposes.

Taxes are to be assessed each year from Jan. 1 to Feb. 15, are due Oct. 1 and delinquent Nov. 1.

The Morgan Bill now before the Senate provides that the government shall subscribe for $70,000,000 and guarantee the bonds of the Nicaragua Canal Company for $100,000,000 more. But for some delay brought about by the representatives of the Central American Republics our government would ere this doubtless have been committed to this extravagance. If the government is to go into the canal building business let it own the canal.

Although Senator-elect Heitfelt, of Idaho, is indisputably "competent, intelligent and honest," it is said by some that he "lacks the essential qualifications of a Senator." What are they?

Judge George Turner, in his acceptance speech when elected to the United States Senate from Washington, declared himself a Populist, favoring government ownership of utilities and government issue of all money. He had been a silver republican.

The fire department costs them $60,000. The mayor and a majority of the board of aldermen claim that an enormous saving to the tax-payers could be made by the municipality assuming these risks.

The women of Idaho are taking their enfranchisement very seriously. Clubs for the study of tax methods, co-operations, single tax, and municipal government are being organized all over the state.

One hundred thousand people are reported to be in a starving condition in the State of Louisiana. They have subsisted entirely on turnips for months. The same distress extends into South-western Arkansas and the legislature of that state has taken steps to furnish relief,

The Alabama Anti-Trust law recently passed provides that any corporation guilty of entering into any combine to lessen free competition in importation, sale or manufacturing of any article shall have its charter revoked and the individual shall be fined and imprisoned. A law prohibiting any Insurance company which is connected with any combine from doing business in the state has also been passed

Gold contracts are no longer legal in Missouri. A Fellow-Servant Bill has also been passed.

Great preparations are being made for the entertainment of Populist editors at Kansas City, Mo., on February 22nd. The headquarters will be at Hotel Ashland, where rates of $1.25 and $1.50 per day have been secured. A banquet will be tendered the visiting editors and everything will be done by the Commercial and Press clubs to promote the success of the meeting. A. R.

Only One Standard

You and we may differ as to money standards and out of our very differences good may come. But we won't differ as to the merits of one standard emulsion of cod-liver oil.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has won and held its way for nearly 25 years in the world of medicine until to-day it is almost as much the standard in all cases of lung trouble, and every condition of wasting whether in child or adult as quinine is in malarial fevers.

Differ on the money question if you will, but when it comes to a question of health, perhaps of life and death, get the standard.

Your druggist sells Scott's Emulsion. Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00

West Chilton Warblings

Editor BANNER: Enclosed you will find renewal of my subscription I cannot do without the BANNER; every man in the county that is the head of a family, ought to subscribe for the BANNER, and quit borrowing his neighbor's paper to read.

I saw in the BANNER that the citizens of beat 4 were called to meet at Clanton the 6th in regard to the hellish stock law. Dear brethren, I can say to you who want a stock law that you are making a bad step in the wrong direction. Stock law is the next thing to hell upon earth. I know this to be so. I have two brothers that live in it down in Dallas and they tell me so. It puts neighbors to falling out, fussing, fighting and lawing one another. This is the nature of stock law, it just deliberately means no stock. I think men who want a stock law are too rotten lazy to split rails and make fence. I truly hope all who are in favor of it may reconsider the matter and down it at once and keep it out of Chilton county, it is not needed here yet.

Farmers are getting on very well considering the bad weather; there has been a heap of fresh land opened in these parts this winter, log rollings are on hand now, and there is being a great deal of oats sown.

Mr. E. W. Bailey has moved into his new residence.

Rev. J. W. Ruddick of Stanton had the misfortune to lose his dwelling house by fire a few days ago, the house was a total loss, but all his household effects were saved.

Capt. Robert Prayor, of East Perry lost his gin and 12 bales of cotton by fire a few days ago, with no insurance on it at all.

Mr. Blalack and Miss Mamie Latheram, of Stanton, visited Capt R. J. Mitchell at Valley Creek last Sunday.

We are proud to say that Miss Wilder Gay has returned home from the hospital in Selma, where she has been for two months and is greatly improved of her afflictions.

R. P. Barnes and W. H. Friday went to Chadwick last Sunday to see their best girls.

Success to the BANNER and its readers. OLD MIKE.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phœbe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at J. S. Jonson, Jr., Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

Jemison, Ala., Feb. 15, 1897.

A little wave of prosperity seems to be in sight, if a new store is any indication. Messrs. Adams, Mims & Co., have a house nearing completion. The company is composed of straight forward honest dealers.

On the 10th inst. at the residence of Mr. Claude Mooney in Jemison, Miss Claudy Murphy and Mr. J. S. Sessions of Shelby county were happily married We congratulate Mr. Sessions in finding such a rare jewel, we knew her in little innocent childhood, now her adorable looks tell to the beholder, her amiable sweet disposition. May happiness unmarred by disappointment be forever in their pathway as they march side by side over the sea of time. The bride is a half sister to the lamented Col. Murphy, who was one of the first-class attorneys of Alabama. Mr. Sessions carried his lovely bride to his home which was already set in order for the abode of two hearts that beat as one.

Friends, some things may slip your memory, but don't forget THE BANNER. IGNORAMUS.

THE MISSING WORD.

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately ..... as cause and effect,"

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and probably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the western hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the eastern and western states, than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the comest and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger without appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS.

5 DROPS — 49 YEARS OF SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATISM.

Read carefully this testimonial found below, also letters from those who have been cured of other diseases and remember that "5 Drops" has and can never fail to quickly relieve and permanently cure.

DEAR SIR:—Your bottle of "5 Drops" received. It was for an old friend, Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Martinstown Wis. He has had Neuralgia in his chest, suffering a great deal of pain, so much so that it affected his heart and he could not sleep on account of a smothered feeling. He has been under the care of the most eminent physicians, but found no relief until I gave him a dose of "5 Drops." The very first night he rested well, and has ever since, and is gaining daily. I myself am 67 years old and began taking your medicine last April, for Rheumatism, which I have had for 49 years, also for a weak heart. Since taking "5 Drops" the Rheumatism has all disappeared, the stiffness is gone from my joints, and my heart never misses a beat. I am to-day a well, strong woman, and I owe it to "5 Drops." I only wish I could sound my bugle of praise loud enough to be heard all over the world, and could convince every one that "5 Drops" is all you claim it to be and more.

Mrs. D. T. Carver, Winslow, Stevenson Co., Ill.

34 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

DEAR SIR:— JANUARY 2, 1897.

Over 34 years ago, I had Typhoid Fever, and barely escaped with my life. It left my system so shattered that I have had ever since, Rheumatism and Throat Trouble, which gave me a terrible Cough. I had been unable to find any relief for these diseases until I learned of your "5 DROPS" which I commenced taking only two months ago, and my cure has been indeed wonderful. Already my cough has entirely disappeared and the Rheumatism which for a few years past has threatened to make a cripple of me is cured, and I am free from pain. This is the most wonderful and the quickest remedy ever discovered. I am more thankful to you than words can tell and I want everybody to know what "5 DROPS" has done for me. Although I am over 70 years old, I am feeling better than I have in years.

I shall be glad to answer any questions regarding my case from anyone enclosing a two cent stamp. Gratefully yours,

MRS. SAMUEL RIDLET, Lutcheford, Mich.

CATARRH AND HAY FEVER.

I find the bottle of "5 DROPS" to be very good and just what you claim. My wife has been suffering with Catarrh and Hay Fever over 16 years. She has tried everything and doctored much, but no cure until she tried "5 DROPS" which completely cured her.

Yours truly REV. L. VON WALD,
March 31, 1896. Milbank, S. D.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA.

For twenty long years my wife suffered untold tortures from Sciatica and Neuralgia, and I thank God for the day that your heaven-sent remedy fell into my hands, for it completely cured her. I am a minister of the Gospel, and when I find any who suffer, I cannot help but recommend "5 DROPS", for I know it will do more than you claim for it.

REV. F. M. COOPER Washington Center, Mo.

PARALYSIS AND RHEUMATISM

DEAR SIRS: NOVEMBER 9, 1896.

It is with pleasure I speak of your priceless remedy and of the good it has done me. For the last eight years I have been an incurable cripple from paralysis and rheumatism. Just think, for eight years a total cripple, not able to earn a penny, not able to walk or step on the ground without the aid of something to lean on. Heaven bless the man who discovered this remedy, for, thanks to him and God, I am able to walk and able to work. I have only taken two-thirds of a bottle, but have not had any pain in my back since I took the first dose, and after the second I walked across the floor, which I have not done in years. I have thrown away my cane and shall never need it again. To any one sending me a two-cent stamp I will send my affidavit. I have another bottle of "5 DROPS" and value it at a drop per drop.

Thankfully yours, EDWARD CASTLE,
1007 Wall street. Sioux City, Iowa.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

DEAR SIRS: SEPTEMBER 24, 1896.

I wish to tell you and suffering humanity how much good "5 DROPS" has done me. On the beginning of this year I took down bedfast with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and I was doctored by as good physicians as this country has, but they could not cure me. On August 4, I began to take "5 DROPS." At that time every joint in my body and my limbs were stiff, so that I could not be moved. Even my tongue was getting so that I could hardly speak so any one could understand me, but to-day, only seven weeks from that time, I am absolutely cured, and thank you and God for my recovery.

Gratefully yours,
HORACE F. ANDERSON, McCracken, Kans.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief, and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism Neuralgia, Sciatica, Catarrh, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Backache, Hay Fever, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and kindred diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle, prepaid by mail, 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER. 10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC ..... CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS ..... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet eaten by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE ..... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN .... CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE ..... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED ... CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT ..... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS ... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

A Fresh Definition.

Old Squire Prince, of Franklin County, Tennessee, was the "larned" man of the community. Many an illiterate one came to have him write and read their letters. On one occasion a man asked him to decipher an epistle he had received from Texas. In it occurred the word "emigrant." "What is an imigrant?" asked the dumfounded tanbark hauler.

"Wall," stuttered the Squire, scratching his white hair with his spectacles for inspiration. "An imigrant is a, is an animile, suthin twixt a possum and a coon, an powerful hard on corn."

Healthfulness of Powder Works

Apart from the dangers of explosion which, by the way, are less frequent than is generally supposed, gunpowder mills are exceedingly healthful places. Such a thing as a workman dying from consumption is unheard of, the explanation being that the constant breathing into the lungs of dust containing charcoal, sulphur and saltpetre is beneficial to them. Even horses employed in gunpowder mills are found to be fatter and sleeker than those from the same stable worked elsewhere.

A Queer Little Republic.

East of Australia and north of New Caledonia is the Republic of Franceville, an island with an area of 83 miles. Its inhabitants number 550, of whom 40 are white and 510 natives. It was once a colony of France, but in 1879 it was declared independent, and its people at once adopted a republican constitution. It is governed by a President and a council of eight, elected by the people—black and white, men and women. Only white males hold office. The President elected recently is R. D. Polk, a native of Tennessee, and a relative of James K. Polk, one of the Presidents of our own republic.

He has increased his single finger lift from 600 pounds to 750, while the dumbbell that he raises with one hand weighs 255 pounds, an increase of 50 pounds over that of last year. His harness lift has been increased from 5,800 to 6,100 pounds.

ARBITRATION TREATY DEAD

Report that Lady Passengers Were Stripped by Spanish Officials to be Investigated.

FOR RELIEF OF SUFFERERS IN INDIA.

Secretary Herbert Authorized to Use a Naval Boat for Transporting Supplies.—Senatorial Dignity Has Another Throw Down.—Opposition to the Monetary Conference Bill.

Washington, D. C.—Special correspondence.—The arbitration treaty is dead for this session of Congress. Despite all the efforts of its friends to patch it up so as to cover its weak points in the hope that this sugar coating would make it palatable to the men with American palates, it is still strongly objected to. The adoption by the Foreign Relations Committee of that amendment specifically declaring that all matters to be submitted to arbitration must be revised by the treaty making the power—the Senate as well as the Executive—would, it was thought, by some of the ardent friends of the treaty, eliminate all opposition. But it soon developed in Saturday's executive session that these hopes had no real foundation. The oposition was apparently as great as before, the opponents of the treaty contending that the amendments submitted did not begin to correct all of the evils in the treaty. No formal vote was taken, but when the executive session was dissolved, it was with the tacit understanding that there will be no further attempts at ratification until the new administration comes in.

Representative Cummings, of New York, has introduced a resolution requesting the Secretary of State to give the House of Representatives any information he may have concerning the incident of the stripping of three lady passengers on board the United States mail steamer Olivette in the harbor of Havana by Spanish soldiers, and detectives. The resolution recites that the alleged occurence was described in a New York paper. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and a report is expected next week. Mr. Cummings said as to the resolution: "If an English woman or an English vessel had been stripped by Spanish officials, and it has been alleged that an American woman was stripped, within forty-eight hours Mora Castle would come down or some apology would be made for it. I doubt if even Japan would have stood it. Furthermore, if the American Government stands it, in my opinion, it indicates a total loss of manhood and the keenest sympathy with savage inhumanity."

At Saturday's session of the Senate Mr. Perkins (Rep., Cal.) secured immediate consideration of a joint resolution directing the Secretary of the Navy to employ a naval vessel or chartered ship to convey grain to the famine-stricken people of India. The resolution recites that famine and plague are causing great distress, and the loss of thousands of lives in India that the famine can be in part stayed by sending products of other localities to the distressed districts, and that many of the Western States have contributed grain. The resolution therefore directs the Secretary of the Navy to place a suitable vessel at the service of the authorities of San Francisco, or to charter a vessel of 1,200 to 2,000 tons for the shipment of contributions. The appropriation necessary for expenses is provided. There was no discussion of the resolution, and it passed unanimously.

It may become necessary for Major McKinley to speak out if he wishes the monetary conference bill to pass the house, as several republicans in the house are engaged in working up opposition, on the ground that the bill is a snare set for the incoming administration, by Senator Chandler and others who opposed the nomination of Mr. McKinley, and who, it is alleged, do not wish to see his administration a success. The plainest talker among the opponents of the bill is Representative Hill, of Conn., a republican and a believer in the gold standard, and Representative Brewster, of New York, who shares his views, is a close second.

The amended immigration bill, having passed both branches of congress goes to the President. Before the bill was amended so as to allow the illiterate wives and minor children of immigrants, who complied with the law, to come in, it was semi-officially stated to be the intention of the President to veto the bill, but it is now said that the amendments remove the objectionable features and that he will now sign it.

A record was made by congress the past week in passing bills over the veto of the President. The house passed two, both pension bills, in favor of widows of soldiers who had married again and lost their second husbands by death, and the senate passed the bill, which is now a law, relating to the holding of court in the Eastern Texas district.

President Cleveland has returned from his ducking trip down the river with thirty birds to his credit. He was accompanied by Commander Lamberton, and on the arrival of the Maple at the wharf they were met by a conveyance and driven to the White House. The President, who has been working for a fortnight until nearly 3 o'clock every morning, was much benefited by his outing.

Senator Allen's resolution prohibiting any army or navy officer accepting a gift of value, which he makes no secret of being intended to prevent a Washington residence being given to Gen. Nelson A. Miles as a reward for his services during the Chicago strike, is being much talked about.

MADMAN'S DEED

Horrible Affair at Lexington, Kentucky.

BLOODY DOMESTIC TRAGEDY

John Marris Kills His Child and Tries to Kill Others of the Family.

HE THEN CUTS HIS OWN THROAT.

Spanish Troops Pouring Into Phillipine Islands.—Executive Clemency, Alone, Can Save Jackson and Walling.—Bryan at Chicago.—Joe Shelby Dead.

Lexington, Ky.—The bloodiest domestic tragedy that ever happened here took place at 7:45 a. m., Saturday, when John Marris killed his four-year-old son, John, shot his fourteen-year-old daughter, Helen, tried to kill his sister, Ida, and killed himself. Marris was about 40 years old, and has been a member of the firm of M. Kaufman & Co., clothiers, for years; was prominent in building association circles, owned a great deal of real estate, and was considered one of the most promising and successful of Lexington's younger business men.

When the servant girl went into his room this morning Marris sprang from his bed, and the girl fled from the room. When half way down the steps she heard pistol shots. Mrs. Marris and her sister-in-law, Miss Ida Marris, a teacher in the public schools ran to the room. They heard two more shots as they were going up, and Mrs. Marris fainted at the steps just as her daughter, Helen, ran out of the room and fell. Ida rushed into the room. Marris felled her with a blow and as she fell he fired a pistol at her.

Neighbors forced the door and found Marris with his throat cut from ear to ear, his head almost severed from the body. In his hand was a large razor covered with blood; on the floor was a large, old-fashioned revolver with four chambers empty. On the bed was the boy with a hole in the center of his forehead, his throat cut from ear to ear, and three pieces of flesh cut from the right cheek. Helen was picked up in the hall unconscious. A bullet had struck her in the back of the head, ranged downward and lodged in her neck. She will recover. Ida Marris' wounds are not dangerous but she is badly prostrated from the shock. Mrs. Marris is in a precarious condition from the shock.

STILL POURING IN.

A poor looking lot, evidently fresh Rebels Sink Two Boats.

Vancouver, B. C.—The steamer Empress of China, which arrived at this port from the Orient recently brought advices as follows:

"Information obtainable about the Phillipine rebellion is not of a satisfactory nature, and there is evidence of the work of the censor on the face of all of it.

Spanish troops are still pouring into Manila from Europe about 1,200 per steamer. There must be between 12,000 and 20,000 in the Phillipines at the present moment. The fighting has been chiefly in the Province of Bulu can, and nothing but Spanish successes are heard of. Under date of January 4, the following advices have been received:

Since the arrival of Governor-General Polavija, some forty or fifty rebels have been shot at Manila, including the notable Dr. Bizal. He died very bravely, if somewhat theatrically, dressing himself in his best fot the occasion. He wished to have his face to the firing party, but this was not allowed. He refused, however to kneel down. The impression here is that it was altogether a mistake on the part of the authorities to deal with him as with a rebel. It is generally thought he was more a patriot than a rebel. Dr. Bizal made a long speech before dying.

The rebels have sunk two long boats at the mouth of the lake, and have stopped navigation as far as that point up the river. Last week a river steamer was received with heavy fire and eighteen shots passed through it, while the saloon was completely riddled. The captain was shot through the neck, and several sailors were also wounded. A column of 300 Spanish troops was completely annihilated in the ambuscade.

New troops arriving from Spain are a poor looking lot, evidently fresh from the plow, and many seem never to have handled weapons before. It is reported that 150 of them are under arrest for refusing to go to the front and fight.

H. M. S. Daphine and Spartan, French gunboat Conlete and the Japanese cruiser Yuishinto are the foreign warships at Manila.

Governor Chen, of Huan, has decided to open the mint for the coinage of silver dollars. Machinery and artisans are now en route from Canton on a gunboat. A Japanese commission of investigation estimates the cost of laying a cable from Japan via Hawaii to San Francisco at $14,680,000, including two steamers. The anual gross receipts are estimated at $1,674,000 and the expenses at $900,000.

GEN. SHELBY DEAD.

Adrian, Mo.—General Joe Shelby died at his farm near here at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. General Shelby was one of the most gallant of Confederate soldiers, a dashing and intrepid leader. He was United States Marshal of Missouri at the time of his death.

It is proposed to place tablets on the former sites of the World Fair buildings at Chicago.

SENSATIONAL EPISODE.

In the Hall of the Tennesse House of Representatives.

Nashville, Tenn.—If it had not been for the coolness of Speaker Thompson, Comptroller Harris and other gentlemen, the Capitol would have been the scene of a tragedy Friday afternoon. It was the recurrence of the old feud between Senator Butler and ex-Superintendent of Schools Frank M. Smith.

Governor Taylor had sent in the names of Prof. Price Thomas, of Union City, to be the superintendent of public instruction and John T. Essary, of Hamblen, to be the commissioner of agriculture.

Before taking the vote Senator Butler arose and said he was proud to have an opportunity to vote for Prof Thomas. He had, he said, known his family, from boyhood. They came from fine old Virginia stock, and he felt in the selection of Prof. Thomas the State would have a gentleman and a schollar and not a brute, coward and ruffian in office. The nominations were then unanimously confirmed.

In ten minutes some one told Capt. Smith what Butler had said. Capt Smith became very angry, andwalked up through the Senate Chamber. Coming out, he took a stand at the door, and awaited the coming of Senator Butler. There was a good deal of excitement, and some one telephoned Chief of Police Clack to dispatch some officers to the capital. In a few minutes three detectives were on the ground.

While all this was going on, Speaker Thompson and Comptroller Harris were trying to arrange the matter.

Finally a paper was drawn up in which Senator Butler withdrew the objectionable language.

It was presented to Capt Smith, who agreed to let the matter drop if Senator Butler would read it and have it spread on the journal. This was done, and the clouds of war passed away.

In the paper withdrawing his remarks Senator Butler said he did it as a Representative of Tennessee, but reserved the right to express his opinion of men and measures on the floor.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Alone Can Save Jackson and Walling from Being Hanged.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Kentucky Court of Appeals has denied the application for a rehearing of the appeals in the case of Scott Jackson and Alonzo Walling, the murderers of Pearl Bryan. This disposes of the cases, so far as the Court of Appeals is concerned.

There is no further steps that can be taken by the attorneys for the prisoners excepting an appeal to Executive clemency.

The response, which was written by Judge Durelle, is an exhaustive review of the contentions advanced by the attorneys in their petitions and briefs, and covers four pages of type-written matter. Only one response is delivered to the two cases, evidencing the fact that they were considered together, notwithstanding the case of Walling contained points materially different from that of Jackson.

FLYING MACHINE INVENTION.

Chicago Man Says His Ideas Have Been Stolen.

Chicago, Ill.—The description of the flying machine that Leonard E. Clawson and Adam Beck, of San Francisco, claim to have invented and successfully tested, has brought forth the statement from Charles Andress, of this city, that they have stolen his ideas. Andress claims that two years ago, while residing in New Orleans he took a sketch of his machine to a model-making firm on Poydras street, who moved away without delivering the model, and Andress never got track of them. In his model the lifting power is supplied by four wings working at right angles from a ball-bearing center. These wings are so constructed that two go up while two are going down. Andress says that he applied for a patent some time ago through Joseph Wolfson, a New Orleans attorney.

AN OLD MAN'S CRIME.

Arrested for Sending Obscene Matter Through the Mails.

Florence, Ala.—R. N. Davis, charged with sending obscene matter through the United States mails, was arrested and placed in jail, at this place, late Sunday night. The letters about which he was arrested, were written in answer to leters of inquiry from H. F. Curry, who lives near Godsden, Alabama, and that Curry had him arrested. Davis is an old man and has a family. He has been living on the river here since November. Preliminary hearing will be held before U. S. Commissioner G. H. Smith Wednesday.

TRAIN "SWINGING."

Scottsboro, Ala.—James Macler a boy about fifteen years of age was thrown from a train while swinging on it Friday evening, and was seriously, though not fatally, hurt.

The authorities have continually punished boys for swinging on trains, but nothing but such experience will deter them.

Our Revolutionary fathers said in the Declaration of Independence that a people have a right to "alter or abolish a government," but the plutocrats call that kind of doctrine anarchy. Who is right?

The Pacific railroads owe the government more than they are worth, and more than the managers intend to pay; therefore the government should foreclose its mortgage and bid them in, and operate them itself.

Senator Wolcott and Lord Rothschild fired at each other at short range, and we predict that hereafter the senator will not be such a rampant silverite as he "use ter be." It is extremely dangerous to come within close range of the Rothschilds' batteries.

At last accounts Senator Wolcott, who was sent to Europe to go through the motion of trying to secure international bimetallism, had the Rothschilds by the ear. It is the wrong row, senator. Rothschilds want their pay in 200-cent dollars and will never consent to anything else.

The Tennessee legislature wanted Tillman to put up a $25,000 bond to contest the election in that state. They value the office pretty high, but that is not as extravagant a demand as the one the Arkansas legislature made on Norwood in 1888. They wanted him to put up $40,000 to contest.

President Cleveland's jumping-jack, Mister Eckels, says it is only the "rotten banks that are failing." Why, of course, how could a sound one fail—but there are no sound ones, therefore only a part of the rotten ones are failing. Nothing is sound that is based on confidence and does most of its business on credit.

DEGRADE THEIR SEX.

AMERICAN WOMEN WHO MARRY TITLED WRECKS.

Dr. Brobst, the Celebrated Chicago Minister, Furiously Arraigns the Most Dreadful Sin of the Century—Talk on Topics of the Day.

(From the Chicago Dispatch.)

At the services of the Union Church Association in the Great Northern Theater Monday morning, a permanent organization was perfected by the election of officers and committees and the adoption of a name.

In his prelude, "A Pulpit's View of People Made Prominent During the Week," Dr. Brobst said, in part: "Standing by the side of the great king Jesus Christ and looking over the world, nothing becomes so interesting as a human being. Here and there one has been made prominent during the week. An American woman, the wife of a European prince, has become conspicuous by divorce proceedings. Heiress of a very large estate in Detroit, because of the urgent efforts of her mother, she was induced to marry an impecunious prince, whom she did not love, for the sake of his title. As in 999 cases out of 1,000, where American heiresses marry European titles her life was miserable. No sadder or more tragic spectacle can be presented than that when a woman, the shrine of purity, a woman, the living personification of love; a woman, the divinest being of earth, with the world's resources at her command, profanely commits sacrilege in this shrine of purity, assassinates love and degrades her divinity below that of the street outcast, who is the victim of circumstances, by marrying a title reeking with a vile past and worn by a beggar in the present. The horror of the tragedy becomes more awful when a mother sinks so fearfully unnatural and degenerate as to counsel and urge her daughter on. American heiresses who marry titled Europeans are the most melancholy specimens of degenerates presented to the scientific mind. They have done more to degrade the standard of American womanhood than all other influences combined. What dismal depths yawn between them and the womanhood which rises for approval in the presence of the Great King! Sad and wretched as are their fates, pity in their behalf follows hard after condemnation.

"From this standpoint we look again into the week and see a man wandering aimlessly on our streets, his mind impaired, a valise in his hand, packed with greenbacks, silver and gold, whom the police have to take in charge. Ah, he is not alone. There are others in our city and country with heaps of money, with immense riches, gripping them as tightly as did this man his valise, their minds according to the true standard—the King's standard—of manhood, as unbalanced as his; their moments are erratic. Irrational in their selfishness, they go zigzagging on, soon to fetch up in front of one of the Almighty's police, who will take them and their unblest wealth in charge. A selfish, rich man cannot go on for long with his riches any more than can an insane man go on for long in the streets of Chicago. There is an invisible patrol as well as our visible.

"We look again through the week and see a woman in Iowa suddenly dying with grief over the failure of her son. We see a young Chicago man of wealth, friends and standing, and of robust physique, active as usual one day, the next day at noon in Omaha complaining and at set of sun dead. We see a noted lawyer there in Milwaukee come in from a walk, sit down in his chair and the next moment his heart ceases to throb. Sudden death! It makes one shudder, does it? Yet, my friends, the day of death should be the most happy and glorious day which has appeared up to that time in your history. The great King of Earth and Heaven, at whose side we stand to-day, says to us: 'I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive your unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also.' The preparations will surpass our fondest dreams. None knows so well what will delight us as he; no one is so generous; no one can control the resources of the universe as he can; no one will be so pleased to have our felicity complete. He will come for us, will he? His love and beauty will come in the form of radiant beings who will ravish our hearts with delight by their loveliness. Escorted by them through rosy realms, we will be brought to where the King has made preparations to receive us. And oh, what a reception that will be! Put your trust in the King, and then, only congratulations await you on the day of your departure hence.

"Again we look and the week brings to our notice the queen, because of the speech which the lord chancellor reads at the opening of parliament in London. The queen, Victoria—I have seen her and other European queens. Women, I look into your faces and see queens. I see you crowned in the future. Queen Victoria differs from you, not in any personal quality; in nothing of this, is she your superior. Certain accidental affairs, only very transient in their nature, distinguish her from you. I stand by the side of the great King and look at you and her, and these accidental affairs vanish, and you are all women. You are developing and moving on under his direction, confiding in him. I look ahead and see you as you stand in Zion, and before God, and I behold the great King leading you up the crystal steps to the throne and with his own hands placing the coronet upon your fair brows, and with the glory of that scene shimmering about me I salute you, queens to the most High, the great King, whom you will see in his beauty."

THE CITY OF GOLD.

Bank of England; "Its Methods and Their Advantages."

Moral: "If large pecuniary interests were concerned in denying the truth of the attraction of gravitation, that most obvious of physical facts would be strongly and ably disputed."—Lord Macaulay.

It is not charged that "pecuniary interests" have, as yet, influenced the Boston Transcript in its statements. If, however, it should continue to extol the Bank of England its readers may think otherwise. To encourage it to "read up" on banking and kindred questions the following short narrative from Patterson's Economy of Capital is submitted:

"THE CITY OF GOLD."

"London, as everyone knows, contains a city within a city; and within that inner city there is yet another; the very heart of the metropolis. It is a small place. In a couple of minutes you may walk across it from side to side, from end to end. * * * There is to be found the spare capital of the nation. * * *

The City of Gold is based upon gold; and the foundation is found to be pre-eminently unstable and perilous. The golden base perpetually oscillates to and fro and each of its greater oscillations is felt like the shock of an earthquake. It rises and falls, expands and contracts and sometimes seems to slip away from beneath the city altogether. Then goodly houses go down by the dozen—not because they are illy built—not from any fault of the architect or occupants, but simply because the foundation upon which they all stand has given way. Of late years (this was in 1865) these oscillations have become more frequent and more serious; and every ten years or so, a convulsion takes place—not of nature, but by Act of Parliament—which spreads terror and disaster through and paralyzes the whole country as effectually as if an earthquake had strewed with ruins the great seats of our national industry. The merchant and the manufacturer, the shopkeeper and the day-laborer, alike find their trade stopped, and their gains swept away. Suffering and want spread over the land, as if there were a great famine. * * * Is there not something wrong here? Ought the presence or absence of a few millions of gold to make the vast difference between national prosperity on the one hand, and national disaster and widespread suffering on the other? How will posterity speak of us when it sees that we made the huge fabric of our national industry stand like an inverted pyramid, resting on a narrow apex formed of a chamberful of yellow dross? Will they not laugh at our folly, our barbarism? When the usual supply of gold is temporarily diminished, why should our usual credit-system be restricted in proportion, or wholly suspended? Of what use is credit but to take the place of payments in coin? Was it not for this and for this alone, that credit and paper-money were adopted? Why then not make use of our credit-system as a means of compensating the temporary absence of gold? Why not tide over the difficulty instead of aggravating it?"

The foregoing testimony of distinguished Englishmen is merely a few fragments from the true story about the so-called "advantages which—the Boston Evening Transcript says—pertain to the "methods" of the Bank of England.

SIMON STETSON.

M'CULLOCH'S TESTIMONY.

Although a Banker, He Saw No Gold from 1834 to 1848.

(Extract from "Men and Measures of Half a Century," by Hugh McCulloch, secretary of the treasury under Lincoln, Johnson and Arthur, page 119.)

Although the double standard existed in the United States, the metallic currency of the country chiefly, and throughout the west exclusively, from the time the bank was organized in 1834 to the discovery of gold in California in 1848, was silver. The capital of the bank was paid up in Spanish and Mexican dollars, and its reserve continued to be in this coin until it was sold for gold at a premium of about 3 per cent on Mexican dollars and 6 per cent on Spanish. I had been a banker for 14 years before I handled or saw a dollar in gold except the $10 thaler pieces which were brought into this country by German immigrants. If Professor Sumner had been a banker at any time prior to 1848, he would not have gone so wide of the mark as he did in saying in the 1885 June number of The North American Review, "We do not want or need silver as a circulating medium and shall not abandon it, because we never had it." We did have it, and sooner or later we shall have it again, and without its being degraded. We are not prepared—the world is not prepared—for the domonetization of either gold or silver, nor can this preparation be brought about without the wiping out of a very large part of public and private debts. Debts contracted when both metals are used as money would be a burden too heavy to be borne when measured by a single standard.

With our present system of boodle politics representative government seems to be a farce. Let us have the Referendum.

A LIVING TRUTH.

MAN IS THE TRUE STANDARD OF VALUE.

"The Social and Industrial System Is to Be Measured, Not by the Wealth It Produces But by the Men It Produces."

Dr. Lyman Abbott has long been an advanced leader of thought in many lines. Whatever subject he touches he illumines, for his mind is clear and free and his purpose is ever inspired by loftiest intent. That he has of late turned his attention to socio-economic problems is a promise that these pressing questions will be presented in such form as to command the respectful attention of all; that others, groping toward the light, will by him be pointed out the safe and sure way.

"Christianity and Social Problems" is the suggestive title of a new book just from his pen, and the noble character of the work and the high humanitarianism which runs through it all is seen in the extracts which appear below, to which we are indebted to the Literary Digest:

"'The social and industrial system is to be measured, not by the wealth it produces, but by the men it produces; not by the abundance of the material things, but by the kind of men developed in the process. Man is the standard of value, not things. An industrial system, then, must produce good men and good women or tend to produce them. If it does not, it fails, measured by Christ's standard.' Thus Dr. Abbott takes issue with the old political economy which declared itself concerned simply with wealth and with men simply as wealth-producers. That is to say, he holds, with a number of moderns, that economics, of necessity dealing with man as an intelligent and moral being, must be ethical. He asserts that the question whether the wage system is better than feudalism or slavery has been settled, but against the present industrial system as either final or true he makes these counts: (1) That it is not giving steady and permanent employment to all willing laborers. (2) That it also fails to give all those who are employed under it wages adequate for true livelihood. (3) That it is insufficiently educative in itself and fails to allow adequate leisure for educative processes. (4) That pure, good homes are in many instances impossible under present conditions.

"'I believe,' he declares, 'that the system which divides society into two classes, capitalists and laborers, is but a temporary one, and that the industrial unrest of our time is the result of a blind struggle toward a democracy of wealth, in which the tool-users will also be the tool-owners; in which labor will hire capital, not capital labor; in which men, not money, will control in industry, as they now control in government. But the doctrines that labor is a commodity, and that capital is to buy in the cheapest market, is not even temporarily sound; it is economically false as it is ethically unjust.

"'There is no such commodity as labor; it does not exist. When a workingman comes to the factory on a Monday morning he has nothing to sell; he is empty-handed; he has come in order to produce something by his exertion, and that something, when it is produced, is to be sold, and part of the proceeds of that sale will of right belong to him, because he has helped to produce it. And as there is no labor commodity to be sold, so there is no labor market in which to sell it. * * * Both are fictions of political economy. The actual facts are as follows:

"'Most commodities in our time—even agricultural commodities are gradually coming under these conditions—are produced by an organized body of workingmen, carrying on their work under the superintendence of a "captain of industry," and by the use of costly tools. This requires the co-operation of three classes—the tool-owner or capitalist, the superintendent or manager, and the tool-user or laborer. The result is the joint product of their industry—for the tool itself is only a reservoired product of industry—and therefore belongs to them jointly. It is the business of political economy to ascertain how values can be equitably divided between these partners in a common enterprise. This is the labor question in a sentence.'"

"Anything More, My Lord?"

In answering a correspondent, the New York World quotes from the census to show that 3,000 families own over $12,000,000,000—over twelve thousand million dollars—of the wealth of the United States.

At such a time as this the World is not likely to be accused of assisting the democratic party. So, accepting its figures, let us see what they mean.

The total assessed value of all real and personal property in Nebraska under the census of 1890 was $184,000,000; Missouri, $887,000,000; Illinois, $809,000,000; Kansas, $347,000,000; Kentucky, $547,000,000; Tennessee, $382,000,000; Colorado, $220,000,000; Texas, $780,000,000; Alabama, $258,000,000; Mississippi, $166,000,000; Indiana, $856,000,000, and California, $1,101,000,000.

The combined assessed wealth, real and personal, of these 12 great states of the west and south, as shown by the census of 1890, foots up between $6,000,000,000 and $7,000,000,000, while the combined wealth of 3,000 plutocratic families foots up over $12,000,000,000—nearly twice as much.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

We nominate Cleveland as one of the members of the McKinley cabinet—that is, if he is not too far behind with his fishing.

RAILROADS AND FINANCE.

Some Brief Remarks Suggested by Current Events.

It is asserted that railroads don't pay. This is one of the reasons given why the government should not engage in the railroad business. It is also urged as a reason why rates should not be reduced. Notwithstanding this, however, there seems to be a keen desire on the part of those who own the railroads to hold on to them.

Take the Pacific railroads for instance. They are covered with a first mortgage loan of $60,000,000. In addition to this they owe the government $120,000,000, making a total of $180,000,000. No one pretends to believe that they cannot be duplicated for a less sum of money, yet the companies are anxious to retain them and promise that if the mortgage is not foreclosed, they will pay off this entire indebtedness.

President Cleveland informs us that he has the assurance of capitalists that in case of foreclosure, bids will be made to make the government safe on its investment. We very much doubt this. There is a possibility that in the foreclosure process there may be a dead African in the woodpile. Unless the government intends to make a bid to protect itself there is a chance for it to lose every dollar of its claim. In the interest of good business policy it should do this, and if it fails to do so there is room for suspicion of collusion and fraud.

In the light of Mr. Cleveland's past transactions too much confidence should not be placed in the zeal he displays to the end of a settlement of the Pacific railroads' claim. It cannot be forgotten that the negotiation of the $62,000,000 bond deal with the Morgan syndicate, through his former partner, left a cloud of suspicion on him that excited much comment at the time. Dispatches inform us that two syndicates have already been formed for the purpose of buying in the roads provided they are put up at public auction. How are we to know that Mr. Cleveland is not financially interested in these syndicates along with other government officials?

That would most certainly be a brilliant scheme, and some things begin to point to its consummation. It would be necessary to have two syndicates to bid against each other (ostensibly) to give the sale the appearance of being conducted legitimately. After all this may be just what the companies want. It was stated in this discussion of the Huntington bill that the terms were not as good as the Union Pacific Company had offered. It is possible that they were made purposely to secure its defeat, and to the end of settling the matter by foreclosure. No sane person believes that a syndicate of capitalists will bid more for the roads than they are worth, and they are not worth $180,000,000. As the $60,000,000, most of which is said to be held by the present owners of the road, take precedence to the government claim, it looks like Uncle Sam may be left out entirely, unless he exercises the wisdom of a business man and protects himself by putting in a bid.

There is, however, in the situation one ray of hope for the people. If the government secures possession of these roads it will prove the entering wedge against private or corporate ownership of the means of transportation. It would be a step, and an important one towards the gradual acquirement of all the railroads, and government operation of the same. To prevent this it is possible that the railroad capitalists in the United States would even outbid the government in the sale of these roads. For this purpose they could afford to pay more than they are worth and they might possibly do so to defeat government ownership. But to compel them to do this it would be necessary for the government to bid the full amount of the railroad indebtedness. However it ends, the settlement of this question with the discussion incident to it, is likely to give greater prominence to the transportation problem during the next four years than it has ever had before, and will likely make it one of the principle issues of the next presidential campaign.

The recent sound money convention at Indianapolis is one of the straws which indicate the most prominent issue in the next campaign. There was no talk in that convention of international bimetallism. It regarded the silver question as settled and now sets itself about the task of determining by legislation the form and character of our paper money. It should be observed that the advocates of gold are not opposed to a paper money. On the other hand, they believe that the greater part of our currency should consist of paper. But they are opposed to government paper money, and boldly announce that the government should go out of the banking business. For the same reasons they might, and perhaps will before a great while, oppose the system of government postal money orders, as they take the place of bank checks and exchange. The fight is on, and as Benton once said, "The bank is in the field." It is the same issue of the banks against the people, and the question involved is whether the people shall issue and control the currency and business of the country, or whether this power shall be delegated to the banks.

WHAT IS MONEY?

SOME VERY PROMINENT AUTHORITIES ON THE SUBJECT.

Cut This Out and Paste It in Your Scrap Book for Future Reference—Be Sure and Remember These Definitions.

"Money is coin stamped metal, usually gold or silver, stamped by authority and used as a medium of commerce."—Webster's Dictionary.

"Money is the medium of exchange. Whatever performs this function, does the work, is money, no matter what it is made of."—Prof. Walker in Political Economy.

"Money is simply employed for bartering, as a ship for carrying. Its action is similar to a cart's, it fetches for its owner the things he is in want of."—Prof. Jevons.

"The intrinsic value of money was the idea in the day of crude barbarism. The simplest and most perfect form of money is that which presents nothing but transferable debt, such as paper. It is only when states have reached a high degree of civilization that they adopt this perfect form of money."—Rees' Encyclopedia.

"Whatever power there is over the currency is vested in Congress. If the power to declare what money is not in Congress it is annihilated. * * * We repeat, money is not a substance, but an impression of legal authority, a printed legal decree."—12 Wallace, 519, United States Supreme Court.

"An article is determined to be money by reason of the performance by it of certain functions without regard to its form or substance."—Appleton's Encyclopedia.

"Metallic money, while acting as coin, is identical with paper money in respect to its being destitute of intrinsic value."—North British Review.

"Money is a tool of exchange and nothing more. It is not a measure of value, nor a standard of value, nor a representative of property. It transfers property conveniently from one party to another; as a wagon hauls goods from one place to another."—Professor Price.

"Moneys are of great varieties. The palpable characteristic which distinguishes money from the numerous subjects that resemble it, but which are not money, is its mark of authority, signifying that it is issued, circulated and made payable for debts, services, fines, taxes and commodities by virtue of law."—Alex Delmar in Science of Money.

"Money is a value created by law (a statutory law). The value of metallic money is created by law."—Henry Cernuschi.

"The legislation assumes that in contemplation of law, money of every species has the value which the law fixes on it; that Congress has the constitutional power to say that ten pennyweights of silver shall henceforth be the dollar and do the office heretofore done by sixteen pennyweights, four and one-half grains."—Attorney General U. S. (12 Wallace, U. S. Supreme Court report, page 519.)

"The gold dollar is not a commodity having an intrinsic value, but money having only a statutory value. * * * And every dollar has the same value without regard to the material. * * * The gold dollar has not intrinsic value. Money has only a statutory value. * * * In business transactions gold is not a commodity, but money; nothing more nor less. This gold has and had a statutory value; legally each dollar passes for one hundred cents and legally it has no other value."—Supreme Court of Iowa, Vol. 16.

"There is legally no such thing as gold or silver money. Money is the sovereign authority impressed on that which is capable of taking and retaining the impression. That upon which the stamp is placed is called coin; the coin may be metal, parchment or paper. The value is in the stamp and not in the metal or material."—Judge Tiffany's Constitutional Law, written before the war.

A Twenty-Five Million Steal.

The reported transfer to English capitalists of an interest in the Erie Canal Traction company has not yet been completed, but it is admitted, as stated in the World, that an offer has been made of $3,000,000 for a controlling interest in the stock of the company, and that the president and secretary of the company are now in London arranging the deal.

The Erie Canal Traction company is only one of the subsidiary corporations created by the Cataract General Electric company. The pending transfer is made on a valuation of $5,500,000 for the franchise it carries. The total value of the rights acquired by the parent company, the Cataract General Electric company, is now estimated at the enormous figure of $25,000,000.

Inasmuch as the company did not pay a cent for these "rights" the charter is called a free gift from the state. But there are some people who would prefer to call it a straight steal.—N. Y. World.

ALABAMA GLEANINGS.

Several new buildings are going up at Uniontown.

—Work has opened at Girard on a mammoth Government distillery.

—Already this season two cars of fertilizer have been sold at the little town of Remlap.

—The Knights of Pythias at Opelika enjoyed a big day with the Grand Lodge officers Friday.

Horse swappers were in convention at Collinsville Saturday, and there was a lively time in the "boneyard" of that city.

—The Pottery Company at Cuba is having a good demand for ware now and is making shipments daily.

—The preliminary trial of Tom Killian for the killing of Gene Galloway, near Crudup, began at Gadsden on Monday.

—State Senator John A. Rodgers, of Sumter, is ill at his home, and was not able to attend the closing days of the General Assembly.

—At Anniston three small boys were charged with robbing a store, and later, it is said, confessed. Owing to extreme youth the lads were not prosecuted.

—Major Vaiden, of Uniontown, is a candidate for Colonel of the Third Regiment, Alabama State Troops, in place of Colonel Elmore, who will not stand for re-election.

—Special Judge John L. Burnette, of Gadsden, will finish up Circuit Court at Fort Payne. The illness of Judge Bilbro's wife forces his presence at home.

—Walter McAdams was hanged at Columbia Friday for murdering his wife.

—Work has begun on the water works for the Atheneum, at East Lake, and before Summer the building will be supplied with pure water direct from a spring on Red Mountain.

—The bill authorizing a railroad across the Alabama River, between Lower Peachtree and Prairie Bluff, Ala., was reported to the House of Representatives at Washington Saturday and passed.

—There is some talk of the Atlanta & Selma Railroad being built through Coosa County. The survey runs near Rockford, and goes through a section of country that many developments could be made in. The people along the line as it runs in Coosa are anxious for the road to be built.

—An Eufaula special to the Montgomery Advertiser says: "The fight in the Comer-Clayton Congressional contest case was settled here Friday afternoon, Mr. Comer gave up the contest, assigning as a reason that he did not care to tax the State, worry Congress or put Mr. Clayton to any further expense."

—George Lacey, colored, met a fatal accident Friday afternoon at the Birmingham Rolling Mills. It seems he was carrying a load of iron on his shoulder and stumbled over some obstructions. He fell heavily and struck his head on another piece of iron, which caused instant death. It was reported at first that he had dropped dead. No inquest was necessary.

—Conductor W. H. Brown met with a painful and perhaps serious injury Friday morning at Eutaw, on the Alabama Great Southern Railroad. He was in charge of the local freight and was doing some switching at the station. In making a coupling Mr. Brown, in some unknown manner, had his left arm badly crushed. The accident occurred about noon.

—The people in the vicinity of Lincoln, Talladega County, are very much aroused over the total stock law measure recently passed by the Legislature. They have "whereased and resolved" and passed, almost unanimously, the "nullification act." The greatest trouble arises from the fact that the stock law takes immediate effect. If enforced it would cause many farmers to lose a part of their stock, as they have no pastures and no time to make any, and the stock is not fat enough for market. Many farmers in favor of the law have decided to ignore it for the present year for the sake of their neighbors, so the fences will remain up for the larger part of beat 1.

—Mr. Thomas H. Clark, of Montgomery, who has been in Washington recently, looking after his contest for a seat in the Fifty-fifth Congress in place of Hon. Jesse F. Stallings, informed the Alabama members Friday that he had abandoned the contest.

MONDAY is election.

AFTER our officers are elected, the streets should be put in a good condition the first thing.

EVERY citizen of Clanton should and ought to vote for the best men for mayor and councilmen.

AT the time of writing it is impracticable to give any account of the meeting of the Reform Press Association in session at Kansas City this week.

THE Legislature adjourned without having performed any very mentorious act, or in fact having accomplished anything of benefit to the people.

THERE has been a call for a meeting of the citizens of Clanton at the court house to-morrow evening for the purpose of putting out a ticket for the city offices. Every citizen of the town should be in attendance and nominate just such men as can best fill the offices.

A CONVENTION of cotton growers is called by Hector D. Lane, president of the cotton growers association, to meet at three different points for the purpose of considering what is best to be done this season. In the call he says:

The only remedy is to "fight the devil with fire," meet organization with organization.

Do not be led into the error that you can cambat this power without systematic organization. You can not deceive the great firms that buy your product. They have their emissaries in every town and village; they are ever scrutinizing your actions and know more in regard to the general conditions than you can possibly find out.

Destroy the annual surplus of cotton that is the active coadjutor of the cotton "bear." This can be accomplished by increasing the acreage of food crops and consequently the judicious diminishment of cotton acreage. You will be better off with a seven million bale crop selling at ten cents, supplemented by ample food crops, than with a ten million bale crop selling at five cents.

The world spends about three hundred and thirty-five million dollars annually for American cotton. If we make a seven million bale crop they run after us for our product. If we make a ten million bale crop we fall ourselves to sell it to them.

The ten million bale crop of '94 and '95 brought the South in round numbers two hundred and eighty-nine million dollars. The seven and a half million bale crop of '93 and '94 brought in rought numbers two hundred and ninety-three million dollars.

The seven million bale crop of '95 and '96 brought two hundred and ninety-two and one-quarter million dollars. Demonstrating the fact that a small crop brings more money irrespective of of acreage used for food crops and the labor and money expended on a larger acreage.

Our only hope of protection lies in intelligent concert of action. We should keep ourselves informed of crop condition, amount of production, etc., throughout the cotton area. Then by a symtematic and judicious marketing of our crops we can realize inestimable benefits that never can be secured permanently otherwise.

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, Alderman Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

The Farmer and Prosperity.

The Constitution has pointed out with an iteration almost tiresome that there has been and can be no real or permanent prosperity in this country unless the farmers are receiving fair returns for their products. The editors, the merchants and the business men of New York may close their eyes to this fact if they choose to. In the end, and before many months have rolled around it will be forced on their attention in a way that will compel them to recognize it.

Here is a truth that we advise them to take to heart and study at their convenience: The whole fabric of our business, trade, commerce, wealth and industry has been built up and is based on agriculture. This is the root and essence of the whole matter, and when it is once clearly compehended the whole situation is made plain. We shall never have prosperity again until those who control legislation comprehend this great truth and act upon its suggestion.

In the very newspapers that print the tabular statements of distress, we see it announced that there is a "plethora" of money in New York. Now "plethora" is a good word, and is intended to mean something; but when we see the anouncement that nearly half a million of people in the metropolis are suffering because industrious workers cannot sell their labor for money, we immediately discover that the "plethora" here described is phantom—a creature of the imagination—for if there was a real plethora of money in New York city, trade would be booming, all the vacant places would be filled, and the half a million of sufferers would be enjoying comparative comfort today.

We see that in the socalled plethora the money famine among industrious workers in New York city is as strenuous as it is in the agricultural regions. And, in proportion, the result is much more serious. How often and with how much emphasis will the editors who propose all remedies but the right one have to be told that the money question is not a farmer's question. If every dollar of currency were destroyed, the position of the farmer makes him superior to such a calamity. If every other productive industry were to be razed to the ground and all the railways torn up and abandoned, his position would still be one of comfort as compared to the rest of the population. For, as he has built all the great industries and produced all the wealth and capital of the country, he would produce them again, slowly, but as surely as the sun shines.

The farmer is complete master of the situation, so far as earning a comfortable livelihood is concerned. But the prosperity of the whole country depends on his prosperity. Let him receive fair prices for his products and the beneficent results flow quickly and promptly to the remotest interest, to the humblest as well as the highest individual. In this land where everything is directly or indirectly based on agriculture, there is no possible remedy for the prevaling depression, except that which enables the farmer to receive fair and profitable returns for his products. Prosperity can proceed only from its source, and that source, in this country, has its roots deep in the soil.

While the rest of the country is suffering from financial and business depression, neither New York nor any other city can be prosperous. The source of trade, commerce, and all forms of productive industry is in the farm. Give the farmers profitable prices for that which they produce, and within a few months all trade will revive and every channel of commerce will be fed. Money that is hoarded ceases to be money. It becomes more important than money. It represents poverty, idleness, crime and all the woes of social uneasiness and distress. The money that the farmer receives for his produce goes to the small tradesmen, thence to the larger merchant, thence to the jobber, thence to the factory, and from the factory into the hands of the wage-earners, back into trade again, making a wholesome and profitable visit to the pocket of every worker.

When financial distress falls upon the farmer, the force of the blow is spent on those who depend on him, and those who directly depend on him in this country constitute the vast majority of the people. We advise our metropolitan contemporaries that unless they perceive the truth and are willing to announce it their fair city may prepare itself for worse days to come.—Constitution.

Why was it necessary for Mr. McKinley to select a banker to carry out the pledges in the Republican platform? Because no one else except a banker could understand the scope and meaning of those pledges, in which banks alone are interested.—Silver Knight

Were the pledges in the Republican platform made to the bankers or to the people? They were made for the benefit of the bankers and to deceive the people.—Silver Knight.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 23, 1896.

Much interest has been felt in regard to the recent press meetings. The most radical element in the party, some of whom were so tainted with republican boodle as to have been expelled from their state press and party organizations, called a meeting of the N. R. P. A. and a conference to "re organize" the party at Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 22. The call was irregular and in direct opposition to the expressed wish of a majority of the reform editors. The last meeting having been held in the far south and the great difficulty of obtaining transportation (interstate) caused a demand for the meeting to be held at some more central point. In response to letters elicited by the application of the referendum principle, A. Rozelle, Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer of the N. R. P. A. issued a call for a press meeting to be held at Kansas City on the same date. This was done in order that an organization free from party tyranny and yet willing to sustain the National Committee and its officials might be brought into existence. Its object is for business purposes in contra distinction to the cantankerous machine that is wholly under the control of men whose career can but injure any organization with which they may be identified.

Lyman Gage, in his farewell address to friends who were banqueting him on the eve of his departure for Washington, D. C., where he goes to assume a place in the cabinet of President McKinley, referred to the unrest and dissatisfaction existing in this country in regard to money matters as a "sort of social and political hysteria" that could be cured by patience and that exercise of wisdom in high places which he evidently believes himself well able to furnish.

It is generally understood that the extra session of congress will not touch the money question. Tariff alone will be considered.

McKinley has asked leading bankers of Chicago and New York to draft a new National Bank system.

Much interest is felt in the senatorial investigation of Secretary Francis' land grant to Perrine, Grover Cleveland's father in-law. Mrs. Folsom, Mrs. Cleveland's mother, married this man Perrine after her daughter's marriage to Cleveland. The land lies in Florida and is valued at more than a half million dollars. Unless this investigation goes mysteriously into that oblivion which has engulfed so many of its predecessors, it will throw much light upon the appointment of Francis by Cleveland at the eleventh hour of his fast waning administration.

Talk about your Billion Dollar Congress! Congressman Dockery of Missouri estimates that the present session has cost the country already $1,045,000,000.

Gov. Bushnell has decided that he will not appoint a successor for Sherman, thus making it almost a certainty that Hanna will be able to buy the legislature.

Populists in Congress are opposed to the proposition that the party give up the silver question. They, with a majority of the party, regard such a course as foolish in the extreme.

Col. A. S. Buford, president of the Virginia Board of Agriculture, has called a national conference of farmers to meet at Washington, March 5.

William P. St. John, Treasurer of the allied silver forces in the last campaign, died February 14 at his home in New York. He came into note when he resigned the presidency of the Mercantile National Bank of New York and declared himself for free silver. Over-work during the campaign brought on an illness from which he never recovered.

W. J. Bryan recently had a most pleasant and profitable visit in Texas He has accepted invitations to speak before the joint legislative bodies of Missouri and of Kansas, on the currency question. A. R.

THE MISSING WORD.

A New Chance for Our Subscribers to Make Money.

We call the attention of our readers to the interesting details of our clubbing proposition with The Atlanta Weekly Constitution, published in full elsewhere. As will be seen, the joint price of our paper and The Weekly Constitution for one year is but $1.50. Every subscriber will not only get the two papers for little more than the price of one, but will, in addition, have a chance to participate without cost in the "Missing Word Contest," the premiums for which are offered by both papers. Every subscriber is entitled to guess at the missing word in the following sentence:

"Supply and demand are as intimately ..... as cause and effect,"

and the one who supplies the correct word will be entitled to 10 per cent. of the amount received from subscriptions not only from The Constitution, but all of the papers participating in the clubbing offer with The Constitution between now and the 1st of March. The Constitution guarantees that at least FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN CASH will be distributed, and probably the amount will be between $1,000 to $2,000. If more than one person supplies correctly the missing word, the cash amount will be distributed among the successful guessers.

A few months ago The Weekly Constitution offered $1,000 in cash to the subscriber guessing the size of the year's cotton crop as announced by the New Orleans exchange. The successful guesser was Mr. R. T. Poole, of Rockingham, N. C., who received immediately after the announcement of the crop by the New Orleans cotton exchange $1,000 in cash from The Weekly Constitution, enabling him to buy the farm which he was then renting and pay himself out of debt.

Every intelligent person should subscribe to his home paper and take at least one general newspaper which covers the news of the world. The Constitution does better than any southern weekly newspaper, and the fact that it has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper published on the western hemisphere attests to its popularity. It publishes 156,000 copies every week and goes into more homes in the southern and western states than any weekly newspaper published in America.

You want your home paper; and when you can get it in connection with The Weekly Constitution for almost the price of one and in addition become a participant in the great missing word contest, announced elsewhere, you should take prompt advantage of the combination. Remit the combination price to us and send your guess of the missing word along with it, and we will forward your name to The Constitution, and your guess will be duly recorded. If you are already a subscriber to our paper and want The Weekly Constitution, forward us ONE DOLLAR with your guess of the missing word and we will see that it is sent to The Constitution.

The proposition is an attractive one, and it is to be hoped that some readers of this paper will supply the correct missing word in the above sentence.

Will Not Perform Miracles But It Will Cure.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE cures nervous prostration. Not miraculously, but scientifically, by first removing the germs of disease, and then supplying healthy nerve food, increasing the appetite, building digestion and strengthening the entire system. Desperate cases requiring prolonged treatment are cured by the use of Mrs. A. Reed, of Ames, Iowa, who for four years suffered with fainting attacks, the physicians said I had St. Vitus's dance or paralysis, my limbs would fall crawl up, I would have throbbing in my chest that seemed unendurable. For three months I could not sleep and for three weeks did not close my eyes. I prayed for death, and felt that if relief did not come I would be dead or insane. I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and the second night slept two hours and from that time on my health improved; slowly at first, but steadily and surely. I took in all 40 bottles, and I cannot express how grateful I am, for I am now perfectly well, and have taken no medicine for over four months." Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by druggists on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

1000 WAYS TO CURE A COLD!

Quinine, aconite, hot tea, onion syrup, whiskey and quinine, rock candy and rye a "sweat" foot bath, starvation feeding, wrapping your hose around your neck, cod liver oil, and 500 hundreds cough cure, these and over 500 other ways are used by the human race to cure a cold. The best way is to make CUSHMAN'S METHOL INHALER your daily companion and you will never catch cold.

A man must be miserable indeed who is laid up with a bad Cold, Catarrh, Headache, unable to breathe without pain, his throat sore and his head throbbing, when one little product in the market called CUSHMAN'S INHALER will give him instant relief.

RELIEF EASY TO GET!

He may go on and on, sneeze his head off for that matter, sniffle and snort around to everybody's discomfiture. His eyes may become inflamed, his head and ears ache, and his throat so sore he can hardly swallow. Nation! he must be to endure it all when for 50c he can buy CUSHMAN'S METHOL INHALER and restore himself to his normal condition.

Cushman's Menthol Inhaler a Jewel!

A woman will sit around prostrated in nerves, feeling desperate over loss of sleep, head and eyes racked with pain, cold settled in every bone, so miserable that life seems a blank, but if she would notice the marvelous little instrument known as CUSHMAN'S METHOL INHALER her daily companion, her headaches would come less frequent, she would never have a cold, and sore throat and catarrh would have no terrors.

NEVER NEGLECT A COLD OR COUGH

Neglect a Cold or Cough and if La Grippe don't get you, Consumption will. CUSHMAN'S INHALER cures colds and all diseases of the breathing passages. You lose dollars in doctor bills in not keeping CUSHMAN'S INHALER handy to drive off a cold or cough or sore throat at its very first approach.

The Greatest Authority in the World.

DR. BROWNE.

DR. J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed. Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, says: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal diseases, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S METHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

(Is not this recommendation sufficient that all who read may profit by it?)

Brings sleep to the sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials.

5 DROPS

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. T. P. Limbaugh, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populists and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

Jan 25, 1897.

DEAR SIRS—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 4th of January 1897, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an agravated case of inflammatory rheumatism so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to access with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 DROPS and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself immensely relieved, and continuing treatment I woke the second morning cured. My arm was absolutely free from pain, and all swelling and stiffness had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great curative properties of your medicine and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial. Sincerely yours,

T. P. LIMBAUGH,
Bureau of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had Rheumatism in every joint and in the heart, and I had Catarrh of the head for 8 years. I was so painfully that I lost the use of my legs and arms, and could not move without pain. I was so crippled, that I could not do but little work for seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But now, after using "5 DROPS" only two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. This medicine does more than is claimed for it. At this time my Catarrh is much better, and I have scarcely any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pain are gone. My hearing is now good and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than 30 pounds of flesh and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw to give a nursing mother who has a young child, for it has the same effect on the child as on the mother. It wards off Croup and cures the hives of the child and causes sweet and refreshing sleep to both young and old.

W. M. J. KELLEMS.
Yours respectfully, Peria, Perry Co., Ind.

Jan. 29, 1896.

We received the following letter from Mr. J. J. Wilson of Omaha, Ill. Mr. Wilson has been for many years an invalid, and reading the above letter which was published, wrote Mr. Kellems, asking if his endorsement was genuine, and received this reply, which he forwarded us.

MR. J. J. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand, the testimonial you speak of is genuine. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" published my testimonial just as I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I could swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for this letter. I sent it to them last January for publication in order that poor sufferers, especially those as I once was, and as you are, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to answer all who write. Tell all your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I have felt any pain, who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long, it is now 8 months since I have felt any pain. Dr. S. W. Kellems, my brother, uses "5 Drops" in his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a positive cure.

MR. W. M. AND DR. S. W. KELLEMS.
Sept. 21, 1896.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle prepaid by mail 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC ..... CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS ..... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet eaten by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE ..... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN ..... CASCARETS are relished by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive out worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE ..... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED ..... CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT ..... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS ..... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

MONEY IN THE MISSING WORD.

We are pleased to make an entirely new offer to our subscribers, in which every one may have a chance to name the missing word in this sentence:

"SUPPLY AND DEMAND ARE AS INTIMATELY '_____' AS CAUSE AND EFFECT."

It is quoted from a prominent writer upon economic subjects.

In making your guess it is not necessary to write out the full sentence—simply write: "My guess for missing word for MARCH is _____."

How Pineapples Grow.

To botanists the pineapple is a constant wonder. Even its name is a misnomer, for the first part comes from its resemblance to a pine cone and the second from nobody knows where, because it does not, in any respect, resemble an apple. It is in structure much like a mulberry, for in the fruit there may be traced all parts of the flower, greatly distorted on account of the growth of the meaty or juicy portions. It is a biennial, it is not a tree, hardly even a shrub, its sword-shaped leaves looking somewhat like those of the common flag, the whole plant bearing a striking resemblance to some varieties of cactus. It is a lusus naturae, being related to the canna, ginger and banana plants, yet differing from them all. It is said that in a wild state no animal feeds upon it, for none can break through its guard of steely thorns. It is one of the few tropical plants that can be made to succeed as well under glass as in their native home.

OHIO CONGRESSMAN'S IDEA.

Pennsylvania Avenue Lined With Skeleton Stands Preparatory for Accommodating the Inaugural Visitors.

NATIONAL CONGRESS OF MOTHERS.

Sundry Civil Amendments.—The Senate Committee Adds a Million For Luck—Mark Hanna and the Senatorship.—Another Battleship.—Minor Items.

Washington. — (Special Correspondence.)—Representative Beach, of Ohio, made a statement to the House Committee on Foreign Affairs today in explanation of a resolution introduced by him for securing a uniform standard of value in commerce by the use of international coins. The measure is particularly designed to bring about closer trade relations between the United States and other countries of this hemisphere and the East. It requests the President to begin negotiations with China, Japan, the republics and colonies of the American Hemisphere, Canada and the Hawaiian Islands, for the purpose of securing a uniform standard of value. All of the countries mentioned in the resolution are silver-using countries, and Mr. Beach said that one result of his project, if it succeeded, would be to increase the demand for American silver. The greatest hindrance to trade with neighboring nations was the system of exchange through London. These international coins would take the place of London exchange. They would not be adopted for general circulation in the countries which might adopt them, nor need they be made legal tender in those countries. Silver would be the material best adapted for the coins, and its present and prospective value should be taken into consideration in adopting such a coinage.

The Senate Committeee on Commerce has agreed to report favorably a number of amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill providing for improvements to rivers and harbors, including the following $273,000 to complete the improvement of the Great Kanawha river, West Virginia; $318,050 for dredging a channel in Mare Island strait to enable all classes of vessels to reach the naval establishment of Mare Island; improving harbor at Oakland, Cal., $360,577; $200,000 for a steam revenue cutter with headquarters at New York; $125,000 for vessel for coast survey purposes in Alaskan waters; $85,000 for steam tender for construction and repair duty in third lighthouse district; $130,000 for dredge boat at Sabine Pass Tex.

An amendment was agreed to directing the Secretary of War to designate a board of five engineers of the army to investigate the question of movable dams and to recommend the best type for various conditions of the service. All these amendments go to the Committee on Appropriations for consideration and final report.

Pennsylvania avenue is lined at every available point with the skeleton supports of the grand stands that are being built to hold the thousands who will view the inaugural parade on March 4. At each of the triangles along the avenue which mark the intersections of the streets stands are being erected by the parties who bid successfully for the privileges and the passer by is informed by large placards that he may purchase coupon tickets for seats in the stands. Prices will range from $1 up to $4 and $5. The President's reviewing stand is being erected immediately in front of the White House and is shaping into a very elaborate and rather ornamental structure. The decorations will be profuse and patriotic. Across the street from the President's stand and extending the full length of Lafayette Square another stand is being built. Next to the one that Mr. McKinley will occupy, this will be the most desirable in the city. The parade appears at its best when passing the White House. The young man who bid successfully for the Lafayette Square location is an employe in the Treasury Department and counts upon making at least $2,000 on March 4. Mark Hanna has purchased 250 seats on this stand.

In addition to the stands which are being erected each window and point of vantage along the avenue has been or will be rented for reviewing purposes. At frequent intervals the passerby is met with large signs, which read: "Seats in this window for the parade $5. See plat inside." In many instances the prices are lower. A rather remarkable fact is that vacant rooms on the avenue, ordinarily for rent, can not be rented now at all without reserving to the owner their use on the 4th of March, and in many cases the owners will refuse absolutely to consider propositions to rent until after the inauguration. Every possible source of revenue is being prepared for untilization on that occasion.

Mark A. Hanna is giving himself far less concern about the question of his entering the Senate to succeed Mr. Sherman than are the newspaper correspondents who speculate upon political possibilites. The quiet, undisturbed deportment of Mark Hanna is the natural sequence to absolute confidence such as the Republican national chairman is believed to enjoy. Among many politicians here there is firm belief that Mr. Hanna will enter the Senate as surely as he lives to see the entrance of Senator Sherman into the Cabinet. The phase of the case upon which this faith is based is interesting and has not been incorporated in the press so far.

The National Congress of Mothers, which holds its first session in this city, has outgrowin the expectations of its most sanguine promoters by the number of delegates in attendance, the importance of its discussions and the interest manifested in its proceedings. Some of the lady promoters, who recently estimated the probable attendance at 200 or 300 ladies, were overwhelmed by the presence of 1,800 or more at the first day's session, with constant accessions. This neccessitated a sudden and complete change of plans for the housing of the congress and conducting its exercises.

NATURAL GAS

By Exploding Shatters a Newspaper Office and Injures Five People.

Chicago, Ill.—A severe explosion of natural gas at 7 o'clock Saturday morning in the engine room of the Chicago Chronicle, at 164 and 166 Washington street, badly shattered the basement and injured five persons, some of them seriously. Pipes leading from the street sprung a leak and the explosion was caused by ignition from the electric light wires.

John McMillan, foreman of the press room, was the most seriously injured and his recovery is doubtful. He was blown against a wall and badly burned. One arm was so badly crushed that it will probably have to be amputated.

Larry Hargrove, the engineer, was blown thirty feet, and badly injured internally.

John Stenger, pressman, was seriously burned about the face.

John Wheeler, driver for Case & Martin, who was standing in front of the Chronicle Office, was blown half way across the street and Charles Williams, who was standing on the sidewalk over the gas pipe, was blown as high as the second-story of the building and badly injured.

Matthew Beines, mailer, was badly burned.

A few minutes after the explosion flames leaped through the basement floors and consumed the business office and destroyed the Western Union Telegraph Company's branch office adjoining.

All the wires leading to the office including the wires of the United Associated Presses, were broken. The editorial rooms of the Chronicle were flooded by water and badly damaged by smoke. The force of the shock from the explosion broke every plate glass window in the building and tore up the sidewalk in front of the office. The wall separating the press room of the Chronicle from the Journal was blown down, and the water from the engines flooded the presses and damaged the large stock of paper.

It is difficult to ascertain the exact losses, as the firemen and police will not allow reporters to enter the building, owing to the frequent explosions of gas in the basement. Horatio Seymour, publisher of the Chronicle, estimates the damage at $10,000.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

A Georgia Negro in the Penitentiary Illegally.

Savanah, Ga.—It has just come to light that a negro named Maj. Lee who has served fifteen years in the penitentiary on conviction for murder has never had a new trial which was granted him by the Supreme Court on the grounds that he is not guilty under the evidence that was submitted in the case. Lee was convicted in 1881, and the verdict was contrary to the law and the evidence. In the meantime Lee was sent to the penitentiary and is there to-day, and has never had his new trial. When sent up he was a little 14-year-old boy. He is now a big burly negro of 30. Solicitor-General Osborne, of the Eastern Judicial Circuit, who has just come into office, tok up the case, and has insisted on its being disposed of. Lee was charged with the murder of Elbert Lee, a white man, but there was nothing but circumstantial evidence against him. Judge R. Falligant, now on the Superior Court bench, defended him on which account a judge from an adjoining circuit will be called down to try the case should there be any attempt to try it, which is not probable.

SOME WAR NEWS.

General Weyler Leaves a Trail of Blood and Fire.

WHAT AN EYE-WITNESS SAW.

Homes Laid Waste, Cane Fields Destroyed and People Forced to Crowd into the towns.

SOME WITHOUT SHELTER OR FOOD.

Some So-Called Spanish Victories.—The European War.—Greek Troops Mounting Gups, Preparatory to Capturing a Turkish Fort.—Report of Massacre Confirmed.

Key West, Fla.—A passenger arrived on the steamer Aransas Friday morning who, on reliable authority, is said to have come from an extensive trip through the central provinces—Santa Clara, Matanzas, and Havana—and gives the impressions of his journey in the following terms:

The ruin and desolation were frightful to witness, he said. The country being bare and wasted, cane fields and plantations burned; no vestiges of the country homes remaining except those stone-built, blackened walls only remaining. Thatched huts were but heaps of ashes; villages, towns and cities were partially destroyed, but crowded with miserable, folorn people with emaciated, hungry-looking, starved faces. They were all huddled in small spaces, without commodities, with no hygiene, and suffering from diseases of all descriptions, and dying by the hundreds daily. All this state of things was brought about by Weyler's brutal and inhuman decree ordering the concentration of the country people into the towns. Weyler, in his march through these provinces, has left a trail of fire and blood. Horrible stories are told of the outrages and butcheries committed under his personal orders. Such is the terror he inspires that the mere fact of his approach creates consternation and the alarm at once spreads to all the people who rush to the nearest town for protection. When this gentleman left Sancti Spiritus, Weyler was reported as encamped near Calbarion, and expected to arrive there that day. His forces numbered 15,000 men, and as he marches without provisions, the result is that on the road his soldiers sack all the stores, as happened at Santa Clara City, which was left bare, with the natural result of increased misery and starvation for the poor people there.

Near Sancti Spiritus at a place named Guayo, a column of Spanish troops when passing last Friday, after killing all the cattle, set fire to the buildings and ranches and butchered the owner, a planter named Ramon Napolea, a man of independent means, well known and esteemed in that district. This was reported as a rebel camp, captured and destroyed.

The same party found a party of rebels lying in ambush, and taken by surprise, they only had time to escape after a desperate fight, in which a Cuban officer, Lieutenant Perez, made a brave defense against eight soldiers. He had to succumb, and was hacked to pieces with the machete, after surrendering. Two other Cubans perished. This was also reported as a great encounter in which the rebel losses were numbered by the hundreds.

The result of this destruction and the terrible atrocities committed by the Spaniards has been the means of an increase of the rebel forces in great numbers. All able-bodied men in these provinces are rushing to the Cuban ranks, and hundreds of families prefer to suffer hardships in the woods than misery and starvation in the towns.

At the estate Gibacy, near Tunas, about 100 families were living in peace When ordered to move into town they at once took to the woods. This is but a single instance in the hundreds of similar cases. Meantime these shocking things on the Spanish side only increase the Cuban army. Scores are constantly flocking to the rebels.

The evident signs of weakness which Spain displayed by offering so-called reforms have all the more determined the insurgents to continue the strugle.

From reliable sources it is learned that Gomez will now initiate a vigorous campaign. After arranging with the Cuban government the plans and purposes of his future movements, Gomez ordered a concentration of all the rebel forces preparatory to his advance into the Western provinces. His first step was to send the Cuban Government back to Cubitas with headquarters in Camaguey. The pany started with an escort of 200 men and successfully crossed the central trocha Saturday night near the best protected part of the line at La Redonda, under the very walls of a

This is another instance of the usefulness of the Spanish trochas. Gomez's plans, it appears, are to sneak back through Weyler's line, and once on his rear guard, commence his campaign by attacking and destroying the sugar estates grinding against his orders. He will also, it is said, punish severely all the local Cuban leaders who have tolerated grinding within their jurisdiction.

Gomez's exact location is unknown, as he is constantly moving from Remedios to Sancti Spiritus, watching Weyler's movements in order to seize the first opportunity to outflank him. Weyler, as customary, has had no engagement with the rebels. He carries with him such a strong body guard that no one cares to interfere with his movements, and they leave him to march along unmolested.

Carillo is reported encamped with 15,000 men near Finulcu, and Jose Miguel Gomez, with about 2,000 men near the Taguasco farm.

This is the nucleus of the rebel forces operating around Sancti Spiritus. Their organization is perfect, they are fairly well supplied with arms and munitions, and they are complete masters of the field to such an extent that nothing enters Sancti Spiritus without a permit and the payment of specified taxes to the revolution. Jose Vaklivia an American citizen residing near Sansti Spiritus, formerly a rich cattle raiser, has been ruined by the Spanish troops. His cattle ranch has been destroyed, the buildings burned, and all his cattle citizen residing near Sancti Spiritus, despite the fact that he showed his papers proving his citizenship. His protest was of no avail. He will now file a claim through the American consul.

THE REPORT CONFIRMED.

As to the Massacre of Two Thousand Moslems by Christians.

Canea, Crete.—The Austrian vice consul at Heraklion confirms the report of the massacre of 2,000 Moslems by Cretan Christians at Scitia, on the eastern extremity of the island. Col. Vassos, commanding the Greek forces in Crete, has given orders to his troops to refrain from molesting or giving offense to civilians and unarmed Moslems, and has promised that the men under his command will show equal respect and observe equal treatment to all peaceably disposed persons.

The Greek Consulate here is now being guarded by Russian marines, who will be successively relieved by marines from other foreign warships. The Geek consul withdrew the Greek guards from the consulate in obedience to orders from the admirals of the foreign squadrons. The consul, in complying with the order, protested that the admirals were exceeding their functions in taking such action against him.

The Greek steamer Pan Hellenic, conveying munitions of war to insurgents in Crete, has been stopped and turned back by a British cruiser. The action of the British vessel has created the fiercest indignation here.

HERE COMES WAR.

Greeks Mounting Guns and Preparing To Capture a Turkish Fort.

Canea, Crete.—Col. Vassos, commander of the Greek troops in Crete has mounted guns on the heights of Akrotir and is making preparations to capture the Turkish fort at Voukolies.

From present indications fighting is likely to take place very soon and the British and Russian Consuls have gone to Selino to endeavor to put a stop to the hostilities.

AN EXTRA SESSION IN VIEW.

Jackson, Miss.—Governor McLaurin has invited a conference for one day this week between the several state officials, Speaker McCool and President of the Senate Jones, relative to calling a special session of the Legislature. The Governor will submit to the conference estimates showing the financial condition of the State and will be prepared to state the amount of the shortage that is likely, in case the shortage is apparent. It is more than likely the extra session will be called and that while adopting revenue measures the Legislature will also be called upon to build a new capitol.

SATISFIED SISTERS.

WHAT POSTPONED THE TRIP TO HOT SPRING.

From the Tribune, Cullman, Ala.

Two well known ladies of Holly Pond, Cullman County, Alabama, are the Misses H. A. and M. F. Shepard, and they are held in the highest esteem.

Two years ago, Miss M. F. Shepard, was stricken with terrible sickness, from which she suffered long. The history of the case is so interesting that we publish the lady's own version as it is every way worthy of perusal:

"Two years ago last February, I was stricken with a terrible pain around my heart, which prostrated me for hours, and from then on I grew weaker until spring, when from impaired circulation and impoverishment of the blood, a stomach difficulty set in, bloating my body fearfully. Of course I was confined to my bed and to add to my sorrows a general attack of rheumatism followed, so that motion was painful, and locomotion impossible.

"Several physicians were consulted but they gave me no relief, until the last came, who so helped my stomach difficulty, that after several months I was able to sit up. The rheumatism, however, stubbornly stayed, and I was advised that my only hope was the Hot Springs of Arkansas. I was preparing to make the journey, when I was recommended to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"During my illness, I had taken two boxes of these self same pills, but not in the way recommended, as I was taking other remedies. Now though, I determined to try them properly, as I was no longer under a physician's care, and could do as I pleased, and my sister, Miss H. A. Shepard, at my request, ordered six boxes of Pink Pills for me, as I could not leave the house and could only hobble with the aid of crutches.

"By the time I had finished the pills, I had given up crutches, though I was still almost a skeleton from the ordeal through which I had passed. I am now quite fleshy, and the only agent that has caused the change is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I used no other medicine. My right hand is still drawn so that I can only use the thumb and first finger, and my back is still lame, but I am in better health than for many years. None of my friends expected me to live, and at one time it was feared my reason was giving way. I do not know how to pay a sufficiently high tribute to Dr. Williams' medicine. It is, I believe, the grandest blood medicine that was ever prepared.

"Now, having stated my own case, let me refer to my sister, Miss H. A. Shepard, who had a scirrhous growth on her right temple. This was terribly inflamed and spreading so fast, that I prevailed upon her to order five dollars worth of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and test their virtue as a blood cleaner, as the only means of arresting the rapid growth of the cancer. This she did, and has taken about seven of the boxes, and is still taking them. The sore has stopped spreading, and appears to be healing. When she began to take the pills she was the thinnest living being I ever saw that could move about. Now she has gained in flesh, her skin has regained its normal appearance, and she is stronger, and her general health is better than it has been in many years. God grant she may be spared the horrible death with which she was threatened. My sister's case, more than my own, has induced me to write this statement, in order that it may be made public.

"M. F. SHEPARD,

(Signed) "Cullman Co., Alabama."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

A Cougher's Coffers

may not be so full as he wishes, but if he is wise he will neglect his coffers awhile and attend to his cough. A man's coffers may be so secure that no one can take them away from him. But a little cough has taken many a man away from his coffers. The "slight cough" is somewhat like the small pebble that lies on the mountain side, and appears utterly insignificant. A fluttering bird, perhaps, starts the pebble rolling, and the rolling pebble begets an avalanche that buries a town. Many fatal diseases begin with a slight cough. But any cough, taken in time, can be cured by the use of

MORGAN'S HOT SHOT.

NOTES AND COMMENT ON PASSING EVENTS.

The Investigation of the Sugar Trust in New York. Utter Contempt for the People. Public Ownership Must Come Soon.

The Lexow committee has been investigating the sugar trust. One of the witnesses brought out in the investigation was the real capital invested in the sugar and the stock of the trust [illegible]. The witnesses could not, or did not remember a great deal but enough information was obtained to show that the managers of the trust were little less than organized robbers.

We [illegible] this perpetual cant [illegible] "We want to be let alone to develop our business." We want to be protected that your whole life is spent in a community that [illegible] capital and anything [illegible] protection [illegible] which it [illegible] to be taxed.

* * *

Alabama has become [illegible] to the legislature of that state [illegible] building of railroads by the convicts. This is one of the straws showing which way the wind blows. In [illegible] any other capacity than the building of public roads the labor of convicts comes into competition with free labor. But in addition to this it emphasizes the importance of the state owning and operating its own roads. The sentiment for public ownership of the lines of transportation is growing rapidly, and promises now to outstrip in way of accomplishment any radical reform in our financial system.

And why should it not grow in public favor? It is no experiment. It is no wild idea having its origination in the brain some crazy theorist. It has been thoroughly demonstrated to be a success. From a recent issue of the American Agriculturist we clip the following: "The attention of financiers all over the world has been drawn to the financial budget of the Russian minister of finance. His 'prosperity budget' shows an increase of revenue of nearly 70,000,000 rubles over last year's, and an increase of ordinary expenditure of only 53,750,000 rubles. Of the immense expenditure of 1,000,000,000 rubles 450,000,000 were expended in building the Siberian railroad and its branches. It is especially interesting to note that this handsome increase of revenue came chiefly from railroad systems. In devoting the supplies to further extensions of these systems, therefore, she is investing her capital in the very enterprises from which it has been derived. The Russian government has gone into business on an enormous scale, but it is business that proves immediately profitable and is likely to become an example for other nations."

Not only in Russia, but in other nations, the public ownership and operation of the lines of transportation has stood the practical test of experience, and while giving the people better rates has paid into the government treasury a revenue. It is as practical as handling the mail, managing the public school system, and a hundred other things that the government does. The government will now carry for the people a four-pound parcel with as much safety and better care than the railroad or express companies. Then why should it be thought impractical for it to forward a hundred-pound package or a car load of goods for that matter? The government carries and delivers a written message. Then why should it be thought incredible to send a message over its own telegraph lines, as is the case in England, France and other nations?

The Missouri World, which, by the way, is one of the best Populist papers published, is guilty of the following sensible remarks: "Some as good populists as breathe favor fusion with the Democrats. They have confidence in the Democratic party since its Chicago convention. Otherwise they would be straightouts. They are opposed to fusion with the enemy, but somehow the Democratic politicians have gained their confidence. We would think they would become a little suspicious as to the genuineness of the conversion when they learn that the free silver Democrats of the Indiana legislature cast their votes for old Dan Voorhees for the United States senate. The only reason demonetizer Voorhees was not sent back to the senate was because the silver Democrats did not have a majority in the legislature."

With the majority of Populists this fusion business is simply a matter of judgment; but when the evidence exists to show that it is a fraud it is time that the judgment was convinced of its error. Putting one's finger in the fire might be a matter of judgment the first time, but after that it would be nothing less than folly.

Senator Peffer deserves great credit from Populists for his conduct during the senatorial contest in Kansas. In strong contrast is it with the wild scramble made by those who desired to step into his shoes. So marked was his action that a plutocratic paper was moved to the following expression of admiration for the Kansas senator:

"The Populists have six members of the present senate and the same number in the house, while they have elected a somewhat larger number to the next congress. In several respects Senator Peffer is the worthiest man they have had in any office. A few of their members of congress, like Allen and Butler in the senate, are more picturesque and showy, and Simpson and one or two others whom they have elected at one time and another to the house, have excited more curiosity and have in this way advertised their party more extensively. But the Kansas senator is more typical of his party than any of these. He stands between the sharpers and tricksters of the former class and the freaks and mountebanks of the latter. The virtues and vices of his party find a stronger embodiment in him than they do in any of its other conspicuous men. He is visionary and fanatical, but he is scrupulously honest. While all the other senators who thought they had a chance for reelection were at their state capitals during the contests for the choice of their successors, Senator Peffer stuck to his post in Washington doing his work as he saw it with a hardy and a courage recalling the traditions of the senate during its best days.

The Labor World of Duluth, Minnesota, the reformers elected to office in that city are not making use of their opportunities. In a recent issue it says: "At the national election last fall the silver element, the supposed reform element of Duluth, gained a glorious victory. It rolled up a majority of which it might be proud. And what has it done since? Nothing, absolutely nothing, unless explaining how it happened could be called something. The opportunity to obtain controlling power of the municipal government was within the grasp of the silver people. What have they done? Instead of taking advantage of this splendid opportunity they have allowed their organization to go to pieces. They, instead of calling a convention and putting candidates for the different municipal offices in the field and put up an honorable and aggressive fight, have made themselves subjects for just ridicule and criticism; a laughing stock in the eyes of the public. They have indulged in encounters and personalities and resorted to all that has been charged against the old corrupt parties."

We beg to inform our worthy brother that the spirit of office-getting and that of reform are incompatible. All reforms are usually unpopular. To attain to and hold office you must be popular. Fusion is nothing but the eruption caused by office fever—the breaking out as it were. It is not along the lines of reform but is a backward step and has nothing in common with reform. The office-seeker never makes a good reformer—it requires men who do not care whether they are in office or not. Such are independent and strike out boldly; the chronic office-seeker is a coward, a compromiser, afraid to do anything for fear it hurts his chances for re-election.

W. S. MORGAN.

Ahead of Us.

If an American city were to undertake a great public enterprise for the good of the people, such as is now in successful operation in the English town of Manchester, the federal judiciary, under orders from the corporations, would instantly put a stop to it as an unconstitutional proceeding. Manchester has just broken up the meat trust that long plundered her people, by the erection of a municipal cold storage plant, owned and operated by the city. The result is that the price of meat has come down one-third, and without in any way causing loss of employment or wages to anyone. The money has simply been saved out of the revenue formerly paid to two millionaires for doing nothing but enjoy a monopoly. Manchester's cold storage plant was completed in 1895. It is the largest of its kind in the world, having ample facilities for the entire meat supply of the city. The local butchers and retailers are once more able to make a living, being freed from their former terror of the trust. The citizens are able to have meat on their tables without paying tribute to strangers. But, as we have said before, no American city would be permitted to attempt such an enterprise. One city in the northwest tried a similar plan five years ago. A clique of Wall street magnates got an order from a federal judge and the plan was stopped under threats of imprisonment.—Twentieth Century.

Government Defined.

A double-barreled legislature is a cunning contrivance. The object being to prevent government by the people, two chambers give two chances; that which cannot be killed in one branch may be slaughtered in the other. It is like a man who, having survived the ministrations of one doctor and recovered, is at once placed in the hands of another and dies. Why should there be two doctors?

And then, there being a possibility that the people may enforce their demands through both house and senate, there sits, above both, a king called a President, with power to annul the action of both; one man who knows more than sixty millions of people, of whom he was the other day an obscure member.

In other words, the people is a horrible monster which must be chained by both legs and neck.

But, lest the people should coerce house, senate and President to do something against the moneyed aristocracy, there is still another tribunal. A lot of lawyers, mainly selected by the great corporations, sit upon a bench, with old women's gowns upon them, with power to nullify house, senate, President and people. Oh, it is a beautiful contrivance to arrest progress and shackle liberty!—Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, in "The Golden Bottle."

POWER OF GENIUS.

INVENTION IS WORKING OUT NEW CONDITIONS.

A Grand and Peaceful Revolution If Not Blocked by Unnatural Obstacles. The Age of Machinery. Labor Should Control All New Inventions.

The following is condensed from an able paper by J. M. H. Frederick in the American Magazine of Civics.

Whither are we tending? What of the future? Will it be evolution or revolution, and if revolution, will it be peaceful or violent? These and a multitude of other kindred questions burst from the lips of representatives of all classes, who in wonder and amazement behold the marvelous transformations which are taking place in our industrial and social conditions. Of one thing nearly all seem to be agreed: Some great change is in store for us. What that change will be and how it will be wrought, however, are questions on which many differences of opinion are entertained.

Invention, the product of more of man's inspiration than of his laborious efforts and carefully weighed plans, is rapidly working out new conditions, the "logic" of which points to a revolution; a revolution whose grandeur and peaceful accomplishment will depend upon the ready acceptance and non-resistance by man of the fruits of the present evolution. Left to its own natural course, it will affect its own great changes peacefully; but obstructed and impeded by human resistance, who can say what destruction may not result? Congresses may regulate, general assemblies may legislate, courts may adjudicate, and individuals may agitate; but at the most, with all their effort they will only change the course of the river of progress; they are quite unable to prevent its final outlet to the sea.

Every new discovery has been hailed as a blessing to mankind. But has it been a blessing? John Stuart Mill said: "It is questionable if all the mechanical inventions yet made have lightened the day's toil of any human being." And John Ruskin has written in his melancholy strain: "Though England is deafened with spinning wheels, her people are not clothed; though she is black with the digging of coal, her people die with cold; though she has sold her soul for gain, they die of hunger."

Formerly the introduction of new machines opened up new fields for labor, in some instances creating a demand for labor in excess of the labor saved. Hardships to the laborer frequently resulted from the adoption of a new machine, but these were generally regarded as only temporary defects, which time would rectify. To-day the new mechanical devices create a very small demand for labor compared with that dispensed with.

Largely through machinery one-half of our people are miserable because they have too much to do, while the other half are wretched because they cannot find enough to do. Thus by our remarkable social system the work of genius, which should free the laborers from excessive burdens, and bless all those so set free, has made slaves of the workers and beggars of the millions who are in enforced idleness.

Before the Civil War black men and women sold for many hundreds of dollars each; to-day white men, if placed on an auction block, would not bring pennies where the blacks brought dollars. Indeed, the taskmaster of to-day simply does not want a title to the laborer's body—would rather not have it, in fact—for such a title would carry with it uselessly burdensome responsibilities. To be "master of the situation," to control the wages of the laborer, is a far more convenient form of slavery.

Every year new machinery is throwing out of employment armies of men, while as a rule supplying in return no corresponding demand for labor. The number of printers in the United States thrown out of employment by the introduction of typesetting machinery in the last year is estimated at about 4,000 and there is no corresponding demand for labor provided by this change.

In the great iron mills the new "electric crane" throws out of employment twelve "heaters," twenty-four helpers, three "dinky" engines, three firemen and three engineers on each turn, besides effecting quite a saving in fuel. It was only five years ago that the Jones "charger" threw out of work thirty-six men for every machine introduced, and now comes the "electric crane," which will throw the "charger" upon the scrap-heap, besides displacing upwards of forty additional men for every machine in use. The demand for iron has not materially increased since the introduction of the "crane," and the manufacture of this piece of mechanism gives employment to few, if any, more hands than those required to make a Jones "charger" which it displaces.

It has been figured out that 142,285 shoe workers now do as much by the help of the machine as 2,250,000 could have done by the hand process; that is, one worker now does as much as fifteen did formerly. Whether this has been a direct blessing to the laboring class may be judged when it is considered that the price of shoes has not fallen nor the capacity to consume increased in any such proportion.

Alger says if he ran away from any battle during the war he don't remember it, and that he was away on leave of absence only when sick. One of the peculiar features in the case is that Alger never did have good health until the war was over. But he couldn't help that.

THE SUGAR TRUST.

Elicited at the First Hearing of the Lexow Investigating Committee.

That the American sugar refineries company succeeded the sugar trust by purchasing the stock of the fifteen companies in the trust.

That Henry O. Havemeyer, president of the refineries company, once declared, under oath, that the principal object of the refineries company was to control the output and price of sugar.

That he now says, under oath, such was not its object.

That he admits that a man who controls 80 per cent of the output of sugar can control the price.

That he concludes, therefore, that he controls the price of sugar.

That he says the price of sugar to the consumer is less than it was before the formation of the trust.

That, in his opinion, he would not have a monopoly of the sugar even if he controlled 99 per cent of the whole output.

That the refineries company will porbably go into the coffee business, as it is immensely profitable; more so than sugar.

That since his firm has been in the coffee business the profit on each pound sold has been reduced from 3 cents to 1 cent, thus benefiting the consumer.

That he says Arbuckle Bros. were not threatened that if they went into the business of sugar refining the refineries company would embark in the coffee trade.

That Mr. Arbuckle and his partner aver they were so threatened.

That the refineries company was organized in New Jersey because, as Mr. Havemeyer says, there is "less scrutiny, examination and investigation of corporate acts" there than in this state.

That Theodore A. Havemeyer says the price of sugar is lower now than it ever was.

That the refineries company has for years paid a dividend of 12 per cent on its $37,500,000 of common stock and 7 per cent on the same amount of preferred stock.

That Theodore A. Havemeyer would not go into any business that did not pay a profit of 15 or 16 per cent, at least.

That there is that much profit in the coffee business, and that is why he is going into that business.

That his brother Henry, fixes the price of sugar.

That Theodore attends solely to the refining, and that, on all other topics, he refers his questioners to his brother, Henry, or to "Mr. Searles."

That John E. Searles was declared in contempt of the investigating committee, because he did not respect its subpoenae and appear before it.

That as the investigating committee must report to the legislature on March 1, and is to sit on only two days in each week, it has only seven more hearings in which to learn all about the trusts in this state.—N. Y. Journal.

A Model Political Boss.

The political boss confirms the doctrine of evolution. His origin was humble and despised. The primeval habitat of the original specimen was in the back room of a third rate side street saloon, and his jurisdiction comprehended only the impecunious customers of the gin mill. He evolved by slow gradation to places more pretentious, and the area of his authority was proportionately extended. In time the boundaries of the ward, and all the booze shops within the same became the province of the "heeler" and his deputies. Then whole towns and cities were acquired, and the "boss" had evolved to a figure of political dignity and importance. The process finally developed into the state dictator, and from that to the Hanna stage of national political boss evolution.

In the earlier periods the antetypes of the species were retiring in disposition, presumably because of their fewness in number, and the absence of popular enthusiasm which attached to either their presence or calling. Social lines were drawn against them, and their garb and breath obnoxious to the higher grades of animals. The "sinews of war" were also minimized, and almost altogether liquid in character, and deadly as the lightning in execution. In this respect, also, a wonderful evolution has gone forward. The beginning was marked by the bribe stealthily offered in the shadows of the night from the flask of bug juice, and is in striking contrast to the million dollar slush fund, and open negotiation for train loads of voters which characterized the operations of Mark Aurelius in the late campaign.—Leader Democrat.

Don't Trust One Man.

Do not chance the cause of reform on the honesty, backbone and sound judgment of any man. You may be fooled in him. You have been fooled and are liable to be again. Consider your own judgment as good as anybody's as to the best principles and the best policies. Don't hesitate to disagree with the man at the top—he is there merely because some one must be there. Of course, we all feel like expressing our approval of any one who has shown staying qualities in times of trial, but don't worship such—they have at most but done their duty, as thousands and thousands of the rank and file have done. Under other circumstances those we would worship now might go back on us. Pin your faith to principles, they'll never go back on you. Man may err, his temper may throw him off the right track, his personal ambition may cloud his judgment; even his very eagerness for the success of right may induce him to try to cut across the swamps to victory.—Missouri World.

Gold is not our only enemy nor silver our only friend.

FIGURES ON BANKS.

STATISTICS WHICH THE GOVERNMENT DOESN'T GATHER.

It Is the Duty of the Government to Provide a Safe Banking System for the People. Must Come to Government Banks.

Augusta, Ga., Daily Tribune: Among the many statistics compiled and published by the government there are none giving an account of the money lost by the depositors in national banks. During the past few months a large number of these institutions have come to grief, and in every case the depositors have lost in whole or in part, their deposits, which no doubt in many cases represented the hard-earned savings of poor people laid by for a rainy day.

These bank failures often amount to nothing more nor less than downright stealing. The cashier skips, or some of the big officials gamble and lose the money. In such case the depositors' money is gone, and there is no redress. Blood cannot be squeezed out of a turnip, neither can depositors be paid out of an empty cash box. The criminal laws rarely ever reach these high toned thieves. A starving man who steals a loaf of bread and a slice of fish may be put in jail and lie there for four months before he receives his sentence, but a national bank president who gambles with trust funds and loses them, or steals them outright, is not treated so harshly.

Sometimes bank failures may be due to incompetent management, with no criminal intent. But even this does not make the injury done the depositor any less. Their money is lost, and so far as the effect of the loss to them is concerned, whether it be due to a knave or a fool is the difference between tweedledee and tweedledum.

With its statistics on cotton and grain acreage, and meteorological reports, and losses caused by strikes, and all the other endless tables, it does appear strange that the national bank failures, their classification between rascality and incompetency, the number of depositors swindled and the amount of their losses, should not be given to the public.

Such statistics would elucidate one phase of the national banking system.

But perhaps it would make people think and the result of the thinking would be a demand for protection against these losses, and that is just what is not wanted by the powers that be.

The desire to lay up something for a rainy day, to provide for old age or possible contingencies, is one of the distinctions between man and brute. And a way should be provided where these savings could be deposited with absolute safety and the positive assurance that what was so deposited would surely be paid on demand, subject to no restrictions and imperilled by no incompetence or rascality on the part of the custodians.

The government is the only agency which can do this. No private banking system is absolutely safe. Every private corporate bank is subject to these chances. The national banking system is national only in that it applies to every state; it is only a system under which private citizens or corporations engage in business. It is not national in the sense that it pledges the faith of the nation to protect the depositor.

It is the duty of the government to provide such banks. Call it paternalism, if you like; all government is paternalism. To assure a depositor of the safety of his deposit at home is no more paternalism than to assure him of protection in a foreign country. It is no more paternalism to protect the people against thieving bank presidents than against thieving road agents. We need government banks of deposit.

Postal savings banks could be established in connection with the postal system without much additional cost to the government. They would offer the people absolute security against loss by knaves or fools. There is no valid objection against them.

Let us have them.

They Lied.

In 1893 the gold bugs, money mongers and newspaper syndicates told us that the repeal of the Sherman law would bring good times.

They lied—and they knew they were lying.

In the spring they told us we would have good times in the fall.

They lied—and they knew they were lying.

In the fall they told us we would have good times in the spring.

They lied—and they knew they were lying.

In hot weather they told us the times would get better when it got cold.

They lied—and they knew they were lying.

In cold weather they told us thing would pick up as soon as it got warmer.

They lied—and they knew they were lying.

One year they told us hard times were caused by poor crops, and the next year they told us they were caused by overproduction.

They lied—and they knew they were lying.

For three long years they have been promising better times on one pretext or another.

And all the time they were lying, and they knew they were lying.

Finally they told us that if McKinley was elected we would have a "restoration of confidence" and an era of prosperity.

They lied, and now the people know they lied.—Pittsburg Kansan.

COLIN DUAGHDRILL.

Hanged for the Murder of W. H. Bates, at Gadsden.

His Brother Present and Wept at the Sight. Morning Spent by the Condemned Man With His Wife and Babes. Said He Had Been Treated Badly.

Gadsden, Ala.—Colin Daughdrill died game. He was hung here at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon for the murder of J. H. Bates, of Montgomery, Ala., a drummer for the Peasbe-Gaines Co., of Louisville, Ky., whom he killed in the W. H. Bates saloon Christmas eve, 1895.

The hanging took place inside the county jail and was witnessed by about two dozen persons, mostly county officers.

All others were excluded by special request of Daughdrill and his relatives. The reporter gained entrance to the jail and was soon excluded by demand of the dead man's people. But Daughdrill himself requested that he be allowed to see the hanging and the reporter was admitted.

Speaking to the reporter he said: "Tell them all I bear no ill will to any one. I have been treated badly and I only hope they will never treat any other man as they have me. I am resigned to my fate. I feel sorry only for my wife and children, and the rest of my folks."

Religious services were held at 11 o'clock in the cell by Dr. Ralls, a local Methodist preacher. The man's brothers and uncle, and several ladies being admitted the latter cried much. But Daughdrill showed his usual cool demeanor.

At noon he made a request that he be allowed to address the people from the balcony, but afterwards changed his mind.

He smoked cigarettes incessantly and talked to everybody.

His wife and children, boy and girl, remained with him until noon. The prattlers did not seem to realize their father's fate. Especially the little boy who ran about from man to man smiling and chatting in happy innocence.

The prisoner loved life and fought for time. Even when he left the cell and stood on the trap door he asked the time.

Speaking to the bystanders from the trap door, he said: "Well, friends, goodbye. I have been treated badly, but I bear no ill will to any one."

To Tobe Booker, one of the jailers, he said: "Goodbye, Tobe."

Booker reached out his hand, but Daughdrill smiled and said: "I can't reach you, Tobe."

Mr. Booker withdrew, weeping. Daughdrill smiled on the crowd a few moments and again said: "Well, good bye."

Just before the black cap was put on he looked at his brother John, the only relative at hand, and said: "Make a man of yourself."

The youth addressed broke down and wept. These were the last words.

Chief Deputy Burns put on the black cap.

Sheriff Lester sprung the trap and Daughdrill swung into eternity. His neck was broken.

For thousands of persons the death of Herrmann, the magician, will cause a stirring of many reminiscences. The man's place in public regard was as peculiar as his own very peculiar profession. He was perhaps the best known of the men who practiced the art of prestidigitation. He never claimed that his "magic" was anything other than a highly developed and intelligent trickery, the result of skill and dexterity. Yet the people flocked in immense numbers to be puzzled by this trickery and applauded the brilliant trickster. It is rarely that one finds a man with an employment so peculiar winning such a complete success. The great actor or the great singer finds his just reward in an admiration for his art. The magician's work is not recognizable as art. It is a unique form of entertainment—something analogous to that of the vaudeville "specialist." The remarkable thing is that a man with one "specialty" should have been able not only to draw the public every evening throughout a season but to attract it constantly and throughout the entire country. When it is remembered that Herrmann not only became a familiar figure to thousands of persons of the present generation but held the same fortunate prominence before multitudes many years ago one can gather something of the remarkable character of his success.

REV. TOMAS DIXON, JR.

The Great New York Preacher to Visit Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala.—Rev. Thos. Dixon, Jr., the famous New York divine, will be in Birmingham to lecture April 3d. His theme will be "Modern Babylon." Mr. Dixon is the successor of the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., in the Academy of Music, New York city, and draws even larger audiences than the great Brooklyn preacher attracted. Mr. Dixon is a Southerner, and has all the impassioned fire of the Southern orator. "A Live Wire," is what the unique Rev. Sam P. Jones calls him. Mr. Dixon was to have come South on a short tour in the winter, but his health would not permit. There is a remarkably widespread and eager desire to hear Mr. Dixon, as there is perhaps no more thrilling orator in the world to-day.

TESTIMONY in the Aldrich—Plowman contest case is being taken this week in Clanton, E. D. Dryer of Talladega acting on behalf of Mr. Aldrich and Cecil Browne representing Capt. Plowman. Several witnesses have been examined, including A. H. Wilson, Col. Knox, J. P. VanDerveer, Judge Honeycutt, Sheriff Cooley, Oliver Mullins, Revr Will Cox, but so far as we have been able to learn the testimony is altogether favorable to Mr. Aldrich.

THE reform press of Alabama, which is constantly advocating the absolute necessity of organization in the ranks of reformers, has no organization of its own. About three years ago a state association was formed of reform editors in Birmingham, but has never since been heard of. The advantages of organized effort is recognized by all, then why cannot we successfully start a reform press association in Alabama in readiness for next year's campaign. We commend this to the notice of our contemporaries.

TRAIN robbers held up the north bound express, No. 4, on the L. & N. railroad Tuesday night about 11:40 on the other side of Calera. There were six men in the gang and at pistol's point the engineer was compelled to stop the train while another robber made the expres messenger hand over the valuables, which are variously estimated at from $1000 to $10000 in value. The passengers were not molested. Sheriff O'Brien from Jefferson county, with deputies and dogs got on the trail Wednesday morning, but up to the time of our going to press no arrests have been made.

THE first meeting of the Mayor and Council of Clanton, was held last Tuesday and the following business was transacted: The Mayors salary for this year was fixed at one dollar. Bonds for $1,000 for mayor and $500 each for clerk and marshal were made and approved. J. W. Stanfield was appointed clerk at $50 per annum, and J. A. Dudley marshal at $20 per month. Several ordinances were passed which become operative after being posted at the court house door for five days. Men between 18 and 45 years of age are liable to be summoned by the marshal to work the streets. For the present the county jail will serve as the city jail. Regular meetings of the council will be held on the first Friday in each month. We are glad to observe the conservative and economical course being taken by the city fathers.

SUCCESS to the twin cities—Clanton and Jemison.

East Chilton Notes.

Whom do we dearly love?
The Spring!

She brings of Id'nat transient gleam;
And fair as a dreamers finest dream,
Is the beautiful one that cometh now,
The Spring.

Mr. H. C. Raleigh of Parkersburg, West Virginia, has been a visitor here.

A visit to the Run Round was much enjoyed by a party of congenial friends, one day last week.

Mr. Dennis of Prattville is up on a prospecting tour.

Miss Lizzie Dubose, after a extended visit to relatives, at Collensville has returned home.

Mrs. Ternan has had her lot at the Methodist Cemetery covered with a snowy white earth which adds much to the glory of the exquisitely shaped evergreens and the bewildering array of floral beauties that grow there.

Our roads are in splendid condition and buggy riding is much enjoyed.

Mr. Thos. Mims has discovered a beautiful ore in his well it is thought to contain gold and zinc.

Mr. James Petty entertained a number of friends at his home last Thursday evening.

C. L. Brown visited friends here Monday.

J. Ray of Clanton, visited this section recently.

Our amateur florists have been quite busy for the last month in their gardens; we expect some to enjoy a weelth of beauty and fragrance hitherto unknown.

Mr. Newton Cooper with a party of relatives and friends had a most delightful drive to the Coosa river one day this week and brought back spoil in the way of cane and shells.

Mise Janie Oden has received a most valuable and beautiful present. It is a pure nugget of gold watch charm.

Mr. Deitze Booth has extended to Mr. Newton Cooper an invitation to a deer hunt in the vicinity of Apopku Florida.

The explosion of a kerosine lamp caused quite a ripple of excitement at the residence of Mrs. Ternan Friday night.

Master J. McKinney has a most beautiful colt to pet and no one is prouder than he.

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., March 9, 1897.

The city of Washington, D. C., never witnessed such extensive and unAmerican preparations for the inauguration as were made for McKinley's induction into office. So many gorgeous dresses had never been seen at the Capitol. A bran new bible was provided for the Presidential kiss. This was said to prevent contamination and for fear of microbes. Thus is the republican mal-administration ushered in. At the last moment the horrible discovery was made that no tickets had been reserved in the senatorial hall for Mark Hanna. But of the 30 reserved for McKinley the great Ohio cannibal was fitted out for himself, family and friends.

The Silver Knight issued an inaugural edition drawing glowing contrasts between this and the old time inauguration. That the money power should celebrate the seating of their tool is fitting, but we beg to call the attention of the laboring man, who cast a McKinley vote, to the sorry part he and his like take in these ceremonies. The bad taste, the brutality of such displays, while three million of men are begging for work, is unquestioned by all thoughtful people.

The trusts have openly demanded that they be allowed to name the attorney general in McKinley's cabinent. As this is a trust-begotten administration we have no doubt it will be a trust ridden one.

Mr. Hanna has established an editorial bureau at Washington, D. C., in which the strongest yet most adroit writers will produce matter that will be offered free or with a bonus to every editor in the United States. This does not seem in line with word sent out from Hanna headquarters a few weeks ago, that the republican party would abandon campaign work until 1900.

Senator Tillman got out his pitchfork in the Senate chamber last week and added a few holes to the armour plate furnished by the Carnegies He labeled as a steal the enormous price that was about to be agreed upon; denounced certain Senators as "tools" and "hirelings," offered to fight Senator Hawley, of Connecticut who objected to such utterance. After a careful investigation, as member of the committee, he asserted that $400 per ton was being paid for armour plate that should cost onley $200.

Senator Allen has demanded an explanation from the Civil Service Commission of its dismissal of several women who offered only displaying Bryan's picture.

The usual enormous appropriations for the River and Harbor improvements were rushed through Congress during the last hours.

The Silver Republicans have issued a call for a meeting of the Provisional National Committee at Chicago, June 8th, to arrange for a national call. The address, gotten up chiefly by Senator Teller, charges the departure of the republican party from its principles, makes the organization of a new republican party imperative.

One of the new Populist congressman of whom we should feel proud, is J. H. Gunn, of Idaho. He has been for years, editor of the Advance, of Boise City, is a logical, forceful sperker and will, no doubt, make a fine record at Washington.

As a result of the Conference held at Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 29, the Tripple Alliance of that state has just issued an address stating that the Alliance will hold until the gold basis party is defeated. The address is signed by a committee of eight—three Populists, three democrats and two republicans.

The referendum bill has past the Senate in Kansas, Populists and democrats voting for and republicans against it, but it is feared the House will defeat it.

One of the most notable of recent failures is that of the firm of Willoughby, Hall & Co., of Chicago. This is the firm that loaded up with Mexican dollars during the campaign and appended same to printed lectures on money in their show windows while others were sold for 53 cents as an object lesson. Thin, Pale Children

One satisfaction in giving Scott's Emulsion to children is they never object to it. The fact is, they soon become fond of it. Another satisfaction is because it will make them plump, and give them growth and prosperity. It should be given to all children who are too thin, or too pale. It does not make them over-fat, but plump.

It strengthens the digestive organs and the nerves, and furnishes material for rich blood.

We have a book telling you more on the subject. Sent free for the asking.

The Sugar Beet.

The introduction of the sugar beet is attracting much attention among the farmers in South Alabama. Recent investigations have developed the fact that the lands in the black belt are especially adapted to the growing of the sugar beet, an industry which will beat the raising of 4 cent cotton too far to consider. The sugar beet will grow anywhere in Alabama, and our farmers should take the advantage now offered by the government to furnish the seed and give the beet a trial, at least on a small scale Write to your congressman for the sugar beet seed and he will take pleasure in seeing that you get them.

The farmers of Alabama had as well learn now as later that they cannot continue the old way of raising cotton to buy everything they have to live upon, and compete with the progressive and up-to date farmers of other sections. While the newspaper, as a rule, is not much of a success, under a practical test, yet many well known generals, while poor marksmen themselves, could direct their soldiers how to hit the bull's eye as far as they could see it, and while the State Herald does not claim to be authority on agriculture, a blind man can see that unles there is a change in the present manner of farming in many of the southern states, there is little hope under the best of conditions for our section to become prosperous. Diversified crops is the only hope.—State Herald.

"DR. MILES,

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands."

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1896, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. 'Dr. Miles, through his Nervine is a benefactor to thousands." A. C. LEHMAN.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a widely-educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield a wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account creed, race or nationality.

It is quick to relieve pain and inflammation. For Farmers cracked hands it is a wonderful cure. Largest box of ointment on the market.

Cured His Mother.

CARTHAGE, Mo., July 28, 1896.—Your Menthol Balm cured mother's hands. She has had no trouble with her hands since I got her the box. My mother is happy and doing all her own work again. She was not able to do any work for three years on account of her hands. Your Balm has cured them. I thank you very much. ROY RAHM.

It Acts Like a Charm.

SALEM, Ala., April 6, 1896.—I have used your Menthol Balm on some old bad sores, and on two or three cases of itch and other eruptions; the patients say it "acts like a charm." Please send four boxes Balm. I intend to recommend the use of your preparations because they do act sure enough "like a charm." D. W. FLOYD, M. D.

If you cannot get it of your druggist send 25c. for one box by mail. Sold by all leading druggists. Cushman Drug Co., Vincennes, Indiana.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, CATARRH, ASTHMA, HEADACHE

and their marvelous cure.

Science of the 19th Century looks on with amazement at the most remarkable record of cures ever known in the World's history.

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

5 DROPS

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. J. P. Limeburner, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populists and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

Jan. 25, 1897.

DEAR SIRS—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 4th of January 1897, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an aggravated case of inflammatory rheumatism; so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 DROPS and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself immensely relieved, and continuing treatment woke the second morning cured. My arm was absolutely free from pain, and all swelling and stiffness had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great curative properties of your medicine and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial. Sincerely yours J. P. LIMEBURNER.

Bureau of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had Rheumatism in every joint and in the heart, and I had Catarrh of the head for 30 years. I was so poorly that I lost the use of my legs and arms, and could not move without pain. I was so crippled, that I had done but little work for seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my Rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But now, after using "5 DROPS" only two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. This medicine does more than is claimed for it. At this time my Catarrh is much better, and I have scarcely any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pain are gone. My hearing is now good and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than 10 pounds of flesh and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw to give a mother who has a young child, for it has the same effect on the child as on the mother. It wards off Croup and cures the hives of the child and causes sweet and refreshing sleep to both young and old.

Yours respectfully, WM. M. KELLEMS, Siberia, Perry Co., Ind.

Jan. 29, 1896.

We received the following letter from Mr. J. J. Wilson of Omaha, Ill. Mr. Wilson has been for many years an invalid, and reading the above letter which was published, wrote Mr. Kellems, asking if his endorsement was genuine, and received this reply, which he forwarded us.

MR. J. J. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand, the testimonial you speak of is genuine. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" published my testimonial just as I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I could swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for this letter. I sent it to them last January for publication in order that poor sufferers, incurable as I once was, and as you are, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to answer all who write. Tell all your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I know how to sympathize with those who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long, it is now 8 months since I have felt any pain. Dr. S. W. Kellems, my brother, uses "5 Drops" in his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a positive cure.

Sept. 21, 1896. MR. W. M. AND DR. S. W. KELLEMS.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle prepaid by mail 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

$1800 cash money month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "sauce-pan," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving, and these simple inventions are those that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT IS THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $1800 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Genaville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional remedy on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. WASHINGTON LETTER.

Gossippy Correspondence from the Capital City.

WASHINGTONIANS RELIEVED.

The New President Enters Upon His Duties Enthusiastically.—Grave and Important Questions Left by the Old Administration.—Saturday with the New Secretaries of Departments.

Washington, D. C. (Special Correspondence).—The great inaugural is over, the visiting throngs have departed, and Washingtonians, heaving a sigh of relief, have settled down to their various avocations, and things move on under McKinley and his aides, in the departments of National Government, just as though Cleveland and his able corps had not taken their departure. That the Administration of Grover Cleveland was one of marked ability no one will gainsay; that that of Major McKinley will be equally meritorious, there are few who will doubt.

The first morning after the inaugural exercises found the President stirring at an early hour. He greeted the White House officials at 7:30 o'clock, and breakfasted at 8 with the family party, including his wife, mother and other near relatives. Then he smoked a cigar, and at 9 o'clock entered the President's private office to begin coping with the flood of public business. Already crowds of people had begun to arrive, clamoring at the main entrance to the Executive Mansion for admission. The doors were kept closed against the general crowd until 10 o'clock, but in the meantime a number of callers having special business gained admission.

Never before in American history has an Administration been obliged to face at the very beginning of its assumption of power so many and important questions affecting the foreign relations of the United States as confront President McKinley and his premier, Secretary Sherman. All of these are important, and while some of them may be for a time kept in the back ground, others, and those of the utmost gravity, are likely to force themselves upon the attention of the new Administration in such a persistent manner that they must be met promptly. In the list of open diplomatic issues are some of the questions that were running along in diplomatic time-killing fashion when President Harrison turned over the helm of the ship of state to President Cleveland, but the latter, in his time, and with the best intentions, and in spite of the most heroic efforts, was obliged to add to the list and make new issues of his own that he was unable to bring to a conclusion before he, in turn, gave way to President McKinley. Among these questions we might mention the Cuban, the Hawaiian, the Alaskan boundary, the Arbitration Treaty and the Turkish, all of which are questions og grave interest, and will require thoughtful consideration on the part of the new Administration.

President McKinley's first official proclamation was issued Saturday afternoon, with the attestation of the new Secretary of State, John Sherman. It read as follows:

By the President of the United States of America:

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas public interest requires that the Congress of the United States should be convened in extra session at 12 o'clock on the 15th day of March, 1897, to receive such communications as may be made by the Executive,

Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the Congress of the United States to convene in extra session at the Capital in the city of Washington, on the 15th day of March, 1897, at 12 o'clock, noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members thereof, are hereby required to take notice.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States, at Washington, the 6th day of March, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and twenty-first.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.
President.

JOHN SHERMAN,
Secretary of State.

The limiting clause restricting the action of the extra session "to such communication as may be made by the Executive," suggests that possibly the President may limit the objects of the extra session to the passage of the unacted upon appropriation bills, and the enactment of a tariff law, the objects of which in the words of McKinley's inaugural address, will be "to stop deficiencies by the restoration of that protective legislation which has always been the finest."

To-day (Saturday) was a busy day with the various new Secretaries. Secretary Long, of the Navy, reached the department about 11:30. He received the bureau officers, the chiefs of divisions, the clerks and several hundred visitors who were about the corridors. Ex-Secretary Herbert stood with his successor. The officers and clerks were first introduced to Secretary Long, after which they passed to the ex-Secretary and bade him farewell. The reception lasted about thirty minutes, and at noon Secretary Long assumed his duties as Secretary of the Navy.

General Alger took charge of the War Department about a quarter to 12. He came from the White House with the Governor of Wisconsin, and his staff, who, with ex-Secretary Lamont, stood with him while he received the officers of the War Department and their subordinates. The first function on entering the office of Secretary, and before receiving the visitors, was to kiss his two daughters.

The new Postmaster-General, James A. Gary, arrived at the Postoffice Department at 11:45 a. m., accompanied by J. A. Richardson, of Washington. The gentlemen went at once to the office of the Postmaster-General, where they were awaited by ex-Postmaster-General Wilson. The several assistant postmasters-general then called in turn, and were presented to their new chief, and then presented the employes of their respective bureaus.

Secretary of the Interior Bliss reached the Interior Department at noon, and went at once to the Secretary's room, where Mr. Francis awaited him, and after cordial greetings had been exchanged, the new Secretary, standing beside his predecessor, received the officers of the department, who presented their subordinates. All were cordially received by Mr. Bliss.

Secretary Sherman reached the Department af State shortly after 12 o'clock. As soon as he reached the building the officials of the department were notified, and soon after presented themselves. Many were introduced by ex-Secretary Olney.

* * *

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson reached the scene of his new duties shortly after noon, and had a conference with the outgoing Secretary, Mr. Morton. Mr. Wilson was at the department yesterday, posting himself on the affairs that will now come under his supervision. To-day he met the heads of bureaus and chiefs of divisions. He will receive the clerks and other employees later.

* * *

A bit of information of peculiar interest to the friends of W. A. L. Chambers, of Alabama, comes to me to-day. It is that he has been chosen by the three pawers, party to the Samoan agreement, as Chief Justice of Samoa, to succeed Mr. Ide, of Vermont.

Critical Moment.

Whittier, the poet, and Lucy Larcom were once driving in a buggy drawn by a restless animal. The horse become more and more vicious, and the buggy swayed like a ship in a storm. But never a word would Lucy spare on the high-erected theme which then engaged her mind. At last Whittier could stand it no longer, and as he redoubled his efforts with the reins, he exclaimed: "Lucy! If thee do not stop talking till I get this horse in hand, thee will be in heaven before thee wants to!"

The great Music Hall organ, once the pride of Boston, which has been stored in a shed for the last ten years, is to be sold. It cost more than $60,000, and weighed nearly seventy tons. It was finished on Oct. 31, 1863, and the public was invited to hear it on Nov. 2. An ode was written by Mrs. James T. Fields, and was recited by Miss Charlotte Cushman. Although it was looked upon almost as a sacred thing and referred to as "the hope of art in future years," it was kicked out in 1884 because more room for the permanent orchestra was needed.

For thousands of persons the death of Herrmann, the magician, will cause a stirring of many reminiscences. The man's place in public regard was as peculiar as his own very peculiar profession. He was perhaps the best known of the men who practiced the art of prestidigitation. He never claimed that his "magic" was anything other than a highly developed and intelligent trickery—the result of skill and dexterity. Yet the people flocked in immense numbers to be puzzled by this trickery and applauded the brilliant trickster. It is rarely that one finds a man with an employment so peculiar winning such a complete success. The great actor or the great singer finds his just reward in an admiration for his art. The magician's work is not recognizable as art. It is a unique form of entertainment—something analogous to that of the vaudeville "specialist." The remarkable thing is that a man with one "specialty" should have been able not only to draw the public every evening throughout a season but to attract it constantly and throughout the entire country. When it is remembered that Herrmann not only became a familiar figure to thousands of persons of the present generation but held the same fortunate prominence before multitudes many years ago one can gather something of the remarkable character of his success.

The fast liners of transatlantic steamers have increased the minimum rate for first-class passengers. The companies participating in the agreement are the French, the North German Lloyd, American, Red Star, Netherlands-American, White Star, Hamburg-American and Cunard. The Anchor Line is in the agreement about the booking agencies, but the agents on this side have received no instructions with regard to the minimum rate. The lowest rate after Dec. 1 and until April 1 will be $75 to Southampton and $77.50 to Bremen on the express steamers. For the so-called summer season, April 1 to Nov. 1, the lowest rate will be $100 on the express steamers and $75 on the slower steamers. That means that the minimum price of first-class tickets will be from $10 to $15 higher than it has been. There will be no reduction for return tickets, the winter season on both sides will be from Nov. 1 to April 1, and children over eight years of age must pay full fare, those between eight and one paying half fare. The half-fare age was formerly twelve to three.

Interpose no barrier to God's mighty life-giving power, working in you all the good pleasure of his will. Yield yourself up utterly to his sweet control. Put your growing into his hands as completely as you have put all other affairs. Suffer him to manage it as he will. Do not concern yourself about it nor even think of it. Trust him absolutely and always.—H. W. S.

When two soft arms encircle
In affectionate embrace
A fellow's neck and two brown eyes
Look up into his face
With glances full of meaning,
And the touch of two wee hands
Smooth out dull care's furrows,
It's then Dan Cupid's bands
Are spliced into his heartstrings
And he thanks his lucky star
That she'd vouchsafed such happiness
That naught on earth can mar,

SIX WEEKS WITHOUT SLEEP.

A STRANGE EXPERIENCE RELATED BY MRS. MORRIS GAFFIN.

She Was in Torture for Weeks—Excruciating Pains Made Her Life a Burden—All Bent Over and Helpless.

From the New Era, McMinnville, Tenn.

Three miles southeast of the lovely little city of McMinnville, Tennessee, nestling at the foot of the beautiful and grand "Ben Lomond" mountain, are many pretty and comfortable homes—located on fertile lands and shaded by grand and majestic forest trees.

In this locality Mrs. Morris Gaffin lives, with her sons, in comfort and contentment. Understanding that Mrs. Gaffin had been greatly benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a reporter of the McMinnville New Era sought an interview. With this purpose in view a visit was made to the home of Mrs. Gaffin, and she was found to be one of those pleasant little women whom one meets with, now and then, in the constantly recurring changes in life. She gave the reporter a cordial welcome, and upon learning the object of the unexpected call, she brightly responded: "Well, I know of no reason why I should object to an interview, if the report is not exaggerated. I am personally indebted to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and if my testimony can be the means of helping some one else who suffers as I suffered I surely ought not to withhold it.

"A year ago last October I caught a severe cold which resulted in rheumatism in my left side, causing me a great deal of suffering. I used plasters and home remedies, but obtained very little relief until the January following. I did not suffer this severe pain any more until March. In stooping a terrible pain struck me right in the small of the back, and in a few seconds had branched down my left side, extending even to my toes. I had to call my son to assist me into the house, and from that time the pain was almost unbearable. For six week I had no restful sleep. During that time I used all the old remedies and many new ones, even sending to Chicago for medicines, but none of them did me any good. I was all bent over and drawn up until I could scarcely get about at all, and oh! how I did suffer!

"Finally, one day, I told my son when he started to town, to bring me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills; that I had tried everything else, and they might do me some good. He brought the box and I at once began to use them according to directions, and I began to improve by the time I had taken the fourth or fifth pill, and when I had finished the box I was entirely relieved, and could walk about as erect as ever. But I sent for another box. That was in June of last year, and I have never had a pain since. Every morning when I awake I am thankful and think how good it is to lie in such comfort. I thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the wonderful relief they brought me.

"Did you ever have the toothache?" she asked. "Well, if you have, you will know something about the pain I had. It was nothing more or less than a toothache in the hip—it was an excruciating pain."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

The cotton mill at Anniston has been prosperous, and paid dividends of 22 per cent., while other industries were languishing.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company will make no protest to the O'Brien School tax, of Birmingham, but will pay their amount toward the support of the Birmingham schools.

At Pratt City, Friday morning, Forest Jackson, who runs a little grocery store, was shot in the neck, and painfully, though not dangerously wounded, by Joe Ayres, colored. The shooting was the result of a misunderstanding about some commissary checks.

The introduction of the sugar beet is attracting the attention of farmers in South Alabama. Recent investigations have developed the fact that the lands in the black belt are especially adapted to the growing of the sugar beet, an industry which will beat the raising of four-cent cotton too far to consider. The sugar beet will grow anywhere in Alabama.

Representatives from the various mining camps in the State held a meeting in Bricklayers' Hall on Twentieth street, Birmingham, Friday, for the purpose of selecting candidates for the apointment of State Mining Inspectors. The meeting was a large one, and much interest was shown.

Reports from the surveying party out of Columbus for the M. T. & M. Railway, are to the effect that everything is progressing satisfactorily. Several sub-contracts for building the road have been let.

The city of Tuskaloosa and the Water Works Company are having a bout over pure water. The Board of Health have recommended a change of water, and the city says the company must obey the order. The matter will be settled at an early meeting of the board of Mayor and Aldermen.

Birmingham is to have pottery works. The purpose at first is to utilize the plant of the Birmingham Fire Brick works, one of the most complete in the country, for the making of general clay goods, such as fire bricks, paving bricks and sewer pipe, and manufacture stoneware goods, in which there is a home market, such as jugs, flower-pots, lawn-vases, jars, crocks, churns, water coolers, etc.

The wheel department of the Elliott Car Works, near Gadsden, will start up in a few days. Capt. J. M. Elliott, Jr., informed a reporter for the Gadsden Times-News, that he had received a large order for wheels from Southern railroads, and that he will give employment to 100 men at once.

Mr. D. H. Duncan, traveling salesman for a Richmond, Va., tobacco house, committed suicide Friday evening at the residence of his brother-in-law, Capt. J. Morgan Smith, on the South Highlands, Birmingham, by shooting himself with a pistol. Ill health, with the belief by the deceased that he would never get well, caused him to become hopelessly despondent, and led him to take his life.

Colin Daughdrill was hanged in the county jail yard at Gadsden for the crime of murder, a jury having adjudged him guilty of killing J. I. Bates, a traveling man. The trap was sprung at 1 o'clock and the body fell five feet, the victim's neck being broken by the fall. He was pronounced dead in seven minutes. Daughdrill died game, his last advice to his brother, Joho, being, "Make a man of yourself, John."

The Hoffman and Billings Manufacturing Company, of Milwaukee, Wis., will remove its entire pipe plant to Gadsden as soon as the railroads can transport the machinery, a part of which is now speeding Southward. The Hoffmann and Billings Company has been extensively engaged in manufacturing soil pipe for a number of years. The concern is one of the best known in the country, and its factory was located in the best market for the article it manufactured. But competition has forced it to pull up stakes and go to Gadsden. The company will be known as the Hoffmann, Billings and Weller Manufacturing Company. The new plant and the Weller Pipe Works will be merged into one and the same industry. Two large buildings will be constructed immediately and other improvements will be made as soon as possible. The capacity of the plant will be increased to forty-five tons daily; the Weller Pipe Works only made eight tons. The outlay of money to construct the improvements will get be less than $60,000. The company is incorporated for $100,000.

Hot Lakes of New Zealand.

The hot lakes district of New Zealand, covering an area of 1000 square miles, is very actively and peculiarly volcanic. The particular attraction of the district lies in the changes that are continually taking place in it. Almost from day to day extraordinary transformations are worked by heat, fire and steam. The greatest of the volcanic mountains, Ruapehu, rises to a height of 9000 feet, and one of the geysers is estimated to throw water and steam to a height of 180 feet, while the lakes, ponds and pools contain water of every degree of temperature.—Scientific American.

Pill Clothes.

The good pill has a good coat. The pill coat serves two purposes; it protects the pill, enabling it to retain all its remedial value, and it disguises the taste for the palate. Some pill coats are too heavy; they will not dissolve in the stomach, and the pills they cover pass through the system as harmless as a bread pellet. Other coats are too light, and permit the speedy deterioration of the pill. After 30 years exposure, Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills have been found as effective as if just fresh from the laboratory. THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1897. NO. 21.

And now the Republicans are at the ...

The goal is the destruction of the greenbacks.

We have reached that stage where the dance of wealth may soon be the dance of death.

The strangest thing about the Democratic administration was the regular monthly treasury deficit.

The only way to have a good political party is to insist on having honest and efficient party leaders.

The states have no constitutional right to issue money, then why should banks be granted that privilege.

Yes, the law of supply and demand controls prices, and the trusts control the "supply and demand." See?

Various uses have been made of compressed air, but it is seldom utilized by congressmen in making speeches.

McKinley may not be a duck hunter but before he gets through with the office hunters he will wish he was.

There is a difference in surrender and arbitration. Americans do not care to submit their affairs to the will of an European king.

The grandeur of a nation should consist in the patriotic and moral greatness of its people. Riches alone do not constitute greatness.

The political promises made in 1896 were somewhat similar to those made in 1892, and the indications now are that they will be worth no more.

If the Republicans would meet the treasury deficit by a reduction of expenses instead of an increase of taxes they would be entitled to some credit.

There seems to be money in banks and railroads, therefore the people should engage in the business themselves—through government ownership.

God made interest usury; man made 20 per cent interest usury. Which is right? The church is excused from making any reply—it might cause hard feelings.

The only drawback we see to the proposed compressed air trust is that the Almighty has complete control of the supply in such a way that it cannot be cornered.

South Dakota is trying to enact a law for the establishment of the referendum. That is what it will require to break up bribery and restore purity to the government.

The Bradley-Martin ball has excited a great deal of comment, but it is only one of the appendages of our system. Let us change the system and there will be no more such balls.

The Cubans can't be hoodwinked by the promises of Spain; it is a matter of regret that the same cannot be said of the American people with regard to the promises of the politicians.

The concentration of wealth is the concentration of power, and there should be laws of compensation to facilitate a more equitable distribution of wealth and discourage immense fortunes, which corrupt and undermine our free institutions.

There is a probability that the Pacific roads foreclosure will be a repetition of that Morgan-Stetson bond deal which Cleveland made; that is, they will probably be sold for much less than they are worth, and somebody's nest will be feathered at the expense of the people.

PUBLIC TELEPHONES.

WOULD RELIEVE THE MONOTONY OF FARM LIFE.

What One County in Michigan Has Done and What the 'Phones Cost—Any Set of Farmers May Have a Telephone Service.

The following communication from H. K. Smith of Mt. Palatine, Ill., is so suggestive of a means by which the social life of the farm may be improved, and at slight expense, that we give place to it here. It is interesting to note that the farmers of Lenawee county, Mich., realizing the importance of easy communication with their neighbors, far and near, have adopted a telegraph system of their own and there are said to be many skilled manipulators of the keys in the farm houses of that progressive county.

The farmer owes it to himself and his family to take advantage of every means offered to make life on the farm more cheerful and stimulating to sociability. In this day of competing telephone systems and cheap wire, with the constructing force already at hand among the young men of the farms, there is no reason why every well educated farming community should not have a system of interchange at once complete and inexpensive. Mr. Smith's letter follows:

One of the most potent means of relieving the monotony and the isolation of a life on the inland country farms is a general telephone system, uniting the various farm residences and the adjoining towns. Good 'phones, with dry battery can now be bought for $10, and the wire is quite cheap when purchased by the quantity, and twenty foot oak poles for every 100 feet of line can be had in the home forests of most localities. A 'phone with a mile of poles and wire can be had for about $18.

Magnolia township, Putnam county, Ill., began the use of these telephones in the spring of 1896. This system has been added to, until now there is in operation about 100 miles of wire and fifty or more 'phones, thoroughly uniting more than one township and two small and five large towns.

The use of these 'phones to country folks is so varied and useful as to be almost incalculable. First of all, it removes the excuse of runs to town so frequently. Stock can be sold and cars ordered while at home. Farmers can order the corn sheller and thresher and all hands without leaving home, if valuable stock is shipped to him, he knows the minute it comes, can give directions concerning it, and get it quickly.

If a friend comes to the station, they notify him at once. If he goes to town and gets his memoranda mixed, he communicates with his wife at home and straightens things out. Or if she finds she has forgotten something, she meets him at the store with a dispatch for the additional things. If you expect to take the train, you telephone ahead to the agent for exact railroad time. If a social party is afoot, the driver can telephone ahead and say he will be there in ten minutes, and you are ready to the minute. If a surprise party is projected, notices are telephoned around a few hours ahead and all are there at the minute. If the weather is unpropitious for a gathering for any purpose, it is called off at once by telephone and a future date set. Country clocks and school clocks are kept in proper time by 'phone. The doctor is called quickly and the neighbors summoned in the quickest time in case of sickness or fire. If the weather is just right for the ice harvest on a certain evening or morning, you summon your cutters and teams and are at work at once.

There is no end to the short cuts and conveniences of the country telephone. If you have no pressing business on hand and are lonesome, throw open the line and have a one-half hour of social chat and fun. Or call for a little music, and all enjoy it. The other day a message came from an outpost on the line to send a certain man and his hands out as they had a prairie wolf corralled on a certain farm.

A telephone system in the country is like tile drainage—once started, all soon have to drop into the scheme. It works so nicely here that most of the young people at least can distinguish the voices of all their neighbors through the 'phone—no need to ask "who is it? very long. The lines here are twenty-two miles apart at the farthest points.

You have no idea until you try it, of the great value and convenience of a country telephone. Try it.—Farmer's Voice.

That Treaty.

Although the potentates of Europe are all related to each other in varying degrees of close blood kinship, the American republic, whose principles are confessedly a menace to all royal prerogatives, is expected by goody-goody innocents and Anglo-lunatics to submit its interests and honor in a dispute with one member of the royal fraternity to the disinterested (?) judgment of another. This is on par with bringing a suit before a judge who happens to be the father or brother of one's antagonist. A little thing like that, though, ought not to choke us in a country where it is the custom to prosecute corporations before courts presided over by their paid attorneys.—Labor World.

A Republican paper in Ohio wants to know "whether it is Hanna and Harrison, or Hell?" This seems to be a choice of distinction without a difference.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Flashes of Thought Inspired by Passing Events.

There seems to be a contention among some very prominent men in the Peoples' party as to whether we will have all of the specie basis fraud or none of it. The adherents of scientific money need not fear the results if we can have such money to circulate alongside of both gold and silver, or only one of them. It would prove an object lession that would soon determine the people in favor of a scientific paper currency.

The Cleveland Citizen thinks there is something wrong with the reform legislature of Colorado, because the Populist papers of that state are saying many mean things against it. Calling it a "Reform Legislature" reminds us of the story of the boy who took a dog's hide to the tanner's to sell. "This dog wasn't very fat, was he?" asked the tanner. "Fattest dog I ever saw," replied the boy; "he was so fat he went to get over the fence and fell and broke his neck." "Oh, well," said the tanner, "if he was that fat, the hide is no account, and I don't want it." "Look'ee here, mister," replied the boy, "that 'ere dog was not so dad gummed fat as you might think."

Uncle Russell Sage had a nightmare in the daytime. He regrets the occasion of the Bradley-Martin ball. He says it and its like are doing much to spread discontent, which, if not stopped, "will break loose like an avalanche which will destroy every bulwark of our social systems." Uncle Russ. seems to have been reading the history of the French revolution, for he advises his millionaire friends that "it was the same insolvent distress and extravagance of this kind that provoked the French revolution. Those who live for pleasure alone should heed the ominous warning." But we want to inform Uncle Russ. that it's no use. The rich can't get their mind off their wealth and the pleasures it brings long enough to see how near they are verging on the precipice. "On with the dance."

If the government permits the forced sale of the Pacific railroads at a loss to itself it will be a fitting climax to the most monumental fraud of the age. The history of the roads is one long story of stupendous fraud from the beginning. The government has hunted and prosecuted with relentless energy the petty violators of the revenue law who sought to evade the tax on whisky by conducting a moonshine distillery, yet the brigands who have managed the Pacific railroads have swindled the government out of ten times more money than all the moonshiners since the revenue laws were first enacted. The government has no mercy on a counterfeiter, but it stoops to compromise with a band of brigands who have robbed it of more than all the counterfeiters since the adoption of the constitution. If a postmaster at some country cross-roads appropriates seventy-five cents worth of postage stamps the government seizes him with an iron hand and casts him in prison, but it condescends to plead with the rascals who have falsely certified to millions of acres of land which they have not earned under the terms of the grant, and appropriated funds which it agreed to turn in on what it owed. What the government should do is to proceed at once to take charge of the whole system and bring criminal suits against the brigands who have been guilty of fraud, and are now seeking to swindle the government out of the greater part of its claim.

W. S. MORGAN.

Hilariously Desperate.

The New Road, published at Denver, Colorado, seems to be growing hilariously desperate over the situation. In a recent issue it indulges in the following reckless way of expression:

The mills are closing.
Let the ball go on.

Fifty thousand men are starving in Chicago.
On with the dance!

Honest men contemplate robbery to get the comforts of prison.
Let joy be unconfined.

Men work for starvation wages and are glad to do so.
Let the ball go on.

If fifty thousand men are starving in Chicago, how many hundred thousand men are starving in the United States? And this is the grandest, greatest, most expensive, most gorgeous inaugural that the republic ever saw.

Increase the regular army.
Let the ball go on.

Consolidate the newspaper trusts and the federal courts, and
Let the ball go on.

Here's a cheer for the dead already,
And hurrah for the next that dies.

It Didn't Work.

McKinley is elected; Bryan is not. The election is over; the campaign is not. Confidence has been restored; prosperity has not. The capitalists are banqueting; the common people are not. The idle class is satisfied; the toiling masses are not. The population is increasing; the volume of money is not. The number of empty mouths is increasing; the ability to fill them is not.—Cassville (Wis.) Index.

The powers of Europe ought to put a stop to the atrocities of the Turks, and the powers of America ought to put a stop to the atrocities of the Spaniards.

HORRIBLE PROSPECTS

RADICAL MEASURES MUST BE TAKEN SOON.

Or the World Will Experience Worse Industrial Conditions Than Ever Existed in All the Known Ages of Its Previous History.

Nicola Tesla, the great electrical expert said a short time ago:

"The labor of the future will be done principally by pressing an electric button."

Will the millions of toiling and moiling masses still be expected to work ten hours a day?

This is a question not for the working people but for capitalists and business men.

Suppose existing conditions such as the money stringency, the continued improvement in "labor saving" machinery, the combinations, trusts, etc., continue to increase the idle workmen and prevent them from consuming things that are being produced?

Where is the market for the farmer's crops, the manufacturer's products and how can business prosper? And worst of all what shall we do with our starving workpeople?

Are not these questions worth investigating?

If the trend of affairs continues in the same direction, what is going to become of the country?

If the labor of the future will be done principally by pressing an electric button, will we have one man standing by the buttons and pressing them all day—while a thousand look on and starve, or will we change our system to adapt it to changed conditions?

These are the questions we must answer if we want evolution. If we don't study and solve them it will be revolution.

Which will you choose?—Milwaukee Advance.

WHY THIS DIFFERENCE?

Capital Should Not Be Held More Sacred Than Man.

Why should the "rights of property" be more sacred than are the rights of the individual? No one questions the right of the state, in time of danger, to "draft" the individual into active service, even to the sacrificing of his life in behalf of his country.

How about the money mongers' gold? Why should it be exempt or its holder be entitled to demand such terms as he may see fit as a condition on which he parts with it?

This false idea, the outgrowth of greed and avarice, has placed upon this nation a burden of public and private debt that can never be paid. It has established a monied plutocracy, which is allpowerful and holds complete sway over the wealth producing class. In time of peril, when millions of patriotic citizens forsook their homes, their properties, and their families, and at the risk of their lives volunteered their service in defense of the government, while others, not so patriotic, were forced to make the same sacrifice, the money mongers demanded and received their "pound of flesh."

Is there any justice in now granting them further privilege to rob and despoil? We say no, a thousand times no! And we believe the sentiment of our declaration is re-echoed in the mind of every patriotic, right-minded, liberty-loving American citizen, and yet the powers that be—those who have been for years past, and will be for years to come, in control of the government—are in league with these money mongers. They, through false issues, fraud and deception, have been placed in control of the government, only to aid in the enslavement of the masses.

These same despoiled masses will, if need be, volunteer their services at the risk of their lives to perpetuate this same rule of aggregated wealth.

Where, then, is the hope of deliverance? Who shall deliver the people from this volunteer bondage? True it is not voluntary on the part of all, but since the majority rules—or are supposed to rule—and we are privileged to exercise a freeman's ballot, as a whole, the service is voluntary.

We confess the prospect for the future is not flattering, and yet patriotism and love for humanity rebels at the idea of surrender. The greater the odds against those enlisted in a sacred cause the greater should be the effort in behalf of such cause.

As we view it, the only hope lies in securing greater power to the people in the shaping and controling of the affairs of government. The agents of the people must be restricted in the exercise of powers they now abuse. Take away from them the power to rule the people—a power they have and can use as arbitrarily now in this republic as in any constitutional monarchy, if so disposed. The fact that we choose our rulers does not make their despotic rule less burdensome.

The majority of the people are honest and patriotic, but they are conservative. Such conservatism has been responsible for all past oppression, as well as all past revolutions. It may be that "history will repeat itself." People who have tasted the sweets of liberty and are blessed with universal education and the opportunity to ascertain the cause of their wrongs, are not likely to submit to involuntary servitude for an indefinite period of time.—Tulare County (Cal.) News.

THE NEW BANK SCHEME.

They Want the Privilege of Issuing Money.

If Greenbacks Are "Fiat Money" What Would the Bank Notes Be?—Philadelphia Manufacturer.

The fact that the American Bankers' Association approved the plan known as "the Baltimore plan," for permitting the issue of new bank currency, entitles the project to very serious attention. With respect to the plan the following observation may be made:

Panics usually are produced by the undue inflation of bank credits. The Baltimore plan proposes to permit the banks to issue large additional volumes of paper money in times of panics. In other words, the proposition is to try to cure the results of inflation by supplying a little more inflation. It would be the introduction to finance of something like the homeopathic principle in medicine.

Under this plan all banks would contribute to a fund for redeeming the currency of weak and dishonest banks. Can any one offer a respectable reason why a well and honestly managed bank should use its money to bolster up wildcat concerns in various parts of the country?

Why should the federal government give up all share of the profits of issuing currency and yet perform all the functions of a supervisor and guarantor? In other words, why should the American people, through their agents, undertake the labor and responsibility, while the banks pocket the profits. If the guarantee of the government (that is, of the people) is necessary to make the money go, why should not the government issue the money and make the profit? The most reckless free-trader never dared to charge that manufacturers are the beneficiaries of such "paternalism" as is here proposed.

Is a 5 per cent deposit in the federal treasury a sufficient security for the proposed bank issues? We do not think it is. During thirty years of high prosperity the national bank currency has been based upon actual value held by the federal government. The proposed change to but 5 per cent of the actual value appears to be rather violent. The proposition, indeed, is to abandon money of actual value for credit money. If we are to have more credit money, it should be money based upon the credit of the United States government, not upon a 5 per cent redemption fund of a bank which may go wild-catting almost as it pleases.

The American people will never surrender the greenbacks. That might as well be accepted at once as fact. The nation desires that the government shall control the currency of the country. Control of what is in effect the money of the people should be in the hands of the people's servants, not in those of private persons who may sometimes have a direct interest in making the supply scarce. The relation of the volume of money to the business of the people, like the quality of the money, is vital? The danger of over issue, the peril of under contraction and the possibility of inferiority of quality must all be great under the proposed plan.

"SOUND MONEY."

A Deadly Parallel Showing Some Differences That Are Worth Study.

People's Tribune: The prevalent and ever intensifying depression of industries under the "sound money" policy justifies every inquirer to put the facts of the situation to the test. Below the Tribune presents the deadly parallel column, displaying the actual results of a reasonably sufficient currency and one always contracting:

ACCOUNT WITH ONE BALE.

	1873.	1895.
By one bale cotton	$75.00	$24.00
To one barrel flour	1873. $ 8.00	1895. $ 3.40
To bolt domestics	2.40	1.50
To 1 keg nails	4.50	1.85
To 1 pair shoes	3.50	2.00
To one suit clothes	10.00	6.50
To 1 dress pattern	9.00	3.50
To garden seed	2.50	2.50
	$36.90	$21.25
Balance	$38.10	$ 3.75

Here we find that in 1873 a bale of cotton paid the above bill at then prevailing prices and left a surplus of $38.10; in 1895 the bale pays the same bill at present prices and the farmer is happy to carry home $3.75.

What was the relation of $38.10 to other property in 1873 when cotton was 15 cents? What is the relation of $3.75 to other property now? In the former period the first named surplus on sale of one bale of cotton over the bill rendered, would have been able to take a man 762 miles by rail; now he can travel 125 miles for the surplus on his one bale; then he could have paid for 3,000 feet of lumber with his surplus; now he can not pay for more than 400 feet with his surplus.

There is this other great and vital difference in the two periods, estimated upon a commercial basis, to wit: in January, 1873, money was active and safe on the market, and the volume of the currency was in circulation; now money is not on the general market at all, few can borrow at any rate, and the volume of currency is stagnant and locked in the banks for safety.

So much for the bankers' argument that these blessed times of low prices secure plenty for all! The Hindoo peon, toiling under the bayonet of the British guard, has "plenty," but what is plenty in his case? Only three to fifteen cents for a day's work; only thin soup and gruel for diet, and a pair of coarse cotton trousers for raiment. The diet, the raiment and the wages move apace. The banker's money buys more of the product of labor as money becomes scarce and laborers multiply in the field.

THE MONEY LENDER.

Who is ever looking out for No. 1 and himself?
THE MONEY LENDER.

Whom must the people get rid of in order that they may gain complete independence?
THE MONEY LENDER.

The constitution endows the government with the sole and exclusive right to create money. This has been so decided by the Supreme court of the United States. The law makes it a crime for any other power to create money. The spirit of this law is violated in the issuing of bank currency. The states are denied the right to make and issue paper money, then why should that power be delegated to the banks?

The Republicans are now trying to put off prosperity until they pass a law to increase the tariff taxes. After that something else will be the matter, and so it goes.

ALABAMA BRIEFS.

The News of a Great State Told in Short Paragraphs.

—Birmingham is to have another large cotton mill.

—Tuskaloosa has a new hose wagon and 1,500 fee of new hose for the fire department.

* * *

Stevenson is to have a cob pipe factory. It will be run by a stock company of citizens.

—Tom Gibbs, colored, shot and killed Carrie Moseley, also colored, near Mobile in a fit of jealousy.

—Huntsville negroes nominated D. S. Brandon and B. E. Scruggs, both colored, for city aldermen.

—The iron bridge over Willis Creek, near Gadsden, was wrecked Saturday by high water, and will be rebuilt at a cost of $5,000.

—Farmers along Mush Creek near Selma, will not recover from the effects of last Friday's rain in the next five years. In many places the soil was entirely washed away, and the land was left almost worthless.

—By order of Chancery Court the Matthews Cotton Mills, of Selma, will be sold within sixty days under foreclosure, the upset price being fixed at $15,000. The Company was involved by the Commercial bank.

—Within a few days the ice factory at Greenville will be turning out ice just as if there had never been a fire. It will be remmbered that a short time ago the Greenville Mills came very near burning up. The ice machinery was damaged to a greater extent than anything else, and that is again all right.

—New Market, on the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railroad, in the past four months has shipped 250 head of cattle, 3,000 hogs, 52 cars of poplar, walnut and oak logs, 16 cars of cedar logs, 7 cars of sawed lumber, 28 cars of cotton and 2 cars of cotton seed. Farmers believe in diversified crops in that vicinity.

* * *

—The Internal Revenue Collector at Birmingham issued $2,500 worth of revenue stamps to the Kohn Distilling Company of Montgomery for use on one brand of whisky. This is the largest order ever filled in the history of the Alabama office and is far the largest sale of Alabama whisky ever made.

—Thos. J. Hodges, merchant at Ashville, closed his doors Thursday morning and made an assignment to D. D. Goode. It is said that the liabilities far exceed the assets. This failure is generally regretted, as Mr. Hodges is one of the most popular citizens of St. Clair county, and most accommodating business man.

—Half of the County Tax Commissioners have been announced, Judge Wood having recently added the following gentlemen to the string. W. J. Rountree, for Dallas; R. B. Wallace, for Perry; D. D. Goode, for St. Clair; B. E. Marsh, for Wilcox. The other county appointments will follow in the course of time.

—Walter Hill, a young farmer and teacher living three miles from Sulligent was shot from ambush while on his way home from a neighbor's house. His wound is thought to be fatal. No cause can be assigned for the deed as the young man has no enemies that he knows of. He thinks his would-be murderer was lying in wait for another man and shot him through mistake.

—Thursday night Noah Spears killed his brother-in-law, Charles Morris, on Avenue F, near Thirty-fourth street, Birmingham, by cutting his throat with a knife. The two men, who are negroes, have been occupying rooms in the same house. They decided to move to another near by house, but Morris happened to secure the refusal first. This is said to have angered Spears.

—The Bigbee River Lumber Company has just completed an elegant new mill at Jackson, which will saw hard wood lumber for the Northern markets at the rate of 40,000 feet per day, and the Park Smith Lumber Company will complete a mill of the same capacity at Jackson this month. The mill will ship dressed pine lumber North and East. At Whatley a mill is being built to saw gum and poplar lumber for export, and a Michigan party will shortly erect a plant there for the manufacture of box shooks for the Northern trade.

—The Sheffield furnaces are working like clock work, turning out large quantities of splendid iron, which finds ready sale at reasonable prices. Most of the iron is shipped by barge to St. Louis and other Western points. There is quite a contest now between the railroads and the boats over the large amount of freight from this place. This fact will always give Sheffild an advantage as an iron market. The big furnace No. 2, of the Cole Furnace plant at Sheffield that has just been put in thorough repair under the supervision of Manager Jeff D. Gray, was put in blast on Monday. Mr. Gray is confident that he will be able to turn out 250 tons daily from this furnace. This furnace was built originally for 125 tons.

About twenty per cent. increase in the sale of fertilizer tags is reported from Montgomery above the sales up to this date last year. This is indicative of a large cotton crop this season.

The public spirit displayed by Mayor Sampey in accepting that office without salary should be appreciated by all our citizens, as should also the gratuitous labors of the councilmen.

The Mississippi river has flooded miles of country and several thopsand people have been rescued and carried to Memphis. Numbers have perished. The levees have given way in some places.

The cotton growers' convention passed resolutions recommending that the first consideration of all planters should be the raising of home supplies. If the cotton states first raise everything possible for home consumption the balance in cotton will necessarily be so much surplus to convert into cash at rates which the planter can himself fix instead of being at the mercy of his creditors.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company are about to establish experimental stations at four points on their line in Alabama to determine the fitness of our soil and climate for the culture or tobacco. Clanton is one of the four places selected; the others are Calera, Cullman and Athens. This is another evidence of the progressive spirit of the popular L. & N., and will probably lead to important results. Many of our people raise tobacco for their own use and we have known much of it to be of good quality although manufactured in a crude way. We have no doubt but that these experimental stations will soon demonstrate the practicability of raising the finest grades of tobacco in this State.

Death of Mr. G. O. Logan.

Early last Saturday morning our highly esteemed fellow-townsman, Mr. G. O. Logan, passed peacefully away to rejoin his beloved wife, who preceded him to their home above last summer. 'Tis but a very short time since Mr. Logan was out attending to his business in his quiet, unassuming way, but an attack of pneumonia was more than his not over strong constitution could bear and was the primary cause of his death. He was about 47 years of age and a native of this county, the greater part of his life having been spent in the neighborhood of Verbena. About two years ago he removed to Clanton and entered into the mercantile business, making friends of all by his pleasant manner. His body was laid beside that of his wife in the cemetery at Clanton, a large number of relatives and friends attending the burial services, conducted by Rev. W. B. Dennis, of the M. E. church, of which church Mr. Logan was a faithful member. One little orphan boy is the only surviving member of his family.

Mrs. Rosa Hanks Passes Away.

Twice within the last two weeks has the angel of death visited the Gullahorn family. Only one week from last Saturday the remains of the unfortunate Mr. Sam Gullahorn interred here, and on Monday last his cousin, Mrs. Rosa Hanks, breathed her last at her home in Jemison. Mrs. Hanks will be remembered in Clanton as the beautiful and accomplished daughter of the late Mr. J. W. Gullahorn. An estimable young lady, beloved by all, she was happily married a few years ago to Mr. G. C. Hanks, and leaves him, with two young children, to weep for a fond wife and devoted mother. The mortal remains were brought to Clanton and laid in the family lot close by the new made grave of poor Sam. Rev W. B. Dennis preached the funeral service in a most impressive manner and the bereaved ones are consoled by the thought she "is not dead but sleepeth."

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., March 16, 1897.

Appropriations made by the last congress aggregate over $1,045,000.

The Idaho legislature has passed resolutions condemning two of its members—one for trying to extort a bribe, the other for offering one. Kansas has done likewise, while three of the state senators in Oklahoma have resigned, declaring the senate to be too corrupt for honest men to remain.

John D. Connelly, consul to New Zealand, comments in his report the "encouragement given the small farmer class by the government loans." These loans are made at four per cent. and enable the poorer farmers to settle on waste lands suitable for agriculture and grazing.

So much corruption has been uncovered in congress, thanks to the Populists, that the government is seriously considering making its own armour plate.

Fusion of the silver forces in Iowa has carried nearly every municipal election this spring.

San Francisco and Chicago are following the example of Detroit and giving to the unemployed the privilege of raising vegetables on vacant lots.

Of the 6,433 legislators in the United States, 3,493 are Republicans, 2,209 Democrats, 520 Populists, and 214 Fusionists.

The new civil service law reduces the number of presidential appointive offices to less than 2,000. McKinley has announced that he will make few appointments until after the tariff bill has been settled.

Another state treasurer, Republican as usual, goes out of office $500 short. This time in Nebraska.

President McKinley, in his inaugural address, admits that the country is suffering, the industrial conditions are unsatisfactory, and that willing laborers are idle and loss is thus entailed upon useful enterprises. These admissions are followed by a plea for international bimetallism and a sounder currency system. He thus indirectly proclaims that not the tariff but the finances must be adjusted before prosperity comes to the industrial classes of this country. Along the same line Cleveland said, in vetoing the immigration bill: "With the advent of settled and wholesome financial and economic governmental policies and a consequent encouragement to the activities of capital, the misfortune of the unemployed labor should, to a great extent, at least, be remedied." Spring is fast approaching. The trees are now putting forth their spring attire, and already I perceive the young buds showing their red, yellow and white; the green grass blades are peering through the earth and flowers are decking the parterres with their rich colors and filling the air with fragrance.

Mr. H. Kendrick, we are sorry to say, is still on the sick list and improves very slowly, if any at all.

Poor Blood

When a horse is poor in flesh, a new harness won't give him strength. If a house is cold new furniture won't warm it. If your strength is easily exhausted; work a burden; nerves weak; digestion poor; muscles soft; if you are pale and worn out, the trouble is with the blood. It is not so much IMPURE blood as POOR blood. Pills won't make this blood rich; nor will bitters, nor iron tonics, any more than a new harness will give strength to the horse, or new furniture will make a house warm. For poor blood you want something that will make rich blood.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is the best remedy in the world for enriching the blood.

We have prepared a book telling you more about the subject. Sent Free. For sale by all druggists at 50c. & $1.00.

I desire to attest to the merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as one of the most valuable and efficient preparations on the market. It broke an exceedingly dangerous cough for me in 24 hours, and in gratitude therefor, I desire to inform you that I will never be without it, and you should feel proud of the high esteem in which your Remedies are held by people in general. It is the one remedy among ten thousand. Success to it.—O. R. Downey, Editor Democrat, Albion, Ind. For sale by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

It is, or should be, the highest aim of every merchant to please his customers; and that the wide awake drug firm of Meyers & Eshleman, Sterling, Ill., is doing so, is proven by the following, from Mr. Eleman: "In my sixteen year's experience in the drug business I have never seen or sold or tried a medicine that gave as good satisfaction as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Sold by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

On the morning of Feb. 20, 1895, I was sick with rheumatism and lay in bed until May 21st, when I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved me almost entirely from the pain and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time I was able to be up and about again.—A. T. Moreaux, Leverpe, Minn. Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE, has its victim at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a sure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Wineinger, of Selkirk, Kansas, writes; "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was numb and suffered terribly. I read Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects. I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to redress injustice or to resist oppression.

is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wisely-educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account creed, race or nationality.

1000 WAYS TO CURE A COLD!

Quinine, aconite, hot tea, onion syrup, whiskey and quinine, rock candy and rye, a "sweat" foot bath, starvation feeding, wrapping your nose around your neck, cod liver oil, and old hundreds cough cure, throw and over 500 other ways are used by the human race to cure a cold. The best way is to make CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER your daily companion and you will never catch cold.

A man must be miserable indeed who is laid up with a bad Cold, Catarrh, Headache unable to breathe without pain, his throat sore and his head throbbing when one little product in the market called CUSHMAN'S INHALER will give him instant relief.

RELIEF EASY TO GET!

He may go on and on, sneeze his head off for that matter, sniffle and snort around to everybody's discomfiture. His eyes may become inflamed, his head and ears ache, and his throat so sore he can hardly swallow. Patient! he must be to endure it all when for 50c. he can buy CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER and restore himself to his normal condition.

Cushman's Menthol Inhaler a Jewel!

A woman will sit around prostrated in nerves, feeling desperate over loss of sleep, head and eyes racked with pain, cold settled in every bone, so miserable that life seems a blank, but if she would make the marvelous little instrument known as CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER her daily companion, her headaches would come less frequent, she would never have a cold, and sore throat and catarrh would have no terrors.

NEVER NEGLECT A COLD OR COUGH

Neglect a Cold or Cough and if La Grippe don't get you, Consumption will. CUSHMAN'S INHALER cures colds and all diseases of the breath-way passages. You lose dollars in doctor bills in not keeping CUSHMAN'S INHALER handy to drive off a cold or cough or sore throat at its very first approach.

The Greatest Authority in the World.

DR. J. LENNOX BROWNE, F. R. C. S. Ed., Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital, says: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal disease, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER to the extent of hundreds per annum."

DR. BROWNE.

[In not this recommendation sufficient that all who read may profit by it?]

Brings sleep to the sleepless. Cures Insomnia and Nervous Prostration. Don't be fooled with worthless imitations. Take only CUSHMAN'S. 50c. at druggists, or mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for book on Menthol and testimonials.

5 DROPS — 49 YEARS OF SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATISM.

Read carefully this testimonial found below, also letters from those who have been cured of other diseases and remember that "5 Drops" has and can never fail to quickly relieve and permanently cure.

DEAR SIR:—Your bottle of "5 Drops" received. It was for an old friend, Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Marlinstown, Wis. He has had Neuralgia in his chest, suffering a great deal of pain, so much so that it affected his heart and he could not sleep on account of a smothered feeling. He has been under the care of the most eminent physicians, but found no relief until I gave him a dose of "5 Drops." The very first night he rested well, and has ever since, and is gaining daily. I myself am 67 years old and began taking your medicine last April for Rheumatism, which I have had for 49 years, also for a weak heart. Since taking "5 Drops" the Rheumatism has all disappeared, the stiffness is gone from my joints, and my heart never misses a beat. I am to-day a well, strong woman, and I owe it to "5 Drops." I only wish I could sound my bugle of praise loud enough to be heard all over the world, and could convince every one that "5 Drops" is all you claim it to be and more.

MRS. D. T. CARVER, Winslow, Stevenson Co., Ill.

Sept. 9, 1896.

34 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

DEAR SIR:— JANUARY 2, 1897.

Over 34 years ago, I had Typhoid Fever, and barely escaped with my life. It left my system so shattered that I have had ever since, Rheumatism and Throat Trouble, which gave me a terrible Cough. I had been unable to find any relief for these diseases, until I learned of your "5 DROPS", which I commenced taking only two months ago, and my cure has been indeed WONDERFUL. Already my cough has entirely disappeared, and the Rheumatism which for a few years past has threatened to make a cripple of me, is cured, and I am free from pain. This is the most wonderful and the cheapest remedy ever discovered. I am more thankful to you than words can tell and I want everybody to know what "5 DROPS" has done for me. Although I am over 70 years old, I am feeling better than I have in years.

I shall be glad to answer any questions regarding my case from anyone enclosing a two cent stamp. Gratefully yours,

MRS. SAMUEL BIBLET, Litchfield, Mich.

CATARRH AND HAY FEVER.

I find the bottle of "5 DROPS" to be very good and just what you claim. My wife has been suffering with Catarrh and Hay Fever over 16 years. She has tried everything and doctored much, but no cure until she tried "5 DROPS" which completely cured her.

Yours truly REV. L. VON WALD,
Milbank, S. D.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA.

For twenty long years my wife suffered untold tortures from Sciatica and Neuralgia, and I thank God for the day that your heaven-sent remedy fell into my hands, for it completely cured her. I am a minister of the Gospel, and when I find any who suffer, cannot help but recommend "5 DROPS", for I know it will do more than you claim for it.

REV. F. M. COOPER, Washington Center, Mo.

PARALYSIS AND RHEUMATISM

DEAR SIRS: NOVEMBER 9, 1896.

It is with pleasure I speak of your priceless remedy and of the good it has done me. For the last eight years I have been an incurable cripple from paralysis and rheumatism. Just think for eight years a total cripple not able to earn a penny nor able to walk or step on the ground without the aid of something to lean on. Heaven bless the man who discovered this remedy, for, thanks to him and God, I am able to walk and able to work. I have only taken two thirds of a bottle, but have not had any pain in my back since I took the first dose, and after the second I walked across the floor, which I have not done in years. I have thrown away my cane and shall never need it again. To any one sending me a two-cent stamp I will send my affidavit. I have another bottle of "5 DROPS" and value it at $1.00 per drop.

Thankfully yours, EDWARD CASTLE,
1005 Wall Street. Sioux City, Iowa.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

DEAR SIRS: SEPTEMBER 24, 1896.

I wish to tell you and suffering humanity how much good "5 DROPS" has done me. On the beginning of this year I took down bedfast with inflammatory Rheumatism, and I was doctored by as good physicians as this country has, but they could not cure me. On August 4, I began to take "5 DROPS." At that time every joint in my body and my limbs were stiff, so that I could not be moved. Even my tongue was getting so that I could hardly speak so any one could understand me, but to-day, only seven weeks from that time, I am absolutely cured, and thank you and God for my recovery.

Gratefully yours,
HORACE F. ANDERSON, McCracken, Kans.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief, and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism Neuralgia, Sciatica, Catarrh, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Backache, Hay Fever, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and kindred diseases.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC ..... CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS ..... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet eaten by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE ..... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN ..... CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE ..... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED ..... CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT ..... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS ..... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c., 25c., 50c. a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Large boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

For Mothers!

THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

Not Worth It.

Judge Walton, who presides over a court at Washington, is a man of grim humor. One time, in the lobby, a member of the bar was seeking to convey the impression to a group, of whom Judge Walton was the center, that his income from his profession was very large.

"I have to earn a good deal," the lawyer said; "it seems a large story to tell, Judge, but my personal expenses are six thousand dollars a year. It costs me that to live."

"That is too much, Brother S——," said the Judge; "I wouldn't pay it; it isn't worth it!"

Merit Wins.

The invention of Alabastine marked a new era in wall coatings, and from the standpoint of the building owner was a most important discovery. It has from a small beginning branched out into every country of the civilized world. The name "kalsomine" has become so offensive to property owners that manufacturers of cheap kalsomine preparations are now calling them by some other name, and attempting to sell on the Alabastine company's reputation.

Through extensive advertising and personal use, the merits of the durable Alabastine are so thoroughly known that the people insist on getting these goods and will take no chance of spoiling their walls for a possible saving of no the most but a few cents. Thus it is again demonstrated that merit wins, and that manufacturers of first-class articles will be supported by the people.

REED IS TO BE SPEAKER.

Baily, of Texas, Nominated on the Democratic Side.—President McKinley is Proving Himself a Diplomat.—Senator Hanna's Private Secretary's Big Salary.

This ticket was nominated at the caucus of the Democratic members of the House Saturday afternoon: Joseph W. Bailey, Texas, Speaker; E. G Bagby, District of Columbia, Chaplain James Kerr, Pennsylvania, Clerk; H H. Mohler, Illinois, Sergeant-at-Arms G. M. Cruikshank, Alabama, Doorkeeper; T. B. Stackhouse, South Carolina, Postmaster; Ike Hill, Ohio; Geo. Browning, Virgina; Felton Knight, Georgia, and James English, California, special employes.

There has been for several weeks an active canvass for the speakership nomination. The candidates were Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas; Benton McMillin, of Tennessee, and James D. Richardson, of Tennessee. Before the caucus met today Mr. Richardson withdrew, with the understanding that he should be elected permanent chairman of the Democratic caucus. This was supposed to narrow the field to Bailey and McMillin, but after these gentlemen had been placed in nomination a third candidate was presented by Mr. Terry, of Arkansas, in the person of Mr. Richard Bland, of Missouri, the silver dollar candidate for Presidential honors at the Chicago convention. Mr. Bailey proved to be an easy winner, securing a larger vote than both his rivals combined. The five members of the New York delegation, excepting Mr. Sulzer, supported Mr. Bailey, the remainder of his vote coming principally from the South. The vote was: Bailey, 56; McMillin, 30; Bland, 22.

Speaker Reed was unanimously nominated for speaker of the house at Saturday's caucus. The attendance of members was unusually large, 192 of the 203 Republicans being present. The new members were conspicuously numerous. Mr. Payne, of New York, was selected to place Mr. Reed in nomination. He referred in flattering terms to Mr. Reed's popularity in the House. He said that Mr. Reed was nominated when this congress was elected; that he was the choice of the Republican party, and that it was the business of the caucus to respond to this popular demand. When Mr. Payne had taken his seat, Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, who occupied the chair, put the motion, and it was adopted without a dissenting vote. Mr. Payne, of New York, and Mr. Cameron, of Illinois, two of the veteran members of the House, were designated to escort the Speaker, who was quietly seated in his private office, to the floor. As he entered, all the members rose to their feet and greeted him with a hearty burst of applause.

President McKinley is proving himself more of a diplomat than he has ever been credited with being. A case in point in the manner in which he handled the application of Ex-Queen Lilliloukalani, of Hawaii, whose recent admission to the Diplomatic Gallery of the Senate upon the personal request of Secretary Sherman, made quite a stir in diplomatic circles, for a private interview. The application was in writing, but the answer was given verbally to the Ex-Queen's Secretary, and was to the effect that she could take her place in the line which daily gathers in the East Room and be certain of seeing the President at almost any time, but that no private interview would be granted her now.

Some 10,000 applications for office, which were received at Canton between the election and the inauguration, were this week sent to the several departments under which the offices applied for are. It required a big two-horse wagon to carry the boxes in which these applications were packed.

* * *

Senator Hanna's private secretary, Mr. S. A. Perkins, gets just $1,200 more salary than either a Senator or Representative does, and is consequently envied by the secretaries of all the other public men in Washington. Mr. Perkins gets $1,200 on the regular pay roll of the Senate, and Senator Hanna gives him the $5,000 a year he will get as Senator.

* * *

Secretary Wilson is running the Department of Agriculture like he had been there a year, instead of a week. One of the things he has done which seem to be excellent was to contract for 6,000 tons of sugar beet seed, which he intends to distribute in fourteen States, which have suitable soil and climate to raise sugar beets. Five farmers in every county in those States will be asked to plant these seeds and report results. Secretary Wilson sees no reason for our importing beet sugar from Germany, when we can just as well grow the beets and make the sugar ourselves.

A score of almost Presidential postmasters find themselves barred out of office because no commissions were issued to them by Mr. Cleveland. President McKinley can sign these commissions, but the pressure which members of his own party will bring to bear for these very places make his doing so very doubtful. The trouble with most of these gentlemen was their failure to get their bonds prepared in time.

President McKinley has played it smart on the Senators and Representatives on the office question, if some of them have given it out straight. He intends making the Senators and Representatives take the responsibility of deciding upon the men from their State who shall receive whatever offices may be allotted to that State, and has said that when he gets ready to consider general appointments, which will not be for several months, he will appoint nobody who does not secure the endorsement of all his party in the Congressional delegation from his State. Maj. McKinley is reported to have told a close personal friend who is an applicant for a diplomatic position that he would not consider his application unless he secured the endorsement of his Congressional delegation, because of this rule, although he knows the man much better than the Senators and Representatives from his State do.

A statement at the immigration bureau shows that during the six months ended December 31, 1896, the number of immigrants who arrived in this country was 149,808, a decrease as compared with the same period in 1895 of 42,200. For the month of January last the decrease as compared with January, 1896, was 3,325, making a total decrease for the seven months 45,525. This decrease is said to be largely due to the difficulties and uncertainties attending a landing in this country. The many deportations and the strict examinations enforced in this country of immigration from Europe to Brazil, Argentine Republic and other South American countries where inducements are offered. An important factor in the large decrease of arrivals in this country is believed to be the proclamation of the Italian minister of the interior, warning undesirable classes from embarking for this country and refusing them passports.

A joint caucus of the Populists of the Senate and House was held Saturday night more for the purpose of permitting the members to get acquainted with each other than to outline any particular policy. Speeches were made by Senators Allen and Butler and by various members of the House. The Representatives met Monday morning at 10:30 to nominate their candidate for Speaker.

Governor Dingley, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, states that the tariff bill will not be completed until Monday morning, and that it will not be given to the press in authentic and complete form until it is ready to be presented to the House which will probably be Monday afternoon.

INTO A RIVER.

A Southern Railway Train Tumbles Near Rome, Ga.

DOWN A HIGH EMBANKMENT.

The Cars Catch on Fire and Were Burned Up.—The Brave Engineer Remained at His Post and Swam Out Though Badly Injured.

Rome, Ga.—The Southern Railway passenger train due here at 3:25 Saturday morning, was frightfully wrecked on a trestle forty feet high crossing the Western & Atlantic Railroad.

The trestle is only a short distance from the high bridge of the Southern Railway over the Etowah river. The engine broke loose from the cars and missing the bridge rolled down a bluff sixty feet high into the swollen Etowah river.

Engineer James T. Pittman bravely remained at his post, and is perhaps fatally injured, with his leg broken and other injuries. He clung to some of the projecting portions of the engine and yelled for help, but as no one came he swam out.

Rescuers found him and carried him up the bluff, whence he was removed to the hospital. Alfred Kennedy, fireman, jumped and is seriously injured. Baggagemaster Winston and Express Messenger Culberson were painfully hurt.

The cars which went down with the trestle consisted of the smoker and baggage car and five cars of fast freight. They were all burned up.

The fire department was called out, and the constant ringing of the fire bells alarmed the entire city.

Three imprisoned passengers were rescued from the smoker. At noon it was stated that it would be a late hour in the afternoon before the trestle was rebuilt and the wreckage cleared. Had it not been for the freight cars the passengers in the day coach and the Pullman would doubtless have been badly hurt.

IS A GO.

The Extension of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad to Montgomery.

New York.—It is announced that negotiations looking to the extension of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad to Montgomery, Ala., have been successfully completed by the sale of $4,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds of the Mobile & Ohio Railway Company, having fifty years to run, the principal and interest payable in gold, and secured by first lien upon the Montgomery division of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, including therein two branches to the Warrior and Cahaba coal fields and the equipment, to which the proceeds of part of the bonds are to be applied.

The construction of this division will add about 200 miles to the Mobile & Ohio system and will give it an important terminus at Montgomery.

Terminal grounds and facilities granted by the city of Montgomery have been secured at that point and at Tuskaloosa.

By acts of Congress authority has been given to the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company to construct bridges across the Alabama, Cahaba and Warrior rivers.

It is expected that the Montgomery division will be in operation early in 1898.

SHOOTING AT STATE LINE.

Mobile, Ala.—Dr. R. B. Allman was shot eight times and killed at State Line, Miss., by Himes Hood, son of J. R. Hood, formerly of this city. The doctor was drinking in his room, and Hood and another young man were trying to get him to give up a jug of whiskey. The doctor finally accused Hood of talking about him, and attacked Hood with a dirk, when Hood shot him eight times through the head at point blank range. Dr. Allman went to State Line about two weeks ago, and claimed to be from Montgomery.

MEMPHIS' DANGER.

The Mississippi May Change Its Course at Bluff City.

LEAVING THE CITY DRY.

The Waters Reach a Critical Stage and Unless the Levee Holds an Island Will Be Left Between Memphis and the River.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—A Memphis dispatch of Friday, to the Times, says: The Mississippi river registers 34 2-10 feet on the gauge tonight, and is rising.

Since yesterday the rise of the river has become more rapid than the rise of the past week. The danger line is 33 feet, and it is thought that the water above will run the river to 36 or 36½ feet, which will, so experienced river men say, overflow Arkansas as far as Crawley's ridge, forty miles from Memphis.

The most serious feature of the present rise of the river is the possibility of it cutting out a new bed for itself through Cuttendon county, Arkansas, and leaving Memphis high and dry, or at least leaving her on a shallow lake. Should this happen the $3,000,000 bridge which stands across the Mississippi at this city will end at the new eastern bank of the river.

About five miles from Memphis is the Neely plantation. Some years ago a private levee was built on the northeastern side of the plantation to protect it from the river. The river has eaten through this levee, and is now rushing through a portion of the Neely plantation and cutting out Four Mile bayou at a terriffic rate. The current through the plantation is very strong, and river men say that unless the heavy timber along the bayou breaks the current so that it cannot eat out a new bed for the river, the Mississippi will change its course and run through Four Mile bayou, coming into the main river again about eight or ten miles below, and leaving a long, narrow island between Memphis and the river.

The high waters have already reached a very critical stage. The ferry steamer C. B. Bryan now makes daily trips to Marion, Ark., which ordinarily is three miles inland. The steamer during part of her trips plows down a road used by wagons during low water.

All along the route to Marion submerged and semi-submerged houses can be seen, and the country about there seems to be taking on that air of desolation which floods bring.

In 1882, 1883, 1886 and 1887 the river reached the stage of 35 feet on the Memphis gauge, and sent the water back as far as Crawley's ridge. Since that time levees have been built along the St. Francis basin, and these will cause the water which formerly went through Negro Wolf bottom and other low places to pass by Memphis. This will tax the levees below Memphis to the utmost, and will cover all except the high places in Arkansas between here and Crawley's ridge.

The seriousness of the flood can be estimated when it is known that already the water has reached such a height in Arkansas across from Memphis that several horses and some cattle have already been drowned. Many of the shanties which ordinarily stand far from the water have been vacated by their occupants on account of the high water.

At Helena there has been a rise of a foot since yesterday morning, the height at this point now being 12.3 feet, which it 4.7 feet above the danger line. At Vicksburg the water stands at 38.4 feet, a rise of 5.10 of a foot within the past twenty-four hours. The danger line there is 41 feet.

THE TRUST WINS.

The Tobacco Octopus Comes Out on Top in the Fight.

Trenton, N. J.—Vice-Chancellor Reed has dismissed the bill in the case against the American Tobacco Company, and the trust is victorious in the big fight to destroy it.

Suit was brought to annul the charter of the American Tobacco Company and break up what is known as the Tobacco Trust. The bill was filed by Attorney General Stockton on petition of John R. and Frank W. Miller, jobbers in paper cigarettes, with whom the American Tobacco Company refused to deal, according to the allegation of the Millers, because they persisted in also handling the "Admiral" cigarettes, manufactured by a rival corporation.

The points raised by the complainants and Vice Chancellor Reed's full views may be inferred fom the following syllabus which he has attached to the decision:

1. A court of equity does not possess power to restrain a corporation organized under forms of law from performing acts within its corporate power, merely because some of the steps in organizing the company may have been to establish a monopoly.

2. Under these conditions quo warranto is the proper proceedings to challenge the right of a corporation to exercise its franchise.

3. A trading or manufacturing corporation, until its charater is annulled by such a proceeding at law, has the same authority as an individual trader or manufactuer to sell or consign its goods, to select its selling agents and to impose conditions as to whom they shall sell and the terms upon which they shall sell.

4. A decree restraining officers and agents of a corporation fom executing corporate acts is the same as a decree enjoining the corporation itself.

R. V. Lindabury, of Elizabeth, and Joseph Choat, of New York, conducted the case for the American Tobacco Company.

The Deadly Stamp.

One of the newest diseases is the postage stamp tongue. The credit of discovering it is due to English physicians. It appears that the mucilage itself is injurious, and that, further, it is an excellent cultivating medium for germs of the worst character. In the ailment called postage stamp tongue the latter is sore and covered with red spots. A bad sore throat is likely to follow if great care is not taken. Apart from the specific disease of the tongue, any contagious disease may be acquired through the medium of the mucilage. Never lick a postage stamp with your tongue, say the physicians. It shows a great lack of cleanliness and hygienic knowledge.

Where the Will-o'-the-Wisp Is Seen.

The American who would tell the west European that he had never seen a Juch o' Lautern, or will-o'-the-wisp, would not be believed. In Ireland, Normandy and Schleswig-Holstein the ignis fatuus is so frequent a phenomenon that it is known to old and young by dozens of familiar names, and even further south, in the French lands and on the lower Danube, there are districts where it is almost impossible to cross a swamp after the sunset of a rainy day without seeing a score of fen fires, as they are called, skipping about in various directions.

Chickens EARN Money

IF YOU GIVE THEM HELP.

You cannot do this unless you understand them and know how to cater to their requirements; and you cannot spend years and dollars learning by experience, so you must buy the knowledge acquired by others. We offer this to you for only 25 cents.

YOU WANT THEM TO PAY THEIR OWN WAY

even if you merely keep them as a diversion. In order to handle Fowls judiciously, you must know something about them. To meet this want we are selling a book giving the experience of a practical poultry raiser for twenty-five years. It was written by a man who put all his mind, and time, and money to making a success of Chicken raising, not as a pastime, but as a business, and if you will profit by his twenty-five years' work, you can save many Chicks annually, and make your Fowls earn dollars for you. The point is, that you must be able to detect trouble in the Poultry Yard as soon as it appears, and know how to remedy it. This book will teach you. It tells how to detect and cure diseases; to feed for eggs and also for fattening; which fowls to save for breeding purposes, and everything, indeed, you should know on this subject to make it profitable. Sent postpaid for twenty-five cents in stamps.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1897. NO. 22.

On with the dawnce!

The Republican party has a chance.

And now the Republicans are at the bat.

The corner stone of Populism is justice.

The only way to reform is straight ahead.

Dollars should come up or salaries come down.

If people would think more they would suffer less.

The Referendum will knock out corruption in politics.

There are few people shedding tears at the funeral of the trusts.

Even the 53 cent dollar is preferable to unredeemed political promises.

Better destroy national credit than destroy the people of the nation.

Plutocracy is crucifying the republic, but "they are all honorable men."

Gold, unless declared so by law, is no more money than bacon and beans.

Scarce money means dear dollars, and dear dollars means poverty and distress.

The silver Republicans (if there can be any such thing) are trying to pull themselves together.

The Republican party is billed to fight the trusts and the people are anxious to see the battle begin.

The world could get along without money, but without labor it would die. Labor should be crowned king.

When men become so disgusted with a government that they quit voting they begin to clean up their guns.

The trusts, having fleeced the common people of about everything in sight, are now engaged in fighting each other.

Money is not wealth, but only a representative of wealth. Its sole purpose is, or should be, to facilitate exchange.

It is a good thing for Spain that the army of Republican place hunters is not turning its force loose towards Cuban liberty.

When money assumes to dictate to labor, it should receive such treatment as would compel it to assume its proper functions.

The Republican party is now not only facing "a condition," but the fact that it has entered into a contract to deliver prosperity.

The surplus labor should be employed in building public roads. In this way it does not come in contact with productive labor.

Mrs. Wallace, of Chicago, has a $50,000 dress. There are 50,000 other women in Chicago that are scarcely able to afford any kind of a dress.

What President McKinley said about the trusts will meet the approbation of every true American, but what he does, or has done, is of much more importance.

The corporations, trusts and politicians will oppose the Referendum because they fear the people. Their profession in favor of a popular government are only pretense.

The trusts have evidently given due consideration to the good will of their business, but have made no provisions to the ill will which their manipulations and extortions have provoked.

The National Reform Press Association never deviated one way or the other; it declared for Populist principles and decided to keep right along in the middle-of-the-road, Hanna or no Hanna.

The Democratic party swallowed our principal plank in 1896—Free Silver at 16 to 1. In 1896 they will have to swallow the ownership and land planks or the party will find itself following the Populist procession.

The revenue deficit for thirty months under the Wilson bill is $130,000,000 and has resulted in the issue of $262,000,000 in bonds to make ends meet. If that tariff bill and Grover Cleveland are not enough to sink any party forever we don't know what would be.

Only the Money Trust.

The account of the man so dangerously in love with Madam Calve that he threatened to shoot her turns out to be a myth. It was taken from an ancient book called "The Evolution of the Sheenees." Translated by the learned Dr. Wise, of Smith college, the story means that a worshiper of shekels in Gotham, named Jo. Pulitzer, is so hot for the Rothschild money trust that he is in danger of smashing the golden calf.—Silver Knight.

Pointer for Chicago.

The Chicago Democrats have nominated Carter H. Harrison, Jr., for Mayor. He is a Populist at heart, but is catering for the support of the enemies of the Populist party. He had better come out and denounce the enemies of Populism. Otherwise he will get it in the neck. There are 30,000 Populists in Chicago and they all have votes.

MORGAN'S COLUMN.

THE ARKANSAS REFORMER ON REPUBLICAN VICES.

The Plan to Destroy the Greenbacks—Bankers Collecting Interest on the Money They Owe to the People—Belated Prosperity—The Prospects.

One of the objections urged against the greenbacks is that they furnish an "endless chain" with which to drain the treasury of its gold reserve, and thus discredit the government. It is further claimed that when this is the case business men become frightened and hoard their money and we have a general business depression if not a panic.

There may be a grain of truth in these claims, but if so it is no argument against a government paper currency. In our opinion, it is a piece of childish folly to undertake to redeem $346,000,000 with $100,000,000, or three dollars with one. It can't be done when the emergency calls for it, and when the emergency does not exist it does not need to be done. The only honest "redemption money" would be dollar for dollar, such as the silver certificates.

• • •

It is proposed to substitute national bank notes for the greenbacks. For the life of me I can't see how that will help things. These bank notes will be redeemable, and the present law only requires a reserve of 25 per cent of the outstanding circulation. As a matter of fact the people have less confidence in the banks than in the government. They are more liable to set the "endless chain" running on the bank reserves than on the treasury reserve. Without the government back of the bank notes they never would command the confidence of the people that the greenbacks do.

The trouble is not in the greenbacks, but in the bankers and brokers who raid the treasury for gold. No merchant, stockman, manufacturer, mechanic or farmer ever presents greenbacks to the treasury department for redemption. This class of people don't want it redeemed. They are not dealing in money, but in merchandise and only want money to facilitate their business. It is different with the banker. Money is his merchandise. He deals in it—buys and sells the use of it. He is a speculator in money, and hence prefers his own money to that of the government because his own will cost him less.

But a bank note is not money. I have one before me now. It says the bank "will pay" me five dollars. What does that mean? It means the bank owes me five dollars. Thus the banker loans his own notes. He collects interest on what he owes. This is why he opposes the greenbacks. This is why he talks about the "endless chain" and the gold reserve in the treasury. Admitting for argument's sake that it is necessary to keep a gold reserve for the redemption of paper money, how could the banks keep it any better than the government does and has done? If there was a panic the "run" would be worse on the banks than on the government. Not only would a demand be made for the redemption of notes, but for the deposits. Then financial disaster would come. Every bank would have to suspend payment or go to the wall. We can conceive of no greater mistake than destroying the greenback and giving the banks full control over the paper currency.

It was intended by the framers of the constitution that the United States senate should be the balance wheel in our government. For many years that body contained the best brains, statesmanship and patriotism of the country. That was before the era of corporations, trusts and syndicates. At least it was before the era when they could wantonly control state legislatures, and peremptorily demand national legislation. But it is different now. No man is suspicioned of being a statesman because he happens to belong to the United States senate. In his election to that place the size of his brains does not matter as much as the size of his bank account. As a rule if he is wealthy or is backed by wealthy corporations he can go to the senate. There he becomes the attorney (?) of some railroad corporation, trust or combine. He never takes a bribe, it is always a fee, and he considers it his sacred duty to do everything in his power for his client. Why not? His corporation pays him more than the people do. The name of the United States senate should be changed to the "Club of Millionaire Lawyers"—or abolished.

• • •

None of the demands of the People's party are growing in popularity with such gigantic strides as the one for public ownership of those things upon which the public depends for its own comfort and convenience. The greedy corporations that have in many instances secured franchises through the most glaring frauds and bribery, seem to be "rubbing it in" on the dear people until even the great metropolitan dailies are forced to take a stand for municipal ownership as the only effective way to deal with the question of public utilities. The question of lighting and water works has had a practical demonstration in this country, and wherever the public has taken control the result has been a great saving. The following table shows the annual cost of one electric light before and after public ownership; the "after" service being the same as, or better, than the service it replaced:

	Before.	After.
Bangor, Me.	$150	$48
Lewiston, Me.	182	55
Peabody, Mass.	185	62
Bay City, Mich.	110	58
Huntington, Ind.	146	50
Goshen, Ind.	156	77
Bloomington, Ill.	111	57
Chicago, Ill.	250	96
Elgin, Ill.	266	43
Aurora, Ill.	326	70
Fairfield, Ia.	378	70
Marshalltown, Ia.	125	27

The Republican party is now at the bat, but the gold standard is getting in its work nevertheless. A glance at the quotations shows a depreciation in both railroad stocks, and industrials. The following table shows the shrinkage in stock of ten of these companies since the election.

The value of the stock of the Burlington company has declined since election.	$ 8,226,270
Tobacco	1,412,000
Rhode Island	3,230,920
D., L. & W.	2,096,000
Jersey Central	2,249,700
New York Central	4,000,000
Manhattan	3,000,000
Western Union	4,768,000
Leather preferred	3,654,000
St. Paul	1,840,000
Total	$35,276,890

These figures are made up from quotations of Monday, Nov. 9, and Monday, Jan. 25.

During the campaign these companies took an active part, organized their employes into sound money clubs, and marched them through the streets of our cities under sound money banners. A shrinkage of $35,000,000 in the stock of ten companies doesn't look much like prosperity, although we acknowledge that the money is sound enough. Before we get through with the gold standard it is to be hoped that the "business men" will get their eyes open and learn that the kind of money that doesn't employ labor never sets the wheels of commerce to moving, and cannot therefore bring prosperity.

But what will the Republicans do? They will fume, fuss and fizzle just as the Democrats did. No sane man believes that you can make times better by making taxes higher. There may and will be, perhaps, better times for a temporary season. Something like a settled policy will prevail for the next four years, and this of itself will bring out some capital which is now unproductive, but was "timid" before the election. Prices have reached a point so low that it seems we have gone to bedrock. Naturally they will take a turn. Railroads are already availing themselves of the opportunity to buy cheap steel rails. When the tide once turns and prices start upward money will come from its hiding places, add to the volume in circulation and assist prices in their upward tendency. But all this will not be on account of the gold standard or increased tariff taxes. On the other hand it will be in spite of them. The wonderful resources of this country are too tempting for capital to remain long idle, and it will only do so when money is advancing in value while prices of other things are shrinking.

We were told by Republican campaign speakers that better times would prevail immediately after McKinley was elected. They said confidence would then be restored, business be stimulated, and prosperity quickly follow. It has now been five months since the election and McKinley has been installed as president. Looking back over the business failures since the election we find them as follows:

Failures, week ending Nov. 7, 223; failures week ending Nov. 14, 258; failures week ending Nov. 21, 308; failures week ending Nov. 28, 296; failures week ending Dec. 5, 321; failures week ending Dec. 12, 381; failures week ending Dec. 19, 387; failures week ending Dec. 26, 395; failures week ending Jan. 9, 488; failures week ending Jan. 16, 455; failures week ending Jan. 23, 429; failures week ending Jan. 30, 331; failures week ending Feb. 6, 311; failures week ending Feb. 13, 301; failures week ending Feb. 20, 325.

This doesn't look much like a return of confidence or reign of prosperity. Whatever may be in store for us in the future as regards prosperity at the hands of the Republican party, there is no mistaking the fact that the Republican politicians advertised their show too soon. But the policy of the Republican party will not produce good times. Better times than we have been having may come in spite of that policy and an unthinking public may give the Republican party credit for it.

W. S. MORGAN.

John Sherman.

Last week John Sherman was for free Cuba. This week he is for Spain. Day before yesterday he was for protecting American citizens at Havana to the extreme of war. Yesterday he was for taking it all back. John Sherman's first utterances must always be taken as subject to approval by Baron Rothschilds and the Bank of England.

Nearly So.

From the Tecumseh (Okla.) Leader: The cyclonic rush of the hobo brigade upon a free soup house on a cold morning is not a comparison to the McHanna pie-counter stampede that will be made on the national capitol. It will be closely akin to the recent bread riot at Moscow, in which thousands of starving peasants perished.

Any kind of redemption money means the "endless chain" attachment.

Pride and arrogance go before a fall.

GOLDBUG GOOD TIMES.

How Restored Confidence Works in the Business Community.

The firm of Duhme & Co., jewelers, Cincinnati, Ohio, made an assignment Friday to Joseph Wilby. The assets are placed at $100,000; liabilities not yet determined.

Desbecker & Co., clothiers of Buffalo, N. Y., and Desbecker Brothers, engaged in the same business, filed chattel mortgages aggregating $135,190.48 with the county clerk for the protection of their creditors. The firms are composed of David H. and Daniel Desbecker.

Assignment was made Monday by William H. Bell, grocer, at 2018 Fourteenth street, to Percival M. Brown.

Patrick Connell, dealer in hardware at 473 Pennsylvania Avenue, Monday made an assignment to John J. Dolan.

Jelenko Bros. & Loeb, of Charleston, W. Va., the largest department store in the state, wholesale and retail, have assigned.

James E. Tippett has been appointed receiver for the Lexington Savings Bank of Baltimore.

Ill-Advised Tactics.

The middle-of-the-roaders claim to be the only pure, unselfish and undefiled element in politics, yet it was the self-styled middle-of-the-road element that elected Goldbug Republican Pritchard to the United States Senate from North Carolina last week when by using their balance of power they could just as well have elected a Populist. This thing of a few disreputable politicians stealing the once respected and honorable title, "middle-of-the-road," and under its cover serving plutocracy is what is making the very thought of the term odious to those who believe in principle and honor.—Iowa Farmers' Tribune.

All Populists who believe that fusion tends to breed confusion and will, if persisted in, disrupt and disintegrate the People's Party, thereby deferring, if not destroying all possibility of reforms demanded by the party, should not be held responsible for the action of the Populists whom it is claimed are responsible for the defeat of a Populist for the United States Senate from North Carolina.—Tulare (Calif.) County News.

Time to Get Back.

It is time for a return to the methods and point of view of the first president. Whatever his personal convictions in politics, Washington was an advocate of civil service principles, both in theory and in practice. He knew that whatever claims a party might have upon a candidate, there was one claim infinitely stronger—that of the people upon the officers whom they elect and pay to perform the public work. His first cabinet was composed of men selected solely because of the ability of the appointees. It contained ardent Republicans and extreme conservatives. The practice of such men as compose the great modern political machines would have been hateful to him. We have become too much accustomed in late years to accept destructive partisanship with complacency, and to look upon the interests of the governed as of trivial importance. Washington was no partisan—he was merely a patriot.

Not Very Particular.

From Press and Printer, Boston, Mass.: When we stated in our last issue, that eastern newspaper publishers no longer took their pay in corn, cabbage or cordwood, the Athens (Me.) Post had not been heard from. In a frantic appeal for an enlargement of his subscription list, the editor of that paper says: "Remember, we take hay, fodder, corn, peas, potatoes, turnips, fence posts, feathers, scrap iron, honey, soft soap, shingles, syrup, tobacco, second-hand clothing, lumber, coal, livestock, ducks, axle grease, beer, hides, etc., on subscription." A dozen farmers might club together, roll a bale of hay into the sanctum and have a copy of the paper sent to every family in the district.

Promised Prosperity.

The rallying cry of the Republican campaign was the return of prosperity and McKinley was proclaimed as the "advance agent of prosperity." Cleveland's policy was denounced for having produced universal distress. The first act of the incoming administration is the full and complete adoption of Cleveland's financial policy. Mr. McKinley was not satisfied with adopting the Cleveland policy in words, but he selected a cabinet, every one of whom is a conspicuous advocate of Cleveland's most extreme views on the money question. On with the dance!

Why Not.

One of the Rothschild dailies says that "possibly the silver statesmen will insist on attaching a free-coinage amendment to the arbitration treaty." Well, why not? The mint act of 1873 originated in England, and the old kleptomaniacs ought to be made to take it back. Besides, such an amendment would be worth a thousand times more than any possible treaty with England or all Europe.—Senator Stewart.

The Greatest Criminal of All.

The St. Louis Star says that "thieves are just as bad as other people." No, no! A thoughtful man must draw the line at the editors of the subsidized press.

PERTINENT WHYS.

IT IS COSTING MUCH TO SUSTAIN THE GOLD STANDARD.

Europe Is Not Disturbed by the Friendliness for Inter-National Bimetallism on the Part of Our Putty-Headed Administration.

What function did Hanna supply in giving Presidential life to Major McKinley? The unbiblical chord through which the Presidential aspirations of the Major were returned from Wall Street.

Why doesn't England get mad because the United States continues to ask her to restore silver? Because it costs her nothing to refuse the request, and it flatters her vanity to receive the United States as a suppliant.

Why does McKinley say in his inaugural that he will sustain the gold standard by taxes or loans, unless England will give him bimetallism? Becaues he believes that England is willing to collect all debts due her in gold, and will continue the gold standard as long as her debtors will borrow or be taxed for that purpose; and that therefore he can trust England to refuse his request, and can fool the people by pretending to favor bimetallism, without endangering the schemes of his backers.

Why did the goldites lavish public and private money for inaugural display, while the masses of the people are suffering from stagnation and want? For the same reasons that Nero enjoyed the contrast between his Bacchanalian extravagance and the suffering of Roman Christians while Rome was in flames.

Why do the McKinleyites contend that more revenue for the government extorted by taxation, will increase the supply of money among the tax-payers and produce prosperity? For the same reason the physicians of the old school bled their patients to death to increase their vitality.

Why did McKinley encourage Senator Wolcott to go to Europe to negotiate for free coinage? Because Wolcott, by his spectacular display on the other side of the Atlantic, could attract the attention of the people, while McKinley himself was organizing a cabinet to maintain the gold standard confidence in his fidelity to the money trust.

Why was Sherman selected for the State Department, and Gage for Secretary of the Treasury, if McKinley intended to aid in the restoration of silver by an international conference or by any other means? Because it would have been treason to his gold backers to even pretend to be for silver, under any circumstances, without first mortgaging his administration to gold monopoly for indebtedness incurred for the millions required to secure his election, as well as for all future advances.

What is the difference between Gage and Sherman? Gage is in favor of robbing the people by contracting the money volume to the single gold standard, and acknowledges it, while Sherman is in favor of the same and denies it. In other words, Gage is a barking dog, while Sherman prefers the tactics of the gopher.

England Rules.

England, as a factor in the control of money, is ruling a greater territory than Rome did in all her glory. Through the stealthy, secret influence of gold, she is framing the monetary laws of all nations of the earth, civilized and semi-civilized. No king can go to war without the permission of the men who control the gold of the world, and the gold of the world is controlled by the Rothschilds to such an extent that the smaller holders must work in harmony with them. At the dictates of this power one nation after another has adopted gold as the money of final payment and all the commercial transactions of nations are so written. The adoption by Russia of a gold standard a few weeks ago will greatly enhance the price of gold, which will be noticed in the falling of prices of other commodities. Should China and Japan adopt the gold standard, it would reduce the average day's pay to perhaps 10 or 12 cents all over the world. Of course, all other things would go down with it excepting debts, taxes and stated incomes, and under such conditions men in debt would never redeem their obligations and would necessarily lose title to all their property, which would go into the hands of those who held the debts. We have just seen in this country a syndicate make eight millions of dollars on the issue of bonds simply because of the idea that nothing but gold can be used for the final payment of a debt. That a gold standard offers opportunities like this all over the world is an incentive for rich men to foist such laws upon nations and to gather in the property of those nations just as this syndicate gathered in a little lump by our recent bond issue. The gold standard goes upon the theory that all nations of the world could not make their own money anything but gold. It will not take many years before this system must culminate in an exceedingly few people owning title to or mortgages on all the property of the world, and then we may expect to see what McCaulay predicted fifty years ago, that not only the American nation but all other nations will have their Huns and Vandals, not from without, but from within. Already there are being created in the United States millions of poverty-stricken, desperate men, and as certain as wealth concentrates through monopolies and contracts so certain will this vast army increase until the time will come, not ten years hence, when either this entire theory of government must be changed or its entire fabric will go down in chaos. Wealth is not gathered from the air nor the clouds, by by men's labor, and the time will come when even the dullest minds will be brought to realize that they can no longer live under a competitive system of society. The gold standard is forcing the people to realize a condition that the teachings of all philosophers have been unable to impress upon the mass of mankind. So long as each little unit of society could hope to become a capitalist it was impossible to get them to understand that there was a danger line in the struggle. It is only when they have been forced to realize that all the avenues of advancement have been closed against them that they will see the injustice and enormity of the system that they have helped maintain, and if a gold standard will have this effect, as it surely will, then it is not without its good uses.

Mankind Ruled by Money.

Are not the people of more importance than continent or constitution? God made the planet for the people, not the people for the money-lenders. To stand still and see the people reduced to serfdom would be a crime against God and man. Better that all the gold and silver in the world should perish than that the nation should die; better that we should go back to primeval barter, without a dollar of money of any kind, than see God's children wiped off the face of God's planet. Ancient Mexico maintained a high civilization without a particle of money. If driven to the dreadful alternative of losing liberty and prosperity or metallic money, no sane man can doubt which the nation should choose. It is the curse of the world that mankind has been ruled for centuries by money, in the interest of money; not by the people in the interest of the people. We live only half-way in the present. The age is like a reptile whose head projects, lifted and gasping, out of the carbonic acid gas; but its nether limbs are yet imbedded in the thick mud of the Silurian period.—Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, in "The Golden Bottle."

The Difference.

According to the New York World, J. D. Rockefeller has an annual income of $8,600,000. That is just $23,562 a day, or not quite $1,000 an hour. On the basis of eight hours a day, he makes just $49 a minute.

According to the United States census report the average wages of the workingman of the country is $22 a month.

Rockefeller gets $49 a minute, and the laborer gets $22 a month. Rockefeller has a good time; the laborer has a hell of a time. Rockefeller lives like a prince in a palace; the laborer lives in a hovel, which is not even his own.

Fate (?) assigns to one man less than a dollar a day, while working, while another has an income of fifty dollars a minute without working. Is that justice?

Rockefeller gets as much in one day as 25,000 workingmen. Is he worth as much? Do his services to mankind entitle him to such reward? Does he create 25,000 times as much or does he work 25,000 times as hard as 52,000 laborers?—Representative.

Wharton Barker on the Situation.

From the Philadelphia American: It is curtailment of imports and of general consumption that is largely responsible for the deficit in the revenues, and it is the impoverishment of our people that has led to this curtailment. Nor can this impoverishment be charged to the Wilson tariff and a flooding of our markets, for it is seen there has been no increase, but an actual diminution of imports. The impoverishment is due to the fall in prices consequent in our adherence to the gold standard; this and nothing else.

Missouri World.

It is gratifying to know that Secretary of Agriculture Morton, who is a goldbug lawyer, will soon be displaced by a real farmer, Mr. Wilson, of Iowa. Wilson may not be any better as a man, but he is the leading farmer in his State, while Morton is a legal quack, an unmitigated nuisance, who has from time to time advocated anything and everything detrimental to the American farmer, though holding the highest position as the representative of the farmer.

Must Stand Together.

From the Philadelphia Press: We must have better times and less unrest. The McKinley administration was elected to lead the way. It must lead along its own lines, and unless it leads to success we shall have the fight all over again with dangerous chances. That is the reason why patriots must stand together in its support, and why, we will add, that it should be so reasonable and just that patriots can stand together behind it.

Ball Was Alright.

The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage says that the Bradley-Martin ball was all right, because it scattered money among the poor. According to this eminent divine's logic, the Belshazzar feast must have been a regular bonanza for the poor and needy, but it proved to be hard on Belshazzar, and no doubt the poor finally paid compound interest for the crumbs.—Olathe Tribune.

The man who to-day would rather be right than to be president is a long ways from the White House.

COTTON FARMING.

How Two to Four Bales Per Acre Are Made on Very Poor Land.

We have not the slightest desire to assist in any manner in bringing about an increase in the number of bales annually raised throughout the Sunny South in general nor in Mississippi in particular, but we do desire that Southern farmers everywhere should realize the fact that the same 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 bales that are now raised annually may be just as easily, just as surely and far more economically and profitably raised on one-fourth the area it is to-day, leaving the other three-fourths to be put in provision crops, fruits or grass. We have had the good fortune to see and walk over many Georgia farms—farms, too, that were worn out and washed away many years ago—that are now made to produce from one to four bales of cotton per acre. This condition of things is made possible and actually brought about by the "intensive" system of culture and liberal yet economical fertilization.

As early in the new year as the weather will possible admit of, the old cotton stalks are "knocked," or cut, the roots are then plowed up with straight shovel; green cotton seed are then strewn in this shovel furrow at the rate of ten to twelve bushels per acre; two half-shovel furrows are next thrown on the seed to prevent the loss of ammonia; in a few weeks this small bed is opened with a long, narrow scooter and 200 to 300 pounds of some good commercial fertilizer distributed in this furrow; phosphate and potash being all sufficient, the cotton seed furnishing the necessary nitrogen; the land is then bedded out and out with straight shovel and is now ready for the reception of the seed. Under this plan, persistently followed, Georgia farmers have succeeded in so increasing the fertility of the soil that with a slight increase in amount of fertilizer used and a favorable season four bales per acre have rewarded their efforts.

A good heavy cow-pea stubble turned under will be found to be fully as beneficial to the coming cotton crop as the cotton seed; either one will supply all the nitrogen needed; but in the absence of a cow-pea stubble, the cotton seed should by no means be neglected. Stable manure may be used instead of either of above, but the fact should be kept in mind that all three of above are "nitrogenous" fertilizers, and are used mainly for the amount of nitrogen they contain; and either one, or all three need the addition of phosphates and potash in liberal quantities (seventy-five pounds of Muriate of Potash or 300 pounds of Kainit, with 200 pounds of Acid Phosphate) per acre in order to make a complete fertilizer that shall be at once properly balanced and duly proportioned. If the peas have been properly fertilized (with 200 to 300 pounds Acid Phosphate and 200 to 300 pounds of Kainit), which they always should be when the object in raising them is that may be turned under as fertilizer, it would be hardly necessary to apply any additional fertilizer directly to the cotton. Georgia farmers break their lands deep (eight to ten or even twelve inches) once about every three years; they say it does not pay to break them deep any oftener. In this deep breaking, the land is broken with a two-horse turning plow, plowing about one inch deeper than the sur ace soil, thus gradually deepening the soil. No crops are planted here at all without fertilizer being applied, and in the sandier portions of the State the farmers seem to be unanimous in the declaration that "Potash is the element that is most needed," and that "any fertilizer that does not contain as much as four per cent. of it is not worth applying." Cotton here is planted in four foot rows, barred off with half-shovels and cultivated the entire season "with cotton scrapes"—i. e. "heel sweeps."

A SWEEP OF ICE.

It Came with Suddenness and Force, Causing Damage.

Sheboygan, Wis.—The ice was swept out of the river at this place last Saturday night, carrying three vessels out into the lake. The vessels were badly damaged by striking bridges and docks and fouling other craft on their way down stream. Many other vessels along the docks have been damaged. Two men, Otto Slaegel and John Forkins, were on board the schooner Baker as she moved down the river, but were swept out into the lake. Advices to-day are that they were rescued.

A freight train on the Northwestern road went through a bridge at Port Washington and fifteen cars went into Fauk Creek. The locomotive was on the bridge when the engineer heard the crash. He opened the throttle and the engine cleared the bridge before it went down.

CUBAN EXPEDITION GETS OFF.

Punta Gorda, Fla.—A Cuban expedition with forty men aboard sailed from Cleveland, on the Peace river, six miles north of here, at 12:50 o'clock Saturday night.

Nine suits have been filed against the Southern Railway, amounting to $25,000, by the administrators of the Woodward family, who were killed at the Harrison avenue crossing near Chattanooga, recently. Hoke Smith is to be the leading attorney for the complainants and will likely make it quite warm for the company.

THE BANNER.

Let the people rule

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1897. NO. 22.

On with the dawnce!

The Republican party has a chance.

And now the Republicans are at the bat.

The corner stone of Populism is justice.

The only way to reform is straight ahead.

Dollars should come up or salaries come down.

If people would think more they would suffer less.

The Referendum will knock out corruption in politics.

There are few people shedding tears at the funeral of the trusts.

Even the 53 cent dollar is preferable to unredeemed political promises.

Rather destroy national credit than destroy the people of the nation.

Plutocracy is crucifying the republic, but "they are all honorable men."

Gold, unless declared so by law, is no more money than bacon and beans.

Scarce money means dear dollars, and dear dollars means poverty and distress.

The silver Republicans (if there can be any such thing) are trying to pull themselves together.

The Republican party is billed to fight the trusts and the people are anxious to see the battle begin.

The world could get along without money, but without labor it would die. Labor should be crowned king.

When men become so disgusted with a government that they quit voting they begin to clean up their guns.

The trusts, having fleeced the common people of about everything in sight, are now engaged in fighting each other.

Money is not wealth, but only a representative of wealth. Its sole purpose is, or should be, to facilitate exchange.

It is a good thing for Spain that the army of Republican place hunters is not turning its force loose towards Cuban liberty.

When money assumes to dictate to labor, it should receive such treatment as would compel it to assume its proper functions.

The Republican party is now not only facing "a condition," but the fact that it has entered into a contract to deliver prosperity.

The surplus labor should be employed in building public roads. In this way it does not come in contact with productive labor.

Mrs. Wallace, of Chicago, has a $50,000 dress. There are 50,000 other women in Chicago that are scarcely able to afford any kind of a dress.

What President McKinley said about the trusts will meet the approbation of every true American, but what he does, or has done, is of much more importance.

The corporations, trusts and politicians will oppose the Referendum because they fear the people. Their professions in favor of a popular government are only pretense.

The trusts have evidently given due consideration to the good will of their business, but have made no provisions to the ill will which their manipulations and extortions have provoked.

The National Reform Press Association never deviated one way or the other; it declared for Populist principles and decided to keep right along in the middle-of-the-road, Hanna or no Hanna.

The Democratic party swallowed our principal plank in 1896—Free Silver at 16 to 1. In 1896 they will have to swallow the ownership and land planks or the party will find itself following the Populist procession.

The revenue deficit for thirty months under the Wilson bill is $130,000,000 and has resulted in the issue of $262,000,000 in bonds to make ends meet. If that tariff bill and Grover Cleveland are not enough to sink any party forever we don't know what would be.

Only the Money Trust.

The account of the man so dangerously in love with Madam Calve that he threatened to shoot her turns out to be a myth. It was taken from an ancient book called "The Evolution of the Sheenees." Translated by the learned Dr. Wise, of Smith college, the story means that a worshiper of shekels in Gotham, named Jo. Pulitzer, is so hot for the Rothschild money trust that he is in danger of smashing the golden calf.—Silver Knight.

Pointer for Chicago.

The Chicago Democrats have nominated Carter H. Harrison, Jr., for Mayor. He is a Populist at heart, but is catering for the support of the enemies of the Populist party. He had better come out and denounce the enemies of Populism. Otherwise he will get it in the neck. There are 30,000 Populists in Chicago and they all have votes.

MORGAN'S COLUMN.

THE ARKANSAS REFORMER ON REPUBLICAN VICES.

The Plan to Destroy the Greenbacks—Bankers Collecting Interest on the Money They Owe to the People—Belated Prosperity—The Prospects.

One of the objections urged against the greenbacks is that they furnish an "endless chain" with which to drain the treasury of its gold reserve, and thus discredit the government. It is further claimed that when this is the case business men become frightened and hoard their money and we have a general business depression if not a panic.

There may be a grain of truth in these claims, but if so it is no argument against a government paper currency. In our opinion, it is a piece of childish folly to undertake to redeem $346,000,000 with $100,000,000, or three dollars with one. It can't be done when the emergency calls for it, and when the emergency does not exist it does not need to be done. The only honest "redemption money" would be dollar for dollar, such as the silver certificates.

• • •

It is proposed to substitute national bank notes for the greenbacks. For the life of me I can't see how that will help things. These bank notes will be redeemable, and the present law only requires a reserve of 25 per cent of the outstanding circulation. As a matter of fact the people have less confidence in the banks than in the government. They are more liable to set the "endless chain" running on the bank reserves than on the treasury reserve. Without the government back of the bank notes they never would command the confidence of the people that the greenbacks do.

The trouble is not in the greenbacks, but in the bankers and brokers who raid the treasury for gold. No merchant, stockman, manufacturer, mechanic or farmer ever presents greenbacks to the treasury department for redemption. This class of people don't want it redeemed. They are not dealing in money, but in merchandise and only want money to facilitate their business. It is different with the banker. Money is his merchandise. He deals in it—buys and sells the use of it. He is a speculator in money, and hence prefers his own money to that of the government because his own will cost him less.

But a bank note is not money. I have one before me now. It says the bank "will pay" me five dollars. What does that mean? It means the bank owes me five dollars. Thus the banker loans his own notes. He collects interest on what he owes. This is why he opposes the greenbacks. This is why he talks about the "endless chain" and the gold reserve in the treasury. Admitting for argument's sake that it is necessary to keep a gold reserve for the redemption of paper money, how could the banks keep it any better than the government does and has done? If there was a panic the "run" would be worse on the banks than on the government. Not only would a demand be made for the redemption of notes, but for the deposits. Then financial disaster would come. Every bank would have to suspend payment or go to the wall. We can conceive of no greater mistake than destroying the greenback and giving the banks full control over the paper currency.

It was intended by the framers of the constitution that the United States senate should be the balance wheel in our government. For many years that body contained the best brains, statesmanship and patriotism of the country. That was before the era of corporations, trusts and syndicates. At least it was before the era when they could wantonly control state legislatures, and peremptorily demand national legislation. But it is different now. No man is suspicioned of being a statesman because he happens to belong to the United States senate. In his election to that place the size of his brains does not matter as much as the size of his bank account. As a rule if he is wealthy or is backed by wealthy corporations he can go to the senate. There he becomes the attorney (?) of some railroad corporation, trust or combine. He never takes a bribe, it is always a fee, and he considers it his sacred duty to do everything in his power for his client. Why not? His corporation pays him more than the people do. The name of the United States senate should be changed to the "Club of Millionaire Lawyers"—or abolished.

• • •

None of the demands of the People's party are growing in popularity with such gigantic strides as the one for public ownership of those things upon which the public depends for its own comfort and convenience. The greedy corporations that have in many instances secured franchises through the most glaring frauds and bribery, seem to be "rubbing it in" on the dear people until even the great metropolitan dailies are forced to take a stand for municipal ownership as the only effective way to deal with the question of public utilities. The question of lighting and water works has had a practical demonstration in this country, and wherever the public has taken control the result has been a great saving. The following table shows the annual cost of one electric light before and after public ownership; the "after" service being the same as, or better, than the service it replaced:

	Before.	After.
Bangor, Me.	$150	$48
Lewiston, Me.	182	55
Peabody, Mass.	185	62
Bay City, Mich.	110	58
Huntington, Ind.	146	50
Goshen, Ind.	156	77
Bloomington, Ill.	111	57
Chicago, Ill.	250	96
Elgin, Ill.	266	43
Aurora, Ill.	326	70
Fairfield, Ia.	378	70
Marshalltown, Ia.	125	27

The Republican party is now at the bat, but the gold standard is getting in its work nevertheless. A glance at the quotations shows a depreciation in both railroad stocks and industrials. The following table shows the shrinkage in stock of ten of these companies since the election.

The value of the stock of the Burlington company has declined since election.	$ 8,226,270
Tobacco	1,412,000
Rhode Island	3,230,920
D., L. & W.	2,096,000
Jersey Central	2,249,700
New York Central	4,000,000
Manhattan	3,000,000
Western Union	4,768,000
Leather preferred	3,654,000
St Paul	1,840,000
Total	$35,276,890

These figures are made up from quotations of Monday, Nov. 9, and Monday, Jan. 25.

During the campaign these companies took an active part, organized their employes into sound money clubs, and marched them through the streets of our cities under sound money banners. A shrinkage of $35,000,000 in the stock of ten companies doesn't look much like prosperity, although we acknowledge that the money is sound enough. Before we get through with the gold standard it is to be hoped that the "business men" will get their eyes open and learn that the kind of money that doesn't employ labor never sets the wheels of commerce to moving, and cannot therefore bring prosperity.

But what will the Republicans do? They will fume, fuss and fizzle just as the Democrats did. No sane man believes that you can make times better by making taxes higher. There may and will be, perhaps, better times for a temporary season. Something like a settled policy will prevail for the next four years, and this of itself will bring out some capital which is now unproductive, but was "timid" before the election. Prices have reached a point so low that it seems we have gone to bedrock. Naturally they will take a turn. Railroads are already availing themselves of the opportunity to buy cheap steel rails. When the tide once turns and prices start upward money will come from its hiding places, add to the volume in circulation and assist prices in their upward tendency. But all this will not be on account of the gold standard or increased tariff taxes. On the other hand it will be in spite of them. The wonderful resources of this country are too tempting for capital to remain long idle, and it will only do so when money is advancing in value while prices of other things are shrinking.

We were told by Republican campaign speakers that better times would prevail immediately after McKinley was elected. They said confidence would then be restored, business be stimulated, and prosperity quickly follow. It has now been five months since the election and McKinley has been installed as president. Looking back over the business failures since the election we find them as follows:

Failures: week ending Nov. 7, 223; failures week ending Nov. 14, 258; failures week ending Nov. 21, 208; failures week ending Nov. 28, 296; failures week ending Dec. 5, 321; failures week ending Dec. 12, 381; failures week ending Dec. 19, 387; failures week ending Dec. 26, 395; failures week ending Jan. 9, 488; failures week ending Jan. 16, 455; failures week ending Jan. 23, 429; failures week ending Jan. 30, 331; failures week ending Feb. 6, 311; failures week ending Feb. 13, 301; failures week ending Feb. 20, 325.

This doesn't look much like a return of confidence or reign of prosperity. Whatever may be in store for us in the future as regards prosperity at the hands of the Republican party, there is no mistaking the fact that the Republican politicians advertised their show too soon. But the policy of the Republican party will not produce good times. Better times than we have been having may come in spite of that policy and an unthinking public may give the Republican party credit for it.

W. S. MORGAN.

John Sherman.

Last week John Sherman was for free Cuba. This week he is for Spain. Day before yesterday he was for protecting American citizens at Havana to the extreme of war. Yesterday he was for taking it all back. John Sherman's first utterances must always be taken as subject to approval by Baron Rothschilds and the Bank of England.

NearlySo.

From the Tecumseh (Okla.) Leader: The cyclonic rush of the hobo brigade upon a free soup house on a cold morning is not a comparison to the McHanna pie-counter stampede that will be made on the national capitol. It will be closely akin to the recent bread riot at Moscow, in which thousands of starving peasants perished.

Any kind of redemption money means the "endless chain" attachment.

Pride and arrogance go before a fall.

GOLDBUG GOOD TIMES.

How Restored Confidence Works in the Business Community.

The firm of Duhme & Co., jewelers, Cincinnati, Ohio, made an assignment Friday to Joseph Wilby. The assets are placed at $100,000; liabilities not yet determined.

Desbecker & Co., clothiers of Buffalo, N. Y., and Desbecker Brothers, engaged in the same business, filed chattel mortgages aggregating $135,190.48 with the county clerk for the protection of their creditors. The firms are composed of David H. and Daniel Desbecker.

Assignment was made Monday by William H. Bell, grocer, at 2018 Fourteenth street, to Percival M. Brown.

Patrick Connell, dealer in hardware at 473 Pennsylvania Avenue, Monday made an assignment to John J. Dolan.

Jelenko Bros. & Loeb, of Charleston, W. Va., the largest department store in the state, wholesale and retail, have assigned.

James E. Tippett has been appointed receiver for the Lexington Savings Bank of Baltimore.

Ill-Advised Tactics.

The middle-of-the-roaders claim to be the only pure, unselfish and undefiled element in politics, yet it was the self-styled middle-of-the-road element that elected Goldbug Republican Pritchard to the United States Senate from North Carolina last week when by using their balance of power they could just as well have elected a Populist. This thing of a few disreputable politicians stealing the once respected and honorable title, "middle-of-the-road," and under its cover serving plutocracy is what is making the very thought of the term odious to those who believe in principle and honor.—Iowa Farmers' Tribune.

All Populists who believe that fusion tends to breed confusion and will, if persisted in, disrupt and disintegrate the People's Party, thereby deferring, if not destroying all possibility of reforms demanded by the party, should not be held responsible for the action of the Populists whom it is claimed are responsible for the defeat of a Populist for the United States Senate from North Carolina.—Tulare (Calif.) County News.

Time to Get Back.

It is time for a return to the methods and point of view of the first president. Whatever his personal convictions in politics, Washington was an advocate of civil service principles, both in theory and in practice. He knew that whatever claims a party might have upon a candidate, there was one claim infinitely stronger—that of the people upon the officers whom they elect and pay to perform the public work. His first cabinet was composed of men selected solely because of the ability of the appointees. It contained ardent Republicans and extreme conservatives. The practice of such men as compose the great modern political machines would have been hateful to him. We have become too much accustomed in late years to accept destructive partisanship with complacency, and to look upon the interests of the governed as of trivial importance. Washington was no partisan—he was merely a patriot.

Not Very Particular.

From Press and Printer, Boston, Mass.: When we stated, in our last issue, that eastern newspaper publishers no longer took their pay in corn, cabbage or cordwood, the Athens (Me.) Post had not been heard from. In a frantic appeal for an enlargement of his subscription list, the editor of that paper says: "Remember, we take hay, fodder, corn, peas, potatoes, turnips, fence posts, feathers, scrap iron, honey, soft soap, shingles, syrup, tobacco, second-hand clothing, lumber, coal, livestock, ducks, axle grease, beer, hides, etc., on subscription." A dozen farmers might club together, roll a bale of hay into the sanctum and have a copy of the paper sent to every family in the district.

Promised Prosperity.

The rallying cry of the Republican campaign was the return of prosperity and McKinley was proclaimed as the "advance agent of prosperity." Cleveland's policy was denounced for having produced universal distress. The first act of the incoming administration is the full and complete adoption of Cleveland's financial policy. Mr. McKinley was not satisfied with adopting the Cleveland policy in words, but he selected a cabinet, every one of whom is a conspicuous advocate of Cleveland's most extreme views on the money question. On with the dance!

Why Not.

One of the Rothschild dailies says that "possibly the silver statesmen will insist on attaching a free-coinage amendment to the arbitration treaty." Well, why not? The mint act of 1873 originated in England, and the old kleptomaniacs ought to be made to take it back. Besides, such an amendment would be worth a thousand times more than any possible treaty with England or all Europe.—Senator Stewart.

The Greatest Criminal of All.

The St. Louis Star says that "thieves are just as bad as other people." No, no! A thoughtful man must draw the line at the editors of the subsidized press.

PERTINENT WHYS.

IT IS COSTING MUCH TO SUSTAIN THE GOLD STANDARD.

Europe Is Not Disturbed by the Friendliness for Inter-National Bimetallism on the Part of Our Futty-Headed Administration.

What function did Hanna supply in giving Presidential life to Major McKinley? The unbiblical chord through which the Presidential aspirations of the Major were returned from Wall Street.

Why doesn't England get mad because the United States continues to ask her to restore silver? Because it costs her nothing to refuse the request, and it flatters her vanity to receive the United States as a suppliant.

Why does McKinley say in his inaugural that he will sustain the gold standard by taxes or loans, unless England will give him bimetallism? Becaues he believes that England is willing to collect all debts due her in gold, and will continue the gold standard as long as her debtors will borrow or be taxed for that purpose; and that therefore he can trust England to refuse his request, and can fool the people by pretending to favor bimetallism, without endangering the schemes of his backers.

Why did the goldites lavish public and private money for inaugural display, while the masses of the people are suffering from stagnation and want? For the same reasons that Nero enjoyed the contrast between his Bacchanalian extravagance and the suffering of Roman Christians while Rome was in flames.

Why do the McKinleyites contend that more revenue for the government extorted by taxation, will increase the supply of money among the tax-payers and produce prosperity? For the same reason the physicians of the old school bled their patients to death to increase their vitality.

Why did McKinley encourage Senator Wolcott to go to Europe to negotiate for free coinage? Because Wolcott, by his spectacular display on the other side of the Atlantic, could attract the attention of the people, while McKinley himself was organizing a cabinet to maintain the gold standard confidence in his fidelity to the money trust.

Why was Sherman selected for the State Department, and Gage for Secretary of the Treasury, if McKinley intended to aid in the restoration of silver by an international conference or by any other means? Because it would have been treason to his gold backers to even pretend to be for silver, under any circumstances; without first mortgaging his administration to gold monopoly for indebtedness incurred for the millions required to secure his election, as well as for all future advances.

What is the difference between Gage and Sherman? Gage is in favor of robbing the people by contracting the money volume to the single gold standard, and acknowledges it, while Sherman is in favor of the same and denies it. In other words, Gage is a barking dog, while Sherman prefers the tactics of the gopher.

England Rules.

England, as a factor in the control of money, is ruling a greater territory than Rome did in all her glory. Through the stealthy, secret influence of gold, she is framing the monetary laws of all nations of the earth, civilized and semi-civilized. No king can go to war without the permission of the men who control the gold of the world, and the gold of the world is controlled by the Rothschilds to such an extent that the smaller holders must work in harmony with them. At the dictates of this power one nation after another has adopted gold as the money of final payment and all the commercial transactions of nations are so written. The adoption by Russia of a gold standard a few weeks ago, will greatly enhance the price of gold, which will be noticed in the falling of prices of other commodities. Should China and Japan adopt the gold standard, it would reduce the average day's pay to perhaps 10 or 12 cents all over the world. Of course, all other things would go down with it excepting debts, taxes and stated incomes, and under such conditions men in debt would never redeem their obligations and would necessarily lose title to all their property, which would go into the hands of those who held the debts. We have just seen in this country a syndicate make eight millions of dollars on the issue of bonds simply because of the idea that nothing but gold can be used for the final payment of a debt. That a gold standard offers opportunities like this all over the world is an incentive for rich men to foist such laws upon nations and to gather in the property of those nations just as this syndicate gathered in a little lump by our recent bond issue. The gold standard goes upon the theory that all nations of the world could not make their own money anything but gold. It will not take many years before this system must culminate in an exceedingly few people owning title to or mortgages on all the property of the world, and then we may expect to see what McCaulay predicted fifty years ago, that not only the American nation but all other nations will have their Huns and Vandals, not from without, but from within. Already there are being created in the United States millions of poverty-stricken, desperate men, and as certain as wealth concentrates through monopolies and contracts so certain will this vast army increase until the time will come, not ten years hence, when either this entire theory of government must be changed or its entire fabric will go down in chaos. Wealth is not gathered from the air nor the clouds, by by men's labor, and the time will come when even the dullest minds will be brought to realize that they can no longer live under a competitive system of society. The gold standard is forcing the people to realize a condition that the teachings of all philosophers have been unable to impress upon the mass of mankind. So long as each little unit of society could hope to become a capitalist it was impossible to get them to understand that there was a danger line in the struggle. It is only when they have been forced to realize that all the avenues of advancement have been closed against them that they will see the injustice and enormity of the system that they have helped maintain, and if a gold standard will have this effect, as it surely will, then it is not without its good uses.

Mankind Ruled by Money.

Are not the people of more importance than continent or constitution? God made the planet for the people, not the people for the money-lenders. To stand still and see the people reduced to serfdom would be a crime against God and man. Better that all the gold and silver in the world should perish than that the nation should die; better that we should go back to primeval barter, without a dollar of money of any kind, than see God's children wiped off the face of God's planet. Ancient Mexico maintained a high civilization without a particle of money. If driven to the dreadful alternative of losing liberty and prosperity or metallic money, no sane man can doubt which the nation should choose. It is the curse of the world that mankind has been ruled for centuries by money, in the interest of money; not by the people in the interest of the people. We live only half-way in the present. The age is like a reptile whose head projects, lifted and gasping, out of the carboric acid gas; but its nether limbs are yet imbedded in the thick mud of the Silurian period.—Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, in "The Golden Bottle."

The Difference.

According to the New York World, J. D. Rockefeller has an annual income of $8,600,000. That is just $23,562 a day, or not quite $1,000 an hour. On the basis of eight hours a day, he makes just $49 a minute.

According to the United States census report the average wages of the workingman of the country is $22 a month.

Rockefeller gets $49 a minute, and the laborer gets $22 a month. Rockefeller has a good time; the laborer has a hell of a time. Rockefeller lives like a prince in a palace; the laborer lives in a hovel, which is not even his own.

Fate (?) assigns to one man less than a dollar a day, while working, while another has an income of fifty dollars a minute without working. Is that justice?

Rockefeller gets as much in one day as 25,000 workingmen. Is he worth as much? Do his services to mankind entitle him to such reward? Does he create 25,000 times as much or does he work 25,000 times as hard as 52,000 laborers?—Representative.

Wharton Barker on the Situation.

From the Philadelphia American: It is curtailment of imports and of general consumption that is largely responsible for the deficit in the revenues, and it is the impoverishment of our people that has led to this curtailment. Nor can this impoverishment be charged to the Wilson tariff and a flooding of our markets, for it is seen there has been no increase, but an actual diminution of imports. The impoverishment is due to the fall in prices consequent in our adherence to the gold standard; this and nothing else.

Missouri World.

It is gratifying to know that Secretary of Agriculture Morton, who is a goldbug lawyer, will soon be displaced by a real farmer, Mr. Wilson, of Iowa. Wilson may not be any better as a man, but he is the leading farmer in his State, while Morton is a legal quack, an unmitigated nuisance, who has from time to time advocated anything and everything detrimental to the American farmer, though holding the highest position as the representative of the farmer.

Must Stand Together.

From the Philadelphia Press: We must have better times and less unrest. The McKinley administration was elected to lead the way. It must lead along its own lines, and unless it leads to success we shall have the fight all over again with dangerous chances. That is the reason why patriots must stand together in its support, and why, we will add, that it should be so reasonable and just that patriots can stand together behind it.

Ball Was Airight.

The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage says that the Bradley-Martin ball was all right, because it scattered money among the poor. According to this eminent divine's logic, the Belshazzar feast must have been a regular bonanza for the poor and needy, but it proved to be hard on Belshazzar, and no doubt the poor finally paid compound interest for the crumbs.—Olathe Tribune.

The man who to-day would rather be right than to be president is a long ways from the White House.

COTTON FARMING.

How Two to Four Bales Per Acre Are Made on Very Poor Land.

We have not the slightest desire to assist in any manner in bringing about an increase in the number of bales annually raised throughout the Sunny South in general nor in Mississippi in particular, but we do desire that Southern farmers everywhere should realize the fact that the same 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 bales that are now raised annually may be just as easily, just as surely and far more economically and profitably raised on one fourth the area it is to-day, leaving the other three-fourths to be put in provision crops, fruits or grass. We have had the good fortune to see and walk over many Georgia farms—farms, too, that were worn out and washed away many years ago—that are now made to produce from one to four bales of cotton per acre. This condition of things is made possible and actually brought about by the "intensive" system of culture and liberal yet economical fertilization.

As early in the new year as the weather will possible admit of, the old cotton stalks are "knocked," or cut, the roots are then plowed up with straight shovel; green cotton seed are then strewn in this shovel furrow at the rate of ten to twelve bushels per acre; two half-shovel furrows are next thrown on the seed to prevent the loss of ammonia; in a few weeks this small bed is opened with a long, narrow scooter and 200 to 300 pounds of some good commercial fertilizer distributed in this furrow; phosphate and potash being all sufficient, the cotton seed furnishing the necessary nitrogen; the land is then bedded out and out with straight shovel and is now ready for the reception of the seed. Under this plan, persistently followed, Georgia farmers have succeeded in so increasing the fertility of the soil that with a slight increase in amount of fertilizer used and a favorable season four bales per acre have rewarded their efforts.

A good heavy cow-pea stubble turned under will be found to be fully as beneficial to the coming cotton crop as the cotton seed; either one will supply all the nitrogen needed; but in the absence of a cow-pea stubble, the cotton seed should by no means be neglected. Stable manure may be used instead of either of above, but the fact should be kept in mind that all three of above are "nitrogenous" fertilizers, and are used mainly for the amount of nitrogen they contain; and either one, or all three need the addition of phosphates and potash in liberal quantities (seventy-five pounds of Muriate of Potash or 300 pounds of Kainit, with 200 pounds of Acid Phosphate) per acre in order to make a complete fertilizer that shall be at once properly balanced and duly proportioned. If the peas have been properly fertilized (with 200 to 300 pounds Acid Phosphate and 200 to 300 pounds of Kainit), which they always should be when the object in raising them is that may be turned under as fertilizer, it would be hardly necessary to apply any additional fertilizer directly to the cotton. Georgia farmers break their lands deep (eight to ten or even twelve inches) once about every three years; they say it does not pay to break them deep any oftener. In this deep breaking, the land is broken with a two-horse turning plow, plowing about one inch deeper than the surface soil, thus gradually deepening the soil. No crops are planted here at all without fertilizer being applied, and in the sandier portions of the State the farmers seem to be unanimous in the declaration that "Potash is the element that is most needed," and that "any fertilizer that does not contain as much as four per cent. of it is not worth applying." Cotton here is planted in four foot rows, barred off with half-shovels and cultivated the entire season "with cotton scrapes"—i. e. "heel sweeps."

A SWEEP OF ICE.

It Came with Suddenness and Force, Causing Damage.

Sheboygan, Wis.—The ice was swept out of the river at this place last Saturday night, carrying three vessels out into the lake. The vessels were badly damaged by striking bridges and docks and fouling other craft on their way down stream. Many other vessels along the docks have been damaged. Two men, Otto Staegel and John Forkins, were on board the schooner Baker as she moved down the river, but were swept out into the lake. Advices to-day are that they were rescued.

A freight train on the Northwestern road went through a bridge at Port Washington and fifteen cars went into Fauk Creek. The locomotive was on the bridge when the engineer heard the crash. He opened the throttle and the engine cleared the bridge before it went down.

CUBAN EXPEDITION GETS OFF.

Punta Gorda, Fla.—A Cuban expedition with forty men aboard sailed from Cleveland, on the Peace river, six miles north of here, at 12:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Nine suits have been filed against the Southern Railway, amounting to $25,000, by the administrators of the Woodward family, who were killed at the Harrison avenue crossing near Chattanooga, recently. CLANTON will be an ideal town when all improvements are finished

A CYCLONE struck Arlington in southwest Georgia on Monday, killing eight children in a schoolhouse and injuring about twenty others.

THE Republican administration has decided that recent converts cannot expect any share in the distribution of pie, and J. C. Manning in consequence has withdrawn his application for the position of fourth assistant postmaster general.

SENATOR Turpie, democrat, of Indiana, has introduced an amendment to the U. S. constitution providing for the election of senators by popular vote. This is in the right line and we sincerely hope to see the amendment carried.

UNDER the provisions of the amended revenue law it behooves all persons who require to take out a license for their business, to do so before April 10, otherwise they will be liable to the penalty prescribed in the tax commission bill. Anyone desiring information should apply to Hon. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of Probate, at Clanton, who will gladly give it. We believe there are very few businesses subject to license in this county.

IN Congress, a proposition was made to the ways and means committee, providing for a tariff of 2½ cents a pound on all raw cotton imported, but there is very little probability of its coming to anything. If we are to have a protective tariff it certainly seems that cotton raisers should be able to derive some benefit from it. It is reported that Speaker Reed said, "If the Southern people want a duty on cotton, why don't they vote the Republican ticket."

FREE seed distribution by the government is being vigorously discussed at present. The U. S. Agricultural Department in its report says: over $1,100,100 was expended for free seed distribution in the last ten years, and not a single instance of benefit to agriculture is attributable to the distribution. The original object of free distribution was to obtain reports from the recipients. We shall be glad to hear from any of our Chilton county friends whether they have received any benefit from the free distribution.

THE Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition (the World's Fair of 1897) which opens in Nashville May 1 and continues to Oct. 31, 1897, is designed to celebrate on an elaborate scale the one hundredth anniversary of the State of Tennessee into the Union, and generally to show to the world the resources of the South. The exposition buildings are now complete and exhibits arriving. No doubt the L. & N. railroad will offer reduced fares from this section and our readers can make no better trip this summer than to the exposition. The city of Nashville itself is well worth a visit and with the special attraction of the exposition is doubly so.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery and he knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at J. S. Johnson, Jr., Drug Store.

Populist Legislators Convene.

The Populists of both branches of Congress held a meeting Saturday night in the committee room of Senator Allen. Senator Stewart presided. There was a large attendance of Senate and House members of the party. The meeting was for the purpose of getting the members acquainted with each other, and not for the purpose of formulating any particular line of policy, as it is not thought necessary for the party to outline a plan as to legislation at present. Chairman Butler, of the Populist national committee, detailed the operations of the last campaign and urged the gentlemen present to make particular efforts toward keeping up the interest in the Populist party through Populist papers.

The following is a complete list of Populists in both branches of the Fifty-fifth Congress:

Members of the House.

Milford W. Howard, of Alabama; C. A. Barlow, of California; G. H. Castle, of California; John C. Bell, of Colorado; James Gunn, of Idaho; Thomas M. Jetr, of Illinois; John Baker, of Illinois; James M. Robinson, of Indiana; Jeremiah D. Botkin, of Kansas; M. S. Peters of Kansas; E. R. Ridgeley, of Kansas; William D. Vincent, of Kansas; N. B. McCormick, of Kansas; Jerry Simpson of Kansas; Albert M. Todd, of Michigan; Samuel Maxwell, of Nebraska; William L. Stark of Nebraska; Roderick D. Sutherland, of Nebraska; William L. Greene, of Nebraska; Francis G. Newland, of Nevada; John E. Fowler, of North Carolina; William F. Strowd, of North Carolina; A. C. Shuford, of North Carolina; John E. Kelley, of South Dakota; Freeman Knowles of South Dakota; James Hamilton Lewis, of Washington; William C. Jones, of Washington; John E. Osborne of Wyoming.

Members of the Senate.

Wm. M. Stewart, of Nevada; Marion Butler, of North Carolina; John P. Jones, of Nevada; Wm. V. Allen, of Nebraska; Henry Heitfeld, of Idaho; George Turner, of Washington; James M. Kyle, of South Dakota; William A. Harris, of Kansas.—Silver Knight.

Speaker Reed is not disposed to regard the Populists in the house as a separate organization. About ten days ago the Populist representatives presented a petition to Speaker Reed recitn g the fact that at the last election they had cast about 2,000,000 votes; elected governors in five states, elected twenty-seven members of the present house and requesting therefor that they have a representation on the committee on ways and means, judiciary, appropriations, banking, coinage, elections and others. Mr. Reed has just replied that he preferred to recognize the Populists as a part of the Democratic organization and that decision will stand for this congress at least.

Stanton Stories.

Mrs. Lester, who has been very ill for some time, is still quite sick.

Messrs. E. W. Blalack and J. A. DuBose had a delightful trip last Monday.

Miss Minnie Lassiter of Plantersville was visiting relative here last week.

Miss Della Blalack of Maplesville is visiting friends here this week.

Mr. D. Lassiter, of Plantersville is visiting friends here.

The heavy rains we are having of late is putting the farmers very much behind with their crops.

Maplesville Music

The rains have retarted plowing but our energetic farmers are catching up.

There has been some complaint against our road, but it is safe to say the one leading to Old Maplesville will soon be in good shape since the appointment of T. U. Crumption as overseer.

Mrs. Ingram of Anniston is visiting her sister here, Mrs. D. C. Savage.

We are glad to note the return of Mr. Jas. DuBose to our town.

Our farmers are trying to improve their crops this year with heavy fertilization, judging by the wagon loads being daily hauled away.

Maplesville is well favored with drummers at all times; good sign of the standing of our merchants. Our town is well supplied with ties and shingles and purchasers of these article would do well to correspond with our enterprising merchants.

Our school opens next fall, we hope to have our new school house, Science Hill by name, completed by that time.

Our fruit trees are all abloom, many wild wood flowers are giving out sweet scented ordors to brighten and bless our fair land.

Hoping for a good crop year, I lay aside my pen with best wishes for your newsy little paper.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., March 24, 1897.

Congressman Bell, of Colorado asks additional recognition of Speaker Reed for the People's party in committees, especially on the Ways and Means committee, and in the division of time, between the parties. His claim is based on the fact that the Populists have 22 straight Populist and six fusion members in the House. There are also seven Senators. This gives the party the greatest strength of any third party in 40 years; it represents eight millions of people. The Populists have decided to work in harmony with the silver forces.

McKinley's message in dealing only with the tariff portrays our President to be a republican strictly, rather than an American representative. The tariff is only a party measure and based on an extra tax which the masses will have to pay. Chairman Dingley estimates the increase of revenue from the passage of the new bill, at $112,000,000.

The Nebraska Populists have discovered so much crooked work in the treasurer's office that a special committee has been appointed and an appropriation of $10,000 made to investigate every state office. Startling disclosures are expected.

Milton Park, editor Southern Mercury, as chairman of a special committee appointed by the Memphis editors, has sent National Chairman Butler a letter damanding that he (Butler) call the national executive committee to meet before May first, also that a call be issued from that committee for a national committee to meet not later than July first that the party may be re-organized.

"Sugar" Havemeyer, in his testimony before the Loxow committee said that one of the objects of the organization of trusts was to prevent "illegal combinations of organized labor." The world is a little curious, no doubt to hear exactly what such men as Havemeyer, Rockfeller, Searles and Spreckles consider "illegal organizations."

An organized movement to make Governor Pingree the next republican candidate for President has been started in Detroit. It has been given out authoritatively that Mark Hanna is willing that Pingree should have the Vice-presidency.

A graduated income tax law has been passed in South Carolina.

Populist newspapers are springing into life in Texas every week. Four new ones last week.

Hanna and Secretary Gage are a deadlock over the appointments in the Treasury department; the former demands that republicans be given the places while the latter desires to promote from the service. No appointments will be made for some time, it is thought.

The national and state silver leaders, at their meeting in Denver, decided to establish a national bureau for silver educational work during the interim before the campaign opens in 1900. This bureau will be located at Washington, D. C.

Untaxed church property in New York City alone amounts to $57,217,525.

The Missouri legislature has passed an anti trust law.

Secretary Sherman, is his message to Minister DeLome, said, "The neutrality laws will be strictly enforced. Spain will be allowed no reasonable ground of complaint; but she must understand that the equivalent rights of this nation and her citizens must be respected and guaranteed in good faith." There is now small doubt that Spain will grant independence to the Cubans.

The Initiative and Referendum bill was defeated in Kansas by a vote of 76 to 41.

The question of woman suffrage will be voted on in South Dakota at the next election.

A few figures are here given to illustrate how the people are being robbed by the three great trusts: The profits last year to the coal trust were $71,659,000; the sugar trust $24,000,000; while the coffee trust came ahead by $15,850,000. This money was made directly out of the necessaries of life. A. R.

Turn-Round Topics.

Mr. F. M. Connell, Jr., and wife of Hardy's Plain spent Friday night with Mr. H. Kendrick of this place.

One of the saddest accidents occurred here last Friday. Two beloved daughters of our highly respected citizen, Mr. J. H. Norrell, aged 12 and 14 were instantly killed by a tree falling on them. The two girls were a short distance from the house, and just as the storm was approaching, one went to the house; it had commenced raining and the wind blowing. With an umbrella she ran back to meet her sister. They walking side by side under the umbrella towards the house, when a pine tree fell right between the innocent and unfortunate girls, killing both instantly. The remains were interred at the Bozeman cemetery Saturday. The bereaved family have our heart felt sympathies.

Prof. R. D. May has finished his singing school at Prattville and is at home again.

A Word to . . . Suffering Women.

In private

No one but yourselves know of the suffering you go through. Why do you suffer? It isn't necessary. Don't lose your health and beauty, (for the loss of one is speedily followed by the loss of the other.) Don't feel "weak" and "worn out." Impure blood is at the bottom of all your trouble.

Johnston's Sarsaparilla will purify your blood and bring the bloom of health back into your cheeks. Each bottle contains a quart.

QUART BOTTLES.

Painful and Suppressed Menses, Irregularity, Leucorrhœa, Whites, Sterility, Ulceration of the Uterus, change of life in matron or maid, all find relief, help, benefit and cure in JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. It is a real panacea for headache, pains in the left side, indigestion, palpitation of the heart, cold hands and feet, nervousness, sleeplessness, muscular weakness, bearing-down pains, backache, lagnche, irregular action of the heart, shortness of breath, abnormal discharges with painful menstruation, scalding of urine, swelling of feet, soreness of the breasts, neuralgia, uterine displacement, and all those symptoms which make the average woman's life so miserable. We have a book full of health information. You want it—its free.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
Monthly — AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE — Illustrated
Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable:" It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the Review of Reviews will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Almost Distracted?

DID YOU EVER suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you become irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health..... Mrs. Eugene Searles, 110 Simonton St., Elkhart, Ind., says: "Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee first bottle will benefit or money refunded.

CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER

— FOR —

COLDS IN HEAD, CATARRH, SORE THROAT, LA GRIPPE, HEADACHE or Any Head or Throat Trouble.

DR. J. L. BROWNE, LONDON

Dr. Browne is Senior Surgeon to the Central London Throat and Ear Hospital. He declares himself in a recent medical journal in emphatic terms as follows: "The vapor of Menthol checks in a manner hardly less than marvelous, acute Colds in the head. For all forms of nasal discharge, causing obstruction to the natural breathway, I prescribe Cushman's Menthol Inhaler to the extent of hundreds per annum."

A CHRONIC DISEASE LURKS IN EVERY BAD COLD!

Then why do you go on in a deluded way trying to wear out your misery when Cushman's INHALER will relieve you instantly.

"It is a Constant Companion! $5.00 worth of physician's fees for 50 cts. Neighboring or nauseating drugs to debilitate your system. Only a refreshing and healthful aid to you. Indispensable in traveling. Public singers and speakers use it and find it the greatest aid in strengthening the throat.

INFLUENZA! DR. J. H. SALISBURY, a distinguished physician of New York, said: "I looked upon that as particularly destructive in the life of the Influenza health."

SEA SICKNESS! Dr. Besley Thorn, in communication in the London Lancet, says: "I have found Cushman's Menthol Inhaler exercises a marked beneficial effect in Sea Sickness and especially in the headache and vertigo which remains after the actual vomiting and retching passed off."

5 DROPS

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. J. P. Limeburner, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populist and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

Jan. 25, 1897.

DEAR SIRS—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 8th of January 1897, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an aggravated case of inflammatory rheumatism; so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 DROPS and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself immensely relieved, and continuing treatment woke the second morning cured. My arm was absolutely free from pain, and all swelling and stiffness had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great curative properties of your medicine and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial. Sincerely yours

J. P. LIMEBURNER.

Bureau of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had Rheumatism in every joint and in the heart, and I had Catarrh of the head for 30 years. I was so poorly that I lost the use of my legs and arms, and could not move without pain. I was so crippled, that I had done but little work for seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my Rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But now, after using "5 DROPS" only two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. This medicine does more than is claimed for it. At this time my Catarrh is much better, and I have scarcely any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pain are gone. My hearing is now good and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than 10 pounds of flesh and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw to give a mother who has a young child, for it has the same effect on the child as on the mother. It wards off Croup and cures the hives of the child and causes sweet and refreshing sleep to both young and old.

WM. M. KELLEMS,
Yours respectfully, Siberia, Perry Co., Ind.

Jan. 29, 1896.

We received the following letter from Mr. J. J. Wilson of Omaha, Ill. Mr. Wilson has been for many years an invalid, and reading the above letter which was published, wrote Mr. Kellems, asking if his endorsement was genuine, and received this reply, which he forwarded us.

MR. J. J. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand, the testimonial you speak of is genuine. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" published my testimonial just as I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I could swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for this letter. I sent it to them last January for publication in order that poor sufferers, incurable as I once was, and as you are, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to answer all who write. Tell all your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I know how to sympathize with those who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long, it is now 8 months since I have felt any pain. Dr. S. W. Kellems, my brother, uses "5 Drops" in his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a positive cure.

MR. W. M. AND DR. S. W. KELLEMS

Sept. 21, 1896.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle prepaid by mail 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

CURE CONSTIPATION

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ REGULATE THE LIVER ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC — .....CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS — .....CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet taken by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE — .....CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN — .....CASCARETS are relished by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE — .....CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED — .....CASCARETS, taken partially, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT — .....CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS — .....CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

*Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior.

The only genuine. Beware of imitations!

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back," "suspender," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in all interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

It is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act in unity, promptly, and, therefore, effectively, when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wisely-educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account creed, race or nationality.

Blood and Brawn

Impoverished blood means loss of strength. Probably seventy-five per cent. of the diseases with which mankind is afflicted are caused by impure blood. Very many diseases—such as tetter, eczema, scrofula, erysipelas, etc., could not exist if the blood were perfectly pure. V. V. V. makes pure blood. It is composed of natural vegetable remedial agents skillfully compounded in the exact proportions to secure right results.

An Old Couple.

One of the oldest couples in the United States dwell at Bethel, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Whitman Dean. Mr. Dean was born in 1807 and Mrs. Dean in 1814. They celebrated their golden wedding in 1882. Mr. Dean can remember hearing the big guns at the battle of Plattsburg. He has read the Bible through several times and it has been a great study to him all his life. In years past ministers came to him to inquire where to find certain passages of Scripture. This aged couple never rode on the steam cars or steamboat and were never out of their own State.

A Valuable Tree.

A few days ago a company bought of J. W. Adams, of Pullin, all his walnut timber, from 12 inches up, at a good price. In cutting the timber they came across an old walnut tree that had been blown down for at least thirty years, and had been threatened to be burned up several times, but when they made an examination of it they found it to be a birdeye walnut worth considerable money. The company gave Mr. Adams $300 for it. It measured 70 feet and they will get $40 per foot, which will amount to $2,800.—Dover (Ky.) News.

If what Mr. Barrie, the writer, says of his sensations while composing is true we are glad that he does not write in public. He says: "It is my contemptible weakness that if I say a character smiled vacuously I must smile vacuously, if he frowns or leers I frown or leer, if he is a coward or given to contortion I cringe or twist my legs until I have to stop writing to undo the knot. I bow with him, eat with him and gnaw my mustache with him. If the character be a lady with an exquisite laugh I suddenly terrify you by laughing exquisitely." This is simply awful, and we cannot but think the gifted author is poking fun at Mr. Howells, who laid bare his throes of composition to the readers of the Ladies' Home Journal.

There has been a good deal of criticism since Du Maurier's death concerning the lack of art in his work, but the fact remains that with him disappeared the only reason why Americans ever tolerated the London Punch. The pictures which are now taking the place of his skits on society in that publication have no claim whatever on art, and as humor are very poor stuff.

You know the motto you taught me says: "The least said the soonest mended," and you ought to see if it will work that way with this apron.—New York Tribune.

Bubbles or Medals.

"Best sarsaparillas." When you think of it how contradictory that term is. For there can be only one best in anything—one best sarsaparilla, as there is one highest mountain, one longest river, one deepest ocean. And that best sarsaparilla is———?.... There's the rub! You can measure mountain height and ocean depth, but how test sarsaparilla? You could if you were chemists. But then do you need to test it? The World's Fair Committee tested it,—and thoroughly. They went behind the label on the bottle. What did this sarsaparilla test result in? Every make of sarsaparilla shut out of the Fair, except Ayer's. So it was that Ayer's was the only sarsaparilla admitted to the World's Fair. The committee found it the best. They had no room for anything that was not the best. And as the best, Ayer's Sarsaparilla received the medal and awards due its merits. Remember the word "best" is a bubble any breath can blow; but there are pins to prick such bubbles. Those others are blowing more "best sarsaparilla" bubbles since the World's Fair pricked the old ones. True, but Ayer's Sarsaparilla has the medal. The pin that scratches the medal proves it gold. The pin that pricks the bubble proves it wind. We point to medals, not bubbles, when we say: The best sarsaparilla is Ayer's.

WINDS AND FLOODS

Do Immense Damage in Various Parts of the Country.

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

Mile Upon Mile of Land in the Mississippi River Bottoms Under Water. Hidden by the Raging Torrent.—Thousands of People and Much Stock in Danger.

Memphis, Tenn.—A further half inch rise in the Mississippi means the devastation of property and probably a loss of life unequalled in the flood history of this section. Seventeen persons are reported drowned fifty miles below Caruthersville, Mo.

A stretch of country over 100 miles long from a point seventy miles north of Memphis to a point fifty miles south of the Tennessee metropolis is under water in places to a depth of ten feet. The fertile valleys of Tennessee and Arkansas are completely inundated and many lives have been lost and stock drowned, fencing and dwellings swept away, inhabitants destitute and homeless, and left to starve or drown by the rising tide. Reports from tributary streams show rains are rapidly rising rivers, floods which will soon be emptied into the Mississippi, adding to the danger when hurled against the already weakened levees. The levees are patrolled hourly by armed and desperate men, provided with sand bags to strengthen weak places or to close threatened crevices, and rifles to shoot down any miscreant who would venture to cut the embankment.

The floods now partake of the nature of a deluge. As far as the eye can see nothing but water meets the gaze.

Six hundred people were rescued on the Arkansas side of the river, and taken to Memphis, but there are flood districts so situated that relief boats cannot reach the stricken ones. On island 39, 100 sufferers and considerable live stock were rescued by the steamer Itasca. Neither man nor beast had tasted food for over twenty-four hours. Human beings and helpless brutes are huddled together all along the Iron Mountain and Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf tracks.

Five hundred people were forced to flee from the floods in Dyer and Obion counties, Tennessee.

IN AND AROUND JACKSON.

The Storm Almost Equalled That of Thirty Years Ago.

Jackson, Miss.—A terrific storm of wind and rain visited Jackson about 6 o'clock Friday morning, lasting half an hour and doing an immense amount of damage to shade trees, fences, outhouses and barns. No loss of life has been reported, but the interior to the west of Jackson, where the storm is thought to have been most severe, has not been heard from. Telephones are down.

A telegram from Madison Station, the center of the great strawberry region of Mississippi, ten miles north, says that great damage was done there, houses and barns being demolished, trees laid flat and tomato cold frames blown out of the ground.

The storm seems to have been general over a scope of country twenty miles wide from north to south, and is known to have extended to Raymond, fifteen miles west, and across Pearl river to the east of Jackson and ten miles down into Rankin, where visitors to this city report the same destruction of timber and fences.

Thirty years ago a storm passed over this same track, but was more severe, leveling everything before it.

TEXAS STORM-SWEPT.

Houses, Barnes, Cars, Telephone and Telegraph Wires Blown Down.

Dallas, Tex.—A heavy wind storm, which in some places assumed the appearance of a cyclone, passed over this part of the State Friday night. At Plano the gale leveled the sheds of the Cotton Belt and Central roads, blew over freight cars and unroofed several residences. A number of persons were injured at Plano, but none were killed. Considerable damage was done by the storm near Itasca and Hutchison. Telegraph and telephone wires are prostrated, and it is difficult to learn the extent of the damage.

Special telegrams received state that Northern Texas was swept by a wind storm that at times developed the proportions of a cyclone. The worst damage reported so far occurred at Denton, where over one hundred houses were struck by the storm, and all more or less damaged. It is believed that the storm in the vicinity of Denton has caused damage to the extent of $100,000. Jack Simmons was fatally injured in the debris of a falling house.

It is thought that great damage to life and property has been done in the territory west of Denton. The storm also swept over the towns of Hutchinson and Itasca, unroofing houses and wrecking small buildings.

At Fort Worth, the house of the electrical railway was unroofed and traffic suspended.

On Harding and Boaz streets six or seven frame dwellings were blown down. A brick school house in the Ninth Ward was badly wrecked.

AT NATCHEZ, MISS.

The Storm Added to the Horror of the Situation.—River Rising.

New Orleans, La.—A special to the Daily States from Natchez, Miss., says: The river at this point now stands 39.08 on the gauge, which is 4.20 below the danger line, and rising at the rate of half a foot daily. The levees hereabouts are under the most careful and rigid surveillance, and the general belief is that they will be able to stand fifty feet unless there are weak places developed not apparent now. The consensus of opinion among river men is that we will not reach forty-eight feet here unless there are excessive local rains.

A tremendous storm of wind and rain passed over this city at 5 o'clock this morning, doing great damage to property in Natchez and some in Concordia parish, but while it does not appear to have had the effect of damaging the levees to any appreciable extent, it certainly did add some water to the river.

The telegraph wires above the city were all prostrated, and we are cut off from communication with the north. The worst is yet to come in this locality.

THE DELTA SECTION.

In Absolute Danger, Owing to the Unusual High Water.—Levees.

New Orleans, La.—A special to the States from Vicksburg, Miss., says: The river situation for the next thirty days promises to be more than serious. There is a higher stage at Cairo and Helena, the two main points of observation, than since 1886, and by their reported rainfalls in the last twenty-four hours, both will score extensive high water marks yet. The pressure is going to be excessive all along the levee lines. It will first appear between Helena and the mouth of the Arkansas. On that reach the new levees have been put in front of the White river basin since the last high water, and the effect of this is now to be tested. From there down the levees have been raised and enlarged greatly, and ought to hold unless the flood is prolonged. Altogether it is the most serious situation for the Delta sections that has been experienced since 1882.

AT ANNISTON.

Wind Accompanied by Rain.—Many Houses Leveled to the Ground.

Montgomery, Ala.—A special to the Advertiser from Anniston, Ala., says: A strong wind, accompanied by rain, did much damage in this section today. Several houses were blown and some plate glass windows wrecked in this place. The greatest damage was done in the Eastaboga community. The residence and every house on the plantation of Rev. Daniel Johnson were blown down. The store of T. W. Ogletree and residences of Mrs. Jackson and W. R. Bell were unroofed. Mr. Bell had a tenant house, three large barns and all his out houses levelled to the ground. No loss of life reported.

WITHIN TWO INCHES

Of the Highest Point.—Say You Can't Escape.

Helena, Ark.—The river at noon was within two inches of the highest water record here. The sun shone to-day after one of the most prolonged and heavy downpours of rain for many years, and conditions are more hopeful. The levees in front and north of the city are having the attention of the officers of the city and the levee boards are being raised and strengthened. Heavy rains yesterday and last night have partly inundated a portion of the northern suburbs of the city, but the water is now fast receding.

The levees at Modoc are still holding and with the recent recruits to the already large army of levee workers, there is a bright chance of maintaining the statu quo. The levees on the Mississippi side appear in good shape.

IN LEE COUNTY, GEORGIA.

A Destructive Cyclone Prevailed, Doing Much Damage.

Savannah, Ga.—An Albany, Ga., special to the Morning News says: A destructive cyclone prevailed in Lee county this afternoon, but only meagre reports have so far reached here of its results.

At Leeburg, the front of Salter's store was blown down, and a young man by the name of Randall, who run out as it fell, was caught under the debris and badly injured.

Fences and trees were uprooted, and it is believed the worst results were felt north of Leeburg.

AT UTICA, MISS.,

One Farmer Was Killed.—School House Lifted From Its Foundation.

Utica, Miss.—A cyclone passed this place early Friday morning with a southeasterly course, blowing down several cabins and timber and fences, killing J. O. Hill, a farmer, and injuring his wife. A country school house was lifted from its foundation and turned around.

MILLS GO ON FULL TIME.

Salem, Mass.—The Naumeakeg Steam Cotton Mills, which have been running on half time since June 1, 1896, started up on full time. The owners state that the price of their goods will be reduced to compete with other manufacturers. The mills give employment to about 1,500 men.

DESPONDENCY AND MORPHINE.

Fulton, Ky.—Andrew Stephens, a white man, aged 55, shot himself at Hickman, Ky. The suicide was the result of despondency occasioned by continued ill-health and constant use of morphine. Deceased was closely related to several prominent Hickman families.

AN ARKANSAS HANGING.

Hamburg, Ark.—William Johnson was hanged here Friday afternoon. He killed Henry Hobson last June. Both were negroes. Johnson showed wonderful nerve. His neck was not broken by the fall and he died an awful death.

CONGRESSIONAL ITEMS.

The Record Made For the First Week is an Extraordinary One.—Charges Against Commander Mullen.—It is a Canard.—Other Items.

Washington, D. C.—The first week of the extraordinary session of the Fifty-fifth Congress closed with to-day's session of the House of Representatives. The record made is extraordinary. The tariff bill has been reported, and an order regulating its discussion adopted. Four appropriation bills, which failed to become laws in the Fifty-fourth Congress, necessary for the prosecution of important parts of the public service, carrying a total of over $72,000,000, have been passed with the exception of one paragraph, as they were finally agreed upon by the last House. Two of these, the agricultural and Indian, were considered and disposed of to-day. The former, appropriating $3,182,950, was passed, as has been the sundry civil and general deficiency bills yesterday, without change. The time allowed for debate on this bill permitted Mr. Champ Clark, Democrat of Missouri, to make a characteristic speech upon the subject of the results. He withdrew all previous criticisms of the Senate and thanked God that it still remained a deliberative assembly. The action of the House to-day and yesterday he termed the most amazing and astounding performance ever witnessed on the continent. One feature of the Indian bill provoked much opposition, and was finally stricken out by unanimous consent before the bill was passed. This was the paragraph opening the gilsonite or asphalt lands in the Uncompahgre reservation, Utah, to entry under the mineral laws, which the Senate had added to the bill. Several resolutions were offered and agreed to make appropriations for mileage, stationery and pay of session employes immediately available.

Rumors which recently reached the navy department affecting Commander Dennis W. Mullan, causing his detachment as commandant of the Pensacola navy yard several weeks ago, are to be investigated and for that purpose a court of inquiry, of which Capt. Norman S. Farquhar is the sole member and assistant judge advocate, Gen. Charles H. Louchheimer, U. S. M. C., is judge advocate, has been ordered from Washington to meet at the Pensacola navy yard next Thursday, 25th. The precise nature of the reports is not divulged, but they are said to relate to occurrences while the officer commanded the yard during the past year, which would seriously affect his standing, if verified. Commander Mullan was one of the heroes of the Samoan disaster, in March, 1889, when three United States vessels, the Trenton, Vandalia and Nipsic, and two German gunboats were forced upon the beach and ground to pieces. He was in command of the Nipsic and by a curious coincidence Captain Farquehar, who will now investigate the rumors concerning him, commanded the flagship Trenton at the time.

Secretary Alger acted promptly to relieve the flood sufferers of the Mississippi Valley by the use of vessels belonging to the war department. Senator Cullom, of Illinois, presented the Secretary with an appeal this morning from the Mayor of Cairo, Ill., for Governmental assistance to save life and property. Secretary Alger at once telegraphed Major Handy, the engineer in charge of river work at St. Louis, and Col. Gillespie, the President of the Mississippi River Commission, directing them to have all Government boats sent to Cairo and to confer with the Mayor, Board of Trade and Circuit Judge Roberts as to the measures to be taken for relief.

The attention of the Department of Agriculture has been drawn to a publication in Liverpool of alleged official information relative to mill takings from the cotton crop of 1896. Mr. Henry A. Robinson, statistician of the department, thinks it well for the public to know that no official information of the nature claimed has been given out. The nature and state of the work at the time of such publication also render it impossible that the assertions contained therein could have had any substantial foundation or any verification of value either public or private. In making this disclaimer Mr. Robinson does not wish to be understood as denying or affirming any of the Liverpool statements.

The Treasury Department closed up with its accounts with Mr. Grover Cleveland Saturday. Secretary Gage signed a warrant in favor of Mr. Cleveland for $277.78, the balance due him on his salary as President, and it will be mailed him to Princeton, N. J., on Monday. This balance completes the $200,000 to which Mr. Cleveland was entitled for his four years services.

The new Consul General at London, Mr. McK Osborne, is the first of the foreign appointees of the administration to enter upon his work. He took the oath of office at the State Department Saturday, and immediately began to accumulate the knowledge of his new office in the hope of being able to relieve Consul General Collins at the earliest possible moment. As soon as he can be made familiar with the routine he will leave for London.

The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs ordered the free homestead bill to be favorably reported. The bill is practically the same measure which passed the Senate last session and which failed in the house because of the amendments made in the Senate.

A Bad Case Quickly Cured.

From the Commercial, Bangor, Me.

We publish the letter of Mr. H. J. Crandlemire, in full, just as it came in, as it is interesting.

Dear Sirs:—I send this solely that others may know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me and my kidneys, and to make it of more effect I send it in affidavit form.

STATE OF MAINE, COUNTY OF WASHINGTON, } ss.

H. J. Crandlemire, of Vanceboro, Maine, being duly sworn deposes and says:

"Two years or more ago I was attacked with kidney trouble which gave me violent pain, and necessitated my urinating every few minutes. Then I had times of no control over my water, and this made things unbearable. The pain at these times was indescribable, and nothing gave me any relief until I was led to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The first box helped me, and by the time I had taken my second I was absolutely and completely cured. This was two years ago, and since then I have had no return of the trouble, and I have no hesitation or doubt in expressing that I owe my recovery to Pink Pills.

(Signed) "H. J. CRANDLEMIRE."

Personally appeared before me this 13th day of August, 1896, H. J. Crandlemire, and made oath that the above statement was true.

ELISHA T. HOLBROOK, Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

The Week's Work of the National Law Makers.

CONSIDERABLE TARIFF TALK.

The Extraordinary Session Drags Along Continuously.

THE DAILY PROCEEDINGS

Noted in a Condensed and Interesting Style.—Some Important Matters are Receiving Careful Consideration.—Many Bills are Being Introduced.

SEVENTH DAY.

Senate.—The Senate spent only half an hour in open session to-day, the remainder of the time being given to the consideration of the arbitration treaty behind closed doors. The agricultural appropriation bill—one of the four money bills that failed at the last session—was reported back in the shape in which it passed the House last week and was placed on the calendar. It will be acted on at an early day.

The attack upon the civil service law and its administration, which distinguished yesterday's proceedings, was followed up to-day by the introduction of two bills, one by Mr. Allen, Populist of Nebraska, for the repeal and amendment of the law and of all executive orders issued under it; and the other by Mr. Pritchard, Republican of North Carolina, Chairman of the Committee on Civil Service and Retrenchment, modifying its application to the Government printing office.

House.—Large audiences in the galleries, and an unusually large attendance on the floor of the House of Representatives heard the third day's formal debate on the tariff bill. The principal speeches of the day were those of Messrs. Johnson, of North Dakota, Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Evans, of Kentucky, Republican members of the Committee on Ways and Means, in favor of the bill, and of McMillan, of Tennessee, the oldest Democratic member, against it. Other speakers were Messrs. Democrat of Tennessee; Williams, Democrat of Mississippi; Terry, Democrat of Arkansas; Sayers, Democrat of Texas, and Maddox, Democrat of Georgia, against the bill, and by Adams, Republican, of Massachusetts, in favor of it. The general debate will be closed to-morrow, when Russell, of Connecticut, Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, Steele, of Indiana, and Payne, of New York, Republican members of the Committee on Ways and Means, and Bailey, of Texas, the Democratic leader, will speak. The latter makes the formal closing for the minority, and Payne for the majority. Besides these, Messrs Hepburn, Republican of Iowa, and Richardson, Democrat of Tennessee, will speak.

Mr. Brownlow, Republican of Tennessee, introduced in the House a bill establishing a Department of Commerce, Labor and Manufacturers. The head is to be a Cabinet officer and the necessary clerical force is provided for.

Mr. Livingston, Democrat of Georgia, was the first speaker at to-night's session and indulged in a brief half hour's protest against the tariff bill.

The last speech of the evening was delivered by Mr. Oldfield, Republican of Pennsylvania, in support of the bill. He addressed six Representatives on the floor and a score of visitors in the galleries.

At 11 o'clock the committee rose and the House adjourned.

EIGHTH DAY.

Washington, D. C.—Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Tarsker, of Ohio, to provide a uniform organization of the artillery of the army.

Mr. Pasco presented in an amended form the credentials of John A. Henderson as Senator from the State of Florida under appointment by the Governor until the next meeting of the State Legislature in April next.

Twenty minutes past 12, on motion of Mr. Davis, Republican of Minnesota, Acting Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of the arbitration treaty (with closed doors) of the arbitration treaty.

At 1 p. m. the doors were re-opened and the unfinished business—the bankrupt bill—was taken up, being read for amendment.

The reading of the bill occupied exactly an hour. Some formal amendments were offered by Mr. Hoar and were agreed to.

Mr. Nelson, Republican of Minnesota, offered a substitute for the bill, which was also read in full, and when it was concluded the Senate at 4:20 p. m. adjourned until Saturday.

House.—This was last day of general debate on tariff bill in the House of Representatives under the order adopted last week, but because Mr. Bailey's throat would not permit him to speak this afternoon, an agreement was made to give two hours to general debate just before taking the vote next Wednesday, which will be occupied by himself and Mr. Dingley.

The proceedings were unusually interesting and they were listened to generally by a large number of members and crowded galleries. Speeches against the bill were made by Messrs. Talbert, Democrat of South Carolina, Clark, Democrat of Missouri; Maguire, Democrat of California; Gunn, Populist of Idaho; Simpson, Populist of Kansas; Cox, Democrat of Tennessee; McRae, Democrat of Arkansas; Burke, Democrat of Texas; Lentz, Democrat of Ohio, and Dearmond, Democrat of Missouri; and its favor by Messrs. Tawney, Republican of Minnesota; Dalzell, Republican of Pennsylvania; Russell, Republican of Connecticut, and Payne, Republican of New York, members of the Committee on Ways and Means, and by Grow, Republican of Pennsylvania; Curtis, Republican of Kansas; Colson, Republican of Kentucky, and Hawley, Republican of Texas.

At 5 o'clock the House took a recess until 8 o'clock to-night, the night session to witness the last general debate, except two hours on Wednesday next, just prior to taking the vote on the bill.

NIGHT SESSION.

At the evening session the debate on the tariff bill was continued.

Mr. Skinner, Populist of North Carolina, in supporting the bill said that if for the past twenty-five years the South had been trying for protection as the North and East had, it would to-day be the most prosperous section of the country. The bill had its defects and he did not think it would bring prosperity without supplemental financial legislation. Revenue, in his opinion, sufficient to supply deficiencies could be sustained by reducing by one-third of the salaries of all Government employes or by a proper income tax.

Mr. Myers, Democrat of Louisiana, said that some of the duties inferred by the bill might be erroneous and excessive, but as a representative of Louisiana, representing a great and suffering interest he should support the sugar schedule.

A number of speeches were made by various members, and at 11 p. m. the House adjourned.

NINTH DAY.

Senate.—Mr. Morgan offered a resolution which was agreed to, directing the Attorney General to inform the Senate whether any and what agreement has been entered into by the President or any of the departments relating the the future disposition of the Union Pacific Railroad property, by sale or otherwise.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Lodge, Republican of Massachusetts, and was agreed to, calling for copies of all papers and correspondence, diplomatic or otherwise, on file in the State Department relating to the arrest and imprisonment in Cuba of two American sailors, Richelieu and Bilton.

A large number of bills were introduced, among them one by Mr. Quay, Republican of Pennsylvania, by request, to suppress pauperism, and by Mr. Cullom, Republican of Illinois, to promote aerial transportation.

At 12:50 the Senate on motion of Mr. Davis, Republican of Minnesota, went into executive session on the arbitration treaty. At 4 o'clock the Senate adjourned until Monday.

The consideration of the tariff bill under the five minute rule for the purpose of amendment which, as was expected would be strictly business, opened with the livelliest political contest of the session, lasting for nearly three hours. Preliminary to the main battle of the day there was a lively skirmish immediately after the House went into a committee of the whole and the Clerk instructed to begin reading the bill.

Promptly on the reading of the prefatory paragraph of the bill Mr. Dockery, Democrat of Missouri, offered an amendment authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to admit free of duty any article, the production and price of which would be controlled by a trust in the United States.

Mr. Dingley, Chairmain of the Committee on Ways and Means, made the point that the amendment was not in order at that place, and Mr. Dalzell, Republican of Pennsylvania, that if it were in order as to time, Congress could not devolve on the Secretary a judicial duty such as that of determining whether or not a trust was in control of certain articles. This precipitated a debate, based on Democratic charges that Republicans favored the trusts and did not want to legislate against them. All of the leaders on both sides and some not recognized in that rank, took part. Charges and counter charges were bandied back and forth, and the record of the past seven years was searched to show the action of both parties on the subject of trusts. After nearly three hours of skirmishing, the question ostensibly being the point of order, General Henderson, Republican, of Iowa, appealed to both sides to put an end to it, saying that if 't was the desire to get through the bill in the time allotted for its consideration, "a mighty bad start had been made all around."

The point against the amendment was sustained by the chair, and on appeal his ruling was sustained—158 to 104.

Many other amendments having the same object to put articles controlled by trusts on the free list, were offered, and on objection by Mr. Dingley, all were ruled out of order.

In the course of the afternoon several changes of duty were made, among them being an increase of half a cent on the duty on carbonate of ammonia, an increase of from twenty-five to forty cents a pound on the duty on sulphuric ether, and increasing the duty on the products of pig lead from 2½ to 3 cents a pound.

At 5:15 p. m. the House adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock, having disposed of nine and half pages of the 163 pages of the bill.

NINTH DAY.

House.—The House in Committee of the Whole progressed even more slowly in its consideration of the tariff bill to-day than yesterday. Having disposed of but five and a half pages against nine and a half the day before. This was the rate exactly one page an hour, and if the same rate should be maintained until the expiration of the period allotted for discussion by the order adopted last week, there will have been 31 of the 163 pages of the bill considered when the hour for the vote on its passage arrives. The dilatory method of handling the bill provoked Mr. Johnson, Republican of Indiana, to protest against the irrelevant discussion which impeded progress and in which members of the Committee on Ways and Means in charge of the bill indulged as well as Democrats and to ask Chairman Dingley if a change could not be made which would result in more rapid work. When the House entered upon its work this morning there was not a quorum present, as revealed by a vote, and there was a wait of fifteen minutes until 101 members appeared. The discussion took a wide range, covering the propositions that the foreigner pays the tax under a protective tariff; that a duty on hides would be more beneficial to the farmer than all the duties in the agricultural schedule; that pig iron can be produced in Alabama and Tennessee in competition with the North and foreign countries with a smaller duty than $4 a ton (although no motion was made to reduce it); that trusts are in the main beneficial to the consumer.

As a result of the days' work a few immaterial changes were made in the chemical and earths and earthenware schedules, proposed by the Committee on Ways and Means, and at 4:15 o'clock the House adjourned until next Monday at 10 a. m.

Damaged the Fruit.

Nashville, Tenn.—The frost and freeze has damaged the early fruit crop in many Middle Tennessee counties. The potato crop was also damaged. Wheat has not yet been injured, though the frost expected to-night, if heavy, will injure this crop. From most of the Middle Tennessee counties a severe freeze with ice and frost is reported to-day.

Several Fires Near Columbus.

Columbus, Ga.—Three houses were destroyed by fire in Girard Sunday afternoon. The loss aggregated $1,500 and it was partially covered by insurance. W. E. Scott owned two of the houses. Sunday morning fire destroyed a dwelling in Phoenix City, owned by M. E. Edward. A house on Ninth Street was also slightly damaged by fire.

Furnace to Start Up.

Florence, Ala.—The Sheffield Coal, Iron & Steel Company will light the fires in their big No. 2 furnace at Sheffield Wednesday evening. Maj. A. W. Wills, of Nashville, President of the Company, intended to put this furnace Big Wheat Crop in Sequachee.

Dunlap, Tenn.—This county has a larger area planted to wheat than ever before, and it is in splendid condition. The crop in the Sequachee Valley this season will be the largest ever known.

The handle factory at Bridgeport, Ala., is being overhauled and will be in operation by April 15. President Nixon has large orders for handles from England and Sweden.

The Avondale Cotton Mills filed their articles of incorporation in the office of the Probate Judge at Birmingham last Friday. The capital stock is placed at $500,000, and the incorporators are David Trainer, Chester, Pa.; M. V. Joseph, N. E. Barker, W. J. Milner, F. Y. Anderson, Rufus N. Rhodes, B. F. Roden, Robert Jemison, B. Steiner and R. B. Comer, of Birmingham. All the local incorporators are well-known and influential citizens, while Mr. Trainer is a wealthy and practical cotton manufacturer. These mills are the big cotton mills which Birmingham has been figuring on securing for the past year. Birmingham citizens took $150,000 of the stock, while capitalists from abroad subscribed the balance. Already the work of surveying the site, located near Avondale, just out of Birmingham's corporate limits, has begun, and ground will b broken on the foundation in a few days. The main building of the plant will be 286 feet long by 130 feet wide. The mills will be in operation not later than December 1 next. The buildings will cost $100,000, all of which money will be spent in Birmingham within the next few months.

THE POSTAL BANKS.

A CHICAGO POSTMASTER FAVORS GOVERNMENT BANKS.

The United States Government Should Take Control of the Banking Business—It Was Adopted by Great Britain in 1861.

Whenever there is talk of the government taking over the telegraphs, immediately the claquers for the present monopolies everywhere about cry "socialism," says the Chicago Farmers' Voice. Whenever there is talk of establishing postal savings banks, the claquers of the opposing banking interests set up a howl intended to drown out the voice of the people. But the success of the postal savings system in other countries, and the evident influence they have exerted in the direction of thrift and economy, give promise that a plan so full of advantage to all members of the community shall not much longer be debarred.

There has never been a time when there was greater need for a system in this country than the present. The sense of insecurity felt in banks in many cities and towns, and the terrorism of the burglar and highwayman, combine to make the life of the saving man a burden. He turns to the safety deposit vaults; but it is expensive to pay rent there, and so he is either compelled to spend a portion of his savings or keep them about his home or person, either of which he feels is unsafe.

How natural it is for the people to turn to the government at such times, is suggested in a recent newspaper interview had with Postmaster Washington Hesing of this city. Mr. Hesing emphatically favored the postal savings system, and to illustrate its needs related the following experience: "The panic, you know, was in 1893. In 1894 I became postmaster, and I had an opportunity to observe that numbers of people had withdrawn their money from the banks and other places of deposit and had purchased money orders with it payable to themselves. As soon as the flurry was over and a feeling of confidence was in some degree restored the orders began to come in. Many hundreds of thousands of dollars were thus banked, as it were, with the department. Any one can see what an advantage it would be to the public to have been able to deposit small amounts of money at any place by producing a book, and to be able to withdraw it in the same manner at any point, however remote."

In 1861 Great Britain adopted the postal savings bank system. In the following year the deposits amounted to more than $8,000,000. In 1890 they exceeded $338,000,000. In 1867 Canada, with a scattering population of 5,000,000 put the system into force. June 30, 1895, there were 120,628 depositories with $27,000,000, to their credit. Other countries make showings quite as favorable.

The farmer is especially interested in the postal savings banks. How many millions might to day be in them to the credit of American farmers had they been established, as they ought, years ago, no one may compute. But all should unite in securing the establishment of the system now.

Instead of the government's going out of the banking business, as is demanded by the bankers, there is a growing sentiment in favor of its taking complete control of the financial and currency system of the nation.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Snap Shots Taken at the Passing Procession.

If we are to judge from the wail that comes up from the gilded saloons of plutocracy, the stupendous crime of Populism is its socialistic tendencies. The fact seems to be overlooked that government itself is socialism, and the best institutions of the land are conducted on the socialistic plane.

• • •

There is socialism and socialism. The animal man is in part a socialistic creature and possesses at the same time an individualism that incites him to great personal effort. In all that pertains to the home one's individualism predominates. Few people live in boarding houses from choice. One of the strongest desires of the human family is to own a home.

• • •

To make home the one resting place of our lives; to adorn and beautify it; to plant flowers and shrubbery and create shady bowers is the individualism in the human heart. But many things there are that can be better done collectively. The first step towards socialism is government. In a Republic, everything that government (the people) does is socialistic.

Our school system is the perfection of socialism along that line. Our public road system is socialistic and the postoffice system is a living monument of the beauties of socialism. The great trouble is that few people who use the word socialism do so without a full understanding of its meaning. Some use it in connection with the word anarchism, when as a matter of fact they mean exactly the opposite of each other. Anarchism means no government at all, and is the extreme of individualism, while socialism means government by all and for all without favoritism.

There are those who, in our opinion, go to the extreme in socialism, as some people go to the extreme in everything. The socialism of the People's party is not extreme, but it is rather in the direction of a social democracy. The most that any Populist claims is the public ownership of all public utilities, and this is more than the platform demands. But whatever may be said the logic of events is rapidly driving the world to the acceptance of enough socialism to own and operate the more important of the public utilities.

• • •

A St. Louis chemist claims he can make gold out of clay. Another chemist claims he can make gold out of silver. Suppose that such a thing could be done, and gold would be sold on the streets for seventeen cents a bushel. Would the men who have drawn up their contracts payable in gold want to repudiate them? Would they want gold demonetized? And if they did, wouldn't they be repudiators? If it is dishonest to want to evade the payment of a debt in dear dollars, is it not just as dishonest to want to refuse to take payment in the "dollar of the contract" as expressly stipulated by the creditor himself, and put "in the bond" in black and white?

• • •

Such an occurrence would be a blessing to humanity. It would be an object lesson that would open the eyes of the people where generations of misery, mountains of anguish and rivers of tears have failed. Gold would have as much real intrinsic value when its commercial value was only seventeen cents per bushel as it has now. A ring would look just as nice; it would do just as well to fill teeth, and more could use it; and—well, yes, it could be used just as well for money then as now, but its volume would have to be limited by law and common sense instead of as now, by chance.

• • •

We sometimes compare the government of England unfavorably with our own, but as a matter of fact the English government is better in some respects, and not much worse in any than that which now obtains in the United States. Great Britain has a civil service system which should make us blush when compared with our "to the victor belong the spoils," and the devil-take-the-hindmost plan of rotation in office. Great Britain has postal savings banks and government telegraphs that protect her people from robbery by criminal corporations. Her postal system provides for carrying parcels at reasonable prices and the express companies are compelled to meet those prices.

And the queen has not as much power as the president of the United States, or the speaker of the house of representatives. Parliament may be prorogued or adjourned, but the people may re-elect the same or another. The house of lords is hereditary, but even in that respect it has the advantage of our senate. If a man is a born fool or rascal he is a lord nevertheless, but all lords are not born that way and they hold for life, where in the United States senate, if an honest man does happen to break into it the combined powers of darkness spare no effort to get him out. The English house of lords represents an autocracy of blood; the United States senate represents an autocracy of corporate wealth. The English house of lords is perhaps the worst feature in the British government, save its financial system, and in both of these respects our own government, as now administered, is not much better.

• • •

It is surprising how wonderfully honest and economical some of our wise scions become at times. One of the reasons given for the passage of the bill to permit the national bankers to have the use of $23,000,000 more on the bonds now deposited with the comptroller was that it would increase the revenues of the government 230 thousand dollars. This would come from the one per cent tax on the circulation. It was urged that this would be saved to the people. There was nothing said about the banks loaning this money out at 8 per cent which would bring them $1,840,000 per annum, and it would be collected off the people. That is to say the banks would make a clear profit of $1,610,000. Or in other words the people would spend $1,840,000 in order to save $230,000. Isn't that brilliant statesmanship? Yet it is the kind we have been having for the past thirty years.

Now if this amount of money was loaned the people at one per cent and thereby enable them to save the $1,610,000, there would be some sense in it. But that would be "anarchy," "socialism," or something else terrible, and every notorious note shaver and usurer in the broad land would have a fit. Commenting on this subject the Missouri World says:

"Now, if the government would establish postal savings banks and loan the same amount direct to the people at a rate of, say 3 per cent per annum, the revenue to Uncle Sam would be about 700 thousand dollars. After deducting sufficient to pay all the expenses the remainder could be turned into the national treasury and taxes reduced to the extent of the net profit. If, as Van Voorhis and his associates argue, it is a good thing for the government to loan money at 1 per cent to the national banks, would it not be a much better thing for the people and the government to loan it direct to the borrower at 3 per cent? The government would derive more revenue and the people would have less taxes to pay and be able to secure money at a reasonable rate. Give us government banks and abolish the vicious national banking system."

W. S. MORGAN.

The best speech that McKinley ever made was when he told the office hunters to "go home and wait."

THE CURSE OF GOLD.

EFFECT OF SINGLE STANDARD UPON THE MASSES.

The Overproduction Theory and the Absurdity of It — The Independent Farmer Has Become a Hopeless Toiler —Something Wrong.

Judge O. W. Powers in Chicago Record: What is the matter? Poverty is increasing. With increasing poverty there is more crime. Suicides are more frequent and despair is displacing hope. The wealth of the world is drifting under the control of the few. Department stores are ruining the small shop keepers. Syndicates manipulate our industries. The independent farmer has become a hopeless toiler. The day laborer sees nothing ahead but a hand-to-hand struggle.

Something is wrong.

The days are just as long, the soil is just as productive, the sun shines just as brightly and the rains are just as refreshing. Our housewives are far more economical and the opportunities for bettering our condition should not not be fewer.

Still, prices are falling. Real estate is a poor investment. Business enterprises end oftener in receiverships than profits. Mortgages are being foreclosed and deficiency judgments entered. The courts are busy running bankrupt railroads at the instance of bondholders. Money at interest at three per cent is more profitable than in employing labor in industrial enterprises. The nation is a constant borrower, and, although taxes are an excessive burden from the national government down to our municipalities, the public revenue is insufficient.

This sort of thing has been going on for more than twenty years.

Unless things change there is no certainty for the future but universal bankruptcy.

The excuse given for the deplorable state of affairs by those who advocate the gold standard is that there has been overproduction. In other words, we have been made poor by reason of having too much wealth. People are starving because they have too much to eat. Railroads are going into bankruptcy because they have too large crops to move. Men are in rags because the sheep have produced too much wool.

The conditions that exist are these: All men would like to have on hand plenty of flour. From the gold men's statistics the supply of wheat seems to be adequate. The men who own the wheat would like to exchange it for money, but the people who need the wheat have no money to give in exchange. Real estate has fallen in value until no one can readily tell what it is worth. There are numberless people who would like to own homes, and there are plenty of people who would like to sell land. But the people who want homes cannot raise the money to exchange for the land, and the result is very unsatisfactory to both parties. There are hundreds of thousands of industrious men and women who would like to make exchange of their labor for money, in order to exchange the money thus received for things which they really need, but the owners of money cannot find profitable investments upon a falling market, and hence hoard it in banks or loan it at interest and the working men and the working women go without employment. Horses are ridiculously cheap, and many people would prefer riding to walking. The men who own the horses need money and would like to sell, but the mass of the people keep on tramping, for some could not afford a horse, even if he could be purchased for two bits.

We have, then, plenty of labor which is seeking a market. We have manifold opportunities awaiting the touch of money to spring into beneficent life. We have an ample supply of the necessities of life, and yet, with bursting granaries there are needed more pauper houses. With ample wealth on every hand there is a demand for more policemen to club down crime born of squalor and misery.

On the other hand, gigantic fortunes have been accumulated in the hands of a few people. While hundreds of thousands suffer, it is possible for a Whitney, through the magic of his wealth, to transfer 7,000 acres of wild land into a pleasure garden for his children in less than twenty days. Impecunious lords of the old world have no difficulty in exchanging their titles for the daughters of our millionaires, while many honest workingmen cannot sell their labor at any price. The beneficiaries of this vicious condition insist that it shall continue upon the false plea of "honest money." The peculiar advantages which they secure may be the real reason why they denounce their suffering fellow-countrymen as "anarchists," and violently rail because a cry of distress sometimes rings above the chink of their gold. As other people suffer they gain. The distress of the government is their source of profit.

He'd Be Crazy.

What would you think of a business man who would unnecessarily issue interest-bearing notes against himself, and an interest, too, which would be greater than the entire profits of the business? And especially when the people with whom he dealt were perfectly willing to take non-interest bearing notes as long as said notes were redeemable in any goods or chattels the merchant might have in his store? He'd be a crazy merchant, wouldn't he? Well, it's down just such a ruinous and idiotic path the bankers and goldbugs want to keep this nation stumbling along.—Uncle Sam.

GLOVE MAKING IN AMERICA.

The Industry of Fulton County, New York and Its Importance.

The statement made recently by an importer of gloves that the United States plays an unimportant part in that line has brought the American manufacturers to the front with a statement which shows that the industry is a large one and that thousands of people are engaged in it. In the report prepared by Congressman Lucius N. Littauer for the Committee on Ways and Means, showing the industries of Fulton County, the following figures appear: Men employed in factories making gloves and mittens, 4,000; women employed in the same factories, 7,000; women empolyed making gloves in their homes, 2,000. To these people $5,400,000 is paid annually in wages, and the sales amount to $12,000,000. The capital invested is upward of $5,500,000.

In addition to the glove industry Fulton County is a headquarters for glove leather, employing about 2,000 people in its manufacture who receive per year $1,050,000 for their work. The centre of the industry is Gloversville, although Johnstown, Mayfield, Northville, Broadalbin and other nearby places contribute largely to the production. Gloves have been made in that locality for over fifty years, and Mr. Littauer, in speaking of the business, said:

"The manufacture of gloves at Gloversville, in a place rather far from the commercial centres, sometimes surprises people, but we who have seen the development of the industry can readily account for it. The place was a centre years ago for the pedlers who sold their wares in the Adirondack region. They took deer skins in exchange for many of their goods, and these they brought to the little village of Gloversville, where the hides were dressed and tanned, and then they were cut and made up into gloves by the women and children. The home-made articles were disposed of again by the very men who brought the raw skins from the shores of Saranac Lake.

"The village was still small and difficult of access when its products were known all over the country, and gradually machinery supplanted the primitive manufacturing outfits, factories took the places of shops, and the hamlet, to which a stage came once every week from the nearest railroad town, grew to be a city of 18,000 inhabitants."

The best glove-makers and the most improved glove-making machinery drifted towards Gloversville, and although the supply of material is no longer the Adirondack region, leather gloves of all grades and description are still made there from stock which now comes principally from Central America

A large business is done in Gloversville making gloves for the workingmen "This is the only country in which the workingman's wages and standard of living are such," said Mr. Littauer, "that he can afford to wear a pair of gloves to protect his hands from hard usage at work."—New York Tribune.

The Doll as a Symbol.

The Indians of New Mexico are famous weavers. Incidentally to the business of making large blankets for the real folks, the good mother turns out some little blankets for her children's dolls.

Among the Indians it seems to be quite usual to bury dolls with children. The custom apparently is of great antiquity, for such manikins are often found in old graves in that region. The same practice is followed in parts of Africa, and to some extent it is pursued by the Africans in the United States. In the cemeteries of colored people in the South not only dolls, but all sorts of playthings that belonged to the dead child are placed upon the grave and permitted to remain there. Available facts are scant about the dolls of the savage tribes of the Amazons, who are the nakedest people in the world, many of them wearing no clothes whatever. Perhaps they have no dolls. The natives of Terra del Fuego certainly possess no dolls. They have no art of any kind, their entire attention being constantly absorbed by the very difficult problem of procuring food for a day ahead.

In Europe the business of making dolls is an important and extensive industry. You can purchase in Italy for a few dollars a set of dolls accurately representing all classes of the people, with the whole scheme of national costume. The same may be said of China, India and Japan, in all of which countries the dollmaker plays an important role. The Chinese are very fond of dolls representing mandarins. In Japan you can get dolls illustrating every class, profession and rank from the Mikado down to the humblest peasant. The costumes for Japanese plays, such as Gilbert & Sullivan's "Mikado," are always obtained from dolls. Thus they are sure to be correct in every detail.

Utilizing Water Power.

According to present indications, the waterfalls and rapids in the country will some day be utilized as a generator of electricity. The latest achievement in the way of utilizing power is throwing a large wing dam across the St. Lawrence at the Lachine Rapids. This dam runs out something more than a thousand feet into the river, and takes in an immense body of water. The entire length of the dam is to be occupied by a power-house with an unbroken interior of at least a thousand feet. A large number of minor streams are being used for similar purposes. With a good fall, a force sufficient to run a good-sized dynamo may easily be secured.

THE United States supreme court has rendered a decision that all railroad traffic associations are illegal.

JEMISON is in the throes of a municipal contest which culminates next Monday. Two tickets are in the field, one headed by S. M. Adams, the other by Mr. Patten.

MR. Thos. Plowman was reported very sick in Washington a few days since, but is now better. He has appointed his son Claud as his clerk.

A CYCLONE struck the town of Chandler, Oklahoma Tuesday evening, killing forty-five persons and injuring 150 others. The storm broke without warning and nearly every building in the town was wrecked.

THE National Bimetallist, which figured so largely in the late campaign, has been revived under the same management and is now published at Washington, D. C., subscription one dollar a year. We hope it will meet with the greatest success.

THE floods in the Mississippi valley are the worst ever known in the history of the country. Levees are broken in numbers of places and miles upon miles of country are under water, houses swept away, stock drowned, while the loss of human life cannot at present be ascertained.

THE Birmingham State-Herald seems to be in some trouble, the directors having met and elected a new president and general manager, at which the incumbent is vigorously kicking. On the other hand the Montgomery Journal is hinting, it (the Journal) may be greatly improved within sixty days. Is the chief newspaper support of Governor Johnston's administration to be transferred to the capitol city?

WHILE President McKinley has decided that recent Republican converts must not expect "pie," Governor Johnston has concluded to try its efficacy, and has appointed J. D. Deramus tax commissioner of Autauga county. Mr. Deramus is supposed to have been a Populist, but we doubt very much if he was ever deeply imbued with the true faith.

BIRMINGHAM has a school tax which is unconstitutional and can not be enforced. Nevertheless the L. & N. Railroad company recognizing the fact that the schools needed money voluntarily paid over $600 last week, just in the same way as if the tax could legally have been demanded. This speaks well for one corporation.

HON. W. J. BRYAN, when informed by his publishers that $16,000 was due him in royalties on the first month's sale of his book "The First Battle," instructed them to forward one-half of the amount to the following persons to promote the cause of bimetallism in their respective parties: Senator Jones $4,500 who will use it through the Democratic party; Mr. Warner $1500 through the National Bimetallic Union; Senator Allen $1500 for advancement of the cause through the Populist party, and Senator Teller $500 through the silver Republicans. Mr. Bryan based the division upon the fact that he received four and a half million votes from the Democrats, one and a half million from the Populists, half a million from the silver Republicans, while at the same time most effective work of a non-partisan character was performed by the National Bimettallic Union.

In 1898 it now seems certain the republicans will be overwhelmingly defeated, while it is by no means certain that the populists will not be the victors, instead of democrats. In every section of the country the people are realizing that it is useless to look to the old parties for reform, and the populists are making rapid strides and gaining with remarkable progress. If every populist would stick and work, a victory would be easy. A strong and determined fight is all that is needed.—Monitor.

There is no doubt now but what a great mistake was made when the farmers of the country allowed the Alliance to languish and die.

It is useless to cry over spilt milk and now the only thing to do as we see it, is to go to work and re organize it. This can only be done by hard, energetic work on the part of those who now see their mistake. Now while on this subject we want to suggest that some ten or twelve good sound Alliance men write out and sign a call for all those who are strong in the faith, to meet at some central point in the county, and let them take such steps as is necessary to again put the Alliance on its feet. The country was never in a worse fix, and the people never in a better humor to take hold of this matter, so let us put the ball to rolling, the sooner the better.—Southern Alliance.

Address,
ROSEMONT GARDENS,
Montgomery, Ala.

The Populist of the house and senate held a joint caucus Monday at which an address was issued defining the position of the People's Party on the tariff bill. The address declares that the pending tariff measure in the house is for the purpose of side tracking real and vital issues, and that lack of revenue is not the defect in the bill (the Wilson bill), as it was passed by congress, but resulted from a decision of the supreme court which declared the income tax to be unconstitutional. They also assert: "We do not regard the Dingley bill as a revenue measure. It seems to us designed by the republican party to create such a tariff agitation as will direct the attention of the people from the misery they suffer from a contraction of money and the rule of monopolies."

Two years ago R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown in this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same in hundreds of communities. Where ever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

Workmen as Contractors.

A system of public work that has much to commend it is that of "Co-operative Contract," in vogue in New Zealand. Under that system a public work is divided into small sections by the engineer in charge, and an estimate is made of its cost. Each section is then let out to workmen with foreman of their own choosing, but who receives no more than his fellows. They obtain the full profit which would otherwise go to professional contractors, and they share the payment equally. Each worker is interested in seeing that his companions do their full amount of work, and the sooner the job is performed the greater the return for a day's work. If any tools are needed which the men do not own, the government supplies them at a moderate rental. The adoption of this system should provide a method whereby direct employment by the government would be consistent with a full return for the money expended, giving to the community an advantage in the economical execution of public enterprises equal to that enjoyed by private employers.—From "Public Work directly Performed," by Sylvester Baxter, in April Review of Reviews.

Broken Chain

The family circle is never so happy after the chain is broken and a link taken. Some family chains are strong, others weak. Have you a good family history? Or is there a tendency to coughs, throat or bronchial troubles, weak lungs? Has a brother, sister, parent or near relative had consumption? Then your family chain is weak. Strengthen it. Take SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It makes rich blood, gives strength and vigor to weak lungs and run-down constitutions. With its aid the system throws off acute coughs and colds. It prevents the chain from breaking.

Political Pointers.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., March 31, 1897.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and his chief assistant have been having themselves interviewed and by this means have notified the farmers that "over-production" is at the bottom of all of their ills. "Diversity of crops," stated in a manner so ambiguous as to lead the reader to suspect that the worthy gentleman is under the impression that hides, eggs and wool are matured on bushes, is also advised. "If this year's crops had been only one-half of what they are the farmers would have twice as much money," is one of the gems of thought thrown off by the wheels of this McKinley windwill.

Senator Allen has offered a bill making it an offense punishable with fine and imprisonment for any one to be found in or around the capitol endeavoring to influence legislation against the lobbyists.

The new tariff bill is based on protection and will create a tax on the consumer of several hundred millions. Mr. Dingley referred to the bill as "a measure to encourage the stricken industries" and said, "The better class of importers have united with the manufacturers and administrants of the law in asking for this." Bailey, of Texas, led the opposition on the ground that the bill was not for revenue only, but levied an increased tax on the consumer "for the purpose of inducing men to establish unprofitable industries, or industries which can only be made profitable by compelling the consumer to pay exorbitant prices." Mr. Bell, Populist leader on this bill, said: "The difference in principle between this bill and the Wilson bill is the difference between tweedle-dee and tweedle-dum." He further stated that statiticians had proved that 6 per cent ad valorem would cover the difference in the cost of labor, but the ad valorum of this bill will approach 50 per cent.

The Finance committee will investigate the effect of the proposed tariff on the trusts.

House leaders look gloomily forward to a long session, perhaps continuing through July.

A majority of the senate is in favor of the arbitration committee, provided that three amendments calling for the ratification of all members by the senate, striking out the constituting of the supreme judges as members of the proposed arbitration tribunal, and the elimination of the umpire feature, are embodied in the treaty.

Foreign newspapers, notably the English and German are not so vociferous in their praises of President McKinley since he has shown symptoms of returning to his protection mania. They openly confess though that they prefer the tariff horn of the dilemna to silver coinage. Since the administration went in and will be followed up along lines to please the foreign investor we will doubtless have tariff laws that will not militate against foreign capital and will please that portion of the American people who have not yet learned that self-taxation can not produce prosperity.

The republicans see in Pingree's notoriety and popularity elements that make him a man they may need, by and by, so his name is being mentioned in connection with the vice presidency in 1900. Mark Hanna is quoted as approving. We credit the Michigan governor with having too much penetration not to know that all the potato patches in creation can not keep him solid with the masses if he is to be damned with Hanna's approval.

The judiciary have contributed their usual quota to current history during the past week. A certain Judge Linn created discord at the meeting held at Cooper Union, New York City, to express approval of the arbitration treaty, by remarking that he must object to the alleged arbitration treaty because it violated all of the principles of arbitration. He was promptly suppressed.

The Texas Reform Press Association will meet at Lampassas in May.

Jemison, March 29, '97.

Editor BANNER: Chilton county, amid oppressive hardtimes, aspires to noble efforts. Clantonians are rejoicing in the refulgence already discovered in their choice little town under the influence and the work of the incorporation. The next move on the chess board of refinement, prosperity, education and general get up and push, will be the incorporation of Jemison (the town of churches and schools) into a school district. Now that the Hon. S. M. Adams has been nominated for mayor (and he will surely be elected) we consider that a sure sign of success. We who have known him over a quarter of a century—yes, from his boyhood—can appreciate his zeal and worthy efforts. Without a father to guide and educate him, he had the courage and true manhood to battle with every opposition that confronted him. At the sacrifice of a high education, that noble boy labored for his beloved widowed mother and orphan sisters. Thus our Sam, as we call him, has risen amid one care after another to points of honor and distinction, too well known to claim explanation. Somebody over there says; "Adams was a minister and went off into politics." Good Lord send more preachers into politics and business, not politics in preachers. In every step Brother Adams has made on his life journey he has sorely felt the sting of illiteracy. Thus we see him putting his soul into the grand work of education. He will stand by his convictions and die at his post, while a richly merited reward awaits him.

MR. EDWARD EDMONDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. In time, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, hunger, without any appetite; fluttering that made my stitch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." EDW. EDMONDS. P. O. Box 65, David City, Nebraska.

The Black Warrior river in this state has always abounded in shad. Recently an authority on fish saw some of those caught at Tuscaloosa and pronounced them not to be shad. To settle the question, Mr. J. H. Fitts, of Tuscaloosa, sent some specimens of the Warrior shad to the fish commissioner at Washington and the department has issued a pamphlet on the subject announcing the discovery of a new species of shad, which it has christened "Alosa Alabama." The Alabama variety is said to be particularly delecate for food purposes.

49 YEARS OF SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATISM.

5 DROPS

Read carefully this testimonial found below, also letters from those who have been cured of other diseases, and remember that "5 Drops" has and can never fail to quickly relieve and permanently cure.

DEAR SIR:—Your bottle of "5 Drops" received. It was for an old friend, Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Martinstown Wis. He has had Neuralgia in his chest, suffering a great deal of pain, so much so that it affected his heart and he could not sleep on account of a smothered feeling. He has been under the care of the most eminent physicians, but found no relief until I gave him a dose of "5 Drops." The very first night he rested well, and has ever since, and is gaining daily. I myself am 87 years old and began taking your medicine last April for Rheumatism, which I have had for 49 years, also for a weak heart. Since taking "5 Drops" the Rheumatism has all disappeared, the stiffness is gone from my joints, and my heart never misses a beat. I am to-day a well, strong woman, and I owe it to "5 Drops." I only wish I could sound my bugle of praise loud enough to be heard all over the world, and could convince every one that "5 Drops" is all you claim it to be. Send more.

Mrs. D. P. Carver, Winslow, Stevenson Co., Ill.

34 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

DEAR SIR:— JANUARY 2, 1897.

Over 34 years ago, I had Typhoid Fever, and barely escaped with my life. It left my system so shattered that I have had ever since, Rheumatism and Throat Trouble, which gave me a terrible Cough. I had been unable to find any relief for these diseases, until I learned of your "5 DROPS", which I commenced taking only two months ago, and my cure has been indeed WONDERFUL. Already my cough has entirely disappeared, and the Rheumatism which for a few years past has threatened to make a cripple of me, is cured, and I am free from pain. This is the most wonderful and the cheapest remedy ever discovered. I am more thankful to you than words can tell and I want everybody to know what "5 DROPS" has done for me. Although I am over 70 years old, I am feeling better than I have in years.

I shall be glad to answer any questions regarding my case from anyone enclosing a two cent stamp. Gratefully yours,

MRS. SAMUEL RIBLET, Litchfield, Mich.

CATARRH AND HAY FEVER.

I find the bottle of "5 DROPS" to be very good and just what you claim. My wife has been suffering with Catarrh and Hay Fever over 16 years. She has tried everything and doctored much, but no cure until she tried "5 DROPS" which completely cured her.

Yours truly REV. L. VON WALD,
March 31, 1896. Milbank, S. D.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA.

For twenty long years my wife suffered untold tortures from Sciatica and Neuralgia, and I thank God for the day that your beneficent remedy fell into my hands, for it completely cured her. I am a minister of the Gospel, and when I find any who suffer, cannot help but recommend "5 DROPS", for I know it will do more than you claim for it.

REV. F. M. COOPER, Washington Center, Mo.

PARALYSIS AND RHEUMATISM

DEAR SIRS: NOVEMBER 9, 1896.

It is with pleasure I speak of your priceless remedy and of the good it has done me. For the last eight years I have been an incurable cripple from paralysis and rheumatism. Just think for eight years a total cripple not able to earn a penny not able to walk or step on the ground without the aid of something to lean on. Heaven bless the man who discovered this remedy, for, thanks to him and to God, I am able to walk and able to work. I take only two thirds of a bottle, but have not had any pain in my back since I took the first dose, and after the second I walked across the floor, which I have not done in years. I have thrown away my cane and shall never need it again. To any one sending me a two-cent stamp I will send my affidavit. I have another bottle of "5 DROPS" and value it at $1.00 per drop.

Thankfully yours, EDWARD CASTILE,
1005 Wall Street. Sioux City, Iowa.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

DEAR SIRS: SEPTEMBER 24, 1896.

I wish to tell you and suffering humanity how much good "5 DROPS" has done me. On the beginning of this year I took down bedfast with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and I was doctored by some good physicians as this country has, but they could not cure me. On August 4, I began to take "5 DROPS." At that time every joint in my body and my limbs were stiff, so that I could not be moved. Even my tongue was getting so stiff I could hardly speak so any one could understand me, but to-day, only seven weeks from that time, I am absolutely cured, and thank you and God for my recovery.

Gratefully yours,

HORACE F. ANDERSON, McCracken, Kans.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief, and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism Neuralgia, Sciatica, Catarrh, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Backache, Hay Fever, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and kindred diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle, prepaid by mail, 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC — .... CASCARETS taste good. Either like or like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS — .... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet taken by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE — .... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN — .... CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE — .... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED — .... CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT — .... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS — .... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

*Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior.

The only genuine. Beware of imitations!

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$150.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "sauce-pan," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

For Mothers!

THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says:

"When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wisely-educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account creed, race or nationality.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

FIVE MURDERED.

They Were Then Cremated to Hide the Crime.

CAUSE OF CRIME A MYSTERY.

The Horrible and Brutal Murder of Jacob Ade and Family.

A WELL KNOWN FARMER.

Neighbor Saw the House on Fire, and on Going to the Building Discovered Evidences of the Awful Crime That Had Been Committed.

Nashville, Tenn.—Particulars of what appears to have been a horrible and brual murder was received here from Paradise Ridge last Saturday.

Jacob Ade, one of the oldest and best known farmers of the Ridge settlement, his wife, his daughter and son, and a little daughter of Henry Moirer, were probably murdered and heir bodies cremated in Ade's house, which was burned to the ground.

The story of murder is strengthened by the fact that all of the bodies were found in the same room, but scattered around over the space occupied by this room. It was first thought that the old man was killed for his money, as he was known to be well-to-do, and always kept a supply of money on hand, but whether this be true or not cannot be positively stated now, or at least the ashes of what was once a big roll of money, has been discovered in the ruins of the house.

The dead are: Jacob Ade, Mrs. J. Ade, Lizzie Ade, aged 20 years, Henry Ade, aged 13 years; Rosa Moirer, aged 10 years.

Jacob Ade lived fifteen miles from this city, near the Cheatham county line. The house sits back a half a mile form what is known as the Clarksville turnpike. It was a one-story frame dwelling with five rooms—two rooms in front, with a hallway between, and three rooms running back, forming an ell. Old man Ade and his wife usually occupied the first room in the ell, just in the rear of the front room, or parlor. There was only one bed in this room. It was in this room that all the bodies were found. The first indication of the tragedy was discovered at 10 o'clock last night by Justice Simpson, who lives half a mile from the Ade place.

There was a sick man at Mr. Simpson's house, and about 10 o'clock Mr. Simpson went out to get some water for the man, when he saw that Ade's house was on fire. He at once rode over to the scene and found the house in ruins. Finding no one near, Simpson's suspicions were aroused, and upon a close inspection he saw the bodies of several people in the ruins. He went to work to rescue the bodies and succeeded in getting four of them out. These proved to be the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Ade, Miss Lizzie Ade and Miss Moirer. After this Mr. Simpson rode around and notified a number of the neighbors, and in a short while quite a crowd had collected about the ruins. Henry Ade, the 13-year-old son of Mr. Ade, was also missing, but his body could not be found. It was first thought that he had escaped to the woods, but a further search of the ruins of the house this morning disclosed his body. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Ade, Miss Lizzie Ade and Henry Ade were burned to a crisp. The limbs and heads were burned off, in fact, only a small mass of flesh and bones remained. The old man and his wife were more horribly burned than the others.

The body of Rosa Moirer was not burned so badly as the others. The little girl's legs were burned off; one arm was raised over her head and the hand of this was gone. A portion of her skull was missing, but the brain, which was exposed, and the skin on her face was only partially burned. This fact gives further evidence in support of the theory of murder. Some of the people believe that, possibly, while the other members of the family were being murdered this child escaped and was not killed until after the house had burned awhile, when the body was thrown into the fire.

The fact that a part of her skull is gone and the rest of the head perfect, with the skin of her face only badly burned, lends weight to the theory that she was knocked in the head, and it may be that in trying to protect herself she threw up her arm and the hand was cut off by the same blow which tore away a part of her skull. The blow paralyzed her muscles and the arm remained in this protecting position after death had ensued.

The purpose of the murder was at first thought to be robbery, but if this be correct, the murderer was ill-paid for his horrible crime. In searching the ruins of the house, this morning, an oyster can was found under the place where a closet once stood in Mr. Ade's sleeping room. In this can the remains of what was evidently a large roll of money was found, together with four silver dollars, which had been melted so that they were sticking together.

Mr. Ade's neighbors knew that he kept his money in this closet. He was in the city Monday. While here he told Jerry Matthews that he had $2,000, and he did not know what to do with it. Mr. Matthews advised him to deposit it in the Fourth National bank Mr. Ade did not say that he had the money with him.

Sheriff Sharp was notified of the supposed crime early Saturday morning and he, with several deputies, went to the scene and are there now working on the case.

Disposing of the robbery theory, it is very hard to find a motive for the horrible crime, as Mr. Ade was a very popular man and well liked by all his neighbors.

The only enmity which might have existed between him and any of the people living in that section was that which resulted from a charge he made against a man who was arrested in Cheatham county a few days ago charged with stealing hogs from Ade. This man was tried before a Magistrate in Cheatham county and bound over to the Circuit Court. There is, however, no evidence against this man which would in any way connect him with the murder.

Mr. Ade was 60 years old and had lived in that community for twenty-five years.

Still the building in Edwardsville continues, and before fall several fine residences will be erected.

William Porter, of Scottsboro, is having a varied experience. Ever since last fall he has been running a "blind tiger" right in the middle of Stevenson, until the municipal authorcases, violations of State laws in reselling whiskey without license. He was fined in this court, and there are several other cases before that municipality for the same offense. Next the grand jury indicted him in nineteen cases, violations of StSate laws in retailing without a license, and now there are two cases against him in the United States court under the same charge. However, he has made bond in each instance.

Information comes from Johns, in the Blue Creek region, that the negroes working about the coke ovens there are out on a strike. There are a couple of batteries of coke ovens located at Johns, some 200 or 300 ovens in all. Negroes load and pull the coke from the ovens. It is stated that the trouble arises over a demand for higher wages. The information was very meagre, and simply said that the negroes had quit work. The coke from the ovens is used mostly in the furnaces at Bessemer. Its quality is equal to any in the district.

EATING GARBAGE

Startling Appeal by Executive Committee.

NATIONAL MINE WORKERS.

Families of Strikers Reduced to Miserable Poverty.

HE FELL FROM GRACE.

Prominent Negro Office Holder of Baltimore Betrays a Truce. The Usual Result, or Nitro Glicerine Gets in its Work. New Political Party.

Columbus, O.—The National Executive Committee of the United Mine Workers has issued an appeal to the public for sympathy and financial aid. The circular says the miners are being reduced to miserable poverty, and quotes a Pittsburg paper to the effect that miners' children are seen driving the dogs away from garbage and eating it themselves in the mining regions there.

The committee blames the New York and Cleveland Company and its President and Directors, their names being given, for bringing about the demoralized condition of the coal mining business.

The miners announce that they are determined to end this state of affairs at once and to that end solicit aid.

The circular is indorsed by President Samuel Gompers.

FELL FROM GRACE.

Prominent Negro Republican Office Holder Removed.

Baltimore, Md.—Mayor Hooper has removed from office Dr. George W. Bryant, colored, Superintendent of the Middle District of the Street Cleaning Department. Bryant confessed that he had systematically robbed both the city and the men in his employ. The amount of his shortage is not yet known, but it is estimated that the city will temporarily lose about $2,000. The seventy-five colored men who constitute the middle district street cleaning brigade have lost between $2,500 and $3,000. The city's loss is covered by a bond.

Bryant's peculations have been going on for several months. He manipulated the pay rolls against the city and used all sorts of schemes to hold out a portion of the money due his employes. He can be indicted for both perjury and false pretense.

Bryant was one of the best known colored men in the city. He is a graduate physician and a man of considerable ability. He has long been prominent in Republican political circles and during the last campaign he stumped the State for the Republican ticket.

He was an applicant for the position of Commissioner of Deeds for the District of Columbia under McKinley.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

Formed by Silver Republicans in Nebraska, Small Affair.

Lincoln, Neb.—A new political party has been launched in Nebraska. It is composed of members who have heretofore affiliated with the Republicans, but last November voted for W. J. Bryan for President on the currency question alone.

The convention, which met in Lincoln, was not largely attended. Chairman Wooster, a member of the Lower House of the Legislature, was made chairman. The present name, Free Silver Republicans, of Nebraska, was retained. Judge D. D. Gregory, of Omaha, was made the Nebraska member of the National Committee, and State organization was effected.

Six Congressional District Committeemen were also selected and arrangements perfected for carrying on an active campaign. Contrary to expectations, Mr. Bryan was not present.

Cook to Walk the Water.

Boston, Mass.—Capt. Robert Cook, of Americus, Ga., who is at present in this city, announces that he is making arrangements to walk on the water of the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Cincinati. "Captain" Cook, who is 23 years old, and weighs 140 pounds, will attempt to make the journey in fifteen days on a wager of $1,000. The total distance is between 450 and 500 miles.

THE USUAL RESULT.

Nitro-Glycerine Gets in Its Deadly Work on Three Workmen.

Woodbury, N. J.—Three workmen were blown to atoms and several others were injured shortly after noon Friday by an explosion at the Repauno nitro-glycerine works on the Delaware River below Lincoln Park.

None of the injured are seriously hurt.

The explosion was felt and heard ten miles from the mills.

The Repauno works are operated by the Duponts and are used for making nitro-glycerine and gun cotton. The buildings are one-story frame structures separated some distance from each other.

The explosion occurred in the separating house where the nitro-glycerine goes through one of the most dangerous and delicate processes.

The three men blown were the only occupants of the buildings and the cause of the disaster cannot be learned.

Some of the workmen who were passing through the yards of the works say the separating house rose bodily into the air and then they were thrown to the ground by the awful blast. After a lapse of a few minutes a search was begun for the workmen. Where the separating house had stood there was a great hole in the ground and the trees for 200 yards around were denuded of their limbs and twisted by the force of the explosion.

SOLDIER SOUGHT TO DIE.

Shoots Himself With an Army Rifle and Still Lives.

Atlanta, Ga.—Charles McLean, Sergeant-Major of the Fifth United States Infantry, attempted suicide in the quarter room of Company H at McPherson Barracks. He took his army rifle, 30-calibre, and, putting it to his forehead between the eyebrows, pulled the trigger. The bullet passed up the skull, coming out at the top of the head. It produced concusison, but did not crush the skull. It passed through the ceiling of the floor above, narrowly missing the foot of Private Otto Greenleaf, and buried itself in the ceiling above.

Sergeant McLean was carried to the hospital at once. He is badly hurt, but will not die. There is no known cause for the act. It is thought that his mind was unbalanced from drink.

AN OFFICER'S FATAL WORK.

Two Moonshiners Will Die and Two ar Badly Wounded.

Atlanta, Ga.—A special to the Evening Constitution from Plumpton Gap, Va., says:

The most extensive moonshine raid ever undertaken in the mountains is reported to have taken place in the neighborhood of Round Head Gap. Fifteen officers destroyed thirty-one stills and thousands of gallons of "mountain dew." Five still workers were pursued several miles over rough hills by night and finally turned and fought the officers.

A number of shots were fired. Three officers and four moonshiners were wounded, two of the latter fatally.

IMPORTANT WITNESS KILLED.

John Hollinhead Turned State's Evidence and is Assassinated.

Waynesboro, Miss—John Hollinhead, who lived in Washington county Alabama, and who, it will be remembered, was the informer in the trial of the Chambliss lynchers, was assassinated Saturday night while sitting by his fireside. The assassin fired through an open door and shot Hollinhead under the left shoulder. There is no proof against anyone, but tracks of the murderer are plainly seen, and Detective Hern, of Meridian, has been wired to bring bloodhounds. Hollinhead was one of the Chambliss lynchers and after two or three terms of court he turned State's evidence and on his testimony some of his neighbors are yet to be tried.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

They All Occur in Chattanooga in one Day.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—A series of fatal accidents occurred here Sunday, which strikingly illustrate the truth of the saying that troubles never come singly.

First was the tragic death of J. F. Coffey, a well-known merchant tailor Mr. Coffey went to his room this morning, having taken a dose of some narcotic to make him sleep. His dead body was found at noon by his landlord, lying on his bed in his room, his clothing half removed, as if preparing to lie down. Coffey came here from Cincinnati. He was State Secretary of the Order of Hibernians and was well to do.

Squire J. D. Blackford, aged eighty years, one of the pioneers of this section, while going to attend church this morning, was run over by a train of the Memphis & Charleston Railroad and received injuries from which he died this evening.

This morning Mrs. H. C. Linderman wife of a well known German dairyman, was thrown from her buggy while driving to the city, and sustained injuries, from which it is expected she will die before morning. It appears that her horse was frightened by a mischievous negro boy, who jumped out at the animal from behind a fence along the roadway.

Walter Houston, a colored drayman and a man of some property, while assisting in the preparation for a balloon ascension this afternoon, was struck on the head by a heavy scantling which had been knocked from its place by the swaying balloon, and was knocked senseless. His nose was broken and he was otherwise injured, from the effects of which he is now lying at the point of death.

This evening a fire broke out in the St. Elmo butcher shop and the building and contents were totally destroyed. The proprietor narrowly escaped with his life, and not until he had been severely burned.

Eighty Thousand Applicants.

Washington, D. C.—Since the change of administration over 80,000 applications for postoffices have been filed at the Postoffice Department. The number is said to be somewhat smaller than four years ago. All the papers have been recorded and classified and the cases made up to date. Up to the close of business Saturday the appointment division of the Interior Department has recorded 1,000 applications for Presidential positions under the Interior Department.

Steel Held the Pistol.

Austin, Tex.—A dispatch from Georgetown says that Jack Steele, a prominent business man of that city, shot and killed W. W. Dimmittee, another prominent business man of the same place, in the County Court room during the proceedings of a trial. Dimmittee was irritated by some sharp words from Steele, whereupon he hit him over the head with a bludgeon. Steele drew his revolver and fired four times, each shot taking effect, killing him instantly.

A literary man, used to the niceties of expression and fond also of the pleasures of the table, in speaking of says: "I couldn't recommend this remedy as heartily as I do if I didn't believe in it. I am not much of a medicine taker. I am opposed to medicine, on principle. There ought to be no need of medicine—just as there ought to be no poverty—but there is. If people lived right they would be well. Sunshine, air, exercise, fun, good food—plenty and not too much—are the best medicines, the natural ones; but men are tied to their desks, and women to their home cares, and both are tied to fashion. Civilized existence is artificial and needs artificial regulators. I recommend Ripans Tabules—and take them myself. I know they are both harmless and effective. (I know what they are made of.) They are the best remedy I know anything about for headaches, or indigestion, or biliousness, or any sort of sluggishness in the system. And they are in the handiest possible shape to carry in the pocket."

THE RECORD OF A WEEK.

Suicide of Mrs. Alexander at Her Home in Cherokee.

JACOB HAUSER'S DEATH.

A Negro and His Team Killed by Lightening Near Last Lake. Warren Reese's Good Luck. Sinking of the Steamer Griggs. Five Lives Lost.

Collman.—A. J. McCombus, a prominent citizen of this county, shot and instantly killed a man by the name of Atwell, ten miles south of here Friday. The trouble grew out of an old feud between the families, they occupying adjoining farms. McCombus is under arrest. He used a Winchester, and shot at a range of 175 yards. The particulars are meagre.

In a Ditch.

Birmingham.—The body of Jacob Hauser, a well-known German, was found stiff in death in a ditch, a block in the rear of Behren's Park, in the southwestern part of the city, at 6 o'clock Thursday morning.

Exactly how Mr. Hauser met death is unknown, but it is believed that last night about 12 o'clock he attempted to cross the ditch at a regular path made by continued passing by citizens of that part of the city, and missing the exact ford, fell and struck his head on a rock in the water, was stunned and died from exposure, if not from drowning.

Killed by Lightning.

East Lake.—Edge Latham, a respectable colored man who lived in the Mount Vernon colony, two miles above East Lake, was killed by lightning Thursday. He was en route to Como City in a single wagon, to which was hitched a mule. It was about 12:30 o'clock. The storm came up about that time and the lightning was very sharp.

All of a sudden a severe flash came down and struck Latham and his mule, killing both. The fatality happened near the poor fellow's home. Assistance was rendered in a few minutes, but it was too late, the man was fatally shocked.

Latham had a family.

It is stated the man was severely burned by the lightning. The bolt appears to have hit him in the middle of the forehead.

Old Lady Suicides.

Tuscumbia.—News of the shocking death of Mrs. Sig Alexander from suicide at her home in Cherokee, this county, a few days ago, was received here Friday. It seems that Mrs. Alexander was in the habit of going to the barn every evening to gather up the eggs, and it was there that she was discovered by a servant leaning against the fence with her head almost severed from her body. She had evidently made several attempts before accomplishing her death, as nine long gashes were made on her throat with a razor. The suicide was premeditated, as she left a note to her brother, Mr. Shelby Smith, requesting him to sell everything and break up housekeeping.

The deceased was about 60 years old, the widow of the late Robert Alexander, and was closely connected with some of the best families in this county.

Interesting If True.

Birmingham.—Private advices come from Washington to the effect that the President has decided to appoint Warren S. Reese, Jr., of Montgomery, District Attorney for the Middle District of Alabama to fill the vacancy now existing in that office. The announcement is a surprise for the reason that Mr. Reese has only recently become a convert to Republicanism, having been a Populist. He was the Populist candidate for Attorney General when Kolb ran for Governor in 1894. Tom Parsons, who was the leading opponent of Reese, was District Attorney under Harrison.

Steamer Griggs Sinks.

Columbia.—The sinking of the steamer Griggs about midnight Thursday night seventeen miles above here was indeed a strange coincidence, following so closely upon the sinking of the City of Columbus Tuesday night. These boats were the only independent boats on the Chattahoochee, and were owned by the Queen Steamship Company, of Columbus, Ga., and were operated by that company a part of the time between that city and New Orleans, and the wreck leaves the field to pool boats that are owned and operated by the Central of Georgia Railroad and the Plant System.

The Griggs had been down to Smiths' Bend to the relief of her sister boat and had on board her crew and passengers and whatever could be taken from her, and was on her way up the river when she struck in midstream a floating log, which had one end on the bottom.

The extent of damage to the boat cannot be estimated, but there can be no doubt that it is great, as she was on the bottom before she could run ashore, and is now lying with her head up stream almost in the channel. The loss on freight was not very heavy, as she had but little besides that which had been taken from the sunken City of Columbus.

But this wreck was far more disastrous than the former one, because of the loss of five lives, the engineer and four negroes, and it is thought that others who were taking deck passage were also lost, as they cannot be accounted for.

Albert G. Henry Dead.

Guntersville.—Friday, at 11:30 a. m., there passed into the great beyond one of Alabama's greatest and grandest men.

Peacefully Hon. Albert G. Henry said good-bye to those of his family around him and then died.

He had been sick only a week, but 80 years of age could not overcome a fatal attack of pneumonia. His entire family, with the exception of two daughters, were at his bedside when the end came. He was born and made his fortune in this State. A nobler man never lived for he had the reputation of being pure, upright, honest and charitable. In fact he was a model man and was greatly admired by a host of staunch friends. By honest means and strict business he managed to accumulate a fortune which is said to amount to over a million dollars. The gloom cast over this little town caused many store fronts to be draped in mourning. He was buried in the family graveyard.

SITUATION AT NEW ORLEANS

Is More Favorable. Governor Asks the People to Guard the Levees.

New Orleans, La.—The flood conditions in this immediate locality are practically unchanged. The sun shown brightly to-day and otherwise weather conditions are favorable. The winds have ceased blowing from the southeast and the river has fallen two-tenths since Sunday. As pointed out in these dispatches, the heighth of the river here has been unnatural, owing to the unfavorable winds.

Governor Foster has issued a ringing proclamation addressed to the people of the alluvial districts of Louisiana and appeals to every man to stand and hold the levees.

Industrial Revival.

Birmingham, Ala.—The work of grading for the steel plant of the Birmingham Rolling Mill will be completed this week and then the construction of the retaining walls and buildings will begin. The work will be finished before June.

Building operations are quite active in Birmingham now. The contract has just been let for the erection of six new two-story brick residences on Avenue G. and Twentieth Street. J. L. Lockwood is arranging to construct a three-story brick and stone business block on Second avenue and Twentieth Street, at a cost of $40,000. Two more furnaces have gone into blast, the Alice plant of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company and the furnace of the same company at Ensley. Both have just undergone extensive repairs. The Birmingham Rolling Mills are working on heavier time now than for several years past.

The Sheffield Coal, Iron & Railroad Company put in another furnace at Sheffield the past week. That company is now making upwards of 600 tons of iron daily.

Released Too Soon.

Kincaid, Kan.—George Miller, who was recently released from an insane asylum, shot three women neighbors Monday afternoon while resisting arrest. The injured women are: Mrs. W. H. Burkey, shot in breast; probably fatally; Miss Effie Kirby, shot in back, will die; Miss Jennie Kirby, shot in side, will recover.

Miller had called to see the Kirby sisters at the Burkey house, and being refused admission to the house, broke through the door and shot down the three women as they attempted to escape. He then chased several children through the streets and hunted up a physician to attend the wounded women. When officers attempted to arrest him, the crazed man opened fire, but was finally brought down with a load from a shot-gun. He may die from the wound.

Loss is $400,000.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—At 1 o'clock Monday morning an automatic fire alarm notified the central fire tower of a blaze starting in the George F. Otte Company's carpet store on the south side of Fourth Street, one door west of Race Street. The entire fire department was called and a battle royal began. Otte's entire stock, valued at $300,000, and insured for $150,000, was destroyed in less than two hours. The entire interior of the Otte building was burned out and the rear wall fell into Baker alley.

The fire communicated to the roof of Henry Rosenbaum's cloak manufacturing establishment, at the corner of Race and Fourth Streets.

The total loss to buildings and stock will be $400,000. The buildings belonged to the Eckstein estate and are fully insured. The fire started in the top story of Otte & Co.'s store, next to Baker alley.

RAGING WATERS.

Nearly All of Greenville is Now Under Deep Water.

FLOODED VICTIMS STARVE.

Thousand Families of the City are Now Wholly Surrounded.

TWENTY TOWNS FLOODED.

Great Number of Delta Negroes are Homeless and Without Food. Water Spout at Fulton, Kentucky, Runs Higher Than Ever Before.

Jackson, Miss.—Plantations never before under water were submerged Friday. The streets of Greenville are now navigable only by boats, the flood from above having met and joined forces with that from below. Nearly 1,000 families in Greenville are surrounded by water, although some portions of the city are still dry. The levees there still hold, however.

Citizens of Huntington wired the Governor Friday morning to send fifty tents at once. They were forwarded on the first train, but will have to make several miles of the journey by skiffs. The State is doing all in its power to assist its delta people, but from the depleted condition of the treasury, can offer little else than the labor of her eight hundred able-bodied convicts. Thousands of delta negroes are now homeless and will remain so until the floods subside, but planters are feeding and caring for their hands as far as possible.

J. F. Price, of this city, has returned from Lefevere, which is in a border delta county. He reports that water from the Mississippi has not yet reached there, but the small streams are all overflowed on their own account. The bottom lands are under water, but plowing and planting are going right along on all the higher places and even down to the water's edge.

St. Louis, Mo.—A SpSecial from Cairo to the Scripps-McRae Press Association states that information was brought to Cairo by a commercial traveler that a relief boat yesterday found the bodies of a young girl, an aged woman and a child in a flooded house on the Missouri side of the river at a point thirty miles south of New Madrid. The people had either starved to death or died of fright. The water was at the eaves of the house and the victims were in the attic. A negro and a white man are also reported as having been starved to death on the platform of a temporary refuge in the same locality.

St. Paul, Minn.—The Mississippi has passed the danger line—fifteen feet—and was still rising slowly Friday. All the residents of the west side, east of State street, have been driven to higher ground. The water is entering houses on the west side of the street and several hundred will be forced to move if the water rises another six inches. There are many stories of suffering.

Memphis, Tenn.—The damage to the farming country in the delta cannot be exagerated. Five counties will be, for the most part, under water for thirty days and the main line and branch lines of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley road will have more than 100 miles of track inundated. Opposite Perthshire, the upper crevasse, a mile of track has been completely washed away. Probably twenty railroad stations and small towns will be flooded. Perthshire, Terrene, Philia, Riverton, Dahomey, Storm, Benoit, Beulah, Wayside, Longwood, Refuge, Swiftwater, Deeson and Australia. But the shift is now to the south of Greenville and the levees from Wayside to the mouth of the river must begin to feel the pressure of the movement of water back into the channel from the delta. White River country and the St. Francis basin. From Memphis to Crawley's ridge the river is now forty miles wide. A line east and west on the water across Rosedale would probably be fifty miles long. All of this water must pass out between two walls of levee in many places but a few miles distant one from the other.

New Orleans, La.—A special to the Daily States, from Helena, Ark., says the river rose two-tenths in twenty-four hours, ending at 8 o'clock Friday morning, and is still rising. The three-foot rise at St. Louis yesterday and a rise of two-tenths at Marked Tree carry dism to the people who have been hoping for the river to halt.

The levee at the Hubbard place, eight miles below Helena, will probably break before many hours. Already five incipient breaks have been closed by the desperate workers and now that the back water is attacking it from the rear, cutting off the supply of dry dirt, the situation is still less hopeful. There is no lack of men and sacks at that point. It is simply inability to secure sufficient quantities of dry dirt in time. Help was sent down this morning.

The rescue steamer Maude came up at noon and will return this afternoon with a fresh crew of men for Captain Rosser, at Westover. His men have been so constantly at work that they are worn out.

The break at Westover is widening, now being over three hundred feet in width.

A rumor has just reached here that the Mississippi levee at Kyle's store, three miles above here, is about to give way and that the Austin, Miss., levee is in a very precarious condition. Both points catch the force of a big current and are bound to go if the rise continues, which seems to be inevitable.

Five men near Indian Bay, Monroe County, are known to have been drowned while fleeing from the rising waters in White River bottom.

On the whole, the situation is very distressing.

Fulton, Ky.—A waterspout Thursday night ran streams up higher than ever known before, and did immeasurable damage throughout this locality. Every bridge in this county was swept away and the water is standing two feet deep in roads that have heretofore been high and dry in all raises. Many of the trestles on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad were carried away by the water, and traffic is suspended until repairs can be made between here and Union City, Tenn.

Rosedale, Miss.—The relief boats brought in scores of negroes from the back country Thursday and placed them in every available place of safety. The refugees are in a state of misery and hunger and the people are providing for them as best they can, but the increasing numbers hourly arriving make the situation desperate. The water is pouring through the crevasse near here at a terrible rate and the outlook is indeed gloomy.

Nashville, Tenn.—Heavy rains Thursday night and Friday morning locally and as far up the Cumberland river as Carthage have swelled the river and it is rising rapidly, having risen four feet in twenty-four hours. A further rise of about seven or eight feet is expected.

THE INDUSTRIAL SOUTH.

The Chattanooga Tradesman's Regular Weekly Report.

Chattanooga, Tennessee.—Business throughout the South shows a forward movement, though for the past month it has been considerably retarded in many sections by the high waters. The Tradesman's Southern correspondents report increased confidence and a better trade in nearly all lines of industry.

Southern iron is in good demand and three Alabama furnaces that have been put in blast, namely, the Ensley and Alice Furnaces in the Birmingham District and No. 2 Furnace, owned by the Sheffield Coal, Iron & Steel Company, at Sheffield. A recent shipment of 1,000 tons of iron to Genoa is reported from Birmingham and additional inquiries have been received from Australia.

Among the most important new industries for the week The Tradesman reports the following: A $20,000 brick and tile plant at Aransas Pass, Tex.; the People's Electric Light Company, capital $100,000, Columbia, S. C.; the Carter's Creek Fish Guano Company, capital $40,000, Irvington, Va.; wire and fence works at Memphis, Tenn.; an extensive plant for treating gold ores at Dahlonega, Ga.; the Water Gas Heating Company, capital $30,000, Houston, Tex., and the National Boat Ore Company, capital $50,000, at Chattanooga, Tenn. The Fort Worth Salt Company, capital $30,000, has been organized at Fort Worth, Tex.; the Lyttle Water Company, capital $20,000, at Abilene, Tex., and the J. C. Mayfield Lumber Company, capital $25,000, at Dallas, Tex. Other woodworking plants will be erected at Florence, Ala.; Bonifay, Fla.; Quitman, Ga.; Elizabethton, Ky., and High Point, N. C.

PSESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS.

Warren S. Reese Gets the Attorneyship for Middle Alabama District.

Washington, D. C.—The President sent to the Senate the following nominations:

A. E. Buck, Georgia, Minister to Japan.

James Boyle, of Ohio, Consul at Liverpool.

E. S. Day, of Conneeticut, Consul at Bradford, England.

F. R. McCreary, of Michigan, Secretary of Legation at the City of Mexico.

United States Attorneys—W. S. Reese, Jr., of Alabama, for Middle District of Alabama; E. A. Angier, of Georgia, for the Northern District of Georgia; Marion Erwin, of Georgia, for the Southern District of Georgia.

MAN-KILLER KILLED.

Richard Clark Shot and Killed by Farmer Joe Brown Irby.

Atlanta, Ga.—A special from Perry, Ga., to the Constitution says that Richard Clark was killed near there last night by a farmer named Joe Brown Irby. Clark went to Irby's home to get an explanation of some remarks which Irby had made about him. They quarreled and Clark began shooting at Irby. The latter returned the fire and killed Clark. Irby was not wounded at all. Clark was a son of the late Judge Richard H. Clark, of Atlanta. Young Clark killed a man in Montgomery a year ago and he has a brother who killed a man here a few years ago.

HOUSE IS SURPRISED.

MEMBER FROM NEBRASKA ATTACKS THE MAJORITY.

Tariff Cannot Relieve the Distresses of the People, but a Return to Correct Monetary Principles Can—Enthusiastically Applauded.

A new character surprised the house Monday while the tariff bill was under discussion, in the person of Mr. Greene, one of the new populist members from Nebraska, a free and easy speaker, who dealt in scriptural quotations, and attacked the Cleveland administration fiercely. He was accusing the republicans with trying to befool the farmers through high tariffs on corn, wheat, and other products which were not imported, when several republicans thought to overcome his argument by questions, says the Silver Knight-Watchman.

He was asked by Mr. Mitchell of New York, "What relief do the populists propose for the farmers?"

"To go back to the money of the constitution you took away from them," was the answer. Mr. Greene was describing the condition of the farmers with the hands of the spoiler in their pockets, when another inquired, "Whose hands have been in their pockets?"

"The hands of the protected monopolists and trusts of the east," shouted Mr. Greene, whereupon Jerry Simpson yelled, gleefully, "Ask him another one!"

"Another one" was asked by Judge Page Morris, of Minnesota, who desired to know what harm the republican party had done the farmer.

"You seek to make the things the farmer and laborer have to buy higher—that's the object of this bill," said Mr. Greene, and Mr. Simpson declared "Another soul made happy."

The speech was sprinkled with repartee, and was enthusiastically applauded by the democrats and populists.

Nothing is plainer in the present condition of affairs in general than that the influence of the few men who control the financial policies of nations dictate the most important legislation of the world.—Topeka Advocate.

Carl Schurz, it appears, is giving his views somewhere on "The Delusions of Bimetallism." What his views on any subject are worth, except in cash by the line, can be summed up by saying that he praises Grover Cleveland, and believes in Cleveland's kind of civil service reform, for gold-bugs and cuckoos only.—Silver Knight-Watchman.

Republican papers never have finished and it is likely that they never will finish talking of the ignorance of people in general and populists in particular. It is true, however, that the first legislator of Kansas to try the proxy idea in legislative work was a Republican. Last week Gates (Rep.) of Jackson county was sick and sent a friend up to the house to vote in his stead on a measure which was to come up. Of course the proxy was not allowed to vote.—Topeka Advocate.

Three important amendments to the state constitution will be voted on at the next state election in South Dakota: The initiative and referendum, equal suffrage and the state dispensary system of handling the liquor traffic. All are measures that should carry and become part of the fundamental laws of the state. The initiative and referendum is purely a populistic proposition and will have the bitter opposition of professional politicians, but the voters of all parties should hail with delight this first opportunity ever offered in the United States for placing a vote in the ballot box giving the voters all their rights and the power to enforce their will. States which have adopted equal suffrage are satisfied with it and the one state, South Carolina, in which the dispensary system has been adopted appears to be thoroughly pleased with its working.—Chicago Express.

If the courts should be called upon to pass upon the question of the qualification of Garret A. Hobart for the Vice-Presidency they would say it was regular and in due form; but the layman, unused to the intricacies and inventions—and, we might say, the fictions—of legal constructions, might harbor a doubt as to whether Mr. Hobart is legally in office. He was sworn in by the retiring Vice-President, Mr. Stevenson, thirty or forty minutes after that gentleman had ceased, by the down clock, to be in office. The record, however, will indicate that the swearing in took place at the end of the legislative day of March 3, which expired at noon on the 4th, and will give no hint that the hands of the clock were either turned back or disregarded.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A man, on being asked if he held any share in the "Wealth of Nations" (a recently discovered gold claim), replied, "No," but that "he had an interest in a much bigger thing." "You astonish me. The Loud Bill to Date.

The Loud bill stands to-day with few friends and a host of hard-working enemies. It passed the lower house of congress by a small majority of 39. This, too, when it is considered in the light of a party measure with a republican majority of over 150 in congress.

"The New York World" of a recent issue threw some light on the workings of the postal department. From an editorial, the following is clipped:

"There is an annual deficiency of $8,000,000 in the postal service. It is caused solely by scandalous mismanagement and shameful fraud. This is clearly proved by facts and figures given in The World's news columns to-day.

"First of all, the government is paying to the great trunk lines of railway an outrageously excessive rate for the transportation of mail matter. The rate is ten times the average rate charged for transporting all other freight—ten times what individuals must pay for like services.

"The New York Central main line, for example, receives for mail transportation a yearly sum sufficient to pay the interest on the total cost of a complete double track railroad from New York to Buffalo! Surely nobody will contend that such a sum is earned. The other trunk lines are paid by the government with equal extravagance.

"Secondly, the government pays every year the sum of $3,400,000 rent for postal cars, yet for that sum every postal car in use could be bought outright, with money to spare!

"In brief, The World's investigation make it plain that but for gross fraud and phenomenal mismanagement the postoffice business would now be paying a handsome profit instead of showing an annual deficiency of $8,000,000.

"Now that the subject is up before congress, why should there not be a reform placing this matter on a fair business basis?"—Appeal to Reason.

Telegraph Monopoly in Peril.

Under a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court the Union Pacific must operate its own lines, independent of the Western Union. It has taken some sixteen years of litigation to reach this point. The decision is coupled with the provision that the work of transfer must be done without crippling or interfering with the road's operations, which the telegraph company claims cannot be done in less than a year, though if the interest of that company required expedition it would probably be done in a week. This may furnish an excellent basis for such continued inaction as will require further suits that, in the usual course of such litigation, may linger ten years more.

The Union Pacific is now, and has been for some time, operated by a receiver appointed by a federal judge. The interest of the public, therefore, lies in the fact that, were the decision carried out, there would (as we understand it) be a virtual government telegraph in operation for over 2,000 miles. While this would be but a small benefit compared with a full-blooded one, it would, if well conducted, be sufficient to open people's eyes to the unquestionable advantage of extending operations to every postoffice in the United States. There are two suits pending in the United States Circuit Court to similarly break the leases to the Western Union by the S. P. and C. P. These suits were commenced during the Harrison administration, and will be decided by Judge McKenna's successor—when he gets ready. A favorable decision therein, and the carrying into effect of the others, would be a blow between the eyes to the Western Union.

Also Applies to Old and New Parties.

A Polecat, who was traveling for pleasure, came upon an Insect who was traveling for business.

"Ah, there, little one!" the Polecat affably said, "can I be of any assistance to you?"

"No, thank you," said the Insect, at the same time reaching for his handkerchief, "I am doing very well, thanks."

"But I should be able to help you. You must observe that I am much larger than you are."

"Yes, I know, I know," responded the Insect, anxiously looking for a means of escape, "but I smell so much the better."

PATRIOTS ALL.

Why Millionaires Uphold the Various Branches of Our Government.

Said Russell Sage: "It seems to me that if any class of citizens truly love the government, we are that class."

"Do you know," remarked John D. Rockefeller, "that you have opened up an entirely new train of reflection in my mind? It is manifest that love of the form of government under which we live is a great virtue. Now I love the government dearly. I have a particular affection for the treasury department. I have its draft for $5,000,000 of bounties in my safe at this moment."

"My heart," chimed in John Jacob Astor, "goes out to the Supreme Court of the United States. I did not hold it in a very warm corner of my heart until the income tax decision saved me something like $100,000 a year. Now I fairly worship the ground it walks on."

"That's patriotism," commented Gen. Horace Porter, deferentially.

"What I love," asserted Theodore A. Havemeyer, "is the senate. If you were in the sugar business you'd share my feeling."

"If you were in the railroad business," remarked Cornelius Vanderbilt, "You'd love the president. Every time I think of the president of the United States, I feel such a gush of patriotism"—

"You forgot the postoffice department!" exclaimed the princely J. Pierpont Morgan. "A railroad man should love that above all things. Think of the use you can put the mail cars to every time a strike breaks out."

"That's a fact," replied Mr. Vanderbilt.

"My friends," interjected George M. Pullman, "why discriminate among so many lovable institutions? As for me I love every department of the government with equal ardor."

"Happy country!" exclaimed Chauncey M. Depew, "where the rich and powerful set such an example of love of our native land. We are a pattern to our fellow citizens."

"Yet the vile demagogues," said John D. Rockefeller, "denounce the millionaires!" A general shudder agitated the assembled patriots.—Twentieth Century.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Japan has not yet adopted the single gold standard, though the contrary has been very generally asserted in the daily papers. It is a fact that a bill has been proposed in the Japanese parliament to stop the free coinage of silver, and that the bill has the support of the present ministry. The western system of banking having been introduced in Japan a money power has appeared in politics, and, as usual, it controls the public officials; but the advices are that the common people of Japan intend to make a hard struggle for the popular money.

Gov. Culberson, of Texas, pardoned A. Goodwyn, of Waco, who had been sent to jail for contempt of court, but the Court of Civil Appeals has ruled that the governor has no pardoning power in contempt cases. President Jackson remarked as to a decision of Chief Justice Marshall, "John Marshall has made his decision, now let him enforce it." Gov. Culberson has the power, if he had the courage, to protect the liberty of the citizens of Texas.

Hon. S. G. W. Benjamin, ex-minister to Persia, has returned to his native Vermont and has been shocking the New England Brahmins by declaring in a public lecture that there is as much real liberty under Asiatic despotisms as in free America. Mr. Benjamin, in a lecture in Burlington, Vermont, said:

"The only known genuine democracy is that of the people ruled by the absolute monarchies of Asia where all are equal below the throne; and the lowest menial may become prime minister, and the humblest peasant girl may become the mother of princes. The laws are administered on the whole with as much substantial justice in Asia as in Europe and America, notwithstanding misstatements to the contrary. There are abuses here as well as there, and Americans might better be correcting their own national sins than visiting Asiatics with condemnation."

If the laws in Persia are administered with substantial justice it is absolutely certain that Persians have in that respect the advantage of Americans.

Let us watch Canada awhile. The Canadian government has purchased the Baledes Chaleurs railroad, and will make it a part of the intercolonial system which the government has owned for years. These, with a new system which the government has owned for a long time, will give a good start towards government owzership of railroads in Canada.

What shall we say of the men who are trying against law to combine every business interest so that they center in their own selfish souls, and the world gets no fragrance from their lives, only the smell of sulphur. Warren S. Reese, Jr., has been appointed by President McKinley, United States district attorney for the middle district of Alabama, and the appointment was confirmed by the Senate. In 1894 Mr. Reese was a candidate on the Populist State ticket for the office of Attorney-General.

The seventeen-year old son of Governor Atkinson of Georgia ran off with a young lady of fourteen and married her last week. The parents ran after them and separated them, but have since come to the conclusion to let them have their own way and they will be married again next week.

Floods in the Mississippi valley are engaging the attention of the whole country. Locally every exertion has been made to relieve the homeless sufferers, and yesterday President McKinley sent a message to Congress on the subject. An immediate response was made by Congress appropriating $200,000 for the relief of the distressed districts.

Contracts have been made this week for the construction of the Montgomery, Tuskaloosa & Memphis railroad. The section from Tuskaloosa to Montgomery is to be finished by October 1. This will give employment to a large number of hands in this section. The road crosses the south-west part of Chilton and will be of great benefit to the whole county.

The Weather Bureau reports farm work generally backward on account of the heavy rains, some cotton has been planted in central and southern counties, a large amount of fertilizer being used. Oats are growing nicely and wheat and rye is promising. Irish potatoes are up in nearly all portions of the State and give promise of being a large crop. Tree fruit is in excellent condition, the present outlook favoring a large crop.

The Ozark Free Press has opened up for an early state convention by the Populists next year, and the Living Truth is on record as seconding the motion. Other reform papers—Populist we mean—are keeping shady. Not another, so far as we have seen has expressed an opinion.—Living Truth.

It has been generally acknowledged by all Populists that it is a mistake to defer our conventions until the opposing forces have acted. We know what we want, we know what we have to fight, then let us hold our state convention at an early date, formulate our platform, nominate our officers, and go right ahead and work with might and main to elect them. We can overcome any schemes proposed by the opposition at any subsequent date.

Clanton City Council.

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held Friday evening, Mayor Sampey presiding. There was a full board present, with Marshal Dudley in attendance. The resignation of City clerk, J. W. Stanfield, who has removed to Sistrunks, was accepted and Mr. T. S. Phillips was appointed clerk and treasurer. A motion was made and carried that the town be properly surveyed, and a committee was appointed to communicate with a competent surveyor on the subject; the committee to report at a special meeting of the council to be held next Friday. One new ordinance was passed prohibiting the blocking up of sidewalks and driving teams thereon.

CLANTON AS A SUMMER RESORT

As the time has now arrived when dwellers in our larger cities are forming plans for their summer outings, the numerous advantages offered by Clanton as a summer and health resort are well worth taking into consideration.

Situated about half way between the two most important cities, Montgomery and Birmingham, in the State, with splendid railroad facilities, business men who can spare but little time for recreation, have it in their power to locate their families here, and yet be separated from them by little more than one hour's journey. Forty-one miles north of Montgomery and fifty-six south of Birmingham, on the highest ridge on the Louisville & Nashville railroad between Sand Mountain and the Gulf, in the heart of the famed "piney woods" of Alabama, with the coolest and purest water, Clanton is noted as one of the healthiest towns in the State.

The jaded man seeking recreation can obtain it here. Good roads for walking, driving and bicycling, while the creeks and numerous fish ponds afford unlimited sport to the disciples of Isaac Walton.

Ladies and children, invalids and convalescents have fine promenades sheltered by splendid shade trees, and our efficient police regulations insure them from any prospect of annoyance.

The young folks will find themselves heartily welcomed by a cultured and refined resident population, and can depend upon every assistance in making their holiday enjoyable. To those who should desire to continue their studies while enjoying a vacation the University School, under the able management of principal E. Y. McMorries, one of the foremost educators of Alabama, offers every inducement.

Four handsome church buildings, Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, and Episcopalian, meet the spiritual needs of the town.

Our stores are well stocked with every grade of merchandise, and the hotels and boarding honses are supplied with all seasonable delecacies while the rates are very moderate. In the event of accident or sickness four resident physicians are on hand, with plenty of leisure to attend to patients, their only complaint being the town is too healthy for their services to be much in requisition.

The morning papers from Birmingham arrive here at breakfast time and the Montgomery papers follow a couple of hours later. The L. & N. trains are most convenient. Leaving Clanton about 8 a.m., Montgomery will be reached soon after nine, and going north leaving Clanton at 10 the train arrives in Birmingham before noon, while the evening trains are due at both Montgomery and Birmingham at 7:30 p.m.

All things considered there is not a more desirable spot in which to pass a vacation than Clanton.

Jemison Municipal Election.

The election of a Mayor and five Aldermen for the city of Jemison was held Monday, and passed off quietly despite the fact that there was a spirited contest. There were two tickets in the field, one headed by S. M. Adams, with C. H. Durham, I. N. Langston, B. M. Gentry, Ira Campbell and R. H. Long for Aldermen; and the other headed by J. H. Patton, with B. M. Gentry, C. H. Durham, W. C. Mooney, W. G. Atkinson and Dr. J. P. Givhan. At the close of the polls the ticket with S. M. Adams at the head was declared duly elected. The fight principally was on the question of taxation for the public schools and the result is a victory for the cause of education. At a public meeting after the election at which Prof. C. C. Slaton presided, Mayor Adams in accepting the position, thanked the citizens for the honor of being Jemison's first magistrate and counseled harmony among all, advising both sides to forget the prejudice and strife of the past, and work in unison for the upbuilding of the city. He pledged himself to carry out the law impartially and do everything in his power for the best interests of the entire community. His speech was well received by both sides and the meeting adjourned with a feeling of satisfaction that a great stride had been made in the progress of the town. We understand that Mayor Adams will give his services free of charge to the city, an act of generosity greatly appreciated by the taxpayers.

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., April 7, 1897.

One of the leading papers sent a correspondent to look at Senator Heitfeldt, the recently elected representative from Idaho. Mr. Heitfeldt being both a farmer and a Populist was an object of curiosity and it was supposed that a report of his appearance and an interview with him would make racy reading; but it fell very flat. He seems to be a well-balanced, clear-headed fellow and sent the interviewer away filled with wonder and respect.

Scrutiny of the Dingley Bill reveals the fact while all trusts are favored some are such marked and entirely unreasonable favors that were fain to remark that the trusts that put up the highest figure for campaign funds gets the most "protection."

Our Jerry, of reckless fame, got five minutes on the floor of the House the other day and not only brought forth rounds of applause and laughter by his sarcastic reference to and quotations from McKinley's Minneapolis speech in which the assertion was made that "The foreigner pays the tax." When Hell offered an amendment to the Dingley Bill putting on the free list all articles manufactured or controlled by any trust, the line was clearly drawn between the friends and enemies of the people. This caused the Czar to rule that no further amendments would be considered, but it forced the entire gold-bug contingency to put itself on record as favoring the trusts.

Harry Skinner, of North Carolina has prepared a bi-metallic bill that is being commended by all who have examined it. It provides for the issuing of one dollar certificates of one hundred cents value, redeemable half in silver and half in gold.

The committee appointed by the Bankers' Convention at Indianapolis called on Speaker Reed but received cold comfort from the interview, being informed that no legislation on financial lines was to be considered until the tariff was disposed of.

All questions as to whether Allen is to succeed himself in office would seem to be laid at rest by examination of the weekly papers of Nebraska where all are staunch adherents of the doughty Senator.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has suppressed a circular entitled, "Local Taxation as affecting Farms." One hundred thousand copies had been printed and ordered circulated. Examination of a copy that escaped the censor shows that it contained statistics that should be in the hands of all farmers who desire to profit by the political mistakes of the past.

It now develops that the Sugar Trust intends going into the raising of beet sugar in Colorado on a scale that will demand an outlay of about $5,000,000. As a preliminary, control of two big irrigating ditches has been secured.

J. B. Sovereign made the most notable speech of the evening at the monster mass meeting recently held in New York City to protest against the arbitration treaty.

Embassador Bayard, the prince of toady Anglomaniacs, being unable to attend in person, sent an English barrister to represent the state of Massachusetts in receiving the logbook of the Mayflower, which, having been preserved there, was now considered a graceful gift to the residents of the Plymouth Rock state. The only hitch in the program was caused by some doubt being thrown on the question as to whether the historic rock was in Massachusetts and as to "whether New England was in the state." A newspaper correspondent—an American, of course—supplied the lacking geographical information and all went well.

An English paper contains the information that President McKinley will in the near future appoint a bimetallic commission privately to prevent annoyance from politicians who might seek to influence him.

Letters of inquiry received at this office show that Populist papers are being started at various points of the west and south as a result of local demand.

Throat Coughs

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do you cough a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very deceptive. Don't neglect them. Troches, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will enrich the blood, tone up the nerves; and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The cause of the cough is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from threatening lung trouble is swept away.

Mrs. A. Inveen, residing at 720 Henry St., Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. If one would make the most of life he must be temperate in all things. To establish thoroughly and widely the principles of temperance we must begin with the youth. When the true principles of temperance are established in early life and made the controlling power through life, they insure health, freedom from pain, competency, honor, virtue, usefulness and happiness. Happy would it be if they were general, and all youths would practice them.

"Does Modern College Education Educate, in the Broadest and Most Liberal Sense of the Term?" is one of the most important inquiries that could be set on foot. This discussion, which is to be taken part in by President Gilman of the Johns Hopkins, President Dwight of Yale, President Shurman of Cornell, President Morton of the Stevens Institute, Henry Thurston Peck of Columbia, Bishop Potter and others of the most distinguished men of both the United States and Europe, is begun in the April Cosmopolitan by a radical inquiry into the educational problem along the line of Herbert Spencer. President Gilman will follow in a direction almost equally searching. Altogether there is promised the frankest possible expression of opinion, and it seems probable that it will be the most thorough comparison ever made of educational methods with the needs of every-day life at the close of the nineteenth century.

Two years ago R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown in this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same in hundreds of communities. Where ever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

Blood Brains Money

A sick man can't make money That's because his brain wont work. A horse wont do work unless he is properly fed. Neither will a brain. If the brain is not kept in good condition with pure, rich blood, it wont produce much.

Men who fail, and men who don't, often have what they call "Nervous Prostration." Nine times in ten the nervous trouble is purely secondary. The real sickness is in their digestion and in their blood. If a man keeps his digestion in good order, and keeps his body full of pure, rich blood, he is never going to be very sick.

Johnston's Sarsaparilla is made for people who want to get well and stay well. Sarsaparilla is a simple, "grandmother" remedy, but it cures. It purifies and enriches the blood and sends it tingling to every part of the body. That is the way it cures all ailments of the brain and nerves—cures insomnia—cures dyspepsia, rheumatism, scrofula, and every other blood disease. It clears the complexion, plumps out the cheeks, and brings back the sparkle to lifeless eyes.

One Dollar is the price, and One thousand Dollars is the health-giving value of every Quart Bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla

CITY COURT—W. L. SAMPKY, Mayor.

The result of a debauch on Tuesday morning caused the arrest of three negroes by our vigilant Marshal J. A. Dudley, who landed them in the lock-up to give them an opportunity to sleep off the effects of their spree. Sandy Mickey, Thad Callens and Jasper Owens were the culprits. The arrest was rather amusing from the fact that Jasper, who had imbibed more freely than the others, was incapable of walking, and the "Black Maria" in the shape of a wheel-barrow was brought into requisition for his sole use and benefit. Yesterday morning they were brought before Mayor Sampey, and his Honor curtailed their future allowance of "stanglefoot" by fining each of them $3 and costs, allowing them 30 days in which to pay. They all made bond and went their way, doubtless concluding it does not pay to get drunk in Clanton. Charley McLarty was also charged with the same offense and mulcted in the same amount, which was paid.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE cures nervous prostration. Not miraculously, but scientifically, by first removing the germs of disease, and then supplying healthy nerve food, increasing the appetite, helping digestion and strengthening the entire system. Desperate cases require prolonged treatment as shown by that of Mrs. M. B. Reed, of Delta, Iowa, who writes: "As the result of a lightning stroke, the physicians said I had a light stroke of paralysis, my limbs would all draw up. I would have throbbings in my chest that seemed unendurable. For three months I could not sleep and for three weeks did not close my eyes. I prayed for sleep, and felt that if relief did not come I would be dead or insane. I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and the second night slept two hours and from that time on my health improved; slowly at first, but steadily and surely. I took in all 40 bottles, and I cannot express how grateful I am, for I am now perfectly well, and have taken no medicine for over four months." Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by druggists on guarantee that first bottle benefits or money refunded.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, CATARRH, ASTHMA, HEADACHE
and their marvelous cure.
Science of the 19th Century looks on with amazement at the most remarkable record of cures ever known in the World's history.

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

5 DROPS

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. J. P. Limeburner, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populists and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

Jan 25, 1897.

DEAR SIRS—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 8th of January 1897, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an aggravated case of inflammatory rheumatism; so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 DROPS and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself immensely relieved, and continuing treatment woke the second morning cured. My arm was absolutely free from pain, and all swelling and stiffness had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great curative properties of your medicine and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial. Sincerely yours

J. P. LIMEBURNER.
Bureau of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had Rheumatism in every joint and in the heart, and I had Catarrh of the head for 30 years, I was so poorly that I lost the use of my legs and arms, and could not move without pain. I was so crippled, that I had done but little work for seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my Rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But now, after using "5 DROPS" only two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. This medicine does more than is claimed for it. At this time my Catarrh is much better, and I have scarcely any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pain are gone. My hearing is now good and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than 10 pounds of flesh and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw to give a mother who has a young child, for it has the same effect on the child as on the mother. It wards off Croup and cures the hives of the child and causes sweet and refreshing sleep to both young and old

WM. M. KELLEMS,
Yours respectfully, Siberia, Perry Co., Ind.

Jan. 29, 1896.

We received the following letter from Mr. T. J. Wilson of Omaha, Ill. Mr. Wilson has been for many years an invalid, and reading the above letter which was published, wrote Mr. Kellems, asking if his endorsement was genuine, and received this reply, which he forwarded us.

MR. J. J. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand, the testimonial you speak of is genuine. I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I could swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for this letter, I sent it to them last January for publication in order that poor sufferers, incurable as I once was, and as you are, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to answer all who write. Tell all your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I know how to sympathize with those who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long, it is now 8 months since I have felt any pain.

Dr. S. W. Kellems, my brother, uses "5 Drops" in his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a positive cure.—

MR. W. M. AND DR. S. W. KELLEMS
Sept. 21, 1896.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC ..... CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS ..... CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet taken by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE ..... CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN ..... CASCARETS are liked by children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE ..... CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

CURE GUARANTEED ..... CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

LIVER STIMULANT ..... CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS ..... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

$1800.00
GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.
$150.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.
We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that
IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,
such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "suspenders," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are instances that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.
IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.
Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $150 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.
All communications regarded strictly confidential.

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR
is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.
It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.
It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.
It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wisely-educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects solely by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.
It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.
Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account creed, race or nationality.

"Villainous saltpetre" is to give place to cataclysmic dynamite in the warfare of the future, so Captain Zalinski thinks. After a man is dead it does not matter to him what killed him, but his surviving friends generally prefer to see enough of him left to afford at least a pretext for a funeral.

Some one recently called the attention of a Chicago paper to the curious fact that a man may be elected Vice President of the United States who could not serve as President in case of the President's death. The reason for this is that the Vice President may be as young as 30 years, but the President must be 45.

In the case of right actions which may be difficult or unpleasant, one will perform them, the sake of some hoped-for reward they may hold in store for himself, another for the real good they are to accomplish—their actual results. This is the true distinguishing line which divides much seeming liberality, much apparent self-abnegation from the true spirit of sacrifice.

Order and method are the conjurers by whose aid a man of very average abilities may, if he chooses, secure to himself the blessing of never being hurried. Only arrange properly the quantum of work which is to be got through in a day or week, or any fixed period, and a small margin over and above the bare space absolutely needed for each part of it, and that margin will be available for the chance distractions for which people complain that they have no time.

Armour's Frugal Habits.

Philip D. Armour, the Chicago millionaire, carries into his business the working habits he learned as a boy on his father's New York farm. He rises with the sun every morning, has breakfast at 6 o'clock, and is at his office by 7 o'clock. At noon he has a simple luncheon, usually consisting of nothing but bread and milk, after which, of late years, it is his custom to take a short nap. He is in bed usually by 9 o'clock every night. He belongs to several clubs, but rarely visits them. He thinks a young man stands as good a chance to make a fortune now as at any time in the past. "There was never a better time than the present," he says, "and the future will bring even greater opportunities than the past."—Evening Sun.

A slugball player at practice was thrown down by an opponent, and his arm was broken near the shoulder. The report says the "opponent" regarded the incident as more funny than serious. Of course it was funny. It was even "humerus."

Pistols and Pestles.

The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of Ayer's sugar coated pills. They treat the liver as a friend, not as an enemy. Instead of driving it, they coax it. They are compounded on the theory that the liver does its work thoroughly and faithfully under obstructing conditions, and if the obstructions are removed, the liver will do its daily duty. When your liver wants help, get "the pill that will,"

The monthly comparative statement of the Government receipts and expenditures show the total receipts during March to have been $36,217,662, and the disbursements $27,212,997, leaving a surplus for the month of $9,004,665. This excess is due almost entirely to increased receipts from customs. During March 1896, there was a deficit of about $2,233,000. The total receipts during the last nine months were $242,785,051 and the expenditures $281,690,332, leaving the deficit for that period $38,905,281. The receipts from customs during March amounted to $22,833,856 as compared with $13,344,215 for March, 1896. The receipts from internal revenue increased about $375,000 over March of last year.

Rear Admiral John H. Russell, retired, died at his residence in Washington after an illness of a month. He was born in Frederick, Md., in 1827, and entered the navy as a midshipman when only 14 years old. He saw much active naval service during the Mexican war, and later achieved distinction in connection with the opening of Chinese ports to commerce, delivering dispatches in person to Chinese officials by which American and English envoys were admitted to audience.

The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Wednesday, March 31st, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,003,962,200, a decrease for the month of $8,639,254. This decrease is accounted for by a corresponding decrease in amount of cash on hand. The debt is recapitulated as follows:

Interest-bearing debt, $847,364,950; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,355,760; debt bearing no interest $377,287,096. Total, $1,226,007,086. This, however, does not include $607,702,473 in certificates and treasury notes outstanding and offset by an equal amount of cash in the treasury.

The cash in the treasury is classified as follows: Gold, $189,242,803; silver, $517,808,211; paper, $151,057,504. Bonds disbursing officers' balances, etc., $17,891,239. Total, $875,239,759, against which there are demand liabilities amounting to $653,194,153, which leaves a cash balance in the treasury of $222,045,606.

The first open and formal expressions of dissatisfaction with the pending tariff bill on the part of foreign nations have come to the State Department from Japan and Argentine.

The Japanese Minister has expressed the regret of his Government at the proposed adoption of silk schedules that, without promising to help out the manufacturers of the United States, threaten seriously the import trade Japan has built up at great expense with the United States in raw and partly manufactured silk.

The Argentine Minister has added his protest, in the usual diplomatic form, against the proposed duty on hides and other raw material coming from his country in great quantities to the United States. It is pointed out by him that when the United States, in the Wilson bill, placed wool on the free list and placed no duty on hides, the Government of Argentine voluntarily, in recognition of the friendly spirit shown by the United States, responded by placing lumber, of which great stores were exported to Buenos Ayres, on their free list, and by reducing duties on other important imports from the United States.

Steamer R. T. Cole Sinks.

Cincinnati, O.—A Post special from Clarksville, Tenn., says the steamer R. T. Cole, loaded with merchandise, sank near there Saturday morning. Three roustabouts were drowned and one white man is missing. The boat will be a total loss.

THE SUBURBS OF HELENA

Submerged and the People Forced to Move Out. Railroads Damaged.

New Orleans, La.—A special to the Daily States, dated Helena, Ark., says: The two crevasses below the city, the first at the Williams place and the other at the Hubbard place, the first forming at 7 o'clock Monday morning and the latter at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, has put a vast area of fine farming country under water, destroying thousands of bushels of corn and carrying disaster to many hearts. Owing to the enormous height of the flood, overtopping those of 1892 and 1884 by four and six feet respectively, the fall of water is stupendous and the consequent cutting off of fields will be correspondingly greater. Hundreds of refugees are arriving in this city from every direction and by every sort of water craft. The relief committee now has its hands full caring for them.

The Tatition brought up a full boatload last night and went back for others this forenoon. The towboat Itasco and barges, under charge of Major Charles H. Purvis, took down materials and hands for work on Long Lake levee with the hope of saving it from demolition. Ten thousand sacks, twenty skiffs, several thousand feet of lumber, many kegs of nails and a large number of hands were taken down to that point. The Long Lake levee has a base of 300 feet and is 40 feet high. Its loss would be a heavy blow to the cotton belt levee district and every effort will be made to keep it from being swept away.

The back water is now coming up in the southern suburbs of the city at the rate of about an inch per hour, but will not be permitted to get into the city proper, as the culvert in the Midland road-bed has been stopped up and several powerful pumps put to work to pump the drainage and seepage water out of the city. The Iron Mountain Railroad tracks are now several feet under water and trains are coming in over the Midland tracks, which are located on higher ground. How long this will last is not known, as water is over the Midland tracks in some places and still rising.

In a few hours the doors of the Iron Mountain depot will be under water, and all freight which happens to get in the city is housed in box cars three miles from the city on high ground. Several hundred negroes and a few whites, residents of this city, are now camping in tents on the hillsides overlooking their former homes, which are all under water. Under the influence of the new crevasse, the river has declined six-tenths in the last twenty-four hours.

THE WORST YET TO COME.

People in the Delta Console Themselves. Gov. McLaurin's Letter.

Jackson, Miss.—The citizens of this portion of the delta already overflowed get more comfort from the warnings of the Weather Bureau sent out Saturday than do those below Vicksburg, where no breaks in the levee have yet occurred, inasmuch as Chief Moore informs them that the worst is yet to come.

This city is in constant communication with the delta country because of social and business relations, and because of the great interests involved. A private letter from a merchant at Rolling Fork, Sharkey County, which is forty miles south of Greenville and fifteen from the Mississippi River, but directly on Deer Creek, says:

"It's water, water everywhere, and more coming. I have been forced to move my entire stock upstairs, and am all right, provided the building don't float away.

"The ladies who remain and negro women and other shoppers are traveling in skiffs, dug-outs and all sorts of craft.

"The situation is critical, and the overflow is a serious matter for this country."

Governor McLaurin has only received replies from two counties, but he wired the following in reply to a dispatch received to-day:

Gen. R. A. Alger, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.:

Communication with the flooded district so interrupted by overflow that it is impossible to give anything like an accurate estimate of the numbers suffering. But I think $10,000 would relieve present desires. Many thanks for your interest in our stricken people. Will keep you promptly informed, as requested.

[Signed.] A. J. M'LAURIN, Governor.

At a special meeting the penitentiary Board of Control ordered all the State mules, more than 100, gotten off the delta farms and brought to the State farms in this county (Hinds.) So far none of the State's stock has been drowned, but the board considers it safest to get everything away from the overflowed district.

A LABOR STRUGGLE.

It Will Be Precipitated at Pitsburg on a Large Scale.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Several mills and factories here have made reductions in wages, which were not accepted by the men, and now it is expected the United Labor League, the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, the pattern-makers' and iron moulders' unions and several other organizations will be drawn into the labor troubles which started Monday at Oliver Bros.' Tenth Street Mill. The puddlers have refused to work at the reduction of 50 cents per ton, which went into effect that morning, and the managers will attempt to run the mill with whatever men apply. It is feared trouble will follow.

A. M. Byers & Co., who made a similar reduction, have closed their mill, as they had signed with the Amalgamated to pay $4.50. They will await the result at Oliver's before deciding on further action.

The men at Mackintosh & Hemphill's Mill, who have been cut 10 per cent., with an increase in hours from nine to ten, have also decided not to accept the increase of hours.

BIG BLAZE.

Richardson Block and Other Chattanooga Property Burned.

VALUABLE PAPERS LOST.

A Prominent Citizen Falls Six Stories and Is Crushed to Death.

AN ARCHITECT, BURIED

Under Tons of Iron and Brick. Heavy Explosion Preluded the Fire, Which Wrought Death and Destruction. Half a Million Loss.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—Fire broke out at 3 o'clock Saturday morning in the Richardson Building, on Market street, and in two hours the handsomest store and office building in the city was a pile of ruins. One threatening wall overlooking Market street emperils the safety of passers-by, and prohibits traffic for an entire square.

Boyd Ewing, receiver of the East Tennessee Land Company, fell six stories and was crushed to death, while S. M. Patton, architect, the designer of the building, is buried under hundreds of tons of debris.

The building was six stories high and the largest office block in the city. A law library of 500 volumes was located on the fourth floor, and, together with many valuable collections, were lost. The loss on law books alone is $100,000. The fire originated in the boiler room of the basement and was preceded by a heavy explosion, plainly heard for many blocks. The ground site was originally purchased for $110,000, while the cost of the super-structure exceeded $150,000. It was in the renaissance style. There is about $175,000 insurance, $91,500 of which was placed with local firms and was carried on the building. The greatest loss resulted from the total destruction of valuable personal insurance, railway and legal documents, that cannot be replaced. Only the contents of safes stored in the block are saved. The offices of the Chattanooga Southern, and the Chattanooga, Rome & Columbus Railroad, the local offices of R. G. Dun & Co., the National Building & Loan Company, and numerous large agencies, insurance, mercantile and manufacturers were located here. The total losses cannot be stated in figures, but will not fall short of $500,000.

Other losses are the Yager building, adjoining, $5,000, occupied by C. A. Morris & Co., seed dealers, loss on stock $3,000. The Third National Bank, across the street, caught fire, but the flames there were extinguished without much damage.

The Richardson building was the property of the American Investment Company, composed of Susie and Chas. Richardson and the estate of John Richardson, all of New Orleans.

Ed E. Richardson, manager of the property, had a narrow escape by the fire escape, but Boyd Ewing, who fainted in Richardson's arms, dropped to the pavement from the sixth floor window when the former became exhausted. Several other occupants suffered slight accidents.

MANY NARROW ESCAPES.

Family at Shaws, Mississippi, Rescued Just in Time.

Shaws, Miss.—Friday morning the plows were running in the fields adjacent to Shaws. Twenty-four hours later boats were running through the main business streets of the town and the fields are from four to six feet under water. On the west side of the railroad the rise was very sudden last night and people were totally unprepared for it, some barely escaping with their lives.

The water is still rising slowly. The water in the bayou has risen thirteen feet since Sunday morning. Three miles south of here to-day 600 feet of railroad track was completely washed away. It is impossible to estimate the number of stock drowned, but it will go into the hundreds. Many families are to-night without household goods and food and are camping on the railroad track, which will soon go under water. Rescuing parties have taken people out of the tops of houses in many places.

FIRE IN A HOTEL.

Two Persons Seriously Injured. Thought to Be of Incindiary Origin.

Dayton, O.—Fire, said to have been of incendiary origin, broke out in the west end of the Phillips house, corner of Maine and Third Streets Monday morning. The west wing of the building was completely gutted and the other sections of the hotel were badly damaged by water and smoke. There were several narrow and thrilling escapes and several persons were seriously injured. John Bryant, of the Katie Rooney Dramatic Company, fell through a sky light and sustained a broken leg and fracture of the skull. He will probably die. His wife also fell through a skylight, breaking her leg. The loss was $50,000, with full insurance.

A Farmer's Mad Deed.

Jamestown, N. Y.—Millard Spencer, a middle-aged farmer living in Chautauqua County, last night fatally assaulted his step-daughter and Miss Helen Van Sickle, of Union, Pa., who was visiting her. After setting fire to his barn and burnig thirteen head of stock he went to the home of his brother and cut his own throat. The wound is not fatal and physicians saved him to stand trial. No reason is given for the crime. Spencer is apparently sane, but of a violent temperament.

REV. DR. JONATHAN WHITELY'S WIDOW STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

But She Has Been Cured—Long May She Live and Long Live the Remedy to Which She Owes Her Life.

From the Gazette, Meadville, Pa.

The following interesting interviews concerning the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, have lately been received at the office of this newspaper:

The first embodies a conversation with Mrs. M. A. Whitely, the widow of the late Rev. Jonathan Whitely, D. D., an eminent divine of the Methodist denomination. Mrs. Whitely spoke as follows:

"I consider it my duty to tell for publication the immense benefit I have derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Three years ago I was stricken by paralysis, and lay helpless for months. I was at last advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which after many misgivings I concluded to do, as I had lost faith in all medicines. The first box helped me much, and the continual use of the pills has worked and is working wonders. To-day I have driven twelve miles without fatigue. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they have done me a world of good."

Mr. John W. Beatty, who is a contractor and builder of Meadville, of the highest respectability, says:

"Although I have passed the meridian of life, I am glad to be able to say that I have but little or no use for medicine of any kind. But my wife is not so fortunate. During the last few years she has been a sufferer from dropsy and disease of the heart, and at times suffered greatly. A few months ago she began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and has been greatly benefited by their use. She experienced a numbness and coldness in her limbs and at times could scarcely walk by reason of poor circulation of the blood. All these unpleasant symptoms have disappeared and I confidently hope to see her a well woman ere long. I will also take the liberty to speak for a brother-in-law of mine, G. W. Myer, who resides at Shenkleyville, Mercer County, Pa. So great was his affliction by reason of erysipelas in the face and a general breaking down of the system that last winter he was given up to die. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have made him a new man and he is as one rescued from the very jaws of death."

Mr. Prentice Fry, of Meadville, testifies as follows:

"My wife and daughter have been failing in health for some time and the treatments of physicians in their cases have been fruitless. So much has been said of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People that I resolved to try them, and myself and family will always be glad that Providence threw such a medicine in our way. The pale faces and wasted cheeks of my wife and daughter have disappeared, and the ruddy glow of health has reappeared. Pen cannot record my feelings in the matter, and all I can say is that I trust all who are bowed down by the heavy hand of physical infirmity will learn that there is a remedy that cures and places suffering humanity where they can enjoy this earthly existence. God bless the maker of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such disease as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Dear Madame:

Yours to hand. I recommend the Moore treatment because I have tried it, and know it to be just what he says it is. I was cured by it, and have remained so eight years; have known of many others being cured of the very worst cases. By all means get it.

Yours truly, W. E. PENN,

Restored His Hearing in 5 Minutes.

My age is 63. I suffered from Catarrh 10 years. Had intense headache, continual roaring and singing in ears, took cold easily. My hearing began to fail, and for three years was almost entirely deaf, and continually grew worse. Everything I had tried failed. In despair I commenced to use Aerial Medication in 1888, and the effect of the first application was simply wonderful. In less than five minutes my hearing was fully restored, and has been perfect ever since, and in a few months was entirely cured of Catarrh.

ELI BROWN, Jacksboro, Tenn.

"Whereas I was deaf, now I hear."

At the age of 69, after having suffered from Catarrhal Deafness twenty years, am truly thankful to state that I am entirely cured by Aerial Medication; my hearing, which had become so bad that I could not hear a watch tick, or conversation, is fully restored. I will verify this statement.

VOL. V. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1897. NO. 25.

"NEVER!" cried Bourgueil, rising with violence and throwing his napkin on the table. "Never! Do you hear me? Never!" and the old master mason paced up and down the cozy dining room, turning on his heel furiously, like a bear in a cage; while poor mother Bourgueil, her tearful eyes lowered on her plate, was disconsolately nibbling almonds.

For two years the same dispute had been springing up between the old couple—just as now at the end of their evening meal. For it was two years since they had fallen out with their son, Edward, who, in spite of their opposition had married a woman picked up somewhere in the Latin quarter—just when he was about to take his degree as a lawyer, too. How they had loved him and petted him, this Edward—this long wished for child, who had come after ten long years of married life, when they had almost given up hoping for a son. The happy Bourgueil, then only a simple builder, had dabbled his hands, saying to his wife: "You know, Clemence, that smart fellow Haussmann is improving and changing the whole of Paris, from one end to another. Here is a good chance for me. If things go on this way, I can make a fortune in twelve or fifteen years. And I know one thing, the little rascal of ours won't need to climb up into scaffoldings, like his father, nor come home every night with spots of plaster all over his gray vest, and fit to drop with fatigue. We will make a real gentleman of him, won't we, Clemence?"

All Bourgueil's ambitions had been realized. At college Edward was a brilliant pupil, and the old peasant who had come to Paris many years ago, carrying his shoes on his back and a little silver tied up in a corner of his handkerchief, had the satisfaction of seeing his son congratulated and loaded with prizes by the Minister of Instruction himself. What a future the boy had before him! He would pass the most difficult examinations without any trouble—they would be a mere joke for him—and then choose any career he had a fancy for. "We will leave the boy a good 25,000 francs income," father Bourgueil would say, cheerfully, slapping his wife's shoulder with his strong, broad hand. "And, Superlotte! we will make him marry right soon. It will be easy to find some pretty girl, with a good education like his, who will make him happy, and of whom we can feel proud!" Ah, those lovely plans! where had they gone? The kind old parents had been foolish enough to furnish a room in their house for their boy, that he might be more independent. Then he met that woman, and immediately his visits were dropped. At twenty-five he had not even taken his licentiate's degree. They were dreadfully disappointed, after having built such fine castles; still they did not give up all hope. They consoled themselves, saying: "He is so young! It will pass. Let him alone awhile."

But one day the imbecile had the impudence to inform them that he had married this girl, and was determined to make her his wife. This was too much. If Bourgueil did not fall with a stroke of apoplexy it was a miracle for the veins in his neck were swollen like cords. He ordered his son out of the house and cut off his income.

"If you dare to give your name to that woman," the old man roared, stamping with wrath, "you need not expect a sou from either of us as long as we live."

But the stubborn, ungrateful boy had outraged them to the end, and now he was married to this doll of his, and living on a wretched clerk's salary, in the suburb of the city—like some vagabond! Poor old couple! How their son's conduct had made them suffer for these two horrible years! Life was a pleasure no longer, and lately the situation was getting worse every day. It was the mother's fault—she was too wretched and she had relented at last. Her sorrow had got the better of her resentment, and now she was actually inclined to forgive. One day she mustered up sufficient courage to mention the subject to her husband. But he fell into a frenzy of passion, crying, "Never!" with a force that shook the doors and windows, forbidding the poor woman to say another word about it. She had not the heart to obey him, and pleaded the cause of the guilty son again and again. And at every new attempt Bourgueil was furious and made a terrible scene. Their home became a purgatory. These two old people, who had nothing to reproach themselves with, who had loved each other faithfully, who had lived and toiled side by side for more than thirty years, became almost hostile. Every night at the dinner table the quarrel broke out anew, and it always ended with some of those stinging thrusts that wound the heart.

"Do you want me to tell you what I think, Bourgueil?" the old woman would say. "You are without pity!"

"And you are a coward to want to give in," the mason replied, leaving the room with a stamp of his heavy foot.

Left alone in the soft light of the lamp in the comfortable parlor, the poor mother, who was still true to her white linen caps, would quietly drop burning tears on her knitting and pray for her boy. Bourgueil had lost all love for his home, now that he had continually a sad face to look upon. He had got into the habit of joining some friends in a cafe close by where they waited for him for a game of manilla. In dealing out the cards the irritated mason made long and violent speeches against the present state of morals, where paternal authority was defied by children. But he swore that he, at least, would set a good example; he would be stern to the end. He could speak of nothing else, and his partners proclaimed him "a tiresome old fellow," as soon as his back was turned. In his presence, however, they deplored his ill luck in having such a scamp of a son, and highly praised his firmness. One man in the group, especially, invariably hailed the mason's imprecations with an approving word or two: "Bravo! Father Bourgueil, you are a Roman!"

Bourgueil was from the province of Marche, and possessed very indistinct notions on antiquity. Still, he had some inkling of the story of old Brutus, and felt highly flattered to be compared to such a personage. Yet when he left the cafe and found himself in the cold dark night, he would say to himself—oh! very softly—that Brutus must have had a cruel, hard heart, and that it was a horrible thing to condemn a son to death.

Easter Sunday has come—a joyous, bright, happy day, merry with the chimes of bells and the promise of warm spring days. The city itself looks gay and coquettish. Women are coming home from church, and all are carrying a bunch of box plant that fills the air with sweet, fresh odor. Even the old cab horses have a bit of it stuck behind their ears!

Bourgueil, who sat up last evening at the cafe till midnight, wakes up very late. He is in a horrible mood; and what man would not be, I should like to know? Last night, at the usual hour, he had again to listen to his wife's absurdities. She again mentioned Edward, and tried to soften him, Bourgueil! She had made inquiries, she said, and learned that their daughter-in-law, for she was that in spite of all his anger, was not the bad woman they had first thought. A poor girl? Yes; she had worked in a store. But what of that? What were they themselves but simple working people, even if they had become well off? Could they expect their son to marry some rich marquis' daughter? And ever since Angelina—an ugly name, but it wasn't the girl's fault after all—ever since Angelina had been his wife, no one could breathe a word against her. She was a model little wife. "Can it be that you will not have pity on these poor children?" the old mother had asked him tearfully. "They are poor, very poor. What do you think Edward earns in that insurance company where he has found a place? It breaks my heart to think of it; only 200 francs a month! As much as you spend on your cafe and your cigars. I don't ask you to see them; but won't you help them, just a little? We are living in plenty, while they—" and receiving no answer from Bourgueil, who was pensively turning the glass he had just emptied between his fingers, the old woman had risen from her seat and come up to him putting a trembling hand on his shoulder, silently pleading. Vain effort! Bourgueil, suddenly remembering that he was a Roman, had again poured forth maledictions and his formidable "never."

And on this lovely Easter morning he is more than usually sad and ill-tempered — this strong minded old mason. He feels very nervous; he has cut his chin twice while shaving. Oh, no; he will not be weak enough to pay an income to his undutiful son. Would old Brutus have relented? Of course not. And last night he was on the point of yielding! That is what comes of listening to women. They haven't energy for two sons, the women haven't. Bourgueil is firmer than ever in his resolutions as he puts on a white shirt and his gray holiday suit. He goes into the parlor, that cozy, pretty parlor he was so proud of when things had still some interest for him, and looks at the clock. It is only 11 o'clock, and Bourgueil, who has a fine appetite this morning, feels cross at the thought of eating only at 12. Soon Mother Bourgueil returns from church with a large bunch of box plant. She places it on a little side table, and suddenly the whole room is filled with the strong, fresh odor. Bourgueil is no poet; he has not a very refined nature. Yet he is impressionable for all that—like you or me—and the sight of the green branches recalls far off memories. While the old woman is busy taking apart the twigs to decorate the rooms with them, the penetrating perfume affects his old heart. He remembers a certain Easter morning—ah, so long, long ago—when he was still a workman, and his young wife a dressmaker's apprentice. It was their honeymoon, for they had married a few days before Lent. Then, too, she had returned from church with a fragrant burden and made their only room bright and festive. How pretty she looked, and how he loved her! And by a rapid effort of imagination he recalls in an instant their long years of married life; she has ever been so industrious, so thrifty, so devoted. And now he tortures her—this good, brave woman—he makes her suffer on account of his wicked son.

But is Edward really so wicked as all that? Of course a fellow ought to honor his father and mother, and obey them; but then, are not youth and love sufficient excuses for many a fault? He watches Mother Bourgueil with moist eyes, as she goes to place a spray of box above Edward's picture on the wall—a picture of their boy in his college suit, when they felt so proud of him and of his studies.

"What is the matter? The old mason hardly knows what he is about. His head swims; it is that strong odor of the plant, doubtles. But his heart fills with something that seems very much like mercy and pardon. He goes up to his wife, takes her hands, and, looking at the picture, mutters, his rough voice grown strangely soft: "Say, Clemence, shall we—forgive him?" Ah; the cry of joy that bursts from the mother's lips! And he has called her "Clemence," just as in their young days. He has not given her that name for more than fifteen years. And she understands that he loves her still—her husband, her old companion.

She throws herself in his arms and kisses him frantically, all over his face, takes his head in both of her hands, and whispers in his ear. The other day—she couldn't help it, really—she went to see their boy. He is so unhappy to have offended them. And if he has not come a hundred times to beg their forgiveness, it is simply because he did not dare. "You know," she adds—and her voice becomes soft and caressing—"you know I have seen his wife, and you really cannot blame him for loving her, she is so sweet, and as fresh as a rose. She just worships our Edward—one can see that at once; and she keeps their little home in such apple-pie order."

Bourgueil feels oppressed—he is choking. Putting a trembling finger on his wife's lips: "That will do!" he says. "Send for a cab. Let us take some of these sprays to them in sign of peace, and bring them home with us!"

And while the old mother, stunned with joy, falls sobbing on her husband's shoulder, Bourgueil—the Roman, the old Brutus—begins to cry softly, like a child.

Easter Thoughts.

It seems clear that a pure spirit will arise from the seed of a pure body, and a loving spirit from the seed of a loving body. If the body we sorrowfully put aside has been one full of charity, helpful, kindly, and eager to speak tender, pitying words—one that has thought no evil, and has believed all things, and hoped all things, and endured all things—can any one doubt what should come of such a seed planting? The natural comes first, and after that the spiritual. But "as is the natural, so is the spiritual." It is far more glorious, but after all—the same!

So we may bring Easter, with its wonderful deep meaning, into the life of every day. How? By teaching ourselves to comprehend the truth that while we live this human life, and develop this natural body, it is not alone the natural body we are creating, but the seed of the spiritual body which is to come after.

This is not a mystical doctrine. All those who in this life have attained some knowledge of their spiritual natures will testify to its truth. The change from a natural to a spiritual living is like the growing of a plant whose seed we have sown. The right plant surely grows in a man who has sown the right seed.

As the spiritual nature of such a man begins to develop, the purer, higher elements in him grow stronger, and one by one the baser sort die. Hate dies, and revenge, and anger. Cruelty dies, and all unkindness. Narrowness of mind dies, and contempt for the frailties of others.

The part that lives and grows stronger is love. Purity and truth and courage are but parts of love, and, as it grows greater, by and by comes the sureness of knowledge, and faith itself is swallowed up in fruition.

This is the daily burial of the old man, who was "earthy," and the daily rising of the new, who is the "Lord from Heaven." To such a heart Easter comes every day. —Harper's Bazar.

Easter Pleasantries.

Like all other holy days, Easter soon became a holiday. In some countries the people dance about a heap of flowers at Easter; in others they distribute colored eggs and have great "egg-fights," in which the owner of the hardest egg wins and the other egg is eaten by the victor, so a man or boy with a very hard egg is able to accumulate the basis of an Easter Monday breakfast.

HIDING EASTER EGGS.

Climbing o'er the great straw stack,
And hunting thro' the hay,
Finding all the new-laid eggs,
Then hiding them away
In the queerest kind of places—
Boxes, baskets, holes and kegs;
Stealthily they come and go,
Hiding Easter eggs.

From the eldest, twelve years old,
Down to the youngest born;
Striving whose the greatest store,
Laid by for Easter morn!
Drinking youthful happiness
To the very dregs,
In the early, chill spring days
Hiding Easter eggs.

He who finds another's store,
He may add it to his own,
So, throughout the lengthening days,
The secret fun goes on.
Old Speckle, and the top-knots, proud,
White Leghorns brought from Cleggs,
Cackle most exultantly
Laying Easter eggs.

They never, do their very best,
Can fill a nest a day;
Some dimpled hand or dirty fist
Purloins them right away.
No matter where they hide themselves,
In haymow, boxes, kegs,
Sharp eyes will find, as soon as laid,
And hide again their eggs.

Hugh, the younger, five years old,
Fills gran'ma's mending bag;
Joe and Sam have an old box,
Together 'neath the drag.
In the old, abandoned stable,
High on the harness pegs,
Hangs "Ole Charlie's nose basket
With Jennie's Easter eggs.

Down on the sloping hillside,
Way out behind the barn,
Where, underneath a patch of sod,
Snug and safe from harm,
He'd hollowed out the sandy soil,
And hid some old paint kegs;
John slyly goes from day to day
Hiding Easter eggs.

Fair and bright dawns Easter morn,
And ends the secret strife.
Each one brings out his hidden store—
Old emblems of new life.
A corn basket full to the brim!
No longer mother begs
For eggs. All have their fill
Eating Easter eggs.

—Nettie Overton.

EASTER-EGG LORE.

Curious Customs the Origin of Which is Lost in Antiquity.

The distribution of eggs at Easter has descended to us from the greatest of the Chinese Spring festivals, inaugurated more than seven hundred years before the Christian era.

The custom was particularly popular during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries in England. The Pope sent Henry VIII. an Easter egg in a silver case.

In Russia it is common to exchange visits and eggs on Easter day.

In Italy dishes of eggs are sent to the priests to be blessed, after which they are carried home and placed in the center of the table.

In Spain and Germany the eggs are not blessed, but they are highly colored and are distributed among callers to be eaten or taken away according to the taste of the individual.

The custom, in one form or another, exists among the Jews, Greeks, Turks and Persians.

"Paas" was the ancient name for Easter, and the eggs were often called "pace," "pach" or "paas" eggs.

In Scotland eggs are taken to church to be blessed. They are afterwards distributed among the members of the household and are either eaten or saved as keepsakes.

The decoration of ordinary eggs originated in England. Gilding the shells was the first step. This was followed by the addition of ribbons, pictures and various other devices to please the little folk.

These eggs were given and received with the familiar Easter greeting, "Christ is risen!" and the answer, "He is risen, indeed!"

Germans first introduced games into the Easter celebration. Eggs were hidden about the lawn or grounds or in the house. Then the children hunted for them, the finder of the greatest number receiving a prize.

Sometimes the eggs were all put in one nest over which a rabbit was placed on guard. How this animal became identified with Easter is not known, but in time the young children began to believe that the colored eggs were laid by the rabbit.

Egg racing is a favorite amusement of Russian, German and French children. The eggs are rolled down hill, and the prize goes to the boy whose egg rolls the greatest number of races without damage to its shell.

This game is played by Washington children in front of the White House on Easter Monday.

In Germany there are tracks made of twigs down which each egg may roll without interference from any other one. The boy whose egg arrives unbroken at the foot of the hill collects "toll" of his opponent whose egg is cracked.

Another game is played by two boys who stand, each holding an egg, and suddenly strike them together. The owner of a heavy-shelled egg can, if he possesses skill, break the eggs of several players before his own is injured. Then he is a "cock of one, two, three or four eggs," as the case may be.

Eggs are colored by means of aniline dyes. By the addition of horns, ears, tails, legs or fins eggs may be transformed into many grotesque figures.

J. R. Morse, an American, has the contract for the first railway in Korea. It will connect the port of Chemulpo with Seoul, the capital, a distance of twenty-five miles, and will cost $1,650,000.

POPULISTS AND TARIF

MANIFESTO ISSUED BY THE CAUCUS.

They Have No Faith in the Dingly Bill as a Step Toward Prosperity—It Is Designed by the Republicans to Create a Tariff Agitation.

A joint caucus of the Populist members of the Senate and House was held to discuss the course of that party toward the tariff bill. As a result the following address was issued:

"The tariff has been the battledoor and shuttlecock of politics for more than one hundred years, and its final settlement is more distant than when the controversy began.

"During this period the country has experienced at different times both prosperity and hard times, not only under a high tariff, but also under a low tariff; but it has always experienced hard times when there was a contraction of the money volume, no matter whether the tariff was high or low.

"When the Cleveland-Republican combination repealed the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, and stopped the issue of new money, the crash came; notwithstanding, the McKinley tariff remained in force for a year and a half thereafter, and when the Democratic Wilson bill became a law the evils of contraction were not mitigated by it, but times have continued to grow worse. We have no faith in either a Republican or a Democratic tariff as a remedy for the evils of the gold standard and monoply rule.

"We recognize the fact that all former tariff legislation, as well as the proposed measure, has many unjust discriminations, and works hardships to many industries and unreasonably fosters others.

"The chief Republican complaint against the Wilson bill, however, is that it does not produce sufficient revenue for the support of the government. This lack of revenue is not the result of defects in the bill as it was passed by Congress, but resulted from a decision of the Supreme Court, which declared the income tax unconstitutional. There are many ways to supply the deficiency without renewing tariff agitation. The most direct and effective method would be to restore silver and increase the circulating medium so as to restore the level of prices which existed prior to the demonetization of that metal. If that could be done, the present tariff law, with the money derived from the other sources, would create a surplus and not a deficiency. If the money powers are strong enough to postpone relief in that way, ample revenue could be derived from a tax on a few articles which would produce revenue; or what might be still better, a reduction of needless expenditures, such as extravagant appropriations of money for rivers and harbors, not required by the needs of commerce, and the like.

"We do not regard the Dingley bill as a revenue measure. It is extremely doubtful if it will produce as much revenue as the Wilson bill. Nor is it a tariff for protection in any just sense. It is emphatically a tariff for agitation. The discrimination and inequality of the bill will create a great dissatisfaction. It seems to us designed by the Republican party to create such a tariff agitation as will divert the attention of the people from the misery they suffer from a contraction of the money and the rule of monopolies. Tariff agitators, who are usually either ignorantly or knowingly the tools of monopolists and the money trusts, have succeeded for the last twenty years in deluding many voters into the belief that the misery they endure results wholly from the wickedness of the tariff proposed or passed by the opposite party. The sole object of the gold Republicans seems to be to engage the Democratic party in the old chronic tariff war, and thereby sidetrack all other questions or issues which they fear to meet, and which alone can bring general prosperity. These and other like considerations have induced the Populists in the two houses of congress to decline to recognize the tariff issue as a proper subject to divide parties until the main issue of the money question and the rule of monoplies is settled. They refuse to countenance any scheme which will keep up the chronic fight over the tariff to enable the money trust to avoid a decision on the real and vital issues between the people and concentrated wealth.

"While the Populists will do all in their power in both houses of congress to remedy the manifest defects in the Wilson bill and to secure to farmers and laborers such protection as shall correspond with the protection in both the McKinley and the Wilson bill of finished products, to equalize the burden of taxation necessary to raise sufficient revenue, and to also equitably distribute the benefits resulting from such a tariff, yet if they refrain from voting for or against the Dingley bill on its final passage, it will be to avoid even the appearance of promoting the continuance of the tariff agitation to sidetrack the vital and overshadowing questions of financial and monopoly reforms and also to avoid giving countenance to the contention that any tariff legislation, however wise and just, could remove existing evils and bring general prosperity."

The address is signed by all the Populist senators and representatives.

Easy Sliding Curtain Rings.

Certain rings for heavy curtains are now hung on ball bearings, the balls being set in a casing in the upper inside portion of the ring, so that it will slide easily on the pole.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

The Loud postal bill is a measure designed to further the plutocratic monopolization of the newspaper business. It has passed the house, and when it makes its next appearance in the senate, genuine public sentiment should make a stand against it. All possibly pressure should be brought to bear upon each individual senator to induce him to vote "no" when the roll-call comes.

Senator Hanna has established an editorial bureau at Washington, from which high priced writers will send out to the subsidized press during the next four years articles explaining the non-arrival of the prosperity wave.

Under the guise of an anti-trust law, a measure has been introduced in the Massachusetts legislature which would make any labor union a conspiracy, both as to civil and criminal action, in case of its supporting a strike. This is the kind of legislation workingmen, who cast a large majority of the votes polled in Massachusetts, will get as long as they vote tickets nominated by allied monopolists. What else can be expected?

Senator Wolcott, who has been repudiated by all parties in his own state, is the sponsor in the senate of the infamous Loud bill, the design of which is to prevent competition in the newspaper business and the transmission of cheap postage rates of reform literature.

Those who plead that spending vast sums upon fancy dress balls, such as that given recently by Mrs. Bradlty Martin, distributes money among the poor, should read the following from the great John Ruskin:

"Do not cheat yourself into thinking that all the finery you can wear is so much put into the hungry mouths of those beneath you. It is not so. It is what you yourselves, whether you will or no, must some time instinctively feel it to be—it is what those who stand shivering in the streets, forming a line to watch you as you step out of your carriage—know it to be. Those fine dresses do not mean that so much has been put into their mouths, but that so much has been taken out of their mouths."

It is a very simply question. Who produces the wealth expended and destroyed in a fancy dress ball? Evidently not the Bradley Martin class, because they do no productive work whatever. And is it not clear that the producers of that wealth would have been better off if it had been left in their possession.

"When it is said that the percentage of wealth gain in the new states of the west has been greater than that of the old states of the East and that therefore our gain has been greater than theirs, it is equivalent to saying that when John buys a jack-knife for 5 cents and sells for 10 cents, gaining 100 per cent, he has gained more than James, who bought a knife for $1 and sold it for $1.10, thereby gaining only 10 per cent. The Western states have gained from 50 per cent to more than 100 per cent in material wealth during the last 15 years, while the Eastern states have gained about 40 to 45 per cent during the same time; yet the gain of the old states has been vastly more than that of the new. Massachusetts, for example, gained four and a half times as much wealth in the ten years from 1880 to 1890 as Kansas did, though our percentage of gain was more than twice that of the little New England state."—Topeka Advocate.

It must be remembered, too, that the large increase in taxable values in western states has been caused largely by the increase in land values, due simply to the settling of the country. And the lands, improvements and chattels of the West are mortgaged for sums which it will be practically impossible to pay under a gold standard policy.

Retrenchment—or Ruin?

The day of retrenchment, or the day of ruin, for this government is awaiting the people of the United States in the not remote future. We shall soon step from the nineteenth into the twentieth century. We shall carry with us either the germs of dissolution and of decay or of life and conserved energy. To avoid the former and secure the latter the American people should begin at once in the household, in the factory, in the counting room, in the management of great lines of transportation and in all other incorporations of capital to practice something of the economy and frugality which characterized our New England ancestors. The cost of local governments must be lessened. Administration of county and city and village affairs must be made more and more businesslike and economical. In short, the fixed charges of American citizenship must be cut down.—J. Sterling Morton in the Forum.

The Rabbit's Leg.

Those who insist that the silver question is not as much importance as are some other questions and want to let go of it for that reason should think about what happened the rabbit hunter. He reached into a hollow log and caught the rabbit by the foot and could have pulled him out, but he said the leg was of such small consequence if he could not catch it by the middle of the body at one full swoop the blamed thing might stay there even if his family had to starve for the want of it. Consequently he did not get the rabbit. Had he pulled on the leg the balance would have followed and the babies would not have gone hungry. The silver question may be only a hind leg but it is the most available handhold and those who let go of it at this stage of the game are helping to take bread from their children's mouths. See?—Iowa Farmers Tribune.

NEWS OF MOVEMENT.

Considerable interest has been aroused throughout the country among people of all parties by the fact that since the Populist treasurer took charge Jan. 1, Nebraska state warrants have risen in value from 95 to 97 cents on the dollar, notwithstanding the publication of the fact that the outgoing Republican treasurer was short over half a million dollars.

The first city election held in Duluth, Minn., since McKinley's overwhelming victory there last fall resulted in very nearly a Populist clean sweep. Evidently plutocracy, though intrenched in power is in greater danger than ever before.

Jesse R. Grant, the youngest son of the greatest general, is to be the Populist candidate for mayor of the city of San Diego, California, at the coming election.

All of the silver Republicans in the house and all but four of the Populists in the body united in declining to vote on the Dingley tariff bill. This course was in pursuance of the policy outlined in the Populist manifesto recently issued, and was also in accordance with an agreement which was reached by the silver Repulicans.

The Minnesota federation of labor charges Labor Commissioner Powers with non-enforcement of the factory act, publishing a Republican gold campaign document at the state's expense, not publishing labor statistics, garbling mortgage statistics for goldbuggery, employing office force on private work, taking vacations and engaging in private enterprises on the state's time. When the Minnesota federation of labor unites with the farmers of the state in opposing the election of governors who are disposed to appoint such labor commissioners, there will be a change.

The New York World thus confesses that at least one excellent measure has been passed by the Populist legislature of Nebraska:

"Candidate Bryan's home state of Nebraska is largely Populistic in every department of its government, but in passing the bill prohibiting corporations from making contributions to the campaign fund of any political party it has rendered a service to the cause of political morality which might well be followed by states with a better political record. A corporation which is wholly the creature of law has no natural right to do anything that is not specified in the law by which it is created. And we believe that no corporation has ever avowed that the contributing to campaign funds was among the purposes for which it was established. It has no moral right to make such a contribution, because it is not a moral being. As a corporation it can have no interest in politics except a mercenary one. If the Nebraska law should be adopted in every state and enforced in every campaign, a great many of the difficulties would disappear."

Good Tige.

The story of a dog who is wiser than his master comes from a Texas town by way of a dispatch to the Philadelphia Times. The dog is yellow and of mixed breed, but the readers will not be likely to lay such things up against him. The master of the dog is a rancher, so called, who one day recently went into town with a bale of cotton. This he sold, and then, like a good-for-nothing fellow, went to work to drink up the proceeds. Long before night both he and his money were pretty far gone. Toward evening he climbed into his rickety wagon, unhitched his shaggy ponies, who had been standing all day without food or drink, and started homeward. Very soon, overcome with liquor, he fell on the floor of the wagon and went to sleep. The ponies, having no driver, began grazing by the wayside, and by and by climbed a low railroad embankment, still looking for a wisp of green. Before long a north bound train swung round the curve, and bore down upon the team. A man in the distance, seeing the danger, set up a shout, but the occupant of the wagon could not hear him, and the ponies thought nothing. Not so the dog. He was wide awake to his master's peril, and began biting and barking furiously at the ponies' heels. They, foolish creatures, kicked and backed, and just in the nick of time cleared the track. Whiz went the train, just missing the wheels. The man was saved. His name is withheld, but the dog's name is Tige.

Beefsteak Comes High in Alaska.

The first beefsteak that ever reached Circle City, Alaska, sold for $48 per pound a few weeks ago. The steak consisted of a ten-pound piece of beef that was slaughtered at Forty Mile creek and was carried from that place to Circle City, a distance of 250 miles, by Thomas O'Brien. When O'Brien reached camp the miners turned out en masse to see the steak. It was placed on exhibition and attracted much attention. The prices offered were such as would have resulted in a mining camp quarrel or bloodshed if it had not been decided to raffle the steak for the benefit of a hospital which Bishop Rowe is trying to establish for the miners at Circle City. At first only $5 per pound was offered for a slice of the steak, but bidding became brisker as the meat was sliced and as high as $35 a pound was offered. Finally in order to avoid complication, it was decided to sell tickets at from 50 cents to $2.50 for the privilege of drawing a slice. After $490 worth of tickets had been sold the drawing began and was ended peacefully.—Tacoma (Wash.) correspondent of the Galveston News.

THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

THE Ashville Southern Alliance says the Republican wave of prosperity has struck it, and in consequence it has reduced the size of the paper—temporarily it is to be hoped.

WE have received the first number of the "Chilton County Call," published at Thorsby. Many of our readers will remember a paper of the same title which was started a few years ago and expired after a few issues. We hope the new venture will be more successful.

MANY are the complaints arising from the neighborhood of Strasburg at the removal of that post office, and a strong effort is being made to secure its re-establishment, which we hope will succeed. A large number of people are put to great inconvenience under the present arrangement.

THE committee of the Clanton city council appointed to enquire into the cost, etc., of surveying the town, made a partial report last Friday and asked for further time to extend their investigations. This is a necessary work, and as it is found the cost will not amount to much, will probably be done in a short time.

PRESIDENT McKinley has appointed a monetary commission, under the act approved March 3, "for the promotion of an international agreement for bimetallism." The commissioners are Senator E. O. Wolcott, of Colorado, Hon. Charles J. Paine, of Massachusetts and ex-vice-president Adlai E. Stevenson. Wolcott and Stevenson are bimetallists, and Mr Paine is in favor of the gold standard.

MONTGOMERY merchants, as will be seen by their advertisement elsewhere in this issue, are inviting the people of Chilton county to pay them a Spring visit to-day and to-morrow, when special attractions are offered. As the railroads are making a special rate of one fare for the round trip, we have no doubt a considerable number of our people will take advantage of it and spend a day in the capitol city.

THE river continues to rise steadily at Vicksburg and all points south and the situation along the Louisville system of levees is acute. The waters are being hurled gulfward with tremendous force and several thousand men are working and watching night and day to hold the embankments intact.

Reports from the overflowed Mississippi delta are not encouraging. The expected fall in the waters that extend for miles and miles over the fertile valley has not yet occurred. Much suffering yet occurs in Bogue Philia county, where hundreds of negroes have deserted their cabins and are huddled on high grounds and the railway tracks. Many cabins are submerged to the very roofs, while several have been carried away by the swift current. On a plantation ten miles west of Memphis, Sylvester Cowen, a colored tenant, his five children and wife, were overwhelmed by the current and all drowned. Near Greenville two negroes were drowned in an attempt to reach dry land. Disastrious floods come from the Sunflower district. At Greenville the river stands stationary. In the overflowed district the rain poured in torrents Tuesday and last night. At Helena the rain was of such force that pumps were put to work in the lower portion of the city. The water gained so rapidly that the pumps had to be discontinued. The lower part of the town is under water from one to four feet deep. Owing to the great rainfall the river did not fall, but is stationary.

TENNESSEE CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION.

THE exposition opens at Nashville May 1, and everything is new approaching completion. Railway fares have been cut to a fine point, and arranged on a sliding scale according to distance. For the first fifty miles the round trip rate will be 3 cents a mile. From 51 to 100 miles 2¾ cents per mile; 101 to 150 miles 2½ cents; 151 to 200 miles 2¼ cents. From 201 to 275 miles 2 cents per mile with 50 cents added. This will make the round trip fare from any station in Chilton county from $5 50 to $6.00 Those who have not much time to spare can leave on No. 4 at 1 night, arrive at Nashville next morning at 7 o'clock, have a long day at the Exposition, leave Nashville at 11 o'clock and be back home next morning in time for breakfast.

Governor Johnston, the superintendent of education and the commissioner of agriculture, constituting the locating body of the district agricultural schools, met at Wetumpka last Thursday and located a fifth district school there. Dadeville and Alexander City were also bidders for the school and the contest between the three places was exceedingly spirited.

Singing at Shiloh.

Last Sunday the leading singers of Chilton county assembled at Shiloh for an "all-day" singing. Mr. T. A. King was elected chairman and entertained the audience with music until the committee on program reported. Messrs. Wesley Billingsley, Watts Moore, J. C. Veazey and Frank Foshee were the leaders, with Misses Celestia Jones, Fannie Rasberry and Mrs. Fowler as the organists. The day was spent very pleasantly as well as profitably and they adjourned at 4 p.m. to meet at Mulberry church the first Sunday in May.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $100 per bottle

Confederate Pensions.

For the benefit of the Confederate soldiers and widows who are entitled to a pension, and who desire to make application for the same, as the law directs, I will be at Stanton in the forenoon and at Maplesville in the afternoon on Thursday, April 28, 1897, and those desiring to make application can meet me at either of those places.

I also call attention to the amendment of the law in behalf of widows, to-wit: "Provided that any widow who is a bona fide resident of this State at the time of making of her application and whose husband was either killed, died of disease or from wounds during or since said war, and provided said widow has not since remarried, and whose husband did not desert the service of the State or confederate States, shall be entitled to the equal benefits of this act upon making satisfactory proof as other applicants."

Remember that application has to be made each year and that before the first of June.

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., April 14. 1897.

The line of cleavage in the Democratic party has grown to be a chasm across which gold and silver men were unable to touch hands in the state and municipal elections just past. The almost universal arrangement was Republicans and Gold Democrats against all parties who had favored Bryan, and the result shows that the silver sentiment is no deader than its enemies claimed a year ago while the growth of the anti Hanna vote and cutting down of McKinley majorities offers encouragement for '98, and make the results sure in 1900 if a wise course be pursued by all true reformers.

Governor Pingree's man whom he put up for Mayor of Detroit was defeated. Pingree must learn that he cannot be a reformer and a Republican at the same time.

By the introduction of a retroactive clause in the Dingley Bill, greater uncertainty and more depression in business circles is predicted. Secretary Gage strongly urges the measure.

Secretary Olney had issued orders by which the fees of our consuls were much diminished. This order will now be abrogated and a difference of about $15,000 annually will thus be made in "Cousin Abner's" (McKinley) favor while he is consul at London.

The god Janus, who was represented with two faces looking in opposite directions, is rivaled by President McKinley. Having received a heavy A. P. A. vote, by Hanna's deal with that organization, he is now considering opening diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

An A. P. A. council of Omaha, Neb., sent a letter to Senator Allen, asking that he vote against the confirmation of any Catholic appointed by President McKinley. The Senator answered in a manner that leaves no doubt in the minds of his interlocutors as to his knowledge of law and his having the courage of his convictions. He said: "I could not, if so inclined, vote to reject a competent and worthy man for a public position to which he might be appointed by the President because of his church connection or his particular religious belief, nor would I do so under any circumstances."

The Reform Club of New York has sent out a letter to the press which, in showing up the favoritism of the trusts and the impositions upon the people as embodied in the Dingley Bill, is setting the champions of that special bit of thievery by the ears.

An organization having for its aim the fostering of public sentiment favoring the taxation of inordinate wealth has for its members many of the leading Populists and Democrats of Kansas. A bureau of information and correspondence is established. State legislatures will be solicited to pass resolutions similar to those passed in Kansas in regard to the need of constitutional amendments on this point.

We note with pleasure that a very large number of Populists have been elected to the positions of county superintendents of schools, being supported not only by their own party but by others.

Almost every county paper received at this office contains calls for committee meetings, indicating an encouraging degree of vitality and bodes ill for the enemy in '98.

Speaker Reed has refused to recognize the twenty-one Populists members as an integral part of the House; consequently they can get no members of the majority to pair with. The Populists are justly indignant and propose to force Speaker Reed to recognize them, or fail in this, they will compel the House to meet every day while awaiting reports on the tariff bill.

Little Men and Women

We call them little men and little women, but they are neither. They have ideas and ways all their own. Fortunately they soon become fond of cod-liver oil, when it is given to them in the form of SCOTT'S EMULSION. This is the most valuable remedy in existence for all the wasting diseases of early life. The poorly nourished, scrofulous child; the thin, weak, fretting child; the young child who does not grow; all take Scott's Emulsion without force or bribe. It seems as if they knew that this meant nourishment and growth for bones, muscles and nerves.

Book telling more about it, free.

It won't pay to try a substitute for Scott's Emulsion with the children. They will relish the real thing.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and therefore, effectively when concentration of action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a widely-educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account creed, race or nationality.

Ministers Should Use Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

THERE IS NO PROFESSION, whose labors so severely tax the nervous system, as that of the ministry. The derangement of the nerve centers of the brain by over work, frequently brings on attacks of heart trouble, and nervous prostration.

Rev. J. P. Keeter, M. D., Pastor U. B. church, London Mills, Ills., himself a physician, writes Feb. 23, 1895: "Heart affection and nervous prostration had become so serious last fall that a little over work in the pulpit would so completely prostrate me that it seemed certain I must relinquish the work of the ministry entirely. Heart palpitation became so bad that my auditors would ask me if I did not have heart disease. Last November I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure alternately with Dr. Miles' Nervine and derived the greatest possible benefit. I have just closed revival work of 10 weeks, preaching nearly every night and twice on the Sabbath. I can speak for hours without suffering as I formerly did. Hard working ministers should keep Dr. Miles' grand remedies on hand."

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

5 DROPS — 49 YEARS OF SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATISM.

Read carefully this testimonial found below, also letters from those who have been cured of other diseases, and remember that "5 Drops" has and can never fail to quickly relieve and permanently cure.

Sept. 9, 1896.

DEAR SIR:—Your bottle of "5 Drops" received. It was for an old friend, Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Martinstown Wis. He has had Neuralgia in his chest, suffering a great deal of pain, so much so that it affected his heart and he could not sleep on account of a smothered feeling. He has been under the care of the most eminent physicians, but found no relief until I gave him a dose of "5 Drops." The very first night he rested well, and has ever since, and is gaining daily. I myself am 67 years old and began taking your medicine last April for Rheumatism, which I have had for 49 years, also for a weak heart. Since taking "5 Drops" the Rheumatism has all disappeared, the stiffness is gone from my joints, and my heart never misses a beat. I am to-day a well, strong woman, and I owe it to "5 Drops." I only wish I could sound my bugle of praise loud enough to be heard all over the world, and could convince every one that "5 Drops" is all you claim it to be and more.

Mrs. D. T. Carver, Winslow, Stevenson Co., Ill.

34 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

JANUARY 2, 1897.

DEAR SIR:—

Over 34 years ago, I had Typhoid Fever, and barely escaped with my life. It left my system so shattered that I have had ever since, Rheumatism and Throat Trouble, which gave me a terrible Cough. I had been unable to find any relief for these diseases, until I learned of your "5 DROPS", which I commenced taking only two months ago, and my cure has been indeed WONDERFUL. Already my cough has entirely disappeared, and the Rheumatism which for a few years past has threatened to make a cripple of me, is cured, and I am free from pain. This is the most wonderful and the cheapest remedy ever discovered. I am more thankful to you than words can tell and I want everybody to know what "5 DROPS" has done for me. Although I am over 70 YEARS old, I am feeling better than I have in years.

I shall be glad to answer any questions regarding my case from anyone enclosing a two cent stamp.

Gratefully yours,

MRS. SAMUEL RIBLET, Litchfield, Mich.

CATARRH AND HAY FEVER.

I find the bottle of "5 DROPS" to be very good and just what you claim. My wife has been suffering with Catarrh and Hay Fever over 16 years. She has tried everything and doctored much, but no cure until she tried "5 DROPS" which completely cured her.

Yours truly REV. L. VON WALD,
March 31, 1896. Millank, S. D.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA.

For twenty long years my wife suffered untold tortures from Sciatica and Neuralgia, and I thank God for the day that your heaven-sent remedy fell into my hands, for it completely cured her. I am a minister of the Gospel, and when I find any who suffer, I know it will do more than you claim for it.

REV. F. M. COOPER, Washington Center, Mo.

PARALYSIS AND RHEUMATISM

NOVEMBER 9, 1896.

DEAR SIRS:

It is with pleasure I speak of your priceless remedy and of the good it has done me. For the last eight years I have been an incurable cripple from paralysis and rheumatism. Just think for eight years a total cripple not able to earn a penny not able to walk or step on the ground without the aid of something to lean on. Heaven bless the man who discovered this remedy, for, thanks to him and to God, I am able to walk and able to work, I have only taken two thirds of a bottle, but have not had any pain in my back since I took the first dose, and after the second I walked across the floor, which I have not done in years. I have thrown away my cane and shall never need it again. To any one sending me a two-cent stamp I will send my affidavit. I have another bottle of "5 DROPS" and value it at $1.00 per drop.

Thankfully yours, EDWARD CASTLE,
1005 Wall Street. Sioux City, Iowa.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

SEPTEMBER 24, 1896.

DEAR SIRS:

I wish to tell you and suffering humanity how much good "5 DROPS" has done me. On the beginning of this year I took down bedfast with inflammatory Rheumatism, and I was doctored by as good physicians as this country has, but they could not cure me. On August 4, I began to take "5 DROPS." At that time every joint in my body and my limbs were stiff, so that I could not be moved. Even my tongue was getting so that I could hardly speak so any one could understand me, but to-day, only seven weeks from that time, I am absolutely cured, and thank you and God for my recovery.

Gratefully yours,
HORACE F. ANDERSON, McCracken, Kans.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading those letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief, and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism Neuralgia, Sciatica, Catarrh, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Backache, Hay Fever, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and kindred diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle, prepaid by mail, 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER — ALL DRUGGISTS

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

CANDY CATHARTIC — .....CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

PURELY VEGETABLE — .....CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE — .....CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

LIVER STIMULANT — .....CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

BOON FOR MOTHERS — .....CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet eaten by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN — .... CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

CURE GUARANTEED — ...CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS — .... CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

$1800.00 GIVEN AWAY TO INVENTORS.

$100.00 every month given away to any one who applies through us for the most meritorious patent during the month preceding.

We secure the best patents for our clients, and the object of this offer is to encourage inventors to keep track of their bright ideas. At the same time we wish to impress upon the public the fact that such as the "car-window" which can be easily slid up and down without breaking the passenger's back, "suspender," "collar-button," "nut-lock," "bottle-stopper," and a thousand other little things that most any one can find a way of improving; and these simple inventions are the ones that bring largest returns to the author. Try to think of something to invent.

IT'S THE SIMPLE, TRIVIAL INVENTIONS THAT YIELD FORTUNES,

IT IS NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

Patents taken out through us receive special notice in the "National Recorder," published at Washington, D. C., which is the best newspaper published in America in the interests of inventors. We furnish a year's subscription to this journal, free of cost, to all our clients. We also advertise, free of cost, the invention each month which wins our $100 prize, and hundreds of thousands of copies of the "National Recorder," containing a sketch of the winner, and a description of his invention, will be scattered throughout the United States among capitalists and manufacturers, thus bringing to their attention the merits of the invention.

A Richmond paper says that a young woman of that place declares that when she received her first masculine kiss she "felt as if something was running down her nerves on feet of diamonds, escorted by several little Cupids in chariots drawn by angels, shaded by honeysuckles and canopied by melted rainbows."

John L. Sullivan having drunk himself to the verge of another of his nine deaths, one more of those popular appeals for assistance for the eminent ex-wife-beating sort may be shortly expected.

The French custom-house officials are sometimes guilty of curiously petty exactions. One traveler on reaching Paris was fined the sum of 100 francs for having twenty-five cigars in his bag. Another who carried in his bag a box of 1,000 wax matches made in England was mulcted for 1,000 francs—a franc a match.

There is something wrong somewhere; thousands of able-bodied, intelligent American workingmen are unable to keep the wolf from the door, but terrapin are reported in active demand at $70 a dozen.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. DRESS FABRICS.

Silk lowers upon the horizon as the coming dress fabric. It is a very sudden development, but none the less significant. Upon all sides the woolen gown is yielding in favor to that of silk. Even where wool is worn the appearance of silk is brought out by the intermixture of that material on the front of the bodice and the sleeve. Velvets are just now being brought out for bodices, consisting of stripes of velvet alternating with a brocade of small roses. But, novel as these are, they are not nearly so popular as the quaint pieces of old brocade of almost any kind. In the house, at "functions," the theatre, on the street itself, it looks very much as though women would soon be "in silk attire" altogether.

Massachusetts is making up its mind to spend $200,000 a year for five years in the effort to exterminate the gypsy moth, and then to continue to pay $100,000 a year for five years more, and $15,000 a year for five years after that. Then the committee will report progress to the Legislature.

The Wonderful Kava-Kava Shrub.

A New Botanical Discovery.—Of Special Interest to Sufferers from Diseases of the Kidneys or Bladder, Rheumatism, etc.—A Blessing to Humanity.

A Free Gift of Great Value to You.

Our readers will be glad to know that the new botanical discovery, Alkavis, from the wonderful Kava-Kava shrub has proved an assured cure for all diseases caused by Uric acid in the blood, or by disordered action of the Kidneys or urinary organs. The Kava Kava Shrub, or as botanists call it, Piper Methysticum, grows on the banks of the Ganges river, East India, and probably was used for centuries by the natives before its extraordinary properties became known to civilization through Christian missionaries. In this respect it resembles the discovery of quinine from the peruvian bark, made known by the Indians to the early Jesuit missionaries in South America, and by them brought to civilized man. It is a wonderful discovery, with a record of 1200 hospital cures in 30 days. It acts directly upon the blood and kidneys, and is a true specific, just as quinine is in malaria. We have the strongest testimony of many ministers of the gospel, well known doctors and business men cured by Alkavis, when all other remedies had failed.

THE KAVA-KAVA SHRUB (Piper Methysticum.)

In the New York Weekly World of Sept. 10th, the testimony of Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., of Washington, D. C. was given, describing his years of suffering from Kidney disease and Rheumatism, and his rapid cure by Alkavis. Rev. Thomas Smith, the Methodist minister at Cobden, Illinois, passed nearly one hundred gravel stones after two weeks' use of Alkavis. Rev. John H. Watson, of Sunset, Texas, a minister of the gospel of thirty years' service, was struck down at his post of duty by Kidney disease. After hovering between life and death for two months, and all his doctors having failed, he took Alkavis, and was completely restored to health and strength, and is fulfilling his duties as minister of the gospel. Mr. R. C. Wood, a prominent attorney of Lowell, Indiana, was cured of Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder disease of ten years standing, by Alkavis. Mr. Wood describes himself as being in constant misery, often compelled to rise ten times during the night on account of weakness of the bladder. He was treated by all his home physicians without the least benefit and finally completely cured in a few weeks by Alkavis. The testimony is undoubted and really wonderful. Mrs. James Young, of Kent, Ohio, writes that she had tried six doctors in vain, that she was about to give up in despair, when she found Alkavis and was promptly cured of kidney disease and restored to health. Many other ladies also testify to the wonderful curative powers of Alkavis in the various disorders peculiar to womanhood.

So far the Church Kidney Cure Company, No. 424 Fourth Avenue, New York, are the only importers of this new remedy, and they are so anxious to prove its value that for the sake of introduction they will send a free treatment of Alkavis prepaid by mail to every reader of this paper who is a Sufferer from any form of Kidney or Bladder disorder, Bright's Disease, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gravel, Pain in Back, Female Complaints, or other affliction due to improper action of the Kidneys or Urinary Organs. We advise all Sufferers to send their names and address to the company, and receive the Alkavis free. It is sent to you entirely free, to prove its wonderful curative powers.

A Meeting Looking to the Promotion of the Shipping Interest.

IMPETUS TO LEVEE BUILDING

Given By the Recent Disatrous Floods. Democratic Senators Hold a Caucus. Money for Federal Courts. Reivera will Live.

Washington, D. C.—A meeting of the Senate Committee on Commerce, representatives of the shipping interests was held Friday in the room of The meeting was for the purpose of promoting legislation looking to the encouragement of American shipping. There was a general exchange of views. Mr. Griscom presided, and the meeting was private. Several addresses were made, one of the most important being that of C. H. Cramp, the shipbuilder, who declared that until means were taken to keep in the United States a part of the $300,000,000 annually absorbed by foreign shipowners no good times could come. He suggested the following new classification for bounties to American shipping: Not less than 10,000 tons and 22 knots, $6 per mile; not less than 8,000 tons and 20 knots, $5 per mile; not less than 6,000 tons and 13 knots, $4; not less than 5,000 tons and 16 knots, $3 per mile. All other iron or steel steamers, not less than 14 knots, $1.50 per mile. After a general discussion a committee was appointed to consider the question and to unite, if possible, upon a policy to recommend to the Government as a remedy for the existing situation, as follows: E. C. Bliss, of the Red D line; H. D. Boothe, Ward line; William P. Clyde, Clyde Steamship Company; Charles H. Cramp; F. J. Firth, Vice-President Lake Carriers' Association; C. A. Griscom; C. P. Huntington; Gen. Thomas W. Hyde, shipbuilder; Charles H. Keep, Secretary Lake Carriers' Association; D. D. C. Mink, President American Steamship Association; S. S. Sewell, shipbuilder; Senators Hanna and Perkins.

Instead of making it probable that the levee construction along the Mississippi will be retarded, it seems certain that the work of devastation by the floods will give an impetus to the building of levees and the next appropriation made by Congress will be more liberal than any in the past. Representative Catchings, in a brief speech in the House, outlined the plan which he will urge at the next session. It contemplates making an adequate appropriation to insure the earliest possible completion of a perfect system of levees from Cairo south to the Gulf, that will protect the country against any flood that may come. He wants Congress to decide upon the immediate construction of the entire system and to take the matter in hand vigorously and hasten the control of the river once and for all. It will require an appropriation of $10,000,000.

The Democratic Senators held a caucus after the adjournment of the Senate Thursday to consider the question of the committee vacancies, but decided to postpone action until next Monday. This was decided on the suggestion of Senator Gorman, chairman of the Caucus Committee, who reported that the Republicans had been so far unable to make any progress toward taking control of the committees, but had promised to reach a conclusion within the next two days. Senators Gray and Caffery, who are known as Gold Democrats, were present at the meeting and participated in the proceedings.

Attorney General McKenna has written a letter to the Senate Committee on Resolutions representing the necessity for an immediate appropriation to meet expenses of Spring terms of Federal Courts throughout the country. He says that unless an appropriation is made the transaction of business will be seriously embarrassed, and the Judges compelled to adjourn court, unless the practice, with all its accompanying abuses, of issuing certificates is resorted to. He suggests the passage of a joint resolution as an emergency measure appropriating $455,000.

The Senate on Friday heard Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, for the third successive day on his resolution declaring that a state of war existed in Cuba. He was severely critical of Spain's method against American prisoners, and went over in detail the circumstances in the Competitor case. Mr. Morgan said he would close his speech at the next meeting of the Senate, when he would present a letter from one of the Cuban officials of the Eastern province of the island showing the complete civil system of government now maintained by the Cubans.

The navy department received but one bid in answer to the advertisement calling for proposals for supplying about 8,000 tons of armor for the three battleships, Illinois, Wisconsin and Alabama, and this one was so irregular in form as to be far wide of the advertisement. The single bid was from he Illinois Steel Company, of Chicago, and it proposed to supply the 8,000 tons of armor desired at $290 per ton on condition that it be given a twenty-year contract to supply all of the naval armor. In such case the remainder of the armor beyond the 8,000 tons would be supplied at $240 per ton. The armor was to be paid for in gold coin. No awards have been made, and the whole matter probably will be referred to Congress.

Secretary Sherman states that he has assurances that General Rivera, the insurgent leader, would not be executed, but would be treated as a prisoner of war. General Rivera was captured after being wounded in a recent battle and it was feared for a time that he would be executed by the Spanish authorities for his participation in the rebellion.

Work at the jail at Scottsboro will probably be commenced next week by the contractors. The work is to be completed by May 10, the improvements, consisting of putting in another cell, a complete steam heating system, and making the jail fire-proof, to cost $2,675, according to the contract. The material is on the way and as soon as it arrives the workmen will commence.

Buster Doogan, who killed his father-in-law, J. W. Dearman, in Etowah County, last February, and for whose capture a reward of $200 was offered, surrendered to a friend in DeKalb County. Doogan's friends and relatives have insisted all along that the young man would give himself up when excitement subsibed, there being many threats of mob violence at the time of the killing.

The City Council of Florence, in accordance with an act of the recent Legislature providing for a Board of Public Works for that city, elected H. B. Lee, R. L. Bliss and A. P. Smith to constitute such board. In accordance with an act of the last Legislature, which provided that the question of issuing $125,000 of bonds for the purchase of water works by the city should be submitted to a vote of the people, the Council appointed May 15th as the day upon which such election shall be seld. There is considerable opposition to the issuance of these bonds.

The horribly mangled body of a young white man named Edward Powell was found between the rails by Conductor Foster, of the Southern accommodation train, near Birmingham. The body bore marks that indicated that it had been run over by the preceding train as well as the accommodation. It is said the man, who resided in Brookside, was in Coalburg Wednesday, and started home that night. Whether the man fell from the freight train, on which he is supposed to have been riding, or whether he was walking along the track and was struck by the train is not known. His mangled body was found about one mile from Coalburg. A broken liquor bottle is said to have been found near the body, and it is supposed that the man was drinking.

A Columbia, Ala., special to the Montgomery Advertiser, says: A serious difficulty occurred here last night between a crowd of white boys and some negroes, in which one negro, Sam Kirkland, was shot in the leg, and Jesse Thompson, white, was wounded in the back of the head. Considerable excitement prevails in the town and other disturbances may occur at any time, though it is hoped that the cooler heads will prevail and nothing further come of the affair. The trouble grew out of some promiscous rock throwing last Sunday night in which a negro woman was struck, followed by desperate threats made by her son.

Contracts were let at Birmingham for the construction of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad extension from Columbus, Miss., via Tuskaloosa, to Montgomery, Ala., and its branches into the Birmingham mineral district from Tuskaloosa to Brookwood, and from Carterville to Blocton, as follows: P. Cassady & Co., Memphis, twenty miles; G. W. Callahan & Co., Knoxville, thirty miles; M. Quigley & Co., St. Louis, forty miles; Ryan & Co., Kansas City, ten miles; Mason, Gooch & Co., Kentucky, thirty miles. This work includes the main line from Columbus, Miss., to Tuskaloosa and the Blocton branch. The remainder of the main line from Tuskaloosa to Montgomery and the Brookwood branch was let Saturday. There will be 200 miles of new railroad altogether, and the work is to be finished by November 1. The completion of this extension will give the Mobile & Ohio a direct route, through connections, to Florida and the Atlantic seaboard, and will at the same time shorten the route for Alabama coal and iron to St. Louis and the West by more than fifty miles.

BRIBERY AND CONSPIRACY

Is Charged Against Candidate Hunter and His Lieutenants.

PROMINENT REPUBLICANS

Indicted By the Grand Jury and Very Sensational Developments Expected. Sweeping Denials by the Parties Implicated. Fifteen Thousand Dollars for Three Votes.

Louisville, Ky.—A special to the Evening Post from Frankfort, says: Indictments charging bribery and conspiracy to bribe have been prepared by the Franklin county grand jury against the most prominent Republicans in the State, viz.: Ex-Congressman W. Godfrey Hunter, of the Third District, the Republican nominee for the United States Senate; Ex-Congressman John H. Wilson, of the Eleventh District, one of Dr. Hunter's closest advisers, and Hon. E. T. Franks one of the leading Republican politicians of the Second District. The indictments were prepared last night upon the testimony of Capt. Noel Gaines and Capt. Tanner, his brother-in-law, and Fred Gordon, all of this city. The charges are indignantly denied by Dr. Hunter, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Franks, all of whom say they will prosecute for criminal libel all who have testified to the above facts before the grand jury. They claim that it is the last desperate effort of the Blackburn Democrats to prevent Dr Hunter's election, which seemed a certainty, in view of the fact that he lacked only one vote at the ballot on Saturday. The following authorized interview was given out Saturday morning by Capt. Thomas Tanner, one of the accused witnesses:

"I was called to the Capitol Hotel Monday night and had a conference with Wilson in room 29. Wilson had a big roll of bills; he said there was $5,000 in the package, and from all appearances there was. There were four such packages, or $20,000, and he said this would be paid for four votes for Dr. Hunter. I had several conferences with Franks in the same room; was last called there Thursday morning, when they seemed to think that some members of the Legislature had offered to succumb for $10,000, but they thought this too high."

Capt. Noel Gaines testified before the grand jury in part as follows:

"When Dr. Hunter came to my house he, Dr. Hunter, opened the conversation by saying that he had been told I could aid him in getting three votes. I told him that I did not know whether it was possible to get them or not, but I would study over it and see.

"Hunter said: 'I want three votes and am willing to pay $15,000, or $5,000 a vote. I will furnish the money all right, but will have to have one of my representatives complete the trade and give you the money as it would not do for me to hand it to you.'

"He said he would have Ex-Congressman John H. Wilson, one of his friends, call on me. Hunter told me that Representative W. G. Gassom, and Negro Clark, of Warren County, and John H. Johns, of Floyd County, could be gotten and they should be the first ones for me to see as he was pretty certain I could get them.

"On the next evening about the same hour, Mr. John H. Wilson came over in company with Mr. Tanner and we all three went into the library of my house. Mr. Wilson began by saying that Dr. Hunter had sent him to see me and that he (Wilson) wanted to know if I had talked with Gassom, Clark and Johns, and if I had made a trade with them. I told him I had not. Wilson said: 'We have got the $15,000 here and are ready to give it to them if they would agree to vote for Hunter and continue to vote for him until he was elected.'

"Wilson said to me: 'I want you to go right to work with them now and make the trade with them quick.'

"Mr. Wilson came back to my house to see me after the two occasions. On one occasion he said: 'The agreement is now that this money will be turned over to you when the men vote. If you can't get these men to vote for Hunter get them to go away, and if you can't get them to go away have them slipped out and keep them out until the ballot is over.'"

The greatest excitement prevailed during the first ballot for Senator at noon Friday. The galleries and lobbies were crowded. The Republicans denounced the charges in unmeasured terms, saying it was a dirty scheme to defeat Hunter.

A statement signed by Mr. Wilson was laid on the desk of the members The statement denied all the charges and said that Gaines made the proposition and they believed it a scheme to entrap Dr. Hunter. Before the roll was called there was a fist fight in the gallery. The call of the roll showed no quorum present, but a vote was taken anyway, which gave Hunter 57 and Boyle 1. Sixty answered to their names. A motion to adjourn brought out the absentees, and the vote stood 58 to 58, but President Worthington voted to continue and the second ballot was ordered.

The fight in the gallery was between Tom Morrow, of Somerset, a relative of Judge T. Z. Morrow, and a nephew of Gov. Bradley, and Peter A. Sanders, a local Hunter Republican. Sanders struck Morrow over the eye with a pair of brass knuckles, making an ugly cut and drawing the blood in copious quantities. Sanders was arrested. There was no change on the second ballot.

VOLUME OF MONEY.

NOTHING BUT ITS INCREASE WILL BRING PROSPERITY.

McKinley's Delusory Scheme to Relieve the People's Burdens by Increasing Taxation—Prosperity as Yet No Nearer Than It Was November 3.

"To the Congress of the United States: Regretting the necessity which has required me to call you together, I feel that your assembling in extraordinary session is indispensable, because of the condition in which we find the finances of the government. It is confronted by a condition in which it is found that its current expenditures are greater than its receipts, and that such a condition has existed for more than three years. With unlimited means at our command we are presenting the remarkable spectacle of increasing our public debt by borrowing money to meet the ordinary outlays incident upon even an economical and prudent administration of the government. An examination of the subject discloses this fact in every detail and leads inevitably to the conclusion that the expansion of the revenue which allows it is unjustifiable and should be corrected."

So readeth the first verses of the first chapter of the New Dispensation of Messages. Let all Republicans lift up their hands and eyes and—crow.

Well, it is the same old bankruptcy lines that we heard in the early part of 1893, by McKinley's fat (if not illustrious) predecessor; with the difference that in 1893, bankruptcy was upon the business of the country while now it has worked its way up to the United States treasury which has been bankrupt "for more than three years." With the conspiracy of the bankers with the administration in April, 1893, for the purpose of contracting the currency, in order to bring on a panic, and make it an excuse to repeal the only remaining law for the purchase of silver as money, and thus create a greater contraction of the currency—with all of this before McKinley's eyes, is he honest in ignoring all of these things as if they never had happened? Could a sensible, honest and patriotic man close his eyes to the want, misery and crime, that has grown out of that conspiracy?

Cleveland's plan was to prevent the people from having any more money to get, and it is now McKinley's plan to pick from the pockets of the wealth-producer, with a high tariff, what little money we have got. Fellow toiler, is there any difference in the character of the two men, when one prevents you from getting anything, and the other robs you of what you have got? Fellow-toiler, in either case you are left a bankrupt slave, just as the money power has planned to make you.

It is well remembered that in 1893, such papers as the New York Tribune said that the cause of the 15,000 failures in that year, was because of a fear of Cleveland's free trade legislation. Since the third of last November there have been failures at the rate of over 20,000 per year! " because of a fear of high tariff legislation? Stand up, you lying Republican, and explain this thing.

"With unlimited means at our command," * * * Ah! There lies the whole trouble! The idea has crept into the oppressors' heads that the amount that can be robbed from the wealth-producer is simply incalculable and "unlimited." Those that have so long fattened upon that which they never earned will learn ere long that flesh and blood will not submit to every injustice. "Unlimited means!" God of the universe, what a lie! The whole land is pocked all over with business failures, and a large per cent of the wealth-producing masses are idle, and all that toil deeply engulfed in squalid poverty, and a bankrupt condition of the United States treasury has "existed for more than three years!"

With this universal lack of money among the wealth-producing people, where is the "unlimited means" to come from?

The "unlimited means" will not come from the wealth-absorbing class, for that gang of devilish hogs never did pay anything toward supporting the government, and never will, so long as money can make a scoundrel of a judge.

Did robbing Peter to pay Paul, or robbing a beggar to patch the hide of a landlord, or the plundering of a toiler to enrich a knave, ever produce general prosperity?

Does increasing the taxes on the people increase the volume of currency, and thus produce prosperity? Some political idiots imagine that prosperity is produced in that way. God pity the people when such knaves or fools run the government! This idiocy and knavery, under Cleveland, killed the Cleveland party dead as a door nail; and the same foreign and financial policy will kill the Republican party too dead to skin in less than two years. So mote it be." The Americans have not much to brag about, for they only made onion for garlic at the last election. The Lord pity us!

"We are presenting the remarkable spectacle of increasing our public debt by borrowing money to meet the ordinary outlays incident upon even an economical (?) and prudent (?) administration of the government."

Good Lord, help us! Did any honest person ever expect a being on earth, or in hades, would have the unblushing cheek and devilish effrontery to declare that the late administratoin was "even an economical and prudent" one?

Every sensible and honorable man, woman and child in the land all know the late and blackest of all administrations sent up an immoral and improvident stench, so dense and stifling that it would strangle a skunk from Tophet.

If six months' association with Cannibal Hanna will make McKinley apologize for Cleveland, what will four years of association with the Cannibal do? Can any one comprehend the iniquitous character of the vile brood that dominates the words and actions of the people's servants? After "an examination of the subject discloses this fact in every detail" to Mr. McKinley that more taxes must be piled upon the shoulders of poverty-stricken wealth-producers, in order to raise more than $1,045,000,000 which it took to run the government "upon even an economical and prudent" basis, during the last two years! If McKinley and congress honestly want prosperity, they can produce it, in less than two months, by issuing to the people, through postal savings banks at a low rate of interest, all the money required to make all exchanges on a cash basis; crush the life out of every damnable monopoly, and give no more privileges to the money-absorbing hog than the toiler has got. Then we will have a prosperity that will cause the honest to rejoice, instead of the kind that makes devils giggle, such as we now have.

With honesty, and an ordinary amount of common sense, no president will be "regretting the necessity which has required me to call you together," for there would be no need of congress convening oftener than once in four years in time of peace.

Over 1,000 weavers employed in the silk mills, owned by Giveraud Bros., in West Hoboken, Homestead, and Hackensack, went on strike Saturday for higher wages.

Public Ownership of Monopolies.

The big bridge connecting New York and Brooklyn is owned by the two cities, and according to the New York World the receipts amount to two million dollars a year and is a steady source of profit to the people. Fares have been reduced until it is free to persons on foot. Better wages are paid and the men who collect fares and do other work about the bridge have better treatment than those serving any of the corporations. It is an illustrating the benefits of municipal ownership and as an object lesson can not fail to create an impression highly favorable.

Lame Distribution the Trouble.

People are hungry and starving by the millions in the United States and world generally and yet our national agricultural department solons are saying there is over-production by farmers and they must diversify products if they would sell what they grow at paying prices. If all had enough to eat there would be no surplus of anything edible.—Ft. Madison Democrat.

THE MONEY QUESTION.

(By. Thos. C. Hodgson.)

I will suppose a case. I will put the whole business of the United States into the hands of three men—A, B and C. A produces all the raw material, B works it up into the finished products, C finds and furnishes the money with which to make the exchanges. They are operating upon a basis which is fair and satisfactory to each. At the end of the first year A reports as follows: "I have this year by the aid of improved machinery and better methods been enabled to produce ten per cent more than last year at the same expense." B makes a similar report, and C reports that he too had found cheaper methods of extracting gold and silver from the ore and had thereby produced about ten per cent more than in former years at no greater expense. This makes an ideal showing, for money has kept pace with production and prices remain the same and thereby each of the three gets the full benefit of his own ingenuity and industry. For a few years this state of things continues, until by and by it dawns upon C that there is no need of his laboring and racking his brain to increase his dollars, because whatever number of them he has must purchase and exchange all that the other men produce, be they more or less. So he slackens his industry while the others keep on. At the next meeting C reports that he took a lay-off last year for the benefit of his health. The other two innocently enough shake their heads ominously and remark privately that C will go to the dogs sure if he neglects his business that way. But will he? Let us see:

It is not long before A and B discover that the price of their goods has declined. They mention this strange thing to C. He tells them that they should not be surprised at that because it is the result of improved machinery and increased production. This looks reasonable to the two simple men and they go at it again, resolved to make up in increased production what they lost in price. C remains inactive. Result, prices continue to fall. C now being fully assured by experience that he can by contraction of his money transfer all the wealth of the other two men to himself proceeds to withdraw his outstanding paper money. Result, lower prices. He now concludes to lock up his silver money since his gold can just as well do all the work. Result, prices have gone below the cost of production. Next result, A and B are compelled to borrow of C in order that they may continue business. Next result, lower prices and more debt. Next result, A and B cannot pay their debts, C loses confidence, hence will not lend any more. Next result, A and B are "busted," and C has all the property and all the money and there is nothing left for A and B except to work for C on his own terms. Last result, C owns A and B and all the property, money, everything; in short, he owns the earth! Oh, ye debt ridden farmers, ye mortgaged denizens of the cities, ye toilers for the trusts and corporations, read in this little parable your coming doom! These three characters represent the mighty industries of this country. It shows in a way that the simplest mind can grasp it the processes which are and have been at work transferring the wealth of the masses to the pockets of those who manipulate the money of the country, and it shows what will be the end of the present system if not changed. It shows you why it is that already one-twentieth of one per cent of America's population own one-half of the wealth of the nation. You have only to follow the instructions of those who represent C in the parable to come out where A and B did in the end. C is a great financier, he is the only man worth consulting when an investigation is ordered. He is the only man capable of directing the national finances. He has been a great success, A and B were failures, why shouldn't C own them? Brethren, the question of successful self-government is yet to be demonstrated. It is a problem not yet solved.

A NEW ANTI-TRUST BILL.

Senator Pettigrew Wants an Amendment to the Tariff Law.

Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, has introduced an amendment to the tariff bill. It provides that all articles on the dutiable list shall be admitted free of duty if said article or articles of a like character of domestic production are manufactured, their sale controlled, or the price affected by a trust or combination to prevent competition. Every contract, combination in the form of a trust or to restrict the quantity of production or affect the price of any article or conspiracy in restraint of trade shall be considered a trust.

Provision is made for application by any citizen to the United States courts for a determination on the existence of any trust, and if the courts decide that a trust exists an order is issued to the customs officers directing them to admit free of duty articles similar to those made by the trust. A proviso is made that when a duty is levied on raw material or on any article improved after importation, the duty on the raw material or unrefined or unimproved article shall be collected, but the differential duty shall not be collected if the improved or refined product is subject of a trust.—Silver Knight Watchman.

WAR DECLARED.

Latest Dispatches From the Seat of Conflict.

BLOOD CONTINUES TO FLOW.

Greece and Turkey Are Both Defiant and Stubborn.

TURKEY DECLARES WAR

And the Greek Premier Accepts.—The Brave Greeks Hold Out Against the Mad Threats of the Powers.—Some Hot Fighting Done.

Constantinople, Turkey.—A detailed circular sent Saturday to the Turkish representatives abroad recalls the week's invasions, and states that the newest incursion was participated in by the Greek troops, which, therefore, establishes war. The circular expresses the hope that the Powers in a spirit of justice will agree that the entire responsibility for the war falls on Greece. Turkey has no idea of conquest, and as a fresh proof of pacific sentiments offers to retire the Turkish troops on the frontier if Greece will retire hers from the frontier and from Crete. While a declaration of war was not actually made, Edhem Pasha, the Turkish Military Commander-in-Chief, was ordered to take the offensive. The Council of Ministers at the palace Saturday declared that war had broken out.

Athens, Greece.—Firing was reported along the whole line of the frontier in Thessaly Sunday and Monday.

The Cabinet has decided to protest to the Powers against the aggressive action of Turkey. An invasion by Edhem Pasha, the Turkish Commander, is expected, and the Greek army has taken up positions for the purpose of being in readiness to repel the advance.

In the legislative chamber Saturday, M. Delyannis, the Premier, replying to interpellations, said that official advices from the frontier left no question about the Turks being the aggressors in Friday evening's fighting. At Nezero, the Turks attempted to occupy a strategic position situated in the neutral zone. This the Greeks could not permit. Thereupon the Turks opened fire, the Greeks replying. The fight lasted from early in the evening until midnight and ended in a repulse of the Turks. Saturday morning the Turks again attempted to occupy this same strategic position, and again they were repulsed. After the firing ceased orders were issued to the Greeks to maintain their position, but to avoid provoking encounters with the Turks.

A telegram from Larissa, dated at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, says that firing is still proceeding and that the cannon can be distinctly heard.

Orders were sent Sunday to the Greek troops to keep strictly on the defensive, but to maintain their positions at all costs.

Constantinople.—An official communication to the newspapers states that the imperial government has spared no pains to preserve the peace, but that Greece, having sent troops to Crete in defiance of the wish of the Powers, and having begun hostilities on the frontier, has compelled Turkey to defend her integrity and to retaliate by an act of war.

The minister of war has given explicit orders to Edhem Pasha in accordance with an imperial irade approving the decision of the council and adopting the plan of operations formulated by the military commission. The irade throws the entire responsibility for the war upon Greece. Edhem Pasha is authorized to take immediate action, defensive or offensive, in accordance with this plan and in the exercise of his best judgment.

Athens, Greece.—A late special sitting of the Legislative Assembly was held Sunday. The public galleries were crowded. Amid intense excitement, M. Delaynnis, the Premier, announced that the Turkish Government had notified Greece of the rupture of the diplomatic relations owing to the aggressive attitude of the Greek Government. In an elaborate manner he reviewed the recent events to show, on the contrary, that Turkey had been the aggressor; that her troops had attacked the Greeks and attempted to occupy neutral positions, and that her batteries at Prevasa had sunk the Greek ship Macedonia.

"Turkey," said M. Delaynnis, "declares war against us. We accept it."

This statement was received with prolonged cheers from the galleries and the floor of the chamber.

The Premier then read dispatches relating the events which had happened on the frontier, and with references to the reported capture of Meneve, he said that the battles at that important position had been brought into action, but he knew nothing as to its alleged capture. He added that the Turks, after repeated attempts to force a passage at Revenia, which commands the road to Larissa, had been driven back.

The leader of the opposition, amid renewed cheers from all parts of the chamber and galleries, eloquently indorsed the patriotic declarations of M. Delaynnis.

London, Eng.—An Athens dispatch dated Sunday, says: A telegram just received from Actium states that the Greek flotilla, in the Gulf of Ambracia, is now successfully bombarding the Skafiki battery. Four gunboats are attacking Salagora. The fire opened at long range about 2:30 p. m. The first shot was sent by the Greek warship Bastleus Georgios, the cruiser Naurchos Mialis taking up the fire. The Hamidieh and Pantokatoros batteries returned the fire, but their practice is not good. At 3:23 p. m. a shell from the Naurchos Miaulis fell fairly in the Hamidieh battery.

Athens, Greece.—In the fighting on the frontier the Turks have occupied Ana, and Milauna, but have not succeeded in taking Kata. The engagement at Milouna Pass was of the fiercest character, and the losses were very heavy on both sides. The Turks destroyed two pieces of Greek artillery. The Greeks captured an entire battery from the Turks. Three Greek officers of high rank were killed. A large body of Greek troops are now marching against Menexe and brisk fighting is going on along the whole line as far west as Arta.

It is also reported that several bands have entered Macedonia. There is no official news yet asto the reported capture of Menexe.

London, Eng.—An Athens dispatch says: The Turkish batteries at Prevasa, on the north shore of the entrance of the Gulf of Arta, where, according to the treaty of Berlin, the Turks had no right to erect fortifications, fired on and sank a Greek steamer, the Macedonia, Sunday morning, while she was attempting to leave the Gulf of Amracia. The crew of the steamer were saved by boats from the shore, but the Captain of the Macedonia was severely wounded.

Athens, Greece.—A dispatch from Milouna Pass, says: A fierce battle raged in the Pass Sunday night. The Greeks who entered and descended toward the valley encountered four battalions of Turks, who drove them back and at the point of the bayonet rescued by force the garrison in the Turkish blockhouse, which the Greeks had encircled before entering the Pass.

A general engagement ensued. Over 20,000 men were engaged. The combat turned on the position of the Greek blockhouse, which was most obstinately defended. Several vigorous attacks were made by the Turks without success, but finally about 9 o'clock by a magnificent dash they took the blockhouse at the point of the bayonet.

NEWS FROM CUBA.

More Reports of Conflicts With Insurgents, Wherein They Were Badly Beaten.

Havana, Cuba.—A detachment of the Arragon batallion, it is announced, has captured the five remaining members of the insurgent force commanded by Zaraga. It is not known whether he has surrendered or not. The Marquis of Balbca died Monday.

Col Aldea, with the Quavirro battalion and detachment and local guerillas, has been engaged in the woods near Jacas, province of Mantanzas, with the remainder of the united insurgent forces commanded by Reginald Alfonso Cervantes and Benito Sorrot. The troops captured the insurgent camp, killed eleven of the enemy and captured the insurgent, Maj. Alvarez. Later the troops pursued the insurgents to the Cierega re Zapata, where, in another engagement, the insurgent Captains, Ferdinado Sabriana and Julio Sabria, Sergeant Charves and Lieutenant Colonel Sorroto, were killed and several others were wounded and are believed to have since died. In a skirmish between the Mariana Christian battalion and an insurgent force commanded by Aiguleirra the latter was killed, wtih six of his men.

The Viscaya battalion at Vegetas, near Trinidad, province of Santa Clara, has had a skirmish with the scouts of Quintin Bandeta's forces. The Zerona battalion, the battalion of Veraga and and the Ybera squadron, reconnoitering at Oleaga, province of Pinar del Rio, in several skirmishes have killed twenty-three insurgents, captured a quantity of arms and destroyed seventy-two huts. The column had one man killed and five wounded.

In numerous small skirmishes recently the insurgents lost thirty-one killed and ten prisoners and the troops lost two men killed and twelve wounded.

Messrs. Cornelius Mali Herson, Evan Avoras, American citizens, who have been imprisoned on the charge of disorderly conduct, have been placed at the disposal of Consul-General Lee.

There have been sixty-one deaths from smallpox at Guiness from April 1 to April 15.

A demonstration has been held at Santa Clara, capital of the province of that name, to celebrate the pacification of that part of the country and to do honor to Captain General Weyler. There was a large gathering of inhabitants in front of General Weyler's residence. The latter, through his Adjutant, returned thanks for the ovation which he received, though depreciating such demonstrations in his honor.

WHO DID IT?

Two Women Killed and Their Male Companion Shot.

HE WILL PROBABLY DIE TOO.

Husband of One of the Women Arrested For the Crime.

A MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDY.

Were Out Riding in a Buggy When the Murderous Assault Was Made.—The The Shooting Apparently Done at Short Range.—The Companion's Story.

Watertown, N. Y.—Special to the Standard from Sacketts Harbor, ten miles from this city, says: One of the most horrible crimes ever committed in this village was perpetrated in the early hours of Saturday morning, by whom is not yet known. Mrs. Wilber Crouch and Miss May Daly lost their lives and George Allen is close to death's door. Last evening Allen engaged a rig of a liveryman here, then went to the barracks of the Ninth Infantry and got Mrs. Wilber Crouch and Miss Daly, two domestics employed by Lee Anderson. They drove about the village nearly all night. Between 3 and 4 o'clock they were coming from Brownsville, when, according to Allen's story, Crouch leaped from the roadside and began firing at the three occupants of the carriage. All three were hit by the bullets. The horses became frightened and ran back to the stable in rear of the Everleigh house. One of the women were between the dashboard and the wheels, with her head hanging nearly on the ground. The clothing of both was badly torn. The eyes of one of the women was burned, as was also her flesh, which makes it apear that the shooting was done at short range, causing the clothing to become ignited. In the rig was found a six-chambered revolver, with four loaded cartridges and two empty chambers. The revolver is the property of Allen.

According to Allen's story, he was thrown out of the buggy near the bridge which spans Mill creek, and fell into the water, but soon extricated himself, and, shot and stabbed as he was, managed to crawl to the kitchen door of the quarters, but on his arrival there was unable to speak. Crouch was arrested and placed under close surveillance. A knife was found in his pocket, but no blood stains were on it, nor was there anything about his appearance to point to his guilt. Crouch and his wife had not lived together for a long time.

The Coroner's jury brought in a verdict to the effect that Crouch killed the woman, and Crouch was brought to the Jefferson county jail in this city for safe keeping. When he arrived here this afternoon he appeared cool and collected, and said:

"Well, sheriff, they have brought me to you, but I won't be with you long."

He appeared to be confident that his innocence will soon be established.

Allen, the man who was with the women, reached the mess hall at 4:30 in the morning, when he fainted, but not before saying:

"Get the women out of the creek."

He was taken to the hospital, wet from head to foot and showing signs of having been in the water. For some time it was impossible to get any statement from him. Stimulants were given and as soon as he was aroused the following statement was given, but only in answer to questions, he saying that it hurt his throat:

"Crouch did it. It was done by the creek. Crouch grasped the reins of the right horse and leaned out of the rig. It was a one-seated top buggy. I was struck by a lash and then shot. I tried to get out my revolver, but before I could do so was shot again. In getting out my revolver I accidentally shot myself in the throat. The women were shot and fell on top of me."

Got a Life Sentence.

Macon, Ga.—The trial of Shaw, wrecker of a passenger train on the Southern Railroad at Stone Creek, last year, ended at Jeffersonville in a verdict of guilty with recommendation to life imprisonment. Shaw and Criswell wrecked the train causing the loss of two lives. Criswell is now serving a life sentence and Shaw will doubtless be sentenced to the same fate.

Ohio Village Destroyed.

Fremont, O.—Fire destroyed the business portion of Lindsey village, eight miles west of Fremont, on the Lake Shore Railroad. The postoffice, the drug store, grocery, meat market, the new Produce Exchange building, town hall and Grand Army of the Republic hall were destroyed. The destruction was complete before aid could arrive from Fremont.

Murder Pays the Penalty.

Macon, Ga.—Lovett Brookins, colored, was hanged at Louisville, Ga., Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the murder of Lelia McCrary and Sanders Oliphant, both colored, a year ago on account of jealousy. Brookins made a long talk to his friends, warning them against women. He prayed and sang on the gallows.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

What Is Being Done in the United States Senate.

Washington.—The Senate passed the Indian appropriation bill Monday. It is substantially the same as it passed the House, and can cause little division except the amendment opening the Uncompahgre Indian reservation.

The Rev. Hugh Johnson, in his opening prayer, invoked Divine blessing on those nations struggling for civil and religious liberty, and prayed for the speedy termination of all wars. He referred also to the suffering along the Mississippi river.

A resolution for a committee of five Senators to inquire into the issuance of land patents to the Pacific railroads and to the California and Oregon railways, and to the amount of subsidies paid to the Pacific Steamship Company was favorably reported, but on suggestion of Mr. Stewart, of Navada, it went over.

Mr. Vest returned to the question which precipitated the recent tariff skirmish and reintroduced his resolution declaring illegal the recent order of the Secretary of the Treasury relative to goods arriving after April 1, last. Mr. Vest said he would call up the resolution Tuesday.

Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, endeavored to take up the Cuban resolution, Mr. Pettigrew interposed the Indian appropriation bill, remarking that it was not "unending" while the Cuban question was.

Mr. Davis, Republican, of Minnesota, also appealed to Mr. Morgan not to press the Cuban question as he (Davis) desired to have an executive session for the purpose, he said, of securing an agreement for a final vote on the Anglo-American treaty.

The Indian bill was finally taken up. After its passage a resolution by Mr. Mills, of Texas, was agreed to asking the Secretary of State for information as to the reciprocity treaties made under the McKinley act and what import rates on foreign goods would be reduced in consequence.

At 1:50 p. m., on motion of Mr. Davis, the Senate went into executive session on the arbitration treaty.

At 2:15 p. m., on motion of Mr. Hale, of Maine, the Senate adjourned as a mark of respect to the late Representative Milliken.

DIED AT HIS POST.

Bank Cashier Killed and Bank Looted By the Murderers.

Somerworth, N. H.—While resisting the entry of two desperate and determined robbers and during a futile struggle to protect $150,000 or more in money and securities in the compartment of the open vault of the Great Falls National Bank, of Somersworth, this afternoon, Cashier Joseph I Stickney was murdered near the desk which he had occupied for years. After killing Stickney the murderers ransacked the vault and fled with all the cash it contained, with the exception of a few five-dollar gold pieces. As near as can be estimated, about $6,000 was taken, but it is possible that the loss will considerably exceed this sum, as no one but the dead cashier knew the exact amount that was in the institution at the time. The robbers, after knocking Stickney down with a black jack, cut his throat. The most remarkable feature of the robbery is that $100,000 in bonds of the United States, which were kept in one of the drawers of the vault, and which the robbers evidently examined hastily, were not taken. Neither was any of the negotiable paper and securities of the bank; in fact, nothing was missing except the cash.

No one was aware that there was anything wrong at the bank until nearly 2 o'clock, or an hour after the murderous work was done. The perpetrators had ample time to escape.

Two Italians Murdered.

Kingstree, S. C.—News reached this place Saturday that two white men had been murdered about four miles below Kingstree, on the line of the Northeastern Railroad. Their bodies were found lying upon the ground Saturday morning. Upon examination it was ascertained that they had been shot and their throats cut. The murders were committed very near Salter's depot, the next station below Kingstree, and the shooting was heard about 8 o'clock last night. It can scarcely be said that any clue exists or that suspicion rests on any one, in particular, except three negroes, who were loitering around Salter's depot Saturday, and who, towards night, disappeared. Some believe that they perpetrated the awful deed.

Locomotive Boiler Explodes.

Richmond, Va.—At Ashland Friday afternoon the boiler of the locomotive of a material train on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railway exploded. No one was hurt, but the track was torn up and the glass in a number of windows in the town was broken. The engine is a complete wreck. The fireman was in the cab at the time and was blown into atoms.

Big Saw Mill Burned.

Little Rock, Ark.—A special to the Gazette from Texarkana says that the big sawmill plant of the Caulfield Lumber Company, at Caulfield, Ark., was completely destroyed by fire. Estimated loss, $50,000; insurance, $20,000.

OWING to pressure on our space this week some late correspondence is unavoidably held over.

COL. WM. Youngblood of Montgomery has been appointed by the President third Auditor of the Treasury.

IF argument was necessary to demonstrate the advisability of electing U. S. Senators by direct vote of the people, the present situation in Kentucky affords splendid ground for debate. When would-be senators have to either buy their seat or gain admission by trickery it is high time a change was made.

OBSERVER'S letter in this issue, advocating the improvement of the roads in our county, is one that we heartily endorse and commend to the consideration of our citizens. If every time the roads are worked care is taken to utilize the labor to the best advantage it will be but a short time before our thoroughfares are in splendid condition. Good roads means quicker time to our farmers in coming and going and much less wear and tear on animals and vehicles. Good roads are an advantage to the entire community and the immediate benefit can be felt in the decreased cost of transportation to market and the lessening of expense in purchasing and repairing wagons and buggies. Let us have good roads!

EVERY Populist should read and carefully consider the wise and conservative address issued by a joint caucus of Populist Senators and Congressmen which will be found in another place in this paper. Under present condition our party is steadily gaining ground all along the line and nothing is to be gained by premature action. A small number of dissatisfied politicians have for some time been seeking the disruption of the party by attempting to discreditit our national leaders and in other ways, and have now taken it upon themselves to issue a call for a national convention to be held July 4th of this year at Nashville. We do not believe there is any possibility of a representative body of Populists being gathered together at this early date, and even if it were possible we fail to see what good could be accomplished. An overwhelming majority of Populists have the fullest confidence in our National Executive Committee and are quite satisfied with their conduct of affairs. When, in their judgment, a national convention is necessary, it will be time for true Populists to attend one and it will not be obligatory upon a self-constituted committee to call a meeting, which in the nature of things is bound to prove a failure.

Jemison City Council.

THE recently elected Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the city of Jemison met last week and organized. Mayor Adams presided and there was a full Board present. Mr George Shaw was appointed marshal and Mr. B. M. Gentry, clerk and treasurer. The regular meeting of the board was fixed for the first Monday in each month. Three ordinances were passed. By the courtesy of Mr. I. N. Langston the Mayor's office and court room will be upstairs, over Mr. Langston's store, who tenders its use free of charge. Yesterday the first case was tried. Henry Purifoy (colored) was charged with disorderly conduct. The case was continued. Some difficulty has arisen on account of there being no city jail at present. It is probable that Purifoy will be arrested on a State warrant, he having committed a State offense.

Longstreet Locals.

We are having fine weather now and farmers are making good use of it, planting cotton in a hurry.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. John Grant is very sick, he has been in bad health for some time.

Messrs. Massey, Wiley and John Logan were pleasant visitors here Sunday.

Miss Rhoda Thacker spent Easter Sunday with Miss Minnie Applewhite, who was kept quite busy entertaining her friends Sunday.

Quite a number of the Longstreet young folks went to Mountain Springs Sunday.

Messrs. Williams and Retherford, of Jumbo, visited Mr. Frank Goodgame's family Sunday.

Misses Lowe and Thacker in company with some of their Loweville friends attended services at Salem Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Marlar and daughter, Miss Annie, and Miss Lilla Danforth passed through Longstreet one day last week on their way to the cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Thacker visited Mr. Armstrong's family Sunday.

Messrs. Will Thacker and Clyde Armstrong attended a singing at Lomax Sunday. UNCLE DICK.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told that I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

Confederate Pensions.

For the benefit of the Confederate soldiers and widows who are entitled to a pension, and who desire to make application for the same, as the law directs, I will be at Stanton in the forenoon and at Maplesville in the afternoon on Thursday, April 29, 1897, and those desiring to make application can meet me at either of those places.

Remember that application has to be made each year and that before the first of June.

R. M. HONEYCUTT,
Jugde of Probate.

Minooka News.

The health of our town is very good.

Borne to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Buston recently a fine boy. We are glad to note that the mother and babe are doing well.

The new railroad owned by Messrs. Burton & Brown has been completed as far as mosqueto lake Mr. Henry Padgett while riding over the road on the break beam of the car got his foot caught between a stump and the axle of the car and had his foot severely hurt. He was riding against orders of the company, hence they are not responsible for his injuries. The road has three regular stations: Snipe Creek, Wine City and Lowery's Park. We have recently learned that the company has secured the services of I. J. Lowery as section foreman and Alex Rachels as supervisor these men both come well recommended and we believe will give perfect satisfaction.

BANNER FRIEND.

Political Points.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., April 21, 1897.

If the friends of free silver and the reforms that would follow it are not soon aroused to the need of immediate, concerted and systematically maintained action, the gold standard party will have gained headway that we will be unable to cover in 1900. The Sound Money League, having headquarters in Chicago, has begun circulating subscription papers in New York. About a million dollars was subscribed in a few days. Men like Rockfeller, George Gould, Carnegie, Pullman, Morgan and Wannamaker have agreed to an annual contribution up to 1900. The greatest care is to be taken in regard to the character of literature sent out. All matters will have to pass through the hands of a committee. The constitution of the Legislature states that its purpose is to perpetuate the gold standard in America. The educational work will be carried on through leagues and clubs, state, county and precinct. The subsidizing and corrupting of the press will be in Mark Hanna's department at Washington, D. C.

An excellent offset to this is proposed by Governor Altgeld and it will probably be known as the Altgeld library scheme. It is proposed to establish a small free library at every possible point, to contain works on the money question. It is interesting to note that on all lists so far prepared, the majority of the books are by our People's Party writers.

The memory of Thomas Jefferson was again insulted by celebrations on his birthday held by men unworthy to speak the name of the great patriot. To see, on such an occasion, a goldbug democrat responding to a toast in a speech which sets forth the beauty and jeffersonianism (?) of the Indianapolis platform, or some other equally outrageous proposition, is enough to disgust any man who is not grossly ignorant of Jefferson's life and writings.

A gigantic consolidation of the oil interests of the world has been brought about by the Standard Oil Company.

Mrs. M. A. Lackey, of Lawrence county, Indiana, has been elected Chairman of the County Committee by the Populists.

The Executive Committee of the Indianapolis Monetary Reform Convention (bankers) has issued a circular asking further aid of the commercial organizations and business men generally. This organization has for its object the stoppage of silver coinage, retirement of greenbacks, issueing of national bank notes at face value and establishment of a single gold standard.

The New York legislature has passed a bill to authorize the establishment of a farm school for the boy waifs of New York City.

Laboring men of New York City have formed a political union for the purpose of securing recognition from the political parties. It is believed that this new political movement can control 50,000 votes in the city proper alone. The political fight this summer promises to be a hot one.

Populists in Pennsylvania are organizing effectively in every county of the state.

The Populist of Kansas believe in organization; they are now getting ready to make a fight on church men throughout the state who are advocating the gold standard.

The Regents of the Kansas State University are making many changes, wisely dispensing with those professors whose views and teachings are antagonistic to the good of the great common people.

Mrs. Anna L. Diggs has been appointed by Governor Leedy, Superintendent of the school for girls at Beloit, Kansas.

The Chicago mayoralty fight has brought about the usual split in the People's Party. One wing supporting a man who had no possible show of election and hence could institute no reforms, and the other wing supporting Carter Harrison whom they preferred to a Republican. A.R.

Scott's Emulsion

is made up of the most essential elements that go to nourish the body. Where the appetite is varying or lacking, it increases it, and where digestion is weak, it aids it to perform its function in a more vigorous way. It enriches the blood, makes healthy flesh and cures chronic coughs and colds by making it possible for the body to resist disease. Our friends tell us "IT WORKS WONDERS" but we never like to over-state the merits of our remedy even when it has been tested and tried for over twenty-five years. If you will ask for it, we will send you a book telling you more about the subject than we can put in a few words.

Go to your druggist for Scott's Emulsion. Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00.

GOOD ROADS.

No doubt every farmer, as he comes into Clanton, views with pride and admiration the improvements made upon the streets and thoroughfares. The boys of Clanton, like men, took hold, under the supervision and direction of the Marshal, Jas. A. Dudley, and are putting a new dress on their town. Don't forget to give Mayor W. L. Sampey credit for the great improvements he has made and is still making on the main street.

It is to be hoped that the apportioners of public roads in the county will see to it that the overseers put the roads in better condition. Chilton has the sorriest roads in the State, which very much reflects discredit upon her citizens, especially upon the apportioners and overseers. I notice a great many men subject to road duty go on the road when warned and take with them some little trifling tool other than what they were warned to take and stand about bracing themselves up on the handle as though a road was not needed and that the laws of the State had inflicted heavy punishment upon them without any cause whatever, and the overseer forgets his duty and responsibilities and lest he hurt their feelings he fails to require them to put in full time and they while away the time together and finally all are dismissed after they have about half filled up a few of the worst places and laid down a few brush or a pole diagonally across the road and then dig a small ditch on the upper side, piling up the dirt on the brush or pole so high that when a person crosses it in a vehicle he has to hold on with both hands to keep from being thrown out. I hope our overseers will forever quit making what is called breaks, across the roads. If the hands would work on the roads like they work on the farm and put in only half the time required by law they could in a few years have every road in the county raised in the center and the stumps all out, then they would be no trouble to keep up and when you want to go you could travel with more ease and less danger of breaking down your vehicle and being thrown out and hurt. And more than that to make good roads is an evidence of a progressive and patriotic people.

Let us hear from others on this subject. OBSERVER.

Mrs. A. Inveen, residing at 720 Henry St., Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. Turn-Round Topics.

The cold snap last week was very trying to tender vegetables and fruit, although it is not believed that any serious damage was done.

Mr. Ino. W. Pattillo spent Good Friday in Montgomery.

Mr. W. H. Kendrick and family of Elmore, were visitors to relatives here last week.

Mr. Thomas Davis and son, Marshall, of the capitol city, visited here recently.

There are people who would do great acts, but because they wait for the great opportunities, life passes, and the acts of love are not done at all.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of visiting Providence recently a distance of about 10 miles from here up the river. The energetic farmers of that section seem to be in a splendid condition, though cotton chopping has not yet begun.

The bridge at Pyron's mill is now completed. Mr. Manning did a good job on it.

Mr. Frances M. Connell, Jr., and wife, of Hardy's Plain, were pleasant visitors here Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. W. D. Goss spent Sunday with Mr. H. Kendrick.

Mr. Esco, of Deatsville, visited here Sunday.

Mr. Hicks, of Friendship, came over last week.

All who can conveniently do so should take in the magic city next Sunday, round trip from here, excursion rates, is only one dollar.

Now, dear reader, I shall say, "au revoir" and when the beautiful May time comes, I'll come to you again. May there always be the promise and the sunshine of spring in your lives.

Two years ago R. J. Warren, a druggist at Pleasant Brook, N. Y., bought a small supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sums up the result as follows: "At that time the goods were unknown in this section; to-day Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a household word." It is the same in hundreds of communities. Where ever the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy become known the people will have nothing else. For sale by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

A SIMPLE TIRE REPAIR.

Punctures in the well known Morgan & Wright tire are mended about as easily as a man would close a hole in his finger with a bit of court plaster. Inside of the inner tube of the tire lies a long strip of patching rubber, like this:

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture into this inner tube, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, like this,

the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, like this:

Very simple, but—now every rider should remember these two "buts," or he will fail:

Before injecting cement, pump up the tire. If you don't, the INNER tube will be flabby, like this, and the cement will not get inside of it, where the repair strip lies.

When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.

The Lamp that lights the way to Good Health is a bottle of the greatest of all blood purifiers—

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

This great blood purifier and nerve tonic, cures diseases by removing from the system, the conditions which produce them. It expels all poison and impurity from the blood. It acts upon the nerves as a stimulant, particularly upon those nerves belonging to the great organs of the body; therefore, it causes the heart to beat with greater force, the lungs to take in more oxygen and to expel more carbonic acid; it induces the kidneys to send off more of the poisonous excretions from the blood; the bowels to have more regularity and healthfulness in their action; the sweat glands to throw out more impurities.

Our illustrated book of 36 pages will tell you what is the matter and what to do. Its free for the asking. Quart bottle, $1.00.

Through His Nervine Is a Benefactor to Thousands."

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1895, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. AN ADDRESS

Issued by Joint Caucus of Populist Senators and Congressman.

The Situation and the Course That Duty Points.

To the People's Party of the Nation:

Never in the history of our party has there been such cause for hope on the part of those who are seeking reforms along financial and industrial lines as at the present time. Our progress, considering the opposition that the party has met, has been marked; and, notwithstanding we have not yet realized our full expectations, we now begin to see potent evidence of the good work we have done with very encouraging signs for the future.

The People's party has won the confidence and respect of all intelligent and liberty-loving citizens of our country. Its record of unselfish devotion to the interests of the plain people is in striking contrast to that of the old parties that for thirty years have overlooked the interests of the masses in their competition for favors at the hands of the money power, corporations and trusts.

The unselfish devotion to principle exemplified by the People's party in the campaign of 1896 is without a parallel in the history of political parties. The robust integrity of the party enabled it to rise to meet the occasion, when subjected to the reverest test to which loyalty to truth can ever be put. The People's party recognized the voice and the hand of the plain people in the Chicago convention. The platform enunciated and the chief candidate nominated evidenced beyond question that the masses of the Democratic party, in spite of the hitherto dominent element of that party, had at last put forward one partially successful effort in their own behalf. Therefore, without abating our distrust of the leadership of that party in the past, we extened the right hand of fellowship to those voters who must, in the end, fing their abiding place in our house-hold.

This action of the People's party was in no sense an endorsement of the past record of the Democratic party. But it was an act of fidelity to our own platform and teaching, a part of which found utterance in the Chicago platform, and nearly, if not quite all, in the person of William J. Bryan, the candidate there nominated.

To the People's party is due the credit for the bolt in the Republican convention at St. Louis, and for the revolt in the Democratic party that rescued the Chicago convention from the clutches of the bond-holding and banking combine.

Politicians bow before the powers that can make or unmake them. The teachings of the People's party press and speakers on the money question had taken such deep root among the masses of the voters of the country that the old party politicians who had misled the people, could no longer retain their offices and give their support to parties that upheld the gold standard. Those politicians that were unwillingly forced to accept our principles in the campaign of 1896 are probably no more sincere now than they were when they supported Harrison and Cleveland in 1892 and should the People's party relax its efforts, and cease to apply the whip and spur to these politicians by attracting the voters to our party, there is nothing in their past conduct to warrant the belief that they would not support their old party again, though the gold combine should regain its control.

The patriotic stand taken by the Populist party in the last campaign has added to its power to command the situation in the present and future. Had our party in the late campaign displayed no higher patriotism than the old parties, and sought merely party ends, and not proved itself equal to any party sacrifice in order to advance the welfare of the people, we would not now hold the confidence of the masses, and stand as a bulwark of the people against the intrigues of the old political leaders, that for thirty years have betrayed the people and controlled their parties in the interest of the banks, monopolies, and trusts.

Had Mr. Bryan been elected President with a Congress in sympathy with him, the money question would have been speedily settled, and with forty or more trusted leaders of the party in Congress, and the state governments of several states in our hands, the transportation question and other vital issues presented by our platform would have at once become the storm center of political discussion, and the People's Party would soon acquire second if not first place in the politics of our country. Viewing the duty of the present in the light of past experience, the demand for upholding our organization and pushing the work of education is more imperative now than at any time in the past.

We have Governors in five states, eight Senators, and twenty-three Congressmen, and the election in 1898 will undoubtedly give us the balance of power in the House as we now have it in the Senate. The opportunity is before us to accomplish these results, and more.

We, your representatives at Washington are striving to push forward the cause of the party, and to strengthen and build it up, and appeal to our reform papers to join us in this effort. There must be concentrated action and an avoidance of all entangling alliances to insure success.

We regret and deprecate the disposition of some to have the party at this time declare what it will or will not do in the future as to the best methods for stregthening the party and advancing its principles. No one can at this time forecast with certainty what would be the proper course for our party to pursue in convention assembled three years hence. Therefore, there is but one safe course, it seems to us, for every true Populist to pursue at this time: namely, to do all in his power to impress our principles upon the country and to bring recruits into the party, and stand ready when the people's representatives meet in convention to do what seems wisest and best to accomplish the ends for which we are all striving. The Populist Press can be a most powerful factor to bring this about. When the Press of any party is united and aggressive, the party itself is united and aggressive. Therefore, we appeal to every true Populist editor to cease the suicidal course of firing at each other. Turn your guns on the common enemy, and let each issue of your paper be full of articles discussing the tenets of the party as laid down in the last National platform. Let there be no relaxing of efforts, but a united and steady advance all along the line, and victory will crown our efforts.

(The above address was issued by joint caucus of People's party Senators and Congressmen.)

5 DROPS

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. J. P. Limeburner, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populists and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

Jan. 25, 1897.

DEAR SIRS—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 8th of January, 1897, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an aggravated case of inflammatory rheumatism; so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 DROPS and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself immensely relieved, and continuing treatment woke the second morning cured. My arm was absolutely free from pain, and all swelling and stiffness had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great curative properties of your medicine and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial. Sincerely yours J. P. LIMEBURNER.

Bureau of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS;—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had Rheumatism in every joint and in the heart, and I had Catarrh of the head for 30 years. I was so poorly that I lost the use of my legs and arms, and could not move without pain. I was so crippled, that I had done but little work for seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my Rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But now, after using "5 DROPS" only two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. This medicine does more than is claimed for it. At this time my Catarrh is much better, and I have scarcely any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pain are gone. My hearing is now good and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than 10 pounds of flesh and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw to give a mother who has a young child, for it has the same effect on the child as on the mother. It wards off Croup and cures the hives of the child and causes sweet and refreshing sleep to both young and old.

Yours respectfully, WM. M. KELLEMS, Liberia, Perry Co., Ind.

Jan. 29, 1896.

We received the following letter from Mr. J. J. Wilson of Omaha, Ill. Mr. Wilson has been for many years an invalid, and reading the above letter which was published, wrote Mr. Kellems, asking if his endorsement was genuine, and received this reply, which he forwarded us.

MR. J. J WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand, the testimonial you speak of is genuine. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" published my testimonial just as I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I could swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for this letter. I sent it to them last January for publication in order that poor sufferers, incurable as I once was, and as you are, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to answer all who write. Tell all your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I know how to sympathize with those who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long, it is now 8 months since I have felt any pain.

Dr. S. W. Kellems, my brother, uses "5 Drops" in his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a positive cure.

Sept. 21, 1896. MR. W. M. AND DR. S. W. KELLEMS.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle prepaid by mail 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

If Congress would but require contestants to pay the cost of their cases when they cannot prove them, as litigants in courts are compelled to do, it would have a deterrent effect on frivolous claims of election. If the State offered to pay—at the public expense—the court charges of all suits instituted, no matter what the judgment might be, or for whom, the country would soon be swamped by litigation. Yet there is no more reason why Congress should provide that those who bring suit before it should be compensated for frivolous claims and contests.

New York ladies have been discussing the inroads made on the home by club life and bewailing modern innovations generally. One woman declared that "homes are broken up that the homemaker may obtain leisure for lectures and clubs, and even babies of 6 are smitten with the fever. Cupid has no privacy in which to shoot his darts and can only make his advances under the cover of a hundred eyes." But, worse than all this, was the statement that the fin de siecle woman had no time to make mince pies.

Quaint English Customs.

There is scarcely a manor in England where some queer old custom dating back to the feudal times does not survive, recalling the former prestige and glory of the "lords of the manor." Thus at Broughton, on each Palm Sunday since time immemorial, the so-called "gad whip" manorial service takes place. The lord of the manor, leaving his pew in the chancel, advances to the steps thereof and cracks a heavy carriage whip three times, while the rector is reading the first lesson. At the beginning of the second lesson he approaches the parson with the whip in his hand and a purse with gold pieces tied to the end of the lash. This he waves thrice in the air and then holds the whip so that the purse hangs directly over the priest's head, until the conclusion of the chapter, when the priest takes possession of the purse and reverently places it on the altar. Volumes might be written about these queer manorial customs, the origin of most of them being lost in antiquity.

The figures of the losses by fire, month by month, during the years 1894, 1895 and 1896 are published, those of December last alone being estimated. The aggregate losses during 1895 were $123,246,400; during 1894, $129,839,700, and $115,295,500 during 1896. The losses the past year from June to December show a large falling off compared with the same months during the previous years, but the estimates for December are in excess of the losses of that month during the two preceding years. The loss by fire during these years is about equal to the receipts of the treasury for customs, and more than one-third of the receipts of all the railroads in the country after paying operating expenses. This is a large amount of money to charge off mainly to carelessness and recklessness.

A Massachusetts minister has declined to receive $1,000 increase in his salary and the congregation is about evenly divided as to whether this indicates remorse of conscience or lunacy.

Maggie Mitchell has lately put up an apartment house costing $250,000. The actress has had a great many good houses, but this seems to be the best of all.

Not the least lamentable feature of Mme. Melba's mishap is that the loss of her emphasizes the presence of a vast number of singers who cannot sing, but who are persistent in trying.

A New York girl committed suicide as the result of tight lacing. If she was a sensible girl it is a pity that she should be waisted like that.

The Best. The Rest. The Test.

There are two kinds of sarsaparilla: The best—and the rest. The trouble is they look alike. And when the rest dress like the best who's to tell them apart? Well, "the tree is known by its fruit." That's an old test and a safe one. And the taller the tree the deeper the root. That's another test. What's the root,—the record of these sarsaparillas? The one with the deepest root is Ayer's. The one with the richest fruit; that, too, is Ayer's. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a record of half a century of cures; a record of many medals and awards—culminating in the medal of the Chicago World's Fair, which, admitting Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best—shut its doors against the rest. That was greater honor than the medal, to be the only Sarsaparilla admitted as an exhibit at the World's Fair. If you want to get the best sarsaparilla of your druggist, here's an infallible rule: Ask for the best and you'll get Ayer's. Ask for Ayer's and you'll get the best.

PRESBYTERY ADJOURNED.

Swine Breeder's Association In Birmingham.

PICKENS COUNTY EAGER

For the Construction of the Memphis, Tuscaloosa & Montgomery Railway. Birmingham Gets a Powder Mill. Colored Teachers Convention.

Carrollton, Ala.—A construction train will be running to South Carolina Church in Pickens County, within ninety days, says a prominent official well versed in such matters. It is in a good neighborhood, and near it stood in the early settlement of the county the town of Yorkville, which had six stores and was a noted place for general musters and reviews of the troops of this section. A Masonic lodge and the South Carolina Church are the only buildings left to mark the site of Yorkville, but its glory will probably be revived under the name of some Chickasaw chief who disputed the passage of Hernando De Soto through this county, when the railroad reaches that point. The railroad will be built near the residence of Mr. Jones Pierson, in Pickens County. It crosses the road seventy feet above the site of the Georgia Pacific depot, in Columbus Miss., and the same distance above the proposed bridge across the Warrior River, two miles below Tuscaloosa. It appears, according to the line of survey, that Pickens County is a ridge, which will be traversed by the railroad. The long expected railroad will be built at last, and the people of this county will be in close connection with the outside world within thirteen months, according to the statements of the contractors, who have set to work to build the railroad from Columbus to Tuscaloosa.

Swine Breeders Association.

Birmingham, Ala.—The swine breeders of the State met in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday, and a large attendance was present. The railroads granted one and one-third fare for the round trip. The meetings were held in the Commercial Club roomse in the mornings and at night, while the afternoons were devoted to practical demonstrations of scoring, which were given at the horse infirmary of Dr. French. Over thirty head of fine, thoroughbred hogs of the various breeds were secured for the use in the scoring class. These hogs alone make an excellent exhibit, and were viewed by many interested breeders. The public were invited to attend all the meetings, and there were no charges of any kind except to those who entered the scoring class and received instructions.

Colored Teachers' Convention.

Birmingham, Ala.—The State Teachers' Association (colored) before adjourning its sixteenth annual convention, elected officers to serve for the ensuing year, as follows:

President—N. B. Young, Tuskegee.

Recording Secretary—R. B. Hudson, Selma.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss I. M. Thompson, Birmingham.

Vice-Presidents—First District, J. H. Martin, Faunsdale; Second District, Miss C. Bowen, Waugh; Third District, J. R. Savage, Opelika; Fourth District, L. Green, Anniston; Fifth District, C. J. Calloway, Rowaliga; Sixth District, J. Barnes, Tuscaloosa; Seventh District, Miss A. Keeling, Eighth District, A. H. Archer, Normal; Ninth District, A. H. Parker, Birmingham. The final session of the Association was held Saturday night. The local committee had prepared an excellent literary and musical program for the evening, which was rendered.

Powder Mill for Birmingham

Birmingham, Ala. — Arrangements have been made for the establishment of a powder mill at Boyles, five miles north of her on the Louisville & Nashville railroad. The Birmingham Powder Company, with a capital stock of $50,000, has been organized for that purpose, with W. B. Archibald, of Eldred, Pa., as President, and A. Greene, of Tallapoosa, Ga., as Superintendent. Ground was staked off Saturday for the plant, on which work will begin at once. The mill will have a capacity of 400 kegs of gunpowder daily. Local and Pennsylvania capitalists are behind the project.

North Alabama Presbytery.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Presbytery of North Alabama, which as been in session here for four days, adjourned at 5 o'clock yesterday after one of the best meetings in its history. The statistics for the past year were read and much improvement was noted in all departments of the foreign mission work. Attention was called to the fact that the Southern Presbyterian church with only 200,000 communicants had contributed last year $154,000 to foreign missions, the [illegible] portion to members any other denomination. The vote whereby Hartselle was chosen as next place of meeting was was reconsidered and Col. Malcolm J. Gilchrist extended an invitation to Courtland, which was accepted.

The Presbytery is generaly a very staid and conservative body, but before adjourning it inaugurated a new feature. The importance and helpfulness of the press was recognized, and by special resolution, Rev. James G. Snedecor was appointed as press agent to assist reporters and co-operate with the newspapers in every way.

The pressing question of work among the colored people made a strong report, urging preachers and church workers to devote more attention to the African at our doors.

After singing "Blest be the tie that Binds," and prayer by Moderator J. H. Lacy, the Presbytery adjourned.

THE CONFEDERATE REUNION

At Nashville Promises to Be Largely Attended.—Much Important Work.

New Orleans, La.—Gen. John B. Gordon, Commander-in-Chief of the United Confederate Veterans, has requested the press of the South and the whole country generally to aid in the patriotic work now on hand by the Confederate Veterans. The reunion takes place in Nashville Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 22d, 23d and 24th—by publishing the following letter. We gladly give space to same. It reads thus:

It will be the largest and most important United Confederate Veterans' reunion ever held. The personnel of the Nashville reunion committee under the leadership of its chairman, Col. J. B. O'Bryan, is a guarantee that everything will be done for the comfort and convenience of the old veterans and all visitors which is in the power of man; it is a splendid body of very able and distinguished comrades, who are fully alive to the magnitude of the work entrusted to them in entertaining and caring for their old comrades, and it will be their pride to make it the most memorable reunion upon record; and the citizens of Nashville are aglow with enthusiasm, and patriotism, at the prospect of dispensing their far famed hospitality to the surviving heroes of the Lost Cause.

Also to urge Ex-Confederate soldiers and sailors everywhere to form local associations, and send applications to these headquarters for papers to organize camps immediately, so as to be in time to participate in the great reunion at Nashville, and thus unite with their comrades in carrying out the laudable and philanthropic objects of the organization, as only veterans belong to organized United Confederate Veteran camps can participate in the business meeting at Nashville.

Business of the greatest importance to the survivors of the Southern army will demand careful consideration during the session of the seventh annual convention at Nashville, Tenn.—such as the best methods of securing impartial history, and to enlist each State in the compilation and preservation of the history of her citizen soldiery; the benevolent care through State aid or otherwise of disabled, destitute or aged veterans and the widows and orphans of our fallen brothers in arms; to consult as to the feasibility of the formation of a United Confederate Veterans' Benevolent Aid Association; the care of the graves of our known and unknown dead buried at Gettysburg, Fort Warren, Camps Morton, Chase, Douglas, Oakwood Cemetery at Chicago, Johnson's Island, Cairo and at all other points, to see that they are annually decorated, the headstones preserved and protected, and complete lists of the names of our dead heroes with the location of their last resting places furnished to their friends and relatives through the medium of our camps, thus rescuing the names from oblivion and handing them down in history; the consideration of the different movements, plans and means to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, also to aid in building monuments to other great leaders, soldiers and sailors of the South; also to assist in the promotion and completion of the proposed "Battle Abbey," to vote upon the proposed change of the name of the Association from United Confederate Veterans to Confederate Soldiers' Association; and to change the present badge or button which is not patentable for the new one proposed which is; and to make such changes in the constitution and by-laws as experience may suggest, and other matters of general interest.

Total number of camps now admitted 900, with applications in for about 150 more. Following is number of camps by States:

Northeast Texas Division 81; West Texas Division 55; Southwest Texas Division 33; Southeast Texas Division 31; Northwest Texas Division 17; total Texas 217; Alabama 89; South Carolina 81; Missouri 71; Mississippi 63; Arkansas 59; Georgia 58; Louisiana 51; Kentucky 39; Tennessee 34; Virginia 34; Florida 30; North Carolina 29; Indian Territory 12; West Virginia 11; Oklahoma 6; Maryland 6; New Mexico 3; Illinois 2; Montana 2; Indiana 1; District of Columbia 1; California 1.

Very Respectfully,

GEO. MOORMAN,

Adjutant General and Chief of Staff.

ANOTHER LEVEE BREAK.

The Crevasse One Hundred Feet Wide in Twenty Minutes.

Vicksburg, Miss.—The Queen & Crescent train dispatchers report that the biggest levee in Mason parish broke at 10 o'clock Friday night, and the break was 100 feet wide in twenty minutes. The break is four and a half miles north of Delta, La., and one and a half miles above the upper end of Reid's levee. The news was sent to Delta at once, the operator being roused out of bed and the message of warning sent along the line of the railway westward. The levee is a very large one and has been engaging the special attention of the levee authorities for weeks or ever since the Mississippi crevasse. Several hundred convicts have been employed on it, in addition to other laborers, and so greatly has it been strengthened that only to-day the belief was confidently expressed by men living behind it that it would hold. The disaster will be a great one.

In sixty years the number of Episcopal churches in Scotland has grown from seventy-five to 321.

One of the oddest couples on earth is an empty head joined to an empty purse.

HAVOC PLAYED

In the Lowlands By the Unbridled Mississippi.

MULTITUDES DESTITUTE.

Millions of Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed.

SITUATION VERY SERIOUS.

The Roaring Waters Are Heard Many Miles Crevasse a Mile Wide. Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railway Under Water. People Perched on Trees.

Arkansas City, Ark.—The Mississippi River has its capricious moods, and every now and then, by way of asserting its claims on the low territory to the east and west, goes on a lark, and then gets back into the traces again, after tearing things up generally to its satisfaction. This season, however, it has become apparently more swelled than ever with its importance. River men who have spent fifty years of their lives plying boats between Cairo and New Orleans, say that never before, as far back as they can remember, has the great river overspread its banks and created such destruction as during the present rise.

Over 300,000 people, it has been estimated, have been rendered destitute, thousands of square miles of land have been inundated, millions of dollars' worth of property have been destroyed and many lives have been lost. The Yazoo-Mississippi Delta and St. Francis Basin are almost completely under water, with small chances of a cotton crop from these fertile sections, while the great Tensas and Atchafalaya basins are threatened, and within the past two days crevasses on the Louisiana side have let in the yellow flood upon other large and fertile sections.

Memphis Contributes Supplies.

Memphis, Tenn.—The break in the levee at Biggs, four miles below Delta, La., which occupied at 10 o'clock Friday night, was widened rapidly and a solid stream of water is passing through an opening more than 1,500 feet wide. The roar of the water as it rushes through the crevasse can be heard for miles. The town of Delta is now inundated, and the waters are spreading over the lowland and will soon cover many fine plantations in Madison Parish. All of the convicts who were at work on the levee, when the crevasse came, have been safely put on board a steamer, and so far no less of life is reported in the vicinity of this latest break.

A large amount of supplies was forwarded from Memphis Saturday. The steamer Harbin carried provisions and feed up the St. Francis River to supply the relief stations established there. Lieut. Carnahan went on this trip to superintend the distribution of supplies. The steamer Rowena Lee left supplies for the relief stations between Memphis and Ashport. There will be several new stations visited by the Rowena Lee on this trip.

Crevasse a Mile Wide.

Vicksburg, Miss—An official report says the crevasse at Biggs, four miles below Delta, La., is nearly a mile wide and the roaring torrent is spreading over the lowlands of Madison Parish with startling rapidity. This is unquestionably the most destructive break that has yet occurred, and the loss to property and live stock will be enormous. Madison, Tensas and Concordia Parishes will be inundated, while the fine farms of Catahoula and Franklin Parishes are in imminent danger. The fertile lands of these parishes have been prepared for this year's crop and in many instances cultivation is well under way.

The water flooded the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railroad in a few hours' time, and trains west of this place are abandoned in consequence. The town of Delta is overflowed deeply and planters say that the water will back up to Milliken's Bend, sixteen miles to the north. Three white persons, two men and a woman, passed twelve hours in the midst of the furious waters of the crevasse perched in a tree. The water roused them from their beds, and they had only time to seek safety in its boughs when the mighty flood was upon them. They made known their presence by shouts and pistol shots during the night, and several attempts to rescue them were made, but it was not until 10 a. m., when an adventurous crew from the Government steamer Etta Ethridge, put out a yawl and rescued them. The river is falling here. The levee engineers will now endeavor to save the remaining levees, a task which is very hopeful at this time.

Many Destitute Negroes.

Natchez, Miss.—The guage here shows another rise of four-tenths during the last twenty-four hours. No breaks are reported in the immediate vicinity. Hundreds of refugees are filling the city, some being in a pitiable condition, almost starved, and with nothing on earth left them but the clothes on their backs. The levees at Helena, l'Argent and various other places are still in a dangerous condition. Labor is becoming scarce on account of the negroes leaving in great numbers. The situation is as critical as can be and not exaggerated.

Two Thousand Destitute.

Little Rock, Ark.—Governor Jones received a telegram Saturday from his private secretary, who is distributing funds in the flooded district, stating that a most deplorable state of affairs exists in Monroe county. He estimates that there are 2,000 persons and 1,000 head of stock in that county in need of immediate assistance to prevent starvation.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY

Of a Young Lady of Gasport, New York, from Anaemia.

From the Courier, Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Lulu Stevens, daughter of George Stevens, the well-known blacksmith, of Gasport, Niagara County, New York, has surprised her neighbors considerably, by not dying five months ago, when the physicians said she could not live.

This was quite a remarkable case. The young woman, who is very well known, on account of her musical ability, had been a very healthy girl, until about one year ago, when she began to fail, and grew so pale and apparently bloodless and so weak that after a few months she was given up to die.

Last winter a physician who was a visitor at Gasport met Miss Stevens, and seeing her emaciated condition, and hearing from the local doctors that the disease was anaemia, prevailed on the girl's mother to make her try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Directly she commenced the treatment she began to mend, and now since February, when she decided to take them, she has become well and strong and the picture of good health. The mother of the girl, Mrs. Stevens, says: "Every one in Gasport knows that Pink Pills cured Lulu, and I feel very thankful that we heard of them in time to save my child's life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

CAPITOL NEWS.

Regular Weekly Letter From Our Washington Correspondent.

SOME INTERESTING MATTERS.

William R. Day of Canton, Ohio to Be First Assistant Secretary.

TO GATHER INFORMATION.

American Society of Religious Education Meets.—Dr. Hunter of Kentucky in the City.—General Miles Wants to Go to Greece.—More Nominations.

Washington, D. C.,—(Special Correspondence.)—President McKinley has decided to nominate William R. Day, of Canton, O., to be first assistant secretary of state, and ex-Representative Bellamy Storer, of Cincinnati, O., to be minister to Belgium. These nominations were to have been sent to the Senate today, but owing to that body's adjournment over until Monday, they will not go in until next week. The filling of the office of first assistant to Secretary Sherman ends a problem that has bothered the president considerably. Mr. Storer was slated originally for this appointment, but the nomination was opposed strenuously by Senator Foraker and other well known Ohio republicans, who protested against it on persopal grounds. The selection of Judge Day to be first assistant secretary of state overturns the plan to send him to Cuba as special counsel to watch the Ruiz investigation. It would be without precedent for such an officer as first assistant secretary to go to another country to prosecute a case when later on he might have to engage in diplomatic negotiations with that same country on other subjects. At any rate, the conviction that the pursuit of the original mission by Judge Day would impair his usefulness in the future as an official of the state department, has led to the cancellation of the order to go to Cuba. Whether anyone will be appointed to take up the work of the special counsel laid down by the judge cannot be heard, but it is intimated that Gen. Lee is anxious to be relieved of his office, and any change there would probably make more pronounced the need of legal assistance in watching the Ruiz case.

The war department cabled to Capt. Scriven, United States military attache at Rome, permission to proceed to Athens and report to the United States minister there, with a view to gathering technical information in the war between Greece and Turkey. Capt. Dorst, the United States military attache at Vienna, has also been granted permission to go to Constantinople and accompany the Turkish troops in the campaign in a similar capacity if he cares to do so.

D., pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Presbyterian, will speak on "Religious Education and the Welfare of the Church." President A. P. Montague, of the College of Liberal Arts of the Columbian University, will speak on "The Bible as a Factor to a Liberal Education." Hon. Case Broderick, member of congress from Kansas, and Hon. J. W. Bailey, member of congress from Texas, will speak on "Religious Education and the National Welfare." President McKinley has promised to attend.

Dr. W. Godfrew Hunter, who withdrew as a candidate for senator from the republican caucus at Frankfort, Ky., arrived here Friday afternoon. "The reason for my not remaining at Frankfort until another nomination was made by the republican caucus," Dr. Hunter said, "is due to the fact that I did not want my motives misconstrued. I did not want it charged that I was trying to bring influence to bear in the selection of another candidate for senatorial honors as may continued presence at the capital might be construed. Anyone who is nominated will be entirely satisfactory to me. As to the indictment for bribery, that was simply a conspiracy to defeat me, and is a matter which gives me no concern."

The republican senators in caucus decided to accept the proposition of the opposition for the filling of senate committees, leaving the arrangement of details to Senator McMillan's committee on committees. The senator considered the project of filling the elective offices of the senate and the committee was authorized to negotiate with the opposition in the senate with the object of filling these offices. The clerk and sergeant-at-arms of the senate are democrats, and the republicans think that they should be allowed to name a man to fill one of these places. The details of this negotiation will be left to a sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. McMillan, Lodge and Spooner.

Gen. Miles has applied for permission to go to Greece to observe the war between that country and Turkey from a military point of view. Secretary Alger has brought the matter to the attention of the president and the latter has taken the application under consideration. The impression is that, owing to the rapid progress of the war and the likelihood that it will be brought to an end before Gen. Miles could reach the scene, the project will be abandoned. Should the order be made by the president, however, it will be the first time in our history that the general commander of the army has gone abroad during actual war as a military attache. It is true Gen. Sherman made a tour of the world in time of peace, in company with Fred. Grant, and that Sheridan accompanied the German army as an attache in the war with France, but in the first place there was no war in progress, and in the second, the officer was not at the time of such high rank as Gen. Miles.

The president has sent to the senate the following among other nominations: State—Harold M. Sewall, of Maine, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Hawaii. THE DOG WAS WORTHLESS

Y the Suit Went Through All the Courts and Plaintiff Finally Lost.

Washington, D. C.—The United States Supreme Court to-day decided a case involving a claim for damages for killing a dog, which had made its way from the lower courts of New Orleans through the various phases of litigation to be finally decided here in opposition to the claim. The suit was instituted by George W. Sentell, Jr. vs. the New Orleans & Carrollton Railway Company. The dog, a Newfoundland, valued at $200, was killed by a car owned by the railway company. The case turned upon the validity of an act of the Louisiana legislature recognizing dogs as personal property only when placed upon the assessment rolls. In this case the dog was not assesssed. Justice Brown delivered the opinion of the court, sustaining the constitutionality of the law and refusing damages.

Young Man Killed By Train.

Holly Springs, Miss.—An unknown man, evidently from Birmingham, Ala., was killed at Sallus Creek, five miles east of here, by passenger train No. 3, which leaves Memphis at 9 o'clock. He had on new clothes, a Stetson hat, with trade-mark of Simon Klots, haberdasher, Birmingham, on the band; several cards of the Delmonico restaurant, and two little locks. He also had five two-dollar bills. His watch was marked "The Plant Watch," and numbered 361,509. He was dark skinned and had curly hair. His body was terribly mangled, one arm being severed and the top of the skull knocked off and face split.

A Policeman Burglar.

Washington, D. C.—A queer complication in burglarism developed here when Policeman James E. Pierce, of the metropolitan force, was arrested for robbing houses on his beat. The sufferers were Mrs. Fannie McMillan and Mrs. M. Cooke. Both have houses in the fashionable residence section. The families were away at the time, and Pierce improved the opportunity to carry away a large amount of glass, clothing, porcelian and other portable valuables. Detectives searched his house and to-day recovered about $1,500 worth of plunder. Pierce, who comes from Vermont, has been on the force four years. He confessed his guilt, but refused to say where all his booty was secreted.

Window Glass to Advance.

Chicago, Ill.—At a special meeting of the National Executive Committee of the Western Window Glass Company and Pittsburg Window Glass Company an additional advance of 5 per cent was declared on all window glass in all parts of the counutry, to take effect May 3.

Bad News From Natchez.

Vicksburg, Miss.—The alarming condition of Hardcastle levee as reported from Natchez tonight, occasioned much anxiety for the front of Tensas Parish, which is not exempt from overflow by Biggs crevasse. If this levee gives way this will complete the ruin and cause other levees to give way.

An Ohioan Robbed.

Niles, O.—Five masked men broke into the residence of John Quinlin early Friday morning, and, after gagging and binding him, ransacked the house and secured $1,200 in cash, besides lots of valuable jewelry.

Sugar Trust Havemyer Dead.

New York, N. Y.—Theodore Havemeyer, Vice-President of the Sugar Trust, died at 3 o'clock Monday morning.

SOMEWHAT ENCOURAGING.

Army Officers Return From the Flood District and Make Report.

Washington.—The army officer sent from Fort Snelling, Minn., to the Red river section of Dakota, arrived on the scene of the flood and today reported to the war department as follows:

"Had conference with Mayor G. A. McCrea, J. K. Fairchild and J. K. Wylie, of the relief committee, who had just returned from making their rounds. Twenty families, comprising 105 persons, are destitute and in need of immediate aid. Twenty-two hundred rations will be sufficient for the next few days and can be purchased here at 10 cents per ration. I recommend that a sufficient sum be placed at the disposal of the mayor to provide necessary relief. River is falling steadily."

The Mississippi situation is shown by the following telegram from the army inspector at Memphis.

"Conditions improving. No more supplies needed at Trotter's landing. Helena does not want more supplies. Committee says they want money to spend there. No real destitution there. No truth in the report that negroes could not obtain supplies in Helena. Worthy destitutes are supplied."

AN ATLANTA SENSATION.

The Gate City Comes to the Front With Its Usual Sensation.

Atlanta, Ga.—A profound sensation was created in this city by the announcement that Harry W. Cassin, cashier of the Georgia Loan, Savings and Banking Company, had misappropriated some $45,000 of the funds of that institution. Cassin has always been known as a young man of exemplary habits and fine business qualifications.

Cashier Cassin applied the funds of the bank to private enterprises in which he wished to invest, and lost all, until finally his defalcations reached the sum already stated and discovery followed.

Friends and relatives of the young man have made up the shortage and the bank will not lost a dollar of the sum stolen.

Young Cassin will not be prosecuted. His connection with the bank ceased yesterday, and he will begin life anew in Atlanta.

A WEALTHY WIDOW

Shoots and Kills a Woman of Ill Repute in Fort Smith.

Fort Smith, Ark.—Mrs. Fannie Bourland, a wealthy widow of this city, today secretted herself in the closet in a house of ill fame while the occupants were absent and when the women returned she shot and killed Maud Allen. Two shots were fired, the woman being instantly killed. It is said that this is the third attempt Mrs. Bourland has made to kill the Allen woman. The cause of the shooting is said to be an intimacy between Fagan Bourland and Maud Allen. Mrs. Bourland was arrested and released on bail.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS TRAGEDY.

Several Shots Were Heard and Two Men Were Found Killed.

Uniontown, Pa—Frank Brown, a civil engineer of Fair Chance, and Joshua McFadden, a butcher of this place, engaged a room at the Lafayette hotel this afternoon in which to transact some important business. A few hours later several shots were heard and the dead bodies of the men were found lying on the floor. Only one revolver was found in the room and it is believed that one man killed the other and then committed suicide.

The men were formerly business partners, and it is thought they quarrelled over the settlement of their affairs.

Suffering in the Interior.

Vicksburg, Miss.—There is every reason to believe there is much suffering in the interior, where many negroes and whites of small means, or none at all, are surrounded by many miles of water. Camp Arden, where the sufferers in this city have assembled from both this state and Louisiana, had its first tents pitched today and will receive a thousand or more guests tomorrow.

A Case of "Yellow Jack."

New York, N. Y.—Otis E. Bullock, of Haverhill, Mass., aged 21 years, died toady of malignant yellow fever at Swineburne Island Hospital. He was a passenger on the Columbia line steamship Finance, from Panama.

A Mysterious Death.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Richard Long, of Charleston, S. C., was found dead in bed here Monday night. He is survived by a wife and two children, who are in Charleston. The Coroner is investigating the case.

Murder and Suicide.

Chicago, Ill.—John H. Rapp was shot and killed in his wholesale liquor house, No. 5270 Milwaukee avenue, by his confidential clerk, G. W. Braunschweig. The murderer afterward killed himself.

Virginia Postoffice Robbed.

Richmond, Va.—Burglars, evidently experts, broke into the postoffice at Lewisburg, W. Va., at an early hour Monday morning and secured about $700 in stamps and money.

RULE OF MONOPOLY.

NO DESPOTISM WORSE THAN THAT OF PLUTOCRACY.

It Must Be Broken and Power Restored to the People—Henry L. Gant Issues Some Good Advice to Our Yeomanry—Municipal Ownership.

It is idle to talk of taxing the people prosperous. It is the quintessence of folly to talk of making the foreigner pay the revenue through a tariff with which to pay the running expenses of the government. No one, but political demagogues and arrant fools will waste any time discussing these questions. Then what is the trouble, and what the remedy? The trouble is that the people do not rule. The syndicates and trusts run the government to suit their interests. Ninety-five per cent of the people are robbed of the greater portion of what they produce by rent, usury and what great thieves are pleased to call profits. The coal fields and the oil wells of the country are monopolized by syndicates and trusts and private enterprise is shut out. This enables the trusts to make great profits on these products, or rather, to remorselessly plunder the people. The land is fast passing into the control of monopolies. Already great tracts are owned by syndicates and many thousands of people are robbed by rent. There are many other trusts and monopolies which are daily robbing the people. The result is that the wealth of the country is accumulating into the hands of a few and the highways are filled with tramps, the jails are gorged with criminals, the insane asylums packed with the insane, the alm-houses are overflowing with helpless paupers and the life of the great western republic is in great peril.

The lines of transportation and communication have always aided and fostered the other great trusts and corporations. Rockefeller could never have monopolized the coal oil but for the railroads. He not only got cheap rates for his oil, but the railroads charged all other oil dealers excessive rates and a part of that excess went to Rockefeller; thus he could make money if he did not sell a gallon of his oil. The failure of the United Press has given an object lesson on private ownership of the lines of communication. It cost the New York Journal $225,000 to get a franchise from the Associated Press, which now has a monopoly on news. Papers in little county towns are mulcted $10,000 to $20,000. This does not pay for the news, but simply for the privilege of getting it. This would be impossible under proper conditions.

Every city and town should own its water system, street railways and lighting plant. Millions of dollars are annually fleeced from the people by monopolies. They must be suppressed. —H. L. Gant.

MEXICO'S PROSPERITY.

Free Silver There Seems to Be Sound Money.

The Mexican Herald of recent date contains the following article, which shows the advantage of using silver money:

"It is interesting to note that just as Mexico is spreading her silver-tipped wings for a higher flight into the upper air of healthy prosperity, great American journals are telling their readers that the United States is no longer a virgin country of vast and unexplored resources, and that the American people must now begin to reckon with the conditions that surround older civilizations.

"Here we are looking for the days of greater things; we have bigger banks than any in the United States; we have more hopeful pioneers of industry; our capitalists are planning every day something new, and have a habit of getting dividends out of their enterprises. The treasury is full and a surplus confronts us. Minister Limantour finds the finances so satisfactory that he abandoned some of the economies needed in our day of smaller things. President Diaz' ample brain is teeming with progressive ideas and he is letting them out daily. You can get good interest on your money here, and combines of the United States have not all crossed the border yet with sharp teeth set like a pack of hungry wolves eager to fatten on Mexican prosperity.

"Mexico stands a great, big, luminous, solid silver example of sound government, sound finances and money."

Dividends of National Banks.

The comptroller of the currency has given authority for the organization of the First United Bank of Greensboro, Pa.; capital, $50,000.

The comptroller of the currency has declared dividends in favor of the creditors of insolvent national banks, as follows:

Forty per cent, the First National Bank of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Fifteen per cent, the Second National Bank of Rockford, Ill.

Five per cent, the German National Bank of Denver, Colo.

Five per cent, the City National Bank of Fort Worth, Tex.

Ten per cent, the First National Bank of Willimantic, Ct.

Three and three-tenths per cent, the Evanston National Bank, of Evanston, Ill.

Eight per cent, American National Bank of Springfield, Mo.

Ought Now to Be Reclaimed.

Seventy-eight per cent of the great fortunes of the United States are said to be derived from permanent monopoly privileges which ought never to have been granted.—Lyman Trumbull.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

Government ownership of natural monopolies will go a long way toward killing trusts and combines.—Nonconformist.

The Cleveland Leader uses a beautiful "Dawn of Prosperity" head over the new tariff bill, but its foreman spoiled the effect by running a list of business failures in the adjoining column.—Washington Post.

Property in land has ceased to be a right and become a crying evil when one man, or a number of men, can hold a million acres against the natural desire and right of a million men to occupy and use it.—Castorville Enterprise.

Labor unions of Pennsylvania are praying and beseeching McKinley not to appoint so many enemies of labor to office. That is nerve. Enemies of labor elected McKinley, and they are entitled to the offices.—Omaha Western Laborer.

If Venice could carry on its commerce 600 years without a panic or a currency bottomed purely on its credit and Uncle Sam carrying on his commerce on intrinsic money has had four great panics and many lesser ones in 100 years, which has had the wiser financial policy?—The Better Way.

In New York 26,000 people spend $2,500,000 on clubs; $20,000,000 on yachts; $3,500,000 on flowers; $20,000,0000 on jewelry; $31,877,500 on European travel; $5,000,000 on wine and spirits; $213,244,000 for these eight items of pure luxury, while millions of our best and thoroughly patriotic citizens toil every hour of their waking moments without seeing a hundred dollars of luxury in a lifetime.—Joliet News.

The only banker that ever became a great finance minister was Necker. Guizot says that Necker replenished the French treasury not by increasing the imposts upon the poor, but by a curtailment of the emoluments and privileges and the levy of an income tax upon the rich. Lyman J. Gage does not believe in this policy. He stands for what the noblesse stood for in the reign of Louis XVI. Ergo, Gage will never become a great finance minister.—Dubuque (Iowa) Telegraph.

There is no disguising the fact that in many sections of the country the number of the unemployed has about reached the danger line. What is to be done? We admit that this is a question more easily asked than answered, and still it must be answered. The calculations of those who were in a majority in the presidential campaign have gone amiss, at least as to the time of their fulfillment, and the people are no longer in a humor to be guided by the same advisers.—Eight Hour Herald.

In Nebraska corn is selling at 8 cents a bushel. In Louisiana, in the drouth district, for the poor and needy widows, they ask 40 cents. The question arises who "they" are, and who pays the freight?—Nonconformist.

The trouble with the complaining farmers is that they do not manage their farms in a business way. They keep in the old rut of growing the ordinary farm crops, while they should plant taxes, banks, railroads, official salaries and all such things as are constantly advancing in value. A majority of them voted for this unparalleled boom of prosperity and the elevation in price of the things we now advise them to plant. Now they should stop growing the crops they voted to reduce in price, and turn their attention to the things that pay.—Sledge Hammer.

Wholesale Robbery the Cause.

Under the heading "Why India Starves," the San Francisco Star says: "It has a population of 20,000,000, receiving an average income of $375 per head annually. They have to pay, by taxation, $100,000,000 annually to officials, mostly British, and the amount is largely spent in England; besides this they must pay $125,000,000 for interest and pensions; all must be paid in gold, and further impoverishment has resulted from stopping the coinage of silver. Thus, while they average an income of little over one cent a day, nearly a fourth of that cent goes for virtual plunder, which reminds one of Carlisle's celebrated expression as to the cause of the French revolution—that the widow gathers three nettles for her family, and the seigneur takes one of the three and calls it 'rent.'"

When prices begin to fall people begin to sell and to horde the money. When prices are on the rise people withdraw their hoarded money and invest it in property. Prices are now declining and money is being hoarded. The increase of the circulating medium would cause prices to rise. Then owners of money would be falling over each other to exchange their money for that which is rising in value. Every avenue of industry would be benefited. The volume of money can be increased by the remonetization of silver only.

The free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 will abolish all banks of issue and therefore will result in the establishment of safe and sound government savings banks, in which every depositor will also be a depositor.

Six million people voted for free silver in 1896. Six million people know the value to producers of a larger circulating medium.

Keep the silver issue in the foreground.

THE RAILROAD ISSUE.

Public Ownership of Transportation Facilities Under Modern Methods.

Just now the transportation question is in the glare of the country's searchlight, and Populist doctrine will prevail in the examination. Sixty-five years ago, when our fathers were experimenting with steam and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company was offering a prize of $4,000 for a locomotive that would draw a load fifteen miles an hour, the subject of transportation was not a national problem. It was but a local affair. Railway companies, like ordinary business establishments, were strangers to one another, and goods in transit were rehandled at the end of every road. There were no through lines, there was no through traffic, there were no through tickets or bills of lading.

All that has passed away under the operation of the law of development, says the Topeka Advocate, and now we have a judicial declaration of the law of the land—which is, in this case, also nature's law—that no combination of private interests shall be permitted to stand in the way of the common interests of the whole body of the people. The combinations among railway and other corporations were but so many evidences of nature's law working through the selfish interests of individual men; and not until their conduct came in conflict with public interests were they arrested and brought before the bar of the people's court.

The testimony shows that means for the distribution of the people's surplus productions are absolutely necessary if society and government are to be maintained, that every member of the social organism is interested more or less in the interchange of commodities, and that justice requires the establishment and maintenance of uniform and reasonable rates of charge for moving property from producers to consumers. The testimony further shows that the private and personal interests of individual men are not safe guides for the administration of public justice.

The law of the case, as it has been delivered by the court, is that public rights are paramount and that nothing is lawful which interferes with them or abridges them, and that the people in their organized capacity have an inherent right to protect themselves as a social or political entity.

The verdict and judgment will be that public transportation is the exercise of a public function, that therefore the means employed for its exercise ought to be owned and operated by public agents, and charges ought to be no more than for the use of other public property—enough to keep it in repair.

The Real Cause of Fright.

We find such loquacious philosophers as Harrison, Cleveland, Sherman and others of the intrinsic value school constantly gabbling about parity between the two metals, and asserting that the free coinage of silver would destroy parity. They do not seem to recognize the fact that by the demonetization of silver gold has gone to a premium of one hundred per cent over silver and all other commodities. They do not condescend to tell us how they are going to regulate that party. The dislocation of the parity was all in favor of bondholders, money loaners, misers, and extortioners, who robbed the masses of the value of half their possessions. That slight divergence of parity does not wory a goldbug or any of the agents of the combine. They, parrot like, say that if any attempt to right the wrong which destroyed parity is made, gold will go to a premium, as if it was not at a premium now of more than one hundred per cent over anything else.

Gold going to a premium is not what ails them. They are afraid that gold will be cheaper and the premium will be reduced. They know, and their masters know, that if silver is restored to the right of mintage and endowed with the money function equally with gold, as it was from time immemorial, gold will lose a large part of its purchasing power, and that the rascals who demonetized silver will be compelled to disgorge a small portion of the swag which they have secured by bribery and corruption. We believe that if the United States would open her mints to silver equally with gold the demand for silver would be such as to restore the parity between the two metals which existed before these intrinsic value gabblers demonetized silver at the command of the Rothschild combination. —Silver Knight-Watchman.

The Same Old Cry.

There never was a wrong inflicted upon a people that those who were the recipients of the benefits that accrue as a result of the wrong, did not object to the agitation against the wrong. It was said that the anti-slavery agitation was detrimental to the business interests of the country. It was said the agitation against the old United States bank was a dangerous business. We are now met with the same old cry that the agitation of free coinage in particular and Populism in general are detrimental to the best interests of the country. It is the same old cry of the same old class who eat their bread in the sweat of another's face.—Moscow (Idaho) Times.

Don't let any one persuade you that the tariff is going to be the issue in 1898 and 1900. There is one issue, and that is the full and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the established ratio of 16 to 1.

The advance agent of prosperity will soon acknowledge that his show has canceled all its engagements.

Had Bryan been elected there would not now be an idle man in the United States.

TRUMPET CALLS.

It is as safe to trust in God as it ever was.

Don't give a tract where bread is needed most.

Life has most in it for those who know God best.

When you know what a man believes you know what he is.

Truth never stays over night in any house built on the sand.

Never measure any man's piety by the length of his face.

What men call failure may often be what angels call success.

Woe to that man who has the saloon-keeper for his friend.

One step away from God is all it takes to reach the gate of hell.

Every failure carries a guide-book to success in its inside pocket.

Anybody can say prayers, but only a worshiper of God can pray.

When the devil comes to an empty mind he at once begins to fill it.

No man can do God's will until God's will has first been done in him.

The man who tries to hide his sin forgets that God is everywhere.

Idolatry is a plan of salvation that the sinful man makes for himself.

Many who are born in sight of heaven appear to do all their traveling toward the pit.

"Look unto me and be ye saved," shows how easy God has made man's part in being saved.

Important Papers.

Queen Victoria has given so many proofs of the possession of sterling virtues that no one ever expects her to swerve from the path approved by her judgment and her conscience. When she first became queen, however, the world had yet to learn how determined the young girl ruler could be.

Lord Melbourne, her prime minister, is said to have declared that he would rather have ten kings to manage than one queen.

On one occasion he arrived at Windsor late on Saturday night, and informed his youthful sovereign that he had brought for her inspection some papers of importance. "But," said he, "as they must be gone into at length, I will not trouble your Majesty with them to-night, but will request your attention to them to-morrow morning."

"To-morrow morning?" replied the Queen. "To-morrow is Sunday, my lord."

"But business of state, please your Majesty."

"Must be attended to, I know," replied the Queen, "and as, of course, you could not get down earlier to-night, I will, if these papers are of such vital importance, attend to them after we come from church to-morrow."

In the morning the royal party went to church, and the noble statesman was not absent. Much to his surprise, the sermon was on the duties of the Sabbath.

"How did your lordship like the sermon?" asked the Queen.

"Very much, your Majesty," he replied.

"I will not conceal from you," said the Queen, "that last night I sent the clergyman the text from which to preach. I hope we shall all be the better for his words."

It is presumable that they were better, for the day passed, and no word was heard of the papers. At night, when her Majesty was about to withdraw, she said: "To-morrow morning, my lord, at any hour you please, we will go into those papers—at 7 o'clock, if you like."

But the papers had suddenly grown less pressing, for the Prime Minister found that 9 o'clock would be quite early enough to attend to them.

Queer California Soil.

The oil resources of California are being carefully investigated by the State Mining Bureau, which looks for a great development some day of the oil industry along the slopes of the coast range from San Francisco southward almost to the Mexican border line. The recent extensive explorations made in the southern part of the State by W. L. Watts of the Mining Bureau formed the subject of an interesting popular lecture given recently before the Academy of Science.

The discourse was made additionally entertaining by a stereopticon display of views of the oil wells, bituminous deposits and petroleum-bearing regions visited by the lecturer.

One of the views showed an asphaltum flow in which were sticks and stones and bones of animals. Sometimes, the lecturer explained, cattle lie down in the asphaltum when it is warm; they never get up again. At other times, on warm days, cows attempt to walk through the soft black stuff, but they stay in it until they are rescued or until they die.—San Francisco Call.

AMID imposing ceremonies the body of U. S. Grant was transferred to its final resting place in the mausoleum in New York on Tuesday.

WE are sorry to learn that Congressman W. F. Aldrich is very sick with typhoid fever at Washington. It is to be hoped he will speedily recover, we need him in Congress.

THE Montgomery Journal says about 250 negroes have left that city within the past few days for Maplesville and other points along the line of the new railroad to work on its construction.

THE date of the Confederate reunion at Nashville, an account of which we published in our last issue, was erroneously given as May 22, 23, 24. The re-union will be held on June 22, 23, 24, and not in the month of May.

THE weekly crop Bulletin says cotton is coming up small and needs warmth and gentle rains to invigorate growth; in some localities the stand was so poor as to necessitate replanting. Worms are damaging young corn in many places.

THE Kentucky senatorial fight is at last ended and W. J. Deboe, Republican, succeeds Joe Blackburn, Democrat. The election from start to finish has been of such a character as to emphasize the fact that the present system of electing U. S. senators is not in touch with modern ideas, and that they should be elected by direct vote of the people.

A BANQUET was given by the Reform Club at New York last week at which Grover Cleveland was one of the speakers. Some of our contemporaries are inferring from his speech that he contemplates becoming a candidate for the presidency in 1900. We think they can rest in peace, there is no probability of Cleveland again becoming president.

A FEW weeks ago the city of Birmingham began to lease the city prisoners to the Sloss company to work in the mines. A prisoner, J. H. Powell, convicted in the inferior court of disorderly conduct, petitioned for his release on a writ of habeas corpus, and Judge Banks declared the clause of the act under which the city authorities entered into the contract with the Sloss company was unconstitutional and that Powell is entitled to his discharge. Aside from the law in the case Birmingham has not added to its reputation by sentencing misdemeanants to penal servitude.

All who remember Mr. Stephen Bonsal's brilliant services last winter as Cuban war correspondent of the New York Herald will be interested in his statement of "The Real Condition of Cuba To-Day," which appears in the Review of Reviews. This is the latest authentic summing-up of the Cuban situation that has been given to the press, and it should be read by all who care to know the facts. Mr. Bonsal's article gives us a realizing sense of the truth that we have an Amenia at our very doors.

Jemison.

On 25 inst. near Rockymount, Mrs. Elizabeth Glasscock, aged 71 years, crossed the last river. She has so long been such a devoted Christian her loving children will cherish her many virtues and advice. To see those bereaved ones linger around the casket, so reluctant to give the last sad parting view of mother, spoke volumes of love. We can but extend to them our warmest sympathy.

Mr. Charlie Reynolds and beautiful bride are housekeeping in Jemison. But Mr. Charlie don't forget to push business in his new store. Success to the happy couple.

People's Press Bureau, St. Louis, Mo., April 28, 1897.

Congress goes grinding along at its make-believe of business, killing time and drawing its salary. The best thing it has done is the appropriation of $200,000 for the aid of the poor who are thrown out of employment by the disastrous flood of the lower Mississippi. It is estimated that the government can furnish rations enough for three meals at a cost of 10 cents per capita per day. Each man is allowed nine ounces of salt pork, 13½ ounces of flour, 15 ounces of corn meal and a portion of beans and molasses. That poor people can be fed at such a low figure as well or better than they are able with steady work, to provide for themselves, is food for reflection on the evils of ignorance and the credit system. It is a matter for congratulation that the War department is making itself useful in distributing these rations.

The war in Cuba goes bloodily on. McKinley has so far failed to execute the bit of threatened jingoism that was promised us by his adherents. John Jacob Astor advises the United States to buy Cuba, but why Spain should be paid for that which she does not possess has not been explained.

Associated Press dispatches tell us that the middle-of-the-road wing of the reform press has through its executive committee called a national conference to meet at Nashville, Tenn., July 4, 1897. The fact that the committee issuing the "call" is made up partly of men who have already read themselves out of the People's party or who are locally discredited for their services to Hanna in the last campaign, weakens the force of this effort to disrupt the party and ride rough shod over the regularly elected National committee. Senator Butler said in regard to this proposed conference: "The National Chairman will not be present. You may quote me as saying that any Populist who does attend defies the regular organization of the party." Mr. Butler said that he had received the resolutions adopted at the Memphis conference, suggesting that a conference be held, and had submitted it by mail to each of the 145 members of the National committee. The responses had been overwhelmingly in favor of non-action.

It has developed that Senator Stewart, by having entered objections to the immediate consideration of the Alaskan Boundary Treaty, not only blocked Olney's and Cleveland's game of turning over to England a large and valuable slice of our Alaskan Territory, but saved us further humiliation at the hands of these well paid Anglo maniacs.

Eugene Debs announces through the New York Journal that radical changes will be made in the A. R. U. at the convention to be held in Chicago the third week in June. He believes that strikes only increase the burden of the laboring man. He outlines a grand co-operative scheme which will be lead up to by organized educational work. Some western state will be chosen for the concentration of the now laborless thousands who, when gathered in sufficient numbers, will control legislation, thus building up prosperity on the only true foundation, the well being of the laboring people.

Your Vitality?

The essence of life is force. Every breath you breathe, every heart beat, every motion of your hand, takes force. The measure of force we call vitality. If this is lacking, there is loss of flesh, lack of resistive power, a tendency to catch disease easily, especially a tendency to Consumption. For low vitality nothing is better than Scott's Emulsion. It supplies force by furnishing the nourishing, strengthening elements of food in an easily digested form; enriches the blood, and builds up the system. When ordinary food is of no avail, Scott's Emulsion will supply the body with all the vital elements of life.

Thorsby.

Mr. Adams, a prospective M. D., attracted by the charms for him (sick folks) of our town, has deposited his traps and will stay with us temporarily. We hope our citizens will give him a busy welcome.

Our saw mill is running full time and the shingle mill steamed up to-day.

Our clocks now are the whistles of our enterprises. Our farmers are well up with planting, having taken advantage of the last week's pretty weather.

The vineyards and fruit farms are getting their share of attention.

Our merchants are doing a rushing business both in groceries and dry goods. Spring time suggests pretty new clothes.

The visiting capitalists have gone with an indelible impression of the opportunities of our South land and some will return bringing with them a number of families who will settle in the Thorsby addition and enjoy with us its numerous advantages, both in climate and associations.

We are well fitted with schools One in progress in the Swedish language, another will open next week in English, also a music class

Strasburg.

Easter has come and gone but left us with sweet recollections of the Easter-time we spent together. A nice company of children were entertained at the residence of Mr. J. Bice, on the highest point in this little town, by searching in the spacious grounds for the fabled rabbits nests of Easter Eggs. Such a jolly time they had rushing hither and thither each vieing with the other in finding the greatest number of the many colored eggs The boyish shouts and the sweet girlish laughter kept the air resonant for a while. After the hunt the childish games began in earnest and lasted until the sun warned us that the shades of evening were coming on, when we hied us away to our homes to make ready for another entertainment tendered us by the same hospitable friend for the evening. We were there joined by a company of our new friends from Norway and Sweden and together we enjoyed a musicale, then a stroll home by moonlight.

Several of our towns people and neighbors are very ill at present, some seriously so, others improving. Mr. G. W. Collins not expected to live, Mrs. Lula Swinford very ill, Mr. A. F. Childers, we are glad to hear, is out of danger.

Some faces among us are saddened by the departure for home of some of our visitors, one specially so, on account of Miss Thompson leaving for Deatsville. Cheer up, she has promised to come again.

Prof. and Mrs. Moore will leave us to-morrow for a visit to friends in Birmingham.

Miss Katie Hill, who has been visiting relatives in the Magic City has gladdened the hearts of some of the young folks by her return.

Preaching at Salem last Sunday by Rev. Albert Foshee. Subject: Belshazzar.

Mrs. Belle McKinzie has been visiting Mr. Bice's family, much to the delight of her many old time friends, having once lived near here.

The only bone of contention among us is the position of the post office in regard to the twin town.

Some parties took a morning ride to the country and the trip was very much enlivened by a race between a colt and a yellow steer. We hope the steer won.

Prof. Logan led us in a singing one evening last week. ANON, ANON, SIR.

Ala. Polytechnic Institute.

The Alabama Polytechnic Institute is now six months old.

The work we are doing is a great one. The new building not being complete we have not the capacity we need, but all seem to adapt themselves to the situation, hence our work is progressing wonderfully.

It seems that the idea of many was that the girls who would attend this Institute would not be of the highest type. We have over two hundred of Alabama's best daughters, zealous, earnest girls, who are preparing themselves for life's duties; girls who appreciate the opportunity the State has given them and feel that life's claims on them, demands broad and high culture.

We have eight departments: Literary, including English, Mathematics, Science and Pedagogy. Music: Instrumental and Vocal. Art, Elocution, Stenography and Typewriting, Telegraphy, Dress-making and Cooking.

Our faculty is composed of educators who are giving themselves heart and soul to their work. Each one is so ready to help and encourage. Should any girl fail to accomplish her work, it is indeed her own fault. Under the influence of the sweet Christian women and noblemen, each girl is bound to become more Christlike, and to feel an inspiration "for something better than they have known." Her courage is renewed and she feels more determined to enter the arena of life with a purpose of making it a success. No mother need hesitate in entrusting her daughter to the influence of this school.

We have several girls from Chilton and most of them are taken a normal course. May the time hasten when she will stand pre-eminent among her sister counties in educational advantages.

While our faculty is one of the best, we can not refrain from speaking personally of our president, Capt. F. C. Reynolds. We find him in his official duties to be as he is known, a business man ever ready to lend a helping hand. The girls of Alabama can never pay to him the debt of gratitude for his arduous labors in making our school a success. POLYTECHNIC GIRL.

Continued Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a Cough remedy. J. D. Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinsville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 F. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trial Bottles at J. S. Johnson, Jr. Drug Store.

Rockymount.

There is one farmer of this community, a man whose religious belief is in fasting. Some ten years ago he fasted ten days, took neither water nor food. Easter Sunday morning he retired to what is known as Stump Hill and for ten days has taken neither water nor food. He says he is going to fast until he dies, be resurrected the third day and crowned king and reign a thousand years on earth. He reads his bible constantly, and is undoubtedly partially, if not wholly, insane on the subject of religion. At this writing he is lost in the woods and has not been found, he will probably die or go insane. His relatives are much interested. He carries a large life insurance policy of the Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Mrs. A. Inveen, residing at 720 Henry St., Alton, Ill., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for over eight months. She doctored for it nearly the whole of this time, using various remedies recommended by friends, and was treated by the physicians, but received no relief. She then used one and a half bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which effected a complete cure. This is published at her request as she wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured her. Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE, has its victim at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a sure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Wineinger, of Selkirk, Kansas, writes; "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was numb and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects, I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."

Fatal Accident to Mr. James Vines.

Last Thursday afternoon a fatal accident occurred near Jumbo—to Mr. James Vines. He was returning from Mahan & Davis' mill with a load of lumber when by some unexplained means he fell into the road and it is supposed died at once. He was last seen alive about two o'clock, but it was not until several hours later his body was discovered. He was buried Saturday at the Mullins graveyard Jumbo, Rev. L. B. Pounds preaching the funeral service. The unfortunate gentleman was highly regarded and his death is a loss to the entire community. A widow and three children, who have our deepest sympathy, mourn his untimely end.

Americans are the most inventive people on earth. To them have been issued nearly 600,000 patents, or more than one third of all the patents issued in the world. Base ball at Jemison.

The game of ball last Saturday between Jemison and Clanton was called at 2:30 p.m. by Umpire L. H. Reynolds. The players were: Jemison, I. M. Langston, Chas. Shaw, W. Bandy, B. McNeil, W. G. Hand, J. W. Patton, W. S. Cameron, Ed Wilkes and E. H. Adams. Clanton, R. A. Bearden, Jas. Middleton, W. G. Johnson, B. Y. McMorries, Eugene Chesnutt, Walter Aldridge, J. W. Johnson, Chas. McDaniel and Rush Vines.

The game was very exciting and at times the yells of the fair ones were so loud until the player himself was addled. It would seem as if each team was playing to make runs only, and not to prevent their opponents from making any.

The scores by innings are as follow:

Innings:	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Jemison:	1	0	4	0	5	2	1	1	5	=19
Clanton:	5	0	0	0	0	5	0	5	5	=20

A SIMPLE TIRE REPAIR.

Punctures in the well known Morgan & Wright tire are mended about as easily as a man would close a hole in his finger with a bit of court plaster. Inside of the inner tube of the tire lies a long strip of patching rubber, like this:

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture into this inner tube, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, like this.

the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement and thus closing the puncture, like this:

Very simple, but—now every rider should remember these two "buts," or he will fail:

Before injecting cement, pump up the tire. If you don't, the INNER tube will be flabby, like this, and the cement will not get inside of it, where the repair strip lies.

When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.

5 DROPS — 49 YEARS OF SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATISM.

Read carefully this testimonial found below, also letters from those who have been cured of other diseases, and remember that "5 Drops" has and can never fail to quickly relieve and permanently cure. Sept. 8, 1896.

DEAR SIR:—Your bottle of "5 Drops" received. It was for an old friend, Mr. Wm. Edwards, of Martinstown Wis. He has had Neuralgia in his chest, suffering a great deal of pain, so much so that it affected his heart and he could not sleep on account of a smothered feeling. He has been under the care of the most eminent physicians, but found no relief until I gave him a dose of "5 Drops." The very first night he rested well, and has ever since, and is gaining daily. I myself am 67 years old and began taking your medicine last April for Rheumatism, which I have had for 49 years, also for a weak heart. Since taking "5 Drops" the Rheumatism has all disappeared, the stiffness is gone from my joints, and my heart never misses a beat. I am to-day a well, strong woman, and I owe it to "5 Drops." I only wish I could sound my bugle of praise loud enough to be heard all over the world, and could convince every one that "5 Drops" is all you claim it to be and more.

Mrs. D. T. Carver, Winslow, Stevenson Co., Ill.

34 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

DEAR SIR:— JANUARY 2, 1897.

Over 34 years ago, I had Typhoid Fever, and barely escaped with my life. It left my system so shattered that I have had ever since, Rheumatism and Throat Trouble, which gave me a terrible Cough. I had been unable to find any relief for these diseases, until I learned of your "5 DROPS", which I commenced taking only two months ago, and my cure has been indeed WONDERFUL. Already my cough has entirely disappeared, and the Rheumatism which for a few years past has threatened to make a cripple of me, is cured, and I am free from pain. This is the most wonderful and the cheapest remedy ever discovered. I am more thankful to you than words can tell and I want everybody to know what "5 DROPS" has done for me. Although I am OVER 70 YEARS old, I am feeling better than I have in years.

I shall be glad to answer any questions regarding my case from anyone enclosing a two cent stamp. Gratefully yours,

MRS. SAMUEL RIBLET, Litchfield, Mich.

CATARRH AND HAY FEVER.

I find the bottle of "5 DROPS" to be very good and just what you claim. My wife has been suffering with Catarrh and Hay Fever over 16 years. She has tried everything and doctored much, but no cure until she tried "5 DROPS" which completely cured her.

Yours truly REV. L. VON WALD, March 31, 1896. Milbank, S. D.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA.

For twenty long years my wife suffered untold tortures from Sciatica and Neuralgia, and I thank God for the day that your heaven-sent remedy fell into my hands, for it completely cured her. I am a minister of the Gospel, and when I find any who suffer, cannot help but recommend "5 DROPS", for I know it will do more than you claim for it.

REV. J. M. COOPER, Washington Center, Mo.

PARALYSIS AND RHEUMATISM

DEAR SIRS: NOVEMBER 9, 1896.

It is with pleasure I speak of your priceless remedy and of the good it has done me. For the last eight years I have been an incurable cripple from paralysis and rheumatism. Just think for eight years a total cripple not able to earn a penny no able to walk or step on the ground without the aid of something to lean on. Heaven bless the man who discovered this remedy, for, thanks to him and to God, I am able to walk and able to work. I have only taken two-thirds of a bottle, but have not had any pain in my back since I took the first dose, and after the second I walked across the floor, which I have not done in years. I have thrown away my cane and shall never need it again. To any one sending me a two-cent stamp I will send my affidavit. I have another bottle of "5 DROPS" and value it at $1.00 per drop.

Thankfully yours, EDWARD CASTLE, 1005 Wall Street. Sioux City, Iowa.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

DEAR SIRS: SEPTEMBER 24, 1896.

I wish to tell you and suffering humanity how much good "5 DROPS" has done me. On the beginning of this year I took down bedfast with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and I was doctored by as good physicians as this country has, but they could not cure me. On August 4, I began to take "5 DROPS." At that time every joint in my body and my limbs were stiff, so that I could not be moved. Even my tongue was getting so that I could hardly speak so any one could understand me, but to-day, only seven weeks from that time, I am absolutely cured, and thank you and God for my recovery.

Gratefully yours, HORACE P. ANDERSON, McCracken, Kans.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief, and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism Neuralgia, Sciatica, Catarrh, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Backache, Hay Fever, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and kindred diseases. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle, prepaid by mail, 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER. 10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC .....CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

BOON FOR MOTHERS .....CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet eaten by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PURELY VEGETABLE .....CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN .....CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE .....CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

A war device which has been indorsed by the Austrian Government is a flying machine, designed to carry destruction into the camp of the enemy. It will sustain a weight of from forty to fifty pounds at a distance of 1,500 feet above the earth. Directly under the balloon is the flying apparatus and beneath this is a small torpedo. The latter also contains an automatic arrangement which will explode the balloon at a given time and send down a shower of dynamite.

Ponder Over It.

A prominent building owner, with years of experience, gave the following instructions to his architect: "I have had my experience with kalsomine and other goods claimed to be just as good as Alabastine. I want you to specify the durable Alabastine on all my walls; do not put on any other manufacturers' dope, if they furnish it for nothing. Alabastine is right, and when I cease to use it I shall cease to have confidence in myself or my own judgment."

Pincers are made by a machine which, in one operation, cuts out the handle and jaw. The two parts are afterwards joined by hand.

FROM THE WAR.

News From the Conflict Between Turkey and Greece.

SOME FIGHTING DONE.

Kumansides, Near Strevina, Occupied By the Greeks.

THE GREEK ARMY ROUTED.

Mutiny Reported in the Ranks of the Turkish Army.—Bulgaria Won't Knuckle.—Into Turkish Territory.—Battle Around Mati.

Athens, Greece. — A dispatch received from the Greek commander in Epirus, Colonel Manos announced that that the Greeks have occupied Kumasades, near Strevina.

Greek scouting parties have reached points close to Port Pente Pegada.

The Greek squadron, after bombarding Santi Quaranta, left Corfu, and, on arriving in he Bay of Santi Quaranta, immediately formed in line of battle.

The warships were spread out fan-shaped and the torpedo boats occcupied points of vantage. Fire was opened in the liveliest kind of cannonade for two hours, the great destructiveness of which was soon observed in dismantled buildings everywhere, whiles the flames broke out in many places.

The fire of the Greek gunners was directed most admirably and no ammunition was wasted.

The Turkish garrison, at about noon, was seen to have sought refuge in the fort. The Turks were supposed to number about six hundred men.

The Greek naval commander then decided to land a detachment and complete the destruction of large quantities of food stored there for the use of the Turkish forces in Epirus.

The bombardment by the fleet was thereupon redoubled, and under this fierce fire a detachment of Greek sailors was landed and immediately proceeded to destroy the store house of the Turks, beginning with 1,600 sacks of flour, which were found on the quays.

After rapidly completing this work, while the fleet imposed silence on the fort, the Greeks set fire to the remaining storehouses and destroyed large quantities of munitions of war which had been collected for use of the Turkish forces in Epirus.

After this work was completed the Greek sailors returned to their ships, leaving the whole place in flames and bringing with them fifty Christians who had hoisted a white flag over a house in which they had collected.

The Greek gunners took special care to avoiding hitting this building. The casualties of the Greeks throughout the bombardment and subsequent landing and destruction of the Turkish stores were two sailors wounded.

Later.

Athens, Greece.—Larissa has been completely evacuated by the Greeks, who spiked their guns in position and carried away all the movable cannon and munitions of war.

After a desperate battle at Mati the Greeks were outnumbered, retreated with heavy loss, abandoned Tyrnavos and Larissa and removed their headquarters to Pharsalos, a small town on the right bank of the Phersalitis, and at the north foot of a spur of the Christian mountains. Pharsalos is about twenty miles due south of Larissa.

All telegraphic communication with Larissa is interrupted, but it is understood that the retreat of the Greek army was conducted with the best of order. The excitement and disquiet at Athens because of the sudden abandonment of Larissa continues, but the tranquility of the city is unbroken. The foreign warships have been signalled off Pharlerum.

Later special dispatches received from the frontier state that the Turks while attacking Mati were repulsed several times yesterday. At 6 o'clock in the evening the Greek forces were oblbiged to give way. The Greeks retreated in good order on Karacles, where they intrenched. From Arta the Greeks occupied the heights of Pontepigadi. It is believed the military operations in Epirus will soon be terminated.

2:30 a. m.—The wounded remain at Larissa under the protection of the Red Cross flag.

8 p. m.—Saturday evening's paper counsel the people of Athens to receive the bad news with patience and sangfroid, considering that the army fought courageously in defense of the national honor, paying the price by heavy sacrifices.

Serious for the Turks.

Constantinople, Turkey.—News received here from Epirus is most serious. The Greek division, which defeated the Turks, at Fillippiada, is continuing its march on Janina, near which place a strong Turkish force is gathered, and an important battle will most likely be fought.

The most alarming news received from Epirus is that four battalions of Alabanians, belonging to Luros' division of the Turkish army, have mutinied and are said to have deserted to the Greeks.

An official dispatch dated today, from the Turkish commander of the army corps at Jaina, Epirus, announces that after a desperate battle, lasting over several hours, the Turks have captured for Beshphoursmar, where the Greeks were entrenched after crossing the frontier and advancing along the river Luro.

Bulgaria Won't Knuckle.

Constantinople.—As previously announced in these dispatches, the Turkish Government some days ago called upon Bulgaria as the vassal of the Turkey to break all diplomatic relations with Greece and to expel the Greek Consuls and Greeks from Bularian territory.

The Bulgarian Government took the matter under consideration and, it is now announced, has decclined to comply, declaring that she will observe neutrality during the war between Turkey and Greece.

The refusal of Bulgaria to acknowledge her vassalage to Turkey is regarded as being a very important departure and as foreshadowing the declaration of independence of Bulgaria.

Into the Turkish Territory.
